The Holy Coat of Treves.

In 1844 it is estimated that about one million and a half of pilgrims journeyed to Treves to gain a view of the Holy Coat, claimed to be the seamless garment worn by our Saviour at the crucifixion. It is said to have been deposited in the cathedral of that town by the Empress Helena, its founder.

Treves professes to be, and no doubt is, the oldest city in Germany, although few will believe the inscription in the Rothes Haus inn which places the foundation of Treves at 1300 years before that of Rome. The city is famous for its Roman antiquities, conspicuous among others the ruins of a bridge over the Moselle. Here stands the porta nigro erected in the first century of the Christian era—a huge quadrangular gateway, 115 feet long, 70 to 90 feet high and 30 deep. Just outside the town are the remains of an old amphitheatre capable of accommodating 30,000 spectators, wherein the great Emperor Constantine caused several thousand Franks and Bructeri to be slain for the public amusement. The city has an average population of about 25,000, and is a dull place, being kept alive mainly through its historic associations.

The present exhibition of the Holy Coat will undoubtedly attract more pilgrims than visited Treves in 1844. Twenty excursion trains per day arrive in the city and so great is the press of people that each excursion party is allowed to remain but one night. The ceremonies have an impressive grandeur unequalled and the religious fervor is intense. The Holy Coat is believed to be the garment worn at the crucifixion, referred to in this wise in St. John., XIX, 23 and 24.

23. Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments, and made four parts, to every soldier a part; and also his coat. Now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout.

24. They said therefore among themselves, Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be: that the scripture may be fulfilled, which saith, they parted my raiment among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did.

A Permanent Commission.

Mr. Abbott's proposition to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate the Civil Service, is not, it seems to us, quite as good a method of ventilation as a perma nent Civil Service Commission, whose duty would be more or less administrative. At present the worst blot on the Civil Service is the farcical manner in which the act controlling it is obeyed by heads of departments. Were this commission in existence an outraged employee would have a court of appeal to which to apply for redress. Efficient men now languish in the Civil Service at a salary barely sufficient to keep a wife and family in respectable circumstances, while their junior associates of less merit, but having the ear of a member of Parliament, are promoted to places of honor and emolument. There are scandalous instances of this within the precincts of this city. At Ottawa their name is Legion. In fact the Civil Service Act is never quoted except to thwart a clerk's righteous appeal, and its utmost elasticity is continually tested in meeting the demands of political supporters. It is a matter of notoriety also that in the mere matter of numbers two clerks are appointed in French Canada to do the work allotted to one in Ontario. Once in the Civil Service a man's promotion and advancement should only depend on merit and efficiency, as reported by the clerk's superior officer. A member of Parliament should have nothing to say to the control of a Government office; and yet it is well known that they do undertake to push their favorites and succeed. A permanent commission dealing with salaries, examinations and promotions would cure this. There is nothing very improper in the Gov'rn ment selecting appointees from the list of passed candidates at the recommendation of members. But after nomination it is simply a scandal that further political influence should be exercised. At all events, so long as it is done, we shall have everlasting prostitution of patronage and shall wan a dozen discouraged men to do the work that six, actuated by a wholesome spirit of emulation and having an eye to earned advancement, could readily undertake. We, therefore, favor the proposition of Mr. McInnes, who actually looks upon the Civil Service Act as more or less a child of his own creation, which has had a very rickety infancy.

The Liberal organ takes excessive pains to try and prove that Sir John Macdonald was the father of political corruption in this country and that the Reform Premier of Quebec but followed his example. The Reform party is weak, unsafe and unworthy of confidence since its leaders are liable to follow any bad man's example.

The recent developments at Ottawa and Quebec seem to have struck a death-blow to Nationalism as advocated by our French-Canadian friends.

"Despise not the day of small things," as the tiny pill (taken from a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets) said to the 300 pound man, suffering from indigestion. As gentle, thorough, laxative, these Pellets resemble nature more closely in their action than anything before discovered. Business and professional men, whose habits are sedentary, need something of this kind to ward off sick headache, biliousness and dyspepsia, but which will not strain and rack the digestive organs as did the old-fashioned pills. 25 cents per vial at all druggists.

St. Catharines Annual Colt Races.

In order to accommodate the large number of Toronto people who may wish to go to the above races the steamer Empress of India will issue round trip tickets from Aug. 25, good to night of the 26th, at the low rate of 75 cents, including boat and rail. Arrangements have been made to stop the trains right at race track gates.

The Best Pills.—Mr. William Vandevoort Sydney Crossing, Ont., writes: "We have been using Parmelee's Pills, and find them by far the best pills we ever used." For delicate and debilitated constitutions these pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

Many of the worst attacks of cholera morbus, cramps, dysentery, colic, etc., come suddenly in the night and speedy and prompt means must be used against them. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the remedy. Keep it at hand for emergencies. It never fails to cure or relieve.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

The Young Women's Christian Guild Building Approaching Completion.

The members and friends of the Y. W. C. Guild are to be congratulated on the rapid progress of their new building, "The William Goodsham Hall," on McGill-street. The work is under the supervision of Mr. D. B. Dick, architect, and is of a most thorough and substantial character. In a few days the walls will be ready for roofing. The front is of pressed brick, relieved by Portage Entry red stone facings, the basement is of Credit Valley coursing stone, and with its arched main entrance, projecting double windows, and high pitched slated roof presents an imposing appearance. The entire cost of land and building, heating, etc., will be $34,000. The class rooms are commodious, and contain every facility for training young women in the various lines of employment taken up. The kitchen, for the classes in domestic science, housekeeping, etc., will seat from 75 to 100 girls. A large number are waiting to begin work in these important branches. Teachers are now offering for the class work to begin in September, and it is expected that from four to five hundred pupils will be enrolled when the new building is opened. The main hall will seat 800 and will be the meeting place for socials, religious services of all kinds, lectures and addresses on all subjects upon which it is important for young women to be informed. There are thousands of young women in Toronto, and this building which will benefit them in so many ways, besides being a memorial of one who was ever anxious for the elevation of this class, should be a matter of interest to all.

Mr. John Blackwell of the Bank of Commerce, Toronto, writes: "Having suffered for over four years from dyspepsia and weak stomach, and having tried numerous remedies with but little effect, I was at last advised to give Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery a trial. I did so with a happy result, receiving great benefit from one bottle. I then tried a second and a third bottle, and now I find my appetite so much restored and stomach strengthened that I can partake of a hearty meal without any of the unpleasantness I formerly experienced."

Men, young, old or middle-aged, who are weak, nervous and exhausted, broken down from overwork or from any cause not mentioned, should send for and read the book of Lubon, a treatise on diseases peculiar to man. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.
