LIQUOR LICENSES.

A Deputation Waits on the License Commissioners.

A deputation of the London Temperance Union yesterday waited on the license commissioners of the city in reference to several matters. Rev. A. C. Courtice and others spoke. The most important request preferred was for an absolute separation of ownership as regards grocery and liquor licenses. For example, the deputation do not consider it in accordance with the spirit of the law that any person should have both a liquor store and a grocery store, with only a partition between.

The commissioners promised to send an early reply. We understand the pledge was redeemed this morning, and that the reply is affirmative. Notice may, therefore, be said to be given—and will, no doubt, be given formally—that the separation of ownership of liquor stores and grocery stores will be made absolute from and after expiration of the present year's license.

Several years ago Bishop Hannington was imprisoned in a filthy hut in Usoga, at the northwest corner of Lake Victoria. The sick man was scoffed at and insulted by hundreds of unfeeling savages. At length he was taken from his hut on the pretense that he could now go on his journey to Uganda, but instead he was led to a plain, where he and all his carriers except one, who miraculously escaped, were brutally put to death. At the very village where this tragedy was enacted the Church Missionary Society, of which Bishop Hannington was one of the leaders, now has a mission station.

The Maharajah of Mysore is about to visit England, having overcome the prejudice which all good Hindus feel with regard to an ocean voyage. They abhor the ocean and crossing it breaks the caste of the offending personage. A council of eminent Hindu priests was called together by the Maharajah, and they argued the important question how his Highness could preserve his caste if he went to England. The question was satisfactorily settled, and the Maharajah, who is one of the righest and most powerful of the Indian rulers, will soon be the occasion for another royal display in Great Britain.

Here is the method employed by the hunters of British Columbia upon the sealing grounds. When the schooner sights a seal the little boats are lowered. A hunter armed with two shotguns and a rifle and two sailors to pull the boat take their places and the hunt begins. The seal may be swimming at the surface, or perchance he is sleeping. The boat is pulled quietly toward the animal. In nine cases out of ten the seal takes alarm and dives out of sight before the boat is brought close enough to use the guns with effect, and in no case does the hunter shoot unless he feels sure of his quarry. The seal when shot at once commences to sink, and the boat has to be pulled rapidly up to it, when the body is "gaffed" and hauled aboard. This is repeated as long as seal can be seen. In many cases only one or two will be killed during a two days' hunt, while at other times as many as twenty will be taken.
