A Contrast.

[Lines suggested by reading Froude's life of Thos. Carlyle.]

Were their no future destiny to man,
No life beyond th' inevitable grave,
Its aims faith mere for human weal directs—
And yields, to its possessor, fruit-bliss
And stamps a noble impress on the soul
Than can philosophy as motive power.
Two sons of Scotland, Cushmers and Carlyle,
Each of whom gained a summit of renown
In wonder cared at by their fellow men,
This truth most clearly prove; splendid the gifts
Of genius each possessed and cultured, each,
In lore of schools; nor the philosopher
Surpassed the christian in his mental powers,
But came far short in massive intellect,
And varied gifts, and learnings highest walks.
Carlyle believed in self, and in his books,
He worshipped at the shrine of intellect,
And as a neo-prophet, he proclaimed
Truths found where light shone clearer far!
In the old book, where God's own prophets speak.
The other, intellect and heart and life
Yielded in humble gratitude, to Him
Whose cross he gloried in above aught else,
Though once it seemed to him but foolishness.
Which was the higher, happier, nobler life?
Most sad, though blared in fame, the history
Of him the man of letters who disowned
The Word of God, as but a myth of men
And qualities not few were his, that gave
A charm to him the plain rough-spoken man
Of morbid feelings, and quaint humor Scotch,
More brilliant, oft, by deft foil of language,
Its vigour stern and its unwonted mode,
Than of surpassing measure in his powers
His energy spasmodic, of the earth.
In vain he laboured, and his strength
He spent for nought, alas! for worse than nought
Ambition satisfied—but not his soul
Not his immortal, restless, yearning soul.
Contempt of others, high conceit of self;
Disdain, irreverence of sacred things,
Puling and vain regrets, and wretchedness
Gulf by christish hope, within the veil
Some of these ills then brought'st, philosophy!
All were beyond thy puny might to cure.
O! Chalmers, man of loftiest faculties
Baptised in christian truth, thine was the rest
The Saviour promised; rest to mind, heart, will
And conscience; the meek and lowly Jesus.
What genius could not gain, else thou hadst gained
Gifted to thee, who learned humility
Of Him, and love and every christian grace,
Amid life's turmoils grieves to endure,
Peace like a river, flowed into thy soul.
—To read man's destiny is not for man.
The judgement of the soul remains with God,
But here more useful, and more full of bliss
Nobler thy life because thy choice the best.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS

Sir Charles Dilke will not be persecuted for perjury.

Baird's French Ointment is an excellent article for any kind of Humor, such as Salt Rheum, Pimples, Pustules, Rash and a sure Cure for the Itch. It quickly heals obstinate Sores and Ulcers, &c. Sold by dealers.

Children naturally object to nauseous medicines. When troubled with Worms they often suffer for want of sound sleep and their food does not seem to nourish them, give promptly McLean's Vegetable Syrup.

The Parisian populace is opposing the Pasteur method of inoculation.

We know of no way that we can benefit our readers more than by calling attention to Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is the oldest and most valuable patent medicine in the world. Everybody should keep it in the house. It will check diarrhœa and dysentery in one hour,

If the fountain is pure the streams will be pure also. So with the blood. If that be pure the health is established. Parsons' Purgative Pills make new rich blood, and taken one a night will change the blood in the entire system in three months.

The prohibition of a popular game on Sunday caused riots in Amsterdam.

On the Rise

"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

In Bad Humor

A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face and also spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

Off Work.

"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

Fifteen hundred Indians are said to have died from starvation in Labrador.

A Fortunate Escape

Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

None Better.

There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

A Wise Precaution

During the Summer and Fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

A violent anonymous attack has been made in Paris on the Panama canal enterprise. The attack is made in a pamphlet, strongly written, and containing 70 pages. The title is "Engineers' Letters on the Panama Canal." The cover bears the figure of the Sarcophagus, and the work is dedicated "to the victims of the Panama prize." The pamphlet describes the mortality among the workmen employed in making the canal, describes in anecdotal forms the state of things on the Isthmus, tells of heedless squandering of the French public's money, and in conclusion states that of the twenty-one sections of the canal only five are yet in anything like an advanced state of construction.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites.

In General Debility, Emaciation, Consumption and Wasting in Children,

Is a most valuable food and medicine. It creates an appetite for food, strengthens the nervous system and builds up the body. It is prepared in a palatable form and prescribed universally by Physicians. Take no other.

How the Southern Improvements are Made.

The Louisiana State Lottery lightning struck on Madison street, Memphis, at the last June 15th drawing. Mr J E Beasely and ex-Postmaster Hon. J. H. Smith, who went in a dollar apiece together, drew $10,000, or $5,000 each. It is reported that they will add it to the fund for protecting the South Memphis river front.—Memphis Appeal, June 18th, 1886.

Father is Getting Well

"My daughters say

"How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters."

"He is getting well after his long suffering from a disease declared incurable."

"And we are so glad that he used your bitters.—Lady of Utica, N. Y.

Did she Die?

"No.

"She lingered and suffered long, pining away all the time for years.

"The doctors doing her no good;"

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about."

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine."

A Daughter's Misery.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery.

"From a complication of kidney, liver, rheumatic trouble and Nervous debility.

"Under the care of the best physicians.

"Who gave her disease various names.

"But no relief

"And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had shunned for years before using it.—THE PARENTS.
