A Waist Lining Already Cut to fit any bust must be a great boon to any one who is not a dressmaker, and would save the dressmaker herself a heap of trouble. A store where patterns are sold might be the last place to look for such a thing, as in a measure it take the place of a proper pattern. But Butterick's Patterns have nothing to fear from these linings, as the latter are very high in price. The gentleman who has them for sale recognizing this fact, has decided to clear them out for the price of a yard and a 'half of jean. They can be had for the present at 49 Charlotte St.

RUNNING WILD.—Of this production which will be seen here next week the press says "Running Wild', is as funny as a member of legislature trying to be honest. But it has a pathetic side. Pathos and humor are twins. They shake hands every time they meet. If you want to see the twins, go to the Institute on Thursday evening June 12. All New York has seen the play and the people are still laughing over it. You will laugh. In fact everybody laughs. The play is funny, the people are clever, and as the New York Sun adds, "its success in our city is sufficient proof of its coming popularity."

LAWN TENNIS.—At the annual meeting of the St. John A. A. Association in November 1889, it was decided that on payment of an annual subscription the membership of the club should be open to ladies. On behalf of the association the committee will be pleased to see all their lady visitors of last year again at the grounds. The hours open to them will be the same as last year, from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. each day.

The Ring.

Two to one is the prevailing odds in England against George Dixon, the American colored bantam who is training to fight Nunc Wallace at the Pelican Club, June 27. The principals chose their seconds a few days ago. Jim Carney and Alf Greenfield will be behind Wallace, while Dixon rests content with the services of Tom O'Rourke and Tom McGeough, the two Americans who accompanied him. A clause has been added to the articles of agreement, which if either man lose on a deliberate foul, he shall not receive a penny.

HOME AGAIN.

Capt. Forsyth Arrives Home After a Hard Experience in the Ice.

Capt. Forsyth and wife, of the bark Carrier Dove of this port, arrived home last night. They had a very hard experience, and the wonder is that all hands escaped with their lives. The Carrier Dove sailed from this port May 8th for Glasgow, with a cargo of birch and spruce lumber. Everything went well until the 15th inst. when in a dense fog, several large icebergs were sighted. The wind was then blowing from W. N. W. Next morning with the wind from the same quarter and with a thick fog, large fields of ice were to be seen to the eastward and north east. The vessel was hauled on the wind and stood to the southward. About 10 a. m. a heavy shower of rain fell and the fog clearing for about ten minutes it was seen that the least ice was to the south east. Accordingly the vessel was kept in that direction under easy canvass until 6 p. m., when she again got in the ice. The main yard was backed and the doomed vessel allowed to drift all night. The stem and chain plates were then badly damaged by coming in contact with the ice. On the 17th they got clear of the ice and proceeded on the voyage. The pumps were attended to and no more water than usual found in the well. But this good fortune was not to last.

At 4 p. m. on the 19th in lat. 50.30 north, lon. 39.40 west a heavy gale from north sprang up; all sail except the lower topsail, was taken in and the vessel hove to on the port tack. At 9 p. m. the carpenter sounded the pump and found 4½ feet of water in the well. The men worked incessantly but despite their efforts the water gained rapidly on them and in three hours was above the 'tween deck beams. In another hour the hold 6,000 lbs ballast, 7,500 lbs dry codfish, 161 crates live lobsiers, 50 cases canned do, and 200 fresh mackerel.

Mackerel are being taken in St. Mary's Bay. Some good sized ones have been caught in Digby Basin. Large ones, not very fat, but capital pan fish, are selling in Digby for five cents each.

Messrs. Lea & Co. have just finished two water tanks for the I. C. R., one at Bathurst, the other at Folleigh Lake. These tanks are said by railway men to be equal to any on the road.

ShipMorning Light, 2,810 tons register, built in 1878, and recently owned by Geo. H. Perry, R. Cale, S. B. Davis and F. A. Ladd, of Yarmouth, has been sold to parties in London, for £6,250.

A citizen witnessing the repairs being made on our streets yesterday, asked the City Surveyor what crop he intended putting in. An answer has not yet been given.—Charlottetown Examiner.

Mr. John Mackay has imported from Calcutta fifteen large Bengal Tigers. Kangaroo Valley tea which seems to be a very desirable article for the trade. Its flavor is very fine, has good strength and all the elements of popularity.

The Scott Act is being so successfully enforced in Parrsboro that all the liquor sellers have closed there bars and some have returned their stocks of liquor to St. John. About $400 has within a few days been collected in fines.

The Torbrook, N. S. iron mine is being successfully worked; a depth of some sixty or seventy feet having been reached, the lead increasing in width and richness. It is rumored that signs of coal have been found in the vicinity of the mine.

Two men who were crossing the river in a canoe above Grand Falls a day or two since, drifted farther down than they were aware of, and were caught by the strong current and carried over the falls. Not a sign of the men or canoe has since been seen.

Two patients for the lunatic asylum were taken to St. John by Friday morning's train. One, a middle aged man, has gone crazy over religion, the other, a middle aged woman, imagines that the world is coming to an end. Both patients were from the North shore.

Last evening we were handed a neat little box of strawberries by a commercial agent, on his arrival from Bear River, with instructions that they were sent to us by Master Oscar McClelland, son of Mr. Robert McClelland, proprietor of the Bear River hotel.—Digby Courier.

Never in the history of our mines has there been such active operations at the different collieries as at present. At each shipping place the mines have been kept more than busy constantly since navigation opened. The coal shipments of May have equalled and at some places exceeded those of any fall month of last year. The probabilities are that the coal sales from the Cape Breton mines this year will be far ahead of any year yet known.—Sydney Herald.

A few days ago we were shown by a gentleman in town a new pattern of apple barrel, which will thoroughly put a stop to the fraudulent packing, which has in the past done so much to hurt the reputation of Nova Scotia apples. It is made with a space between each stave sufficient to show the quality of the contents, and to make up the strength and keep the staves in position, a central partition is put in, thus one half the barrel may be emptied without disturbing the other half—Annapolis Spectator.

BARNES & MURRAY,

The Pretty Store.

This enterprising firm of Dry Goodsmen have been doing business just lately under disadvantageous circumstances but when it is considered how very much worse the case might have been, they are to be congratulated.

First, the weather has been entirely in their favor, secondly, their contractors, Messrs. McDonald and McCracken are men who thoroughly understand what they are about, and lastly a little piece of luck in getting in their glass last night at seven o'clock and saving the stock from getting damp. It is no easy matter to take out an old lath and plaster ceiling with a stock of expensive dry goods underneath without running the risk of considerable damage; but owing to the foresight and carefulness of those concerned, such has been done at the Pretty Store, which will be prettier than ever when quite finished. The whole ceiling of the store has been made one height, viz fourteen feet, with a plate glass front of 12 feet. The new supports in the front of the building are very light iron pillars, thus taking nothing from the light space and giving two fine windows for the dressing, by which, this store is so well known; with the entrance in the centre with large light above. The entire store has been sheathed in the best tongued and grooved spruce the ceiling being painted white—the walls a pale green, with a small cornice of salmon and gray—thus presenting a very light and effective appearance. The fixtures have not as yet been altered but it is the intention to at once carry them round the store at the one height. There is also a new ten foot counter added to the space for the accommodation of customers. The cash desk is in the same position as previously. The whole store is lighted with 26 incandescent lights, of which a full description was given in THE GAZETTE some few days ago. There is no doubt that Barnes & Murray will have, when finished, one of the nicest stores in the city, and it is pleasing to know that, through the whole time of their trouble with the alterations, their business has not fallen off—which speaks well for their popularity and also for the goodness of their stock. The firm speak in the highest terms of their contractors, McDonald & McCracken, both with regard to the quality of the work done and also the expedition used and care displayed.

Dorothy.

The time for rehearsing this opera is fast drawing to a close, but everybody is quite confident that the performance will go with a dash and spirit that would satisfy even Mr. Cellier, the composer.

A week ago, owing to the short time then intervening before the dates fixed for the opera, the philharmonic club expressed themselves unable to get up the difficult music in time, and the management then determined to play the opera with piano and organ only. However, Mr. Harrison, with his well known orchestra, came to the rescue, and, at the rehearsal held at the Institute last evening, acquitted themselves in a style that showed them to be thoroughly conversant with orchestral music. This evening a final dress rehearsal of the opera will be held.

The costumes are the most elaborate and beautiful ever worn by an amateur company here, and have been prepared after models seen on the English stage. Much credit must be awarded to Messrs. D. & J. Patterson who have had the making of almost all the costumes for the male cast and chorus, and which are most satisfactory in every particular.

Liquor Selling Druggists.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE:—

Sir,—There is a law regulating the sale of spirits, so far as it concerns druggists. Notwithstanding this fact, a number of so called respectable pharmacists are illegally engaged in running private bar rooms: peddling out wines and bad spirits, and in this way, trapping our young men, leading them to the use of liquor and training them for regular topers. The same young men would feel ashamed to be seen frequenting a regular tavern; but under the cloak of a supposed drug store, they can go to destruction slowly, but surely. The only legitimate use in pharmacy for spirits is strictly for medicinal purposes. To say the least, any regular registered druggist who, under the cover of the Pharmaceutical Association, engages in such a business is beneath the notice of respectable people. The chief of police, who is also inspector under this law, should give this matter his immediate attention, and have such debased creatures punished. REFORM.

The Poor Shopgirls!

"Here, my dear," said the model husband, when he saw his wife dressing for the street, "is a fifty-dollar note to help pay for your purchases."

"Oh, I don't need any money," she pleasantly replied; "I'm only going out shopping."—Norristown Herald.
