THE THUNDERER TO BE ASSISTED IN ITS PARNELL FIGHT.

A Prophet With a Powerful Imagination—Bulgaria's Growing "Impudence"—Count Falloux's Memoirs—A Shakespearean Memorial.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Liverpool Courier editorially says, among many provincial papers noticing the same subject: "The New York Herald the other day mapped out Europe and a great part of the world afresh. This was done upon the strength of an alleged knowledge of the lifelong and dearest secret designs of Prince Bismarck—the utter annihilation of Great Britain. We are not superstitious enough to be alarmed when an American prophet, having been given a sensational text, brings to bear upon it a powerful imagination. As the old woman said when the soldier declared he would shoot her, 'he is paid for it.'"

The Conservatives are seriously considering the question of raising a fund to assist The Times in its case before the Parnell Commission and in defeating the action brought against it by Mr. Parnell in the Scotch courts. The advocates of this plan base their cause upon the ground that it would be eminently unfair towards The Times to permit that paper to bear any further share of the enormous costs necessary to fight what is really a party battle, and this idea being impressed on the minds of the monied Tories, it is expected that the contribution offered will greatly exceed the sum required. It is suggested that at least £20,000 should be raised, and the action brought against The Times by Commoner Campbell, of South Fermanagh, will very much stimulate subscriptions. The Tories regard Mr. Campbell's action as proof that the Parnellites are weakening, and expect that when that gentleman is called before the commission he will refuse to testify on the ground that what he might say would prejudice his individual case.

There are increasing signs of an early meeting of the Cabinet to consider pressing foreign questions and arrange the preliminaries of the Government's program for the next session of Parliament.

Rustem Pacha, Turkish Ambassador to London, held a protracted interview with Lord Salisbury yesterday and strongly protested against the growing impudence of Bulgaria and the agitation against Turkish authority in Macedonia, both of which he ascribed to the fact that Turkey was hampered in her legitimate action in her vassal states by the present attitude of the powers, and particularly of England. It is understood, also, that he attempted to reopen the Soudan question, but failed to induce the Premier to assent to its revival.

Mr. Alexander Blane, the member of Parliament for South Armagh, who was recently liberated from prison upon the expiration of his sentence, was the recipient of a banquet at Armagh at the hands of the workingmen and tradesmen of his constituency. A butcher occupied the chair, and a baker officiated as vice-chairman.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, speaking before the Temperance Alliance yesterday, promised the Liberal support of a local option measure.

Count Falloux's memoirs confirms the Emperor Frederick's story of the third Napoleon's feeling towards England. Count Falloux records that in 1860, when the English were calling him "Our illustrious neighbor and ally," he said, "England is never a true ally," adding bitterly, "She is even an enemy, for she spoils everything she touches."

The Whitechapel Murderer's Threat.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Pall Mall Gazette charges that the words, "I have murdered four and will murder sixteen more before I surrender myself to the police," written by the supposed Whitechapel murderer upon a shutter of a house adjoining the one in the yard of which one of his victims was found, were erased by order of Sir Charles Warren, chief of the London police force, before the authorities had an opportunity to photograph them.

Bismarck, Beware!

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Pall Mall Gazette challenges the German authorities to carry out the threat made through The Nachrichten to institute proceedings to prevent the publication in London of the late Emperor Frederick's diary. The Gazette warns Prince Bismarck not to attempt to extend abroad the tyranny over the press which is exercised in Germany.

Shakespearean Week.

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, Oct. 11.—This is Shakespearean week. Next Sunday Shakespeare's statue is to be dedicated on Boulevard Haussmann, Paris, the gift of an English gentleman, and yesterday was unveiled here the statue of Shakespeare, presented, designed and executed by Lord Ronald Gower, brother of the Duke of Sutherland. It has been several years in preparation, and is entirely Shakespearean in character, with a life-size figure of the poet on a pedestal surrounded by four of his greatest creations, namely, Hamlet, Lady Macbeth, Falstaff and Prince Hal. The statue is placed in the grounds surrounding the memorial buildings within a few yards of Shakespeare's residence.

There was an immense gathering, including many visitors from London and the large provincial cities and a perfect multitude from within a radius of 20 miles. The monument was gracefully unveiled amid cheers and music by Lady Hodgson, wife of the mayor of this city and daughter of the chief justice of New South Wales.

Lord Leigh, lord-lieutenant of the county, spoke for Shakespeare's birthday, and remarked: "Since the visit of Ignatius Donnelly here our people have read more about Bacon and loved Shakespeare better than ever." Oscar Wilde recited an ode of four lines, which, referring to the bronze figures, read thus.

Hear royal Henry chide his self-crowned heir,
The guilty queen moan for her white hands' stain,
Or Falstaff troll some roystering refrain,
Or Hamlet play with his own soul's despair.

THE CHICAGO STRIKERS.

More Rioting Yesterday—A Dynamiting Conductor Arrested.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the crowd around the Western-avenue barns were electrified by the arrival of a 'bus load of new men, escorted by the police in patrol wagons, and a report immediately spread that an attempt would be made to run cars. There were 23 men in the 'bus and two patrol wagons kept guard. The wagons drew up and the men piled out of the 'bus into the barns. The crowds began to gather as soon as the intelligence spread, and in a short time two or three thousand people surrounded the barns. Lieutenant Shea ordered the police to disperse the mob, and they advanced in a determined manner. The crowd fled, women and children falling over each other in their wild endeavor to get out of the way. Some of the conductors and drivers refused to move on when ordered and 9 of these were immediately arrested and [illegible]ed in a patrol wagon and hurried to the station.

There was an incipient riot at Lincoln and Sedgwick-streets on the North Side this afternoon, which at one time threatened serious consequences. A mob of 3000 persons gathered about the cars, hooting the new drivers and pelting them with rotten eggs. One of the teams became frightened and ran, dragging the driver after them. They dashed into the next car, frightening the team attached to it, which in turn ran into another car smashing things and adding to the general confusion. Order was finally restored by the police. One of the drivers who had been hit with a decayed egg threw down his lines and refused to drive any more.

Julius Kazelberg, a former North Division conductor, was arrested this afternoon in the act of strewing dynamite cartridges along the Sedgwick-avenue track.

CONCERNING TORONTO'S HEALTH.

Practical Efforts are Now Producing Good Results.

Happy is the nation that has no history. If not happy, Toronto is thankful that no chapter is for the second day added to the history of her smallpox outbreak. Preventive and precautionary steps proceed, and The World is assured will be continued till the danger be overpast. These we need not recapitulate, but are glad to report progress on the lines this journal has advocated, with a few glaring exceptions.

Why is This Thus, Mr. Inspector?

The manner in which certain sanitary regulations are enforced in this city is abominable. Over two months ago three miserable hovels corner of Elliott and Hamilton-streets were condemned as unfit for human habitation, after four children of one family had died of diphtheria. Three days ago one of the tenants vacated, but yesterday another tenant took possession of the house, while the other two tenants are still in the condemned houses.

A Wise Step.

Dr. Riddall, medical health officer of Parkdale, has been visiting the schools, examining the children, for the purpose of seeing if they have been properly vaccinated.

De La Salle School to be Re-opened—Sanitary Arrangements at St. Patrick's.

The improvements to St. Patrick's school are almost completed. They comprise new sanitary arrangements of the latest model, and when finished will make the school one of the best under the control of the Board. Trustee William Burns has supervised the work to see that it was done up to contract.

The De La Salle school will be re-opened next week.

Bad Water on Sherbourne-Street.

Complaints are continually being made by residents of Sherbourne-street that the water they are supplied with has an unpleasant stagnant taste. The main has been blown out regularly, but despite this there has been but little improvement in the water. The Waterworks officials are themselves puzzled and can only account for it by theorizing that there is a thick deposit of mud in the bottom of the pipe. This mud may have been there for the past ten years, ever since the filtering basin was established at the Island, when large quantities of mud were pumped up for the reason that the pumps were too fast for the filterer, and emptied the basin down to the dregs in short order. The Sherbourne-street main will be blown as frequently as is deemed expedient in the future, and if this does not improve the water a new main will have to be put in.

Sanitation in the Public Schools.
From The Week.

The School Hygiene Committee of the Toronto Board of Health recently presented a report on public school sanitation, which should be pressed on the attention of every school teacher and school board in the Province. It requires but a little reflection to convince any one that the opportunities for the spread of disease germs afforded by the public schools are unique. Nowhere else are so many individuals obliged to pass five or six hours of every day in single rooms and in so close proximity to each other. With "dirty floors and badly ventilated school rooms," which, it may be feared, are still rather the rule than the exception, the prime conditions for the spread of disease germs have the fullest and freest scope for operation. It is to be hoped that the Education Department will adopt some means for the vigorous enforcement of the more important recommendations of the report, which is, we believe, to be issued by it as a circular to trustees.

The World Has Done Valuable Work.
From The Christian Guardian.

We are glad to see that there is no abatement in the interest, not to say anxiety, excited by the discussion of the city's sanitary condition. The World has done valuable work in giving the question such prominence in its columns, and we are not by any means assured that its position is an alarmist one. Two experts are to inquire into and report upon the best method of improving our sewage system, and we trust their recommendations, if approved, will be acted upon with unanimity and energy.

Sing Hey! The Portly Doctor and the Scar.

Kind Doctor, I'm opposed to vaccination,
(Sing hey! the Health Inspector that you are),
And I won't be bull-dozed by a Corporation,
But step in here and I will show a scar.
It's very, very recent;
Yes, very, very recent;
A very, very recent vaccine scar.

Yes, Doctor, I'm opposed to vaccination,
(Sing hey! the Health Inspector on the car),
Now, won't you please accept my explanation
And take away your vaccine, I've a scar!
Sing hey! the portly Doctor,
The very portly Doctor,
The portly, portly Doctor with a scar.

A TEST CASE.

An Ontario Investment Association Stockholder Asking Relief in Chancery.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 11.—In the Chancery Court before Justice Ferguson, the case of Nelles v. Ontario Investment Association was opened. This is a test case in which the plaintiff seeks to have the amalgamation of the Superior Loan and Savings Society with the Ontario Investment Association declared ultra vires and void because of fraudulent misrepresentation and concealment. An accounting is asked in respect of the securities transferred; and plaintiff who held stock of the Superior Loan and Savings Society in lieu of which stock of the Ontario Investment was issued to him on the payment of a future assessment, seeks to be released from responsibility as a shareholder in that ill-fated institution.

All on Account of a Woman.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 11.—John Burrs and John McConda, negro laborers, fell out about a woman named Lucy Davis. This afternoon McConda with four of his friends met Burrs in the road, fell upon him and dragged him into the woods, where McConda shot him to death, leaving four pistol balls in his body. They then told the woman of Burrs' fate, and she, watching her chance, went and took from his pocket his money, something over $45. She and McConda and his gang were all arrested.

Killed Her Child by Accident.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Mary E. Lieff on Saturday gave her 10-weeks'-old child a teaspoonful of a soothing syrup to quiet it while she did her housework. During the day it died. The coroner's jury found a verdict that it died from opiates in the syrup, and censured the druggist for selling it without placing a direction label on the bottle. The syrup is a proprietary medicine sold in bulk by the manufacturer for retailing in small quantities to poor people.

His Cruelty Made Her a Suicide.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Louisa H. Moore, of Oakfield, who committed suicide last week, left a letter to her children saying that she could stand the abuse of her husband no longer. Moore was called before the coroner to testify and spoke slightingly of the dead woman. He admitted that they had frequent quarrels and that he often struck her, and he acknowledged that the night before the suicide he kicked her and told her that "her actions made him think more of his dog than he did of her."

PETERBORO, Oct. 11.—The grand jury to-day brought in a true bill against James W. Farley for the murder of the Indian, Simon Elijah. Farley pleaded not guilty. The trial will take place to-morrow.

BUCKLEY'S GREAT LUCK.

UNIVERSAL OPINION AGAINST SIR T. GALT'S CLEMENCY.

Indignation Openly Expressed at the Escape of the Brutal Woman-Slayer—Press and Public Alike Aroused—Some Plain Talk About the Trial and Sentence.

The result of the trial of the brutal ruffian, Thomas Buckley, for the murder of Bertha Robinson has created a most painful impression, and when coupled with Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt's action in the trial of "Blinkey" Morgan, has caused the most outspoken unfavorable comment. As when Morgan got off with four years for the murder of Maroney it was stated that it was only prolonging the lease of his criminal life, so now it is said that the slight punishment accorded to the local brute, Buckley, will serve but to encourage his gang to further outrages, and to murder with impunity the unfortunate women upon whom they prey. When Buckley comes out from Kingston he will no doubt resume his evil ways. The man is utterly bad, and those who know him know of no redeeming feature in his character.

The feeling of disgust at the lightness of the sentence is not confined to any particular class, but is widespread among all conditions of the community. The citizens cannot believe how it could be possible that such a man as Buckley, convicted of such a crime could get off with such a trivial punishment.

It may not be generally known that Buckley has previously been 29 times convicted and served two terms of imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

The members of the Board of Trade, the lawyers, and in fact the public generally have but one opinion on the subject, and that is that the mistake is a most serious one. Below will be found a variety of deliverances bearing on the matter.

Has Justice Failed?

The result of the Buckley murder trial has excited universal comment and indignation throughout the city. I deem it my duty in the public interest to inform you of what I heard last evening. I had occasion to enter a St. John's Ward tavern where several "toughs," apparently friends of Buckley, were discussing the verdict and sentence. One of them said: "I wouldn't be afraid to be brought before Judge Galt for murder. It wouldn't be any worse than stealin' a watch. He has said that nobody was ever hung out of his court, nor never will be; he don't believe in hanging." The other toughs acquiesced in the opinion that Justice Galt "don't believe in hanging," else Buckley would certainly be hanged, and in proof they cited the murder of Maroney by "Blinkey Morgan," in which Justice Galt refused to accept the jury's verdict of murder. These dangerous members of society have got the notion that hanging for murder is "played out" so far as Chief Justice Galt is concerned, that he has conscientious scruples against hanging, and that the circumstances would require to be much more flagrant than those which usually attend murders, before he would accept a verdict of guilty. A hotel keeper in St. John's Ward said to-day, commenting on the facts, "'Tis a wonder the judge didn't let Buckley out on his own recognizances to come for sentence when called on." Chief Justice Galt owes it as a duty to the public safety to make some announcement to disabuse the "toughs" of their opinion (on which they may not be slow to act) that he has scruples of conscience against hanging. It is the opinion of nine-tenths of Toronto that justice has failed in the Buckley case. The most respectable people of Toronto when reasoning on the Buckley and "Blinkey" Morgan cases are of opinion that, while Chief Justice Galt is an able man in civil cases, he has unfortunately a morbid tenderness of feelings that unconsciously screens murderers from the full measure of justice. It is probable that a petition will be sent to the Minister of Justice asking him to respect the feelings of Chief Justice Galt so far as to relieve him from presiding at trials for murder and to confine his jurisdiction to civil cases. CIVIS.

Editor World: The talk of the clubs to-day is the lenient sentence passed on the scoundrel Buckley by Chief Justice Galt. The general opinion was that some other judge should take these criminal cases. In five years this brute will have another opportunity of repeating his crime.—BYSTANDER.

Editor World: In common with a great number of citizens I was amazed at the ridiculously inadequate sentence that Chief Justice Galt passed upon the scoundrel Buckley. There can be no reasonable doubt that he murdered the unfortunate girl. True, he did it under the influence of liquor, but that should hardly be accepted as a palliation of a most brutal murder. Buckley is a notorious scoundrel; has already served in the Penitentiary, yet, in spite of his record and his deed of blood, Justice Galt gives him FIVE YEARS. If I mistake not, forgers get from seven to twenty years; a murderer five. How long has a man to meditate murder before he commits the crime to constitute murder? I can only look upon this case as a miscarriage of justice. This is not the first time Judge Galt has done this kind of thing. Some years ago a tough shot a policeman on Bolton-street, and he (the tough), got five years. The moral to be drawn from these cases is that forgery or embezzlement is a much more serious crime than murder; that is, if you don't think too long over the murder. J. L. T.
Toronto, Oct. 12.

What County Crown Attorney Badgerow Says.

The World asked the County Crown Attorney yesterday what he thought about the Buckley case, and this is what he said: "I am satisfied that the Crown and jury both did their duty. It was a case in which I myself took a special interest. As to the sentence I have nothing to say about it, believing that under certain circumstances 'silence is golden.'"

Only a Woman.

"Observer" in The Globe writes: The judgment of the courts is that Tom Buckley did not do murder. His, according to judge and jury, was the milder, mitigated crime of manslaughter. Recall the details of the tragedy. Tom Buckley and Bertha Robinson lived together as man and wife. In the morning of the killing the girl went to the Police Court to pay a fine for her brutal consort. She became intoxicated. And when she told Buckley that she had lost money he struck her down and kicked her brutally and attacked her again when she had crawled wearily to the head of the stairs, and beat her with a chair as she lay half upon the bed, and left her prostrate on the floor and injured unto death. The punishment for all this is five years in the penitentiary. It is well for Tom Buckley that he did not rob a bank. He would not have escaped with a five years' sentence. But he simply took in brutal, bloody violence the life of a fallen woman, and the poor fellow must not be overpunished for his indiscretion, especially, you know, as he had a vicious training and was reared in vicious associations. It may be that when he has served out his term he will be content not to kill, and it would be a great shame to keep him shut up simply on the mere probability that he would be dangerous if set at liberty.

Buckley's Crime and Sentence.
From The News.

It is not often that Canadian courts err, but we think that it was a very grave error to return a verdict of manslaughter in the case of Buckley, the woman burker. A wretch who lives upon the earnings of a dissolute woman is among the most contemptible of mankind, but when his brutal passion leads him to kill the woman when she will earn no more for him, he sinks to the level of the savage beast that should be killed on sight. Many a man has suffered death for less heinous crimes than Buckley's, which was revolting beyond description, but he by some strange miscarriage of justice escapes with a few years in the penitentiary. If we thought he had any conscience upon which remorse could make any impression, we would hope that the despairing, dying cries of his miserable victim might ring in his ears forever. On her knees, when he was trampling her to hideous death, she besought him to have pity on her, but he had not. A lost soul from the infernal regions, imbued with all the cruelty of demoniac nature, might have had some compassion for the hapless being that grovelled at his feet, but Buckley felt none. Yet he escapes with five years in the penitentiary. He may thank his lawyer for this light punishment. Had he been brought to trial when the horror of his deed was fresh in the public mind, as he should have been, he would not have got off so easily, but thanks to the far-sightedness of his lawyer he was saved from the hands of the public executioner.

The Gallows was Cheated.
From The Telegram.

Public regret at the result of the Buckley case is qualified only by respect for the learned judge and the jury responsible for the finding. Sir Thomas Galt is generally and deservedly esteemed. This feeling tempers, but cannot quiet public sorrow and indignation that is rooted in a substantial failure of justice. There was no demand for the worthless life of Thomas Buckley. He was not the object of public vengeance. Personally he may have been thought of with pity. In his case justice only required a punishment that should exercise a deterrent influence upon ruffians inclined to follow in his evil tracks. What is the influence of a sentence such as Sir Thomas Galt imposed upon Thomas Buckley? Does it strengthen the hands of the police or inspire habitual criminals with a sense of the terrors of the law? The applause of the convict's friends in court told the story. They were the toughs and plug-uglies of the city. The sentence glorified Tom Buckley in their eyes. They fear the punishment, not the crime. The mistaken clemency of the court was to them an encouragement to do evil. Verdicts and sentences such as those of yesterday depreciate the value of human life. They teach those who are not prone at any time to regard it as sacred to still more lightly esteem the lives of others. The effect of such misplaced leniency is altogether vicious. Such kindness is cruelty to the murderer and the community. This was proved by the career of "Blinkey" Morgan, who killed his man and escaped with a five-year sentence from Sir Thomas Galt. He celebrated his release by entering upon a renewed career of burglary and murder that led up to his death on the gallows last August. Had not justice been unwisely adulterated with mercy in his case Morgan and his victims might have been still alive. Buckley is liable to make his future a bloody illustration of the folly of tenderness like that which the court wasted upon him yesterday.

MALIGNED MR. JEFFERY.

What the Public Think and Methodist Procedure Requires.

The prominent ministers of the Methodist Church in the city almost without exception sympathise with Mr. Jeffery. They point out that Methodist church law provides a speedy manner of bringing any such offence as Mr. Jeffery is alleged to have committed before the proper tribunal. Every Church trustee in perfectly cognizant of the course to be pursued in such cases.

That Mr. T. Eaton and his confederates did not take this legitimate course is held by prominent lay and clerical Methodists to be most conclusive evidence that the whole story is a vile slander propagated for the purpose of getting rid of the fearless and outspoken pastor of the North Western Church.

Mr. Jeffery has not failed to denounce from the pulpit men who, professing to be Christians, paid their employes miserable salaries, thereby driving young men to dishonesty and young women to prostitution. He has more than once denounced men as hypocrites who have given $5, $10 or $20 to the funds of the church and who on Monday as soon as they had an opportunity cheated, lied, and resorted to other questionable shifts to get wealth. Many of Mr. Jeffery's congregation and friends openly assert that he is now slandered because of this outspoken language.

The trustees of the church who have taken part in the attack on Mr. Jeffery are bound immediately either to substantiate their inuendos in the church courts or apologise to Mr. Jeffery in presence of the congregation. If they fail to pursue either of these courses they should instantly resign their trust.

This is the law and the prophets according to John Wesley, and is the opinion of The World's numerous correspondents.

Opinion of an Eye-Witness.

Mr. N. G. Bigelow, barrister, with his family spent the greater portion of two months in Muskoka during the summer, and was at Port Carling during nearly the whole of the time that Rev. T. W. Jeffery was there. Mr. Bigelow, when asked by a reporter his opinion of the Jeffery charges, promptly replied that he did not believe a single sentence of the charges against the minister.

"While I was in Muskoka," explained Mr. Bigelow, "I had many opportunities of observing Mr. Jeffery, and a more whole-souled, earnest Christian I never met. I was with him repeatedly, and had many chances of studying his character. I have come across him when he least expected to meet an acquaintance and at times, when if he so desired he might easily gratify an appetite for liquor, but on none of these occasions have I noticed anything in his conversation or demeanor that would indicate that he was other than an upright and God-fearing man and minister. It has pained me greatly to hear the charges that have been made against his character, and I have no hesitation in characterizing them as a base slander, and one that will recoil upon the heads of those who have originated them. While in Muskoka I heard a whisper of the reports against Mr. Jeffery, so that I was prepared to take cognizance of anything peculiar in his conduct, and I saw none. You can say that, as one who associated intimately with Rev. Mr. Jeffery during nearly the whole of his recent sojourn in Muskoka, I do not for an instant credit the charges against him."

Rebecca Tired of Life.

About 4 yesterday afternoon Policeman Kernaghan, while on duty at the Queen's Wharf, saw a woman rush down to the water in a state of great excitement and plunge into the Bay. He pulled her out and conveyed her to St. Andrew's Market Police Station. She was perfectly sober, and gave her name as Rebecca Ratcliffe and her address as 35 Claremont-street. She refused to assign any reason for her rash attempt, and on being locked up became so ill that the ambulance had to be summoned to convey her to the General Hospital.

Jarvis and Titley Dismissed from the Police Force.

The Police Commissioners held a special meeting yesterday to consider the Jarvis case. Both Jarvis and Titley appeared before the Board and had the charges read out to them. They made no defence, and were dismissed the force by a unanimous vote.

The Wilson Appeal Case.

The appeal entered by Rev. W. F. Wilson against the conviction made by the Magistrate against him for disorderly conduct has not yet been disposed of, and with regard to it the police authorities are in a somewhat peculiar position. Jarvis, who made the arrest, is of course the principal witness, and it was chiefly on his evidence that a conviction was obtained. The appeal will not be tried for probably two months, and unless Jarvis voluntarily agrees to remain and give evidence the authorities cannot hold him.

A Toronto Volunteer for the Work in China Receives Ordination.

Owing to the unavoidable detention of Rev. Mr. Gilray, Moderator of the Toronto Conference, Rev. Dr. Wardrope, of Guelph, presided at the St. James'-square Presbyterian church last night. The occasion was the ordination and designation of Mr. Donald McGillivray as a missionary to Honan, China. Rev. D. J. Macdonald performed the ceremony. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Wardrope. Rev. Dr. Kellogg delivered the address to the missionary and, on behalf of the Foreign Mission Committee, presented him with a very handsome Bible. He also presented him on behalf of the Boy's Missionary Society of the church the sum of $26. Rev. Dr. McLaren in addressing the congregation congratulated them on having secured so worthy a representative in distant lands. He referred to the high university honors Mr. McGillivray had gained and complimented him on his devotions in giving up a probably distinguished career at home for one of hardship as a missionary at a salary of $530 per annum.

VICTORIA UNIVERSITY.

BOARD OF REGENTS AND GENERAL CONFERENCE COMMITTEE MEET.

The Federation Legislation of the Ontario Government Approved—The Plans of a Noble Edifice—Of Great Interest to Higher Education.

A joint meeting of the Board of Regents of Victoria University and the General Conference Advisory Board was held at the Metropolitan Church yesterday, Rev. Dr. Williams, general superintendent, presided. Among those present were Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent; Rev. Dr. W. J. Shaw, secretary; Rev. Drs. Burwash, Ryckman, Lovell, Dewart, Potts, Stone, Aylesworth and Parker, and Revs. E. R. Sanderson, D. G. Sutherland and James Allen; Hon. Senator Macdonald, Messrs. Kerr, Wm. Beatty, J. J. Maclaren, Geo. A. Cox, S. F. Lazier, H. C. McMullen, and W. S. Downey. Of the Advisory Board there were Revs. J. F. German, Drs. Hunter, Henderson, W. Williams and Griffin and Messrs. J. J. Withrow, H. Massey, J. N. Lake, T. Hilliard and Judge Jones.

A communication was read by Mayor Clark of Cobourg to the effect that at a meeting of the Cobourg Town Council held Monday, Oct. 8, 1888, the Mayor stated he had invited the Commissioners of Town trust and three leading ratepayers of the town to be present to consider what offer the town should make to the Board of Regents of Victoria University in order to have the institution permanently settled there. It was finally moved by John Henry Dumble, seconded by Geo. Guillet, M. P., and unanimously carried:

That this meeting request the Mayor to offer to the Chancellor of the Board of Regents of Victoria University, in the event of that institution remaining at Cobourg, twenty acres of land adjoining the University property and the sum of $25,000 to be expended in the erection of new buildings or in such other manner as the Board should direct.

On motion of Councillor Wilson, seconded by Councillor McCallum, and resolved, that the Mayor be authorized to go to Toronto on Thursday, the 11th inst., and lay this matter before the Board of Regents of Victoria University when they meet at that time.

The minutes of the committee were read and adopted. This committee approved of the federal legislation of the Ontario Legislature last year.

The report of the General Secretary of Education was submitted. It referred to the state of the Federation fund and the course adopted to raise the necessary amount for federation with the Provincial University. $90,000 was subscribed at the General Conference and subsequently increased by subscriptions in Toronto to nearly $145,000. At the meeting of the subcommittee of finance it was resolved to distribute the balance equitably among the various annual conferences. The allotment was as follows: Toronto Conference, $78,000; Niagara, $50,000; London, $35,000; Guelph, $32,000; Bay of Quinte, $35,000; Montreal, $20,000. Those amounts have been accepted by the various conferences which have not yet been organized. In pursuance of this policy a convention has been held in each district of the Toronto Conference and of the conferences west of Toronto, with the exception of the three northern districts of the Toronto conference, and the amount allotted to each has been equitably distributed over the districts and various circuits and so far accepted, and the pledge given of an earnest effort to realize the amounts accepted. It was proposed to meet the conference special committees of the Bay of Quinte and Montreal conferences during the present month, when it was hoped to arrange for the organization of the districts of those conferences.

There was a general impression that Toronto should contribute about $20,000, or enough to cover the cost of the buildings. Already the city has contributed $143,000. The effort so far had resulted in subscriptions to the amount of $190,195.15; cash paid in instalments, $14,845.87, leaving the balance of allotment from the various conferences of $213,000. In addition to this there was good reason to expect about $60,000 for the endowment of two chairs from friends who had intimated their generous intentions but had not yet subscribed. The amount of instalments due at present was about $14,147, which amount would be forthcoming as soon as definite action was taken in the matter of building and it was hoped that cause of delay would be speedily removed. Nothing would so greatly stimulate subscriptions and payments as practical and visible progress of the work. It was added that the growth of the educational fund secured to Victoria University over $5000 a year income. As the estimate at the General Conference was for $3500 the increase was now more than equal to $25,000 of the amount required for federation.

The amounts subscribed by Conferences of Toronto, London, Niagara, Guelph, Montreal, Bay of Quinte and Manitoba aggregated $190,195.15; expected but not subscribed, $60,000; cash paid by same Conferences, $14,845.87; allotments, $213,157.

Rev. Dr. Burwash, by request, explained the chief features in the two proposed plans for the new Victoria University. The first plan was that known as Victoria No. 2. This plan is of a single building at an estimated cost of $150,000. This has increased in the year to $225,000. The second plan which is recommended by the committee is the group of buildings mentioned in Rev. Dr. Burwash's report. The advantages of this are that it would furnish a separate residence and more extensive library. The cost would in all likelihood be $200,000.

Dr. Burwash was in favor of the second plan. The cost was not so large as that of the first and it could, if found desirable, be greatly extended.

Rev. Dr. Burwash, seconded by Hon. Senator Macdonald, moved:

That it being the explicit direction of the General Conference to take proper steps to give effect to Federation at as early a period as a due regard to existing interests and the necessary financial arrangements should render it practicable; and, whereas, the legislation embodied in the University Federation Act, the amount already subscribed for building and endowment, and the desirability and importance of taking their part in the re-adjustment of the work of the Provincial University under the Federation Act call for present action:

In pursuance of the powers vested in this body by the General Conference, it is hereby resolved that the proper steps be forthwith taken to place Victoria University in federation with Provincial University by giving the required notice to the Provincial Secretary, provided we have assurance that by special act of the Provincial Legislature or otherwise Victoria University shall continue to exercise the power to confer degrees as heretofore until the date of actual removal to Toronto, and that all such graduates be included in the provisions of sections 7 and 11 of the Federation Acts as graduates of Victoria University.

Rev. Dr. Burns moved in amendment to the Chancellor's motion:

That this meeting is not in favor of any course that would have the effect of suspending our University powers before we are prepared to avail ourselves of the advantage of Federation, and that the questions of building and finance should be previously considered and decided upon.

This amendment was, however, after a discussion lasting until a late hour, rejected, and Dr. Burwash's resolution carried by a vote of 22 to 15.

The meeting then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Dineen's Fur Sale.

As we predicted a short time ago, all kinds of furs have advanced from 10 to 30 per cent. This rise will shortly be put on all manufactured goods, and we advise all parties to buy now while the prices are down. The great demand is for fine goods. The fashionable furs are seal, lynx, otter, beaver, bear, sable. Persian is still holding its own, and has also gone up. Dineen is offering great bargains at the present time, and for immediate sale for cash the ladies can get a choice in sealskin mantles or long fur boas at prices that should tempt them to buy now, particularly as furs have gone up.

THERE WAS NO FOUL PLAY.

But the Child Had Been Very Sadly Neglected.

In the morgue yesterday afternoon Coroner Duncan opened an inquest upon the infant body of Wm. May, who died under peculiar circumstances at 18 St. Paul-street on Wednesday evening.

The evidence of Mary May, the 18-year-old unmarried mother of the child, who said she called it "Frank Malone," and that of her parents and sister, was to the effect that the child, which was a month old, had not been ill-treated, nor had it been sick. They particularly insisted that no drinking went on in the house, but the evidence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gribble, who lived upstairs, showed that Mrs. May and her daughter had yesterday and frequently before been seen in a drunken condition; Mr. May had told Mr. Gribble that his wife and daughter had killed the child. When found dead on the bed the body was scantily clad and the night was cold.

Drs. McPhedran and Pyne, who made the post mortem examination, said they thought death was caused by acute congestion of the lungs of only a few hours' standing and probably brought on by exposure to the cold. There was no evidence of violence or suffocation, and the blood spot on the face and another on the clothing were evidently bloody mucous from the mouth, some of which was found in the throat.

The jury found that the child had died from natural causes, and severely censured the mother and grandmother for their neglect.

YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS.

EAST NORTHUMBERLAND, EAST ELGIN AND FRONTENAC.

The Conservatives Gain a Seat in the Local House by the Return of Dr. Willoughby for the First-named Constituency—No Change in the Others.

Yesterday three Ontario constituencies whose representatives in the Legislature were unseated by death voted to replace them. In East Northumberland Dr. Willoughby, who was in 1886 elected but afterwards unseated by the courts and subsequently defeated by the late Mr. Richard Clarke, was again in the field as the Conservative standard bearer against his opponent of 1886, Dr. Mallory. Again he has defeated him, and after a session's absence will be back to the legislative halls.

In East Elgin Mr. J. C. Dance and Mr. Marlatt were the opposing candidates to fill the seat rendered vacant by the death of the late Mr. Thomas M. Nairn. In this riding the Liberal party have held their own by the election of Mr. Dance.

In Frontenac the election was to fill the vacancy made by the death of the late Mr. Henry Wilmot (Conservative), and Messrs. Smith and Stark represented the Conservative and Liberal parties respectively. The Conservatives have again elected their candidate.

The result of the three elections is a gain of one seat for the Conservatives by the election of Dr. Willoughby.

CHIEF GRASETT'S DISCOVERY.

Is This Another Case of Infanticide?—In the West End This Time.

As Chief of Police Grasett was going to his home along Huron-street, he perceived a crowd of men and boys on a vacant lot on the corner of Baldwin looking very attentively at what was apparently a small bundle of rags on the ground. He made a closer inspection and found that the bundle contained the body of a female infant apparently four weeks old. He ordered the patrol wagon to take it to the morgue to await the result of the inquest, which Coroner Duncan will hold on it at 4 this afternoon.

THE CRIMINAL HIGH COURT.

Cases Tried Before Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt Yesterday.

When the Criminal Assize Court recommenced business, yesterday, William Graham was arraigned on a charge of perjury, pleaded not guilty, and was remanded for trial. John G. On July 23 he had passed a forged check on the Army and Navy store for $20, purporting to be signed by Mr. H. O'Hara, manager of the Temperance and General Life Insurance Company. He passed two similar checks for smaller amounts on two other firms. He was found guilty and ordered back for sentence.

The next case was the Queen v. William Hutchinson alias Greenhill, and Thomas Smith alias Maloney, charged with stealing a horse from one Hiram Alberston. This was Detective Burroughs' case and he succeeded in securing a conviction. Patrick Bolan, charged with criminal assault on Clarissa Hicks, was discharged. This closed the business of the court for the day.
