THE WEDDING

Takes Place of Miss Helen Gould—Rich and Poor Alike Unite in Their Hearty Congratulations.

(Courier Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The Bowery and Fifth Avenue found a common focus for their interest to-day in the wedding of Helen Miller Gould, daughter of the late Jay Gould, to Finley J. Shepard of St. Louis, the son of a New England clergyman. Society was interested because the wealthy Gould family has been considered part of its steadily upward in responsible road executive offices, he has given much of his time to books and music as well as tennis, golf and rowing. His father, the Rev. P. L. Shephard, died recently in his eighty eighth year. His mother is still living in Connecticut and is 83 years old.

mainly in railroads in which the family has been prominent. Miss Gould is now forty four years old. She was 24 when her father died, and when she was called upon to decide whether it should be society or business, philanthropy and a quiet life, she chose the latter combination.

(Courier Leased Wire) TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Miss Helen Miller Gould was married at 12.30 o'clock this afternoon at Lyndhurst, her country estate, to Finley Johnson Shepard, a railroad man who had risen from the ranks. The bride went to an altar half hidden by roses, trailing asparagus, ferns and great banks of palms, on the arm of her brother, Geo. J. Gould, who gave her in marriage. An orchestra screened by masses of flowers in the music room played Lohengrin's wedding march, while the Rev. Daniel D. Russell, pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian church performed the ceremony. Helen and Dorothy Gould, nieces of Miss Gould, stood with her. Garbed in pale pink satin, they acted as flower girls and were het only attendants. The couple stood during the ceremony beneath a bower of American beauty roses with festoons of grey-white asparagus reaching almost to the ground. The bride carried a modest bouquet of lilies of the valley, her favorite flower.

(Courier Leased Wire) A rope of exquisite pearls, said to have once adorned the Empress Josephine, Napoleon's wife, and a pear-shaped diamond pendant, the latter the bridegroom's gift, were the only jewelry worn by the bride. The pearls were a bequest from Miss Gould's mother. The wedding gown was of Duch- (Continued on Page 5).
