review of the present law, both on the question of group intimidation and on the question of group defamation.

The Chairman: If it is your wish, perhaps Mr. Scollin could be available at 1.30 next Wednesday. Is that agreeable?

Senator Lang: I think it would be, Mr. Chairman. It would give us a chance to look over these things with him.

The Chairman: If that is agreeable, we can make that a firm commitment now.

Mr. Scollin: That is satisfactory.

The Chairman: All right, 1.30 a week from today, Wednesday, February 21.

I gather it is the wish of the committee to adjourn, and I would entertain such a motion.

Senator Fergusson: Before adjourning, I think we should thank Mr. Scollin for his very clear explanation.

The Chairman: We certainly should. Thank you, Mr. Scollin.

The committee adjourned.
