AT OSGOODE HALL.

In Mr. Brown Able to Look After His Own Money?—Election Cases—A Question of Fly Paper.

The Chancellor disposed of a number of motions in Chambers with such rapidity as to cause semi-paralysis in the fingers of some of the officials whose duty it is to take a note of every order made.

In the East York and North Grey election petitions orders were made directing particulars to be delivered 14 days before the respective trials.

BROWN AND HIS MONEY.

In Brown v. Canada Permanent L. & S. Co., the defendants moved for leave to pay the moneys of the plaintiff on deposit with them into court. They claimed that the defendant is not fit to handle his money, and should have a guardian or be protected in the disposition of the money in question, as it is all he has to provide for his old age. The solicitor for Brown asked a week's enlargement to complete a set of affidavits showing that nothing was the matter with the plaintiff but an occasional over-indulgence in the use of liquor. An order was made granting an enlargement and directing the official guardian to intervene and report to the court and provide a scheme for the disposition of the fund if necessary.

EARLY CLOSING.

The early closing bylaws passed under the Ontario Shops Regulation Act still trouble the people down East. A certiorari was obtained on behalf of Mr. Macmillan of Ottawa to remove his conviction under one of these bylaws. He claims the bylaw in question is invalid.

The case of Johnson v. Cook affords a small point for lawyers. It was an application by the plaintiff to strike out a jury notice served on his own behalf. A similar case is not reported. The Chancellor, in granting the application, established a precedent in such cases by giving the costs of the motion to the defendant in any event of this cause.

FLY PAPER FOR FLIES.

Its tueront des millions de mouches, is what the plaintiffs in Wilson & Co. v. Lyman Bros. & Co. claim their fly poison pads and envelopes will do, and they allege that their trade mark is being infringed by the defendants. People must either suffer the plague of flies or buy the plaintiffs' pads or envelopes. The preliminary question to be settled is whether the trial shall take place in Hamilton or Toronto. The plaintiffs laid the venue at Hamilton and the Master in Chambers refused to change it to Toronto. The defendants appealed. The Chancellor awarded the honor to Toronto first, and if the case is not reached at the present non-jury sittings, then it is to be heard at the Hamilton Winter Assizes. Costs in the cause. This just and diplomatic order serves to allay hard feeling between the cities. Writing of Hamilton reminds one of an application which was made to Judge Morgan the other day to commit two gentlemen to an asylum for the insane. On the Judge's questioning them as to where they would like to be sent, they simultaneously exclaimed, "Anywhere; but Judge don't send us to Hamilton."

MONDAY'S LISTS.

Non-jury Sittings, at 11 a.m.: Scottish-American Investment Co. v. Mitchell, Reille v. Reid, Duncombe v. Duncombe, Bell v. Brynes, Alpine Dairy Co. v. Dwight, Hargrave v. Elliott.

Massey Hall Lectures.

Editor World: About 20 years ago Charles Kingsley thought that because he could write good books he could lecture. Many of us remember the sad and dismal failure he made. Had it not been so sad it would have been beyond measure ridiculous. Last year we had Dean Hole, who could not make himself heard in the second gallery of the Massey Hall. He retailed bushels of "chestnuts" at absurdly high prices. Now we have Ian Maclaren. The old trick of reserving half of the house for high prices was resorted to. The consequence was that a large part of the audience was thrown into the second gallery, where the lecturer's voice did not reach. Had the second gallery been closed, all the people could have been accommodated on the ground floor and first gallery, instead of there being a beggarly array of empty benches facing the lecturer. Before half a dollar was charged for a seat in a distant gallery, he or his managers should have found out whether his voice was up to the task of delivering what he said at such a distance.

From what the young University student who went with me and I could hear, we thought the lecture may have been fairly good, and if it had been delivered in a hall the size of Association Hall or the Pavilion, where everyone could have heard it, it would have gone off well. This idea of authors get that because they can write good books therefore they are good lecturers is a great mistake, and the sooner they are undeceived the better. In days gone by the platform or lyceum lecturer was an artist. In the first place he had a clear, resonant voice, with distinct articulation, such as we are accustomed to hear from Hon. Mr. Hardy and Bishop Dumoulin. In the second place, he had something interesting to say, and said it in a way that could be heard and that riveted the attention of his audience. The men I allude to are such lecturers as Rev. Mr. Chapin, Edward Everett, Joseph Cook, John B. Gough and Henry Ward Beecher. Either the Massey Hall is too large for lectures or the lecturers who hire it are too small for the hall.

Business Embarrassments.

N. Richardson, grocer, Cornwall, has compromised at 20c on the dollar cash.

Campbell & Craig, grocers, Niagara Falls, have assigned to A. E. Cole.

John D. Lee, hardware, Arnprior, is financially embarrassed.

M. O. Vandecar, East Oxford, has assigned to P. Irving. The Huron & Erie Loan and Savings Company of London, to whom Vandecar owed several hundred dollars in interest, made a distress for the amount and the sheriff entered into possession under an execution for $169 costs incurred by Vandecar in his suit with the Toronto commission merchants. Liabilities $1400.

BOARD OF TRADE NOTES.

The Georgian Bay Canal Promoter Fails to Meet the Council.

The council met yesterday afternoon. An important question arose as to the acceptance of the resignation of a member of the board without the consent of the council. The member is in good standing, having paid up all dues, and moreover participates in the gratuity fund. The council did not arrive at any conclusion before adjourning.

The following gentlemen were made members of the board: Samuel McNairn, John Melady, Peter R. Miller, Walter C. Bonnell, Henry O'Hara and F. G. Williamson.

Mr. E. A. Macdonald had arranged to meet the members of the Council of the Board of Trade when they met yesterday, and from what we learn he was there on time. An important question, however, came before the meeting when the members assembled concerning the discipline of the board, and when the council were prepared to meet Mr. Macdonald, who intended giving them polaters on the Georgian Bay scheme, the well-known promoter had left the building.

A communication was received from the Peterborough Board of Trade asking that in view of the proposed changes in the tariff, the present duties should be maintained for a period, say, six months, after the adoption of the proposed revised tariff by the Dominion Government. This matter will be dealt with at the next meeting of council.

A meeting of the council will be held at an early date to prepare report on trade matters for presentation at the general meeting to be held shortly.

Secretary Wills is jubilant over the fact that all the offices in the Board of Trade building are now occupied.

Natal's Old Rifles.

Some three years ago a large quantity of obsolete arms was sunk in the sea at Durban. Lately about 2000 Enfield rifles have been taken from the Colonial Armory at Maritzburg, as a result of a report to the Government by a board of officers, and will be disposed of similarly on the other side of the bar. These old muzzle-loaders have been out of date for many years—indeed, so far back as 1867 they were being called up by the army authorities—and were become but an encumbrance on stock. As their transport to England, or the taking of them to pieces, would not pay, and as in the possession of the mermaids they may be considered perfectly safe, it has been deemed well to consign them to the ocean, where they can hobnob with another part of colonial property, which may be recollected as an unfortunate item in the Government's harbor policy. The armory supplies having been heavy of late, the departure of the old makes way for the new.

Huge Elephant Shot.

A large cow elephant, the largest cow ever shot at Addo Bush, fell a victim on Tuesday last. The scene was laid at Mr. Holland's farm, four miles from the railway station, and the gentleman who brought the elephant down was named Hillson. He saw the cow from the house, strolling along with a herd of elephants, and taking a heavy gun went after them. He was only about a quarter of an hour, and finished her with one big bullet in the right spot, behind the shoulder. Dr. Schonland, Curator of our Albany Museum, has acquired the skin, etc., for the museum collection. It took a span of bullocks to turn the carcase, and the hide in some places is quite an inch thick. This will prove a valuable addition to the museum.—Johannesburg Times.

The Playful Ostrich.

The other day, says The Cradock (S.A.) Register, Mr. R. New Michau of Fortuin Plaats, was attacked by one of his own cock ostriches at Kerroo Vlagte. Mr. Michau was on horseback, but notwithstanding this the bird charged, striking the horse, so that both horse and rider came to the ground, whereupon Mr. Michau took a revolver from his pocket and shot the bird.

Proud of His Speed.

The scorcher is abroad in South Africa just as he is in Toronto. This little incident occurred in the Cape Town Police Court a few days ago: "You are charged," said the magistrate, "with riding your bicycle through the streets at a rate exceeding ten miles an hour." "Ten miles?" said the amateur, indignantly, "ten miles! I'll bet I was going 300."

TIPS FROM WALL-STREET.

The market closed at a slight reaction.

The most active stocks to-day were: Sugar 31,900 shares, St. Paul 18,300, W. U. 9400, R.I. 3100, Reading 17,000, L. & N. 20,600, Burlington, 16,800, C. Gas 29,600, Manhattan 4300, Tobacco 3400.

McIntyre & Wardwell, (John J. Dixon) send this despatch from New York to their branch office in Toronto: The stock market generally was higher to-day on sentimental buying, based on the belief in McKinley's election. The rise is opposed by the largest interests in the street, which generally think a bull market at the moment is dangerous. Notwithstanding the discouraging advice given by commission houses stocks are passing from strong into weak hands. The latter class do not apparently realize the serious condition of the money market. The present speculative position is certainly a very vulnerable one, and the market is subject to a violent break on any adverse news. Chicago Gas was the feature, advancing on stories of a dividend in the immediate future, provided Altgeld is defeated. About £100,000 gold was taken in London to-day for the United States. Laidlaw & Co., agents here for Bank of California, withdrew $1,300,000 gold from the subtreasury to-day. This is one of the few instances that came to light of the locking up of money through the hoarding of gold. Most capitalists, however, prefer to import gold or buy it in the open market rather than to take it from the Treasury. At the close the market had a reactionary tendency.

CHICAGO GOSSIP.

Henry A. King & Co., 12 King-street east, received the following despatch to-day from Chicago:

Wheat—Continental cables were higher this morning and reflected on our market at the opening. The early selling on the bulge was by Parker, Wegner and other brokers, supposed to be Cudahy, by liquidation. There seems to be no change in the foreign situation, and private cables confirm the India crop reports. While the bearish feeling is on there is no turning traders have been selling it altogether too hard the last few days, and consider it a buy on all declines. Those who bought wheat in the 60's need have no fear of the outcome. Cash handlers have been put on the alert by the prospective profits, and will soon be in a better position to take advantage of the unusual chances. Reliable operators think the break sufficient and regard this as a favorable time for safe purchases to be made. Northwest receipts were 1227 cars, against 1391 cars last year.

Corn and Oats—Both markets had a firm undertone all session partly in sympathy with better prices in wheat markets and a better cash demand. Transactions were confined mainly to local operators, with a few outside buying orders. The closing prices were around the best for the day. Local receipts of corn 844 cars and 410 cars of oats.

Provisions ruled dull and featureless most of the session. Trade was exceedingly light and chiefly local, with no outside demand. Domestic markets were steady to a shade weaker. Foreign markets unchanged.

McIntyre & Wardwell (John J. Dixon) received the following despatch from their branch office in Chicago:

Wheat—Foreign news was not so weak this morning as many had expected, and the selling of yesterday had evidently been a trifle overdone, which resulted in a firm opening, and some buying by what few shorts there were left in the market gave us some spurts during the early part of the session, and finally on better cables and some buying for foreign account the market closed higher at nearly 3c over yesterday. Receipts Northwest were large—1227 cars against 938 last week and 1391 last year. There was no export business reported. Money was somewhat easier, and the situation in the Northwest ought to be better soon. We favor the long side, but see no special reason for any greater advance just at the moment. We must have more good buying.

Provisions—Opened steady and ruled dull all day. Packers sold January product. Commission houses bought. Thomas Wells, President Continental Packing Co., sold May lard. Dan Brown bought January pork. The market became stronger near the close in sympathy with the advance in wheat.
