principle is required The designa-
d Tory, Conservative and Liberal,

Protectionist and Free Trader amongst such men, are words without meaning, and ought not to stand in the way of the good government of the country."

We have no doubt but that this will eventually be the case in all the Colonies. They have found out in New Brunswick that the system of Departmental or to speak more correctly, Party Government is not calculated for the Colonies. We will allow, however, the Courier to speak for himself.

"At this time four years ago, we expressed an opinion, which was not very well received at the time, that there really were not two parties in the country, and that the best men—men in whom the country had confidence—should sink personal feelings and little differences, and join in bringing forward measures for the good of the people.

Although during one Session an attempt was made to form parties, it was soon made manifest, that with the material there was to work with party government was impossible. It was, we believe, the opinion of a large majority of the people, as was clearly shown by the result of the Election, that a better Government was required, but it was found or thought that a Government made up from the ranks of the opposition would be just as objectionable as the old Government.

Many, therefore, who would gladly have changed for the better, hesitated about changing, it might be, for the worse, and accordingly the Government was sustained by a small majority. Unfortunately, however, a stand had been taken and a party formed, and the consistent and honorable of that party being committed to opposition, Government was forced to recruit its ranks with the very men whose presence had been a cause of weakness to the opposition.

It is, we think, pretty evident that the present Government as constituted, are not likely to command the confidence of the House. Many of its members are known to be opposed to and have always obstructed measures which the people by common consent are determined to have, and which a majority of the Representatives are pledged to support.

Even if those Members, for the sake of retaining power, pretend to be willing to yield to public opinion, it will probably not be considered politic or prudent to intrust the working of improved institutions to those who do not believe in them, and whose inclination it will be so to mar them in the details and execution as to prove that their own idea was right."

WE gave an account last week, of the articles contained in the Quarterly Review for May, 1854. Since then, we have received the North British Review for May last.

The contents are as follows:

Art 1. Of the plurality of Worlds,
2. British and Continental Characteristics,
3. The Union with England and Scottish Nationality,
4. Christian Evidences and History,
5. The Art of Education,
6. Ruskin and Architecture,
7. Professor Forbes and Mr. Lloyd in Scandinavia,
8. Auguste Compte and Positivism.

Blackwood's Magazine for June is also on our Table, received by yesterday's Mail, it contains nine articles, as follows:—Jerome Cardan; Young Bengal; Mary Russell Mitford; a Letter from Madrid; the Villa; the Recent growth of the United States of America; the Secret of Stoke Manor—a Family History; Ruskin on Architecture and Painting; the Glasgow Exhibitions to Oxford.

This number ends the volume. Leonard Scott and Co., of New York the American publishers, commence New Volumes of the four Reviews, and Blackwood with North British for May and the other Reviews with Blackwood in July.

Subscribers' names will be received by the Agent here, George T. Haszard. The terms are—

For any two of the four Reviews, -	5,00
For any three of the four Reviews, -	7,00

We sincerely recommend the formation of Clubs for the taking of these Periodicals, or such of them as suits the taste of the individuals concerned. The greater the number of those who join, the greater will be the corresponding advantages. A Subscriber for one Review or Blackwood's Magazine pays $3, 18s. 9d. this currency; whereas, if five join, they each, by paying $2 or 12s. 6d. per annum, obtain the reading of five Works, or 28 Numbers, each a good sized volume, nearly equal to 3 Numbers per month. Situated as we are, it is of no small consequence to us, to keep ourselves, as the mercantile phrase runs, posted up, in all that interests and concerns the political and literary world, and our long winter gives time to digest all the intellectual food of both kinds, that we can during that period consume. These publications are received regularly by Mail, at a small trifle for Postage. The present is one of the most favorable times for commencing.

FREE CHURCH.—Mr. Ross will preach in the Temperance Hall, to-morrow evening, at half-past six o'clock.

We pass to the Upper House to notice a Bill affecting Canada, which has been read a second time on the motion of the Ex. Secretary of the Colonies It is simply an enabling Bill, making over to the Canadian Parliament the right of constituting the Legislative Council according to the pleasure of the colonists themselves. The effect will be, that the future Legislative Council will be an elective body, instead of one whose members are nominated by the Crown.—London paper, June 24.

WAR OFFICE, June 20, 1854.

PROMOTION.—A. F. Ansell, Town Major of P. E. Island, to be Lieut. Colonel.

(From the New York Literary Gazette.)

"The War in the East: The Principals in the strife, and its probable issue," is the title of a lecture delivered by Rev. J. R. Narraway, in Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, before the Mutual Improvement Association.

It embodies much practical information on the War question, sketching the principal incidents which have occurred in past times, within the kingdom now at strife. The author speaks with the interestedness of a British subject, and gives some shrewd guesses at the probable issue of the contest.

Married,

At Musquodoboit N. S. on the 30th ult., by the father of the bride, the Rev. Isaac Murray, Cavendish, to Jane McKenna, eldest daughter of the Rev. John Sprott.

Died,

At Wood Islands, on Sunday the 2d inst., in the 74th year of her age, Janet, wife of Mr. John McMahon. She emigrated to this Island, with her father and husband, James Currie, October, 1806; settled at Wood Islands, 1807; left a widow, 1813; and lived with her last husband 35 years, at the above named place.

At his residence, Cause Point, on the 25th ult., Mr. Malcolm McKinnon, aged 62 years. He was a native of the Isle of Mull, Argyleshire, Scotland, and emigrated to this Colony in 1806. Under the deceased's hospitable roof, the poor and destitute often found an asylum, and few persons bestowed with a better heart or grace. The deceased bore his illness with christian fortitude and resignation to the divine will, evincing at his last, a full assurance of his soul's receiving a blessed immortality beyond the grave. The remembrance of him will be long cherished with respect by those who knew his moral worth. He left a wife and 6 children to mourn their irreparable loss.
