VEGETINE.

HER OWN WORDS.

BALTIMORE, MD., Feb. 13, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—Since several years I have got a sore and very painful foot. I had some physicians, but they couldn't cure me. Now I have heard of your VEGETINE from a lady who was sick for a long time, and became all well from your VEGETINE, and I went and bought me one bottle of VEGETINE; and after I had used one bottle, the pains left me, and it began to heal, and then I bought one other bottle, and so I take it yet. I thank God for this remedy and yourself; and wishing every sufferer may pay attention to it. It is a blessing for health.

MRS. C. KRABE, 638 West Baltimore Street.

VEGETINE

SAFE AND SURE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

In 1872 your VEGETINE was recommended to me, and yielding to the persuasion of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by over work and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose; and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give VEGETINE my most unqualified indorsement, as being a safe, sure, and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. VEGETINE is the only medicine I use; and as long as I live I never expect to find a better. Yours truly, W. H. CLARK, 120 Monterey Street, Allegany, Pen.

VEGETINE

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

CHARLESTOWN.

H. R. STEVENS.

Dear Sir,—This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and think that for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors or Rheumatic affections it cannot be excelled; and as a blood purifier and spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used, and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. A. A. DINSMORE, 19, Russell Street

VEGETINE.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

Dear Sir,—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Respectfully yours, U. L. PETTENGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co.,
No. 10 State St., Boston.

VEGETINE.

ALL HAVE OBTAINED RELIEF.

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Jan. 17, 1872.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.

Dear Sir,—I have had dyspepsia in its worst form for the last ten years, and have taken hundreds of dollars, worth of medicines without obtaining any relief. In September last I commenced taking the VEGETINE, since which time my health has steadily improved. My food digests well, and I have gained fifteen pounds of flesh. There are several others in this place taking VEGETINE, and all have obtained relief.

Yours truly, THOMAS E. MOORE,
Overseer of Card Room, Portsmouth Co.'s Mills.

THE NEW YORK CATHEDRAL.

Magnificent Ceremonies of Dedication.

SERMON BY RIGHT REV. BISHOP RYAN OF ST. LOUIS.

On Sunday, May, 25th the ceremony of dedicating the magnificent new St. Patrick's Cathedral of New York, the finest ecclesiastical edifice in America, proved one of the most significant events in the history of Catholicity in the United States. For thirty years the labors and anxious expectations of Archbishop Hughes and Cardinal McCloskey have been directed to this end, so that to-day the Catholics of New York have the happiness of worshipping in a temple worthy of their own liberality, and of the zeal of the devoted prelates who reared it.

THE CORNER STONE

of the new Cathedral was laid with imposing ceremonies, on the 15th of August, the feast of the Assumption, 1858. The foundations of the Cathedral rest on a bed of solid rock, in which excavations therefor had to be made. At the normal level of the surrounding grounds rest a chisel dressed base course of granite. From this springs a pure Gothic superstructure, similar in architecture to the style obtaining in Europe during the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Like the Cathedrals at Amiens, Reims, and Cologne, St. Patrick's is free from the heaviness and over ornamentation which are the distinguishing characteristics of ecclesiastical edifices of previous date. The main entrance, on Fifth avenue, is 12 feet deep, 30 feet wide and embowered in carved devices. From columns, with bases and foliage caps, springs an arch fringed with a double row of foliated tracery, terminating at the apex in a mock final. The gable is pannelled with traceries and displays a shield bearing the arms of the diocese in the centre. Over the gable is a crocheted moulding with ornate finals of American foliage, and a row of niches to be filled with figures of saints, 7 feet 6 inches high. Above this is a large rose window 26 feet in diameter, all of Gothic tracery in stone, with 100 shafts radiating from the centre. The transept fronts are divided into a nave, with side aisles. The doors are 25 feet wide by 54 feet high. The windows are 27 by 57 feet high. The transept gables are 175 feet high. Light is admitted in the Cathedral through 103 windows, the lower tier 32 feet and the upper 28 feet high. Most of the windows on the lower tier are donations from the various churches of the diocese, and some of them are of American make. Those of the nave were ordered by Cardinal McCloskey when he went to Rome.

The subject of these windows are: "St. Bernard Preaching the Second Crusade," "The Martyrdom of St. Lawrence at Rome," "The Brothers of the Christian Doctrine Submitting the Statue of their Order to Pope Benedict XIII," and the "Conversion of Henry of Germany on the Battlefield." As works of art, these windows came from Europe with the endorsement of the nicest critics of the French capital. These analyzers of the intangible and dissecters of the unreal were moved so far in their admiration for the work of M. Lorin's artists, that they even expressed a regret that such gems should be allowed to depart to a semi-barbarous place like New York, where something less valuable and elegant would evoke more appreciation. One of the worthies shuddered at the thought that these grand windows would be used to admit their varied light on magnificent marble walls disfigured with decalcomine, "of which," he concluded, "the American is passionately fond, decorating even his watch crystal with it frequently." Those capable of making comparisons declare that these windows are equal in point of art to the masterpieces of Lovin at the Vatican, Jerusalem, Belgium or Austria. These windows, minus transportation or duty, cost $14,000, and are regarded as one of the permanent ornaments of the city.

The interior is divided into three parts—transept, nave and choir—of dimensions as follows:—Length of transept, 140 feet; height of nave, 108 feet. The internal length of the building is 306 feet; breadth 96 feet. A series of chapels, each 12 feet deep, occupy either side of the edifice. The nave is divided from the aisles by two rows of clustered columns, sixteen column in a row. The choir has five bays, and is arranged with double aisles on either side of the central aisle. The area of the interior of the cathedral is 38, 500 square feet, and there is standing room for 19,000 people. Fourteen thousand can be accommodated with seats. Some idea of the capacity of the place may be gleaned when it is stated that 5,000 is the greatest capacity of any church in New York. The cost of constructing the Cathedral thus far amounts to over $4,000,000, and about $600,000 more will be required.

Like the windows, the altar is a work of art. It is built in the centre of the choir, thirteen feet from the eastern wall of the edifice. The table of the altar is of white marble, and its front and sides are divided into niches and panels. The niches have statues and the panels bas-reliefs representing the Passion. The tabernacle in the centre of the altar is of the most ornate kind, composed of Mosaics and embellished with precious stones. The door is of bronze, richly gilt. The screen behind the altar is also of marble, and ascends nine feet above the table level. It is inlaid with diaper work of alabaster and rests on a base moulding of bleu belge marble. Three towers finish the limit of the screen, one in the centre and one at either side. The spire of the centre tower is surmounted with a gold cross, which towers high up toward the ceiling and is almost lost to view in the varied lights transmitted through the great choir window.

DEDICATION OF THE HIGH ALTAR.

The first event in connection with the dedication of the edifice was the solemn consecration of the High Altar, which was performed on Friday, May 23rd, with closed doors. The consecration was performed by Rt. Rev. Bishop Conroy, of Albany, N. Y., who was assisted by Vicar-General Quin, Fathers Kearney and Hogan, of St. Patrick's Church, Mott Street, and Father Gallaghan, of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, New York. This manificent altar, so exquisite in material design, and artistic beauty, stands forty-eight feet in height to the apex of the cross surmounting the tabernacle.

THE MOST POWERFUL ORGAN IN THE WORLD.

On the evening of the same day, the great Jardine organ was tested for the first time in the presence of his Eminence the Cardinal and a small party of ladies and gentlemen who were present by invitation, among whom were Bishop Littlejohn, Judge Hilton and Mrs. A. T. Stewart. The organ is built in the new open style, displaying all the pipes symmetrically grouped highly decorated in the Gothic style and richly gilded. The total height is forty-five feet, width twenty-six feet and depth fourteen feet. There are four enormous pairs of bellows, blown by French treadles, which require four men to handle them. Patent vacuum pallets overcome the tremendous wind pressure rendering the touch pliable and easy, giving the organist every facility for combining and controlling the immense masses of tone. The chime of thirty-four bells is also a feature of the instrument, and will be used at marriage ceremonies. They are struck by piano action, and are capable of ringing in all the changes.

Before 8 o'clock, on the morning of the 25th, people began to gather by hundreds about the new St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue to secure an early entrance when the doors should be thrown open at 9 o'clock. The assembly was numbered by thousands at that hour, and eighty ushers waited to guide the thousands to their proper places in the great temple.

PROMINENT LAYMEN.

The audience included not only names prominent in Catholic work in the city, but known in the churches of other denominations. Mr. Chas. O'Connor sat in a front pew on the gospel side of the altar. In another pew, near the chancel, was Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, with several ladies; Mr. Henry Bergh and Mrs. Hicks-Lord had chairs together on the floor of the church before the altar-rail, Mrs. Lord in deep mourning. Mr. Henry L. Hoguet, Mr. Greenville Kane, Judge Brady, Judge Donohue, Judge Daly, Mr. F. F. Marbury, Mr. Hugh Kelly, Mr. A. L. Ashman, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, Messrs. THE PROCESSION.

At 10.15 a. m., the customary procession and ceremonies of dedication took place. The return of the procession from the passage around the walls was announced by a burst of song at the grand portal. The audience rose unanimously not to lose sight of the magnificent procession of the Cardinal and his retinue, as in its length of between four or five hundred feet it passed in solemn step up the centre aisle. The choir from St. Paul's Church, who had marched down the aisle singing the psalms of the Blessing, then passed to the side opposite the sanctuary. The thirty sanctuary boys in red cassocks and white surplices, filed off on either side of the altar. Then came six priests, intoning in full voice the litany of the saints, and the chancel choir, numbering 120 male voices, under the leadership of Father Young, of St. Paul's (Dr. Hecker's) Church. The six visiting archbishops, in cope and mitre, were followed by the bishops, similarly attired, making in all a gathering of forty-three members of the Episcopacy. The Cardinal and his suite were the last to enter, making a distinct group from the body of the procession. The crossbearer, carrying the large double golden cross, came first, with the boys, then His Eminence the Celebrant, followed close
