FIFTEEN MINERS ENTOMBED

Explosion in a British Columbia Coal Mine Results in Probably Wholesale Deaths.

RESCUING PARTY OVERCOME BY GAS

Premier Dunsmuir and Citizens of Surrounding Towns Hurrying to the Rescue.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 30.—No. 2 and No. 3 slopes of the well-known Extension mines at Ladysmith are on fire and 15 men are down in the burning mine. Little hope is entertained for any of them, for the fire is still raging and clouds of smoke can be seen in the air for miles.

The 15 supposed to be dead in the mine are:

G. Southcombe.
A. Pisteelo.
Charles Noye.
Edward Hazel.
J. Patterson.
— McCallum.
— Reeves.
— Watson.
David Griffiths.
Tony, an Italian.
— Balkey.
F. Mootishaw.
Mike Dolan.

The fire started this afternoon near where the workings of No. 2 slope tunnel of No. 3 converge, a miner's lamp coming in contact with the blanket being the cause.

Horses and fire appliances have been sent from nearby towns, and relief is on the way from many places.

Premier James Dunsmuir, head of owning company, left to-night for the scene on a special train, which will prevent him from welcoming the royal party to-morrow as was expected.

A later report says the fire is still raging and gaining headway.

This report says that nearly all who were at the wrecked mines escaped, and those lost are members of a relief party that went down.

Some narrow escapes are reported.

One miner, who was running from No. 2 workings when the fire broke, fell exhausted by the gaseous matter, but in falling he knocked the door open leading to the other workings and escaped thru them.

FIFTEEN ENTOMBED.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 30.—A special to The News-Advertiser from Victoria says: Premier Dunsmuir, president of Wellington Colliery Company, has received a despatch from the manager of the company's mines, situated near Ladysmith, Vancouver Island, reporting the mine on fire and spreading rapidly. Two explosions have occurred, and some miners have been killed. Specials from Nanaimo report 15 men entombed in mine.

DIED FROM STING OF AN INSECT.

Mrs. McIntyre of St. Thomas Bitten Last Tuesday By a Kissing Bug.

St. Thomas, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Elsie McIntyre, wife of Mr. Ewen McIntyre, farmer, River-road, Southwold, died at 4 p.m. Sunday from the effects of blood poisoning, the result of the bite of a poisonous insect, believed to be a kissing bug. Mrs. McIntyre was bitten last Tuesday on the left temple by some insect, and as the result of the bite, which from the first was painful, blood poisoning resulted, and death followed. In the bed was found a bug, which exactly corresponds with the pictures printed and the description of the celebrated kissing bugs. The insect is now in the possession of Dr. Fulton.

Deceased was a daughter of the late James Fulton of Southwold, and was in her 55th year. She leaves a husband, two sons and two daughters.

KING AND QUEEN IN VENICE.

Monarchs of Italy Are Accorded a Most Imposing Reception.

Venice, Sept. 30.—For the first time since their accession to the throne, the King and Queen of Italy have paid a visit to Venice, arriving here this evening shortly before 6 o'clock. A grandiose and picturesque reception was given by the Queen of the Adriatic to the young sovereigns. They were received at the station by the sindic, with the municipal authorities, the prefect, the director of the arsenal, etc., military honors being rendered by the troops. They then entered the royal gondola, rowed by gondoliers in the livery of the House of Savoy. The young couple were greeted the whole length of the voyage down the grand canal by frantic cheers and cries of "Viva il re." To-night there was a gigantic loyalist demonstration on the Piazzi di San Marco, in which over 50 associations of various kinds took part.

FRANCE IN ACTIVE FIGHT AGAINST CONSUMPTION

Senate Reading Room
1Jan02
SENATE FO

M[illegible] Unite[illegible]efit Societies [illegible] Campaign.

Paris, Sept. 30.—[illegible]ctivity in fighting tuberculosis has, since the London congress, redoubled in intensity.

The last week has seen the consolidation of all individual leagues against the dread disease into a single gigantic union for the struggle against consumption.

Delegates representing all the mutual aid, mutual insurance and co-operative societies met at the Hall of the Sorbonne and agreed to contribute a fund of $10,000 yearly in support of a hundred beds in the hospitals of each large city in France, besides supporting at least three hundred free consulting rooms in public sanitariums thruout the country for the coming year.

Moreover the members of the new union propose to publish a periodical devoted solely to fighting the disease, of which Dr. Calmette, head of the Pasteur Institute at Lille, will be editor.

The French railroad authorities have issued lengthy instructions to their employes regarding the best means of avoiding contagion of tuberculosis, and the factory owners of Northern France have taken the same course, while certain large employers of labor in Paris have established a corps of medical examiners, whose sole duty is to inspect workingmen's home to insure healthy conditions.

Among the general instructions which this corps of doctors has posted in every workman's home are the following dicta: "Don't smoke; drink milk in large quantities; eat all the meat possible; avoid draughts; wash the mouth daily with listerine; take daily cold baths; don't cough except when you must; never swallow expectorations; stay in the fresh air all you can."

MR. WALLACE CRITICALLY ILL.

Consultation Held Yesterday Reveals Fact That His Condition is Extremely Grave,

BUT HE MAY POSSIBLY RECOVER

Five Days Will See Him Around or on Verge of Total Collapse.

Hon. N. Clarke Wallace was resting easily last night. There was no perceptible change in his condition from the day previous, but he was so weak as not to be able to raise himself up in bed.

Dr. McPhedran held a consultation with the local physician, Dr. King, yesterday afternoon, and whilst professional etiquet demands that as little publicity as possible should be given regarding the condition of their patient, still, there is a limit where extreme reticence stops and both are free to express the opinion that his condition is extremely grave, yes, even critical.

There is a possibility, however, that Mr. Wallace may be able to be around in a few days, and whilst this is the hope of his friends it should not be built upon too much, in view of his present very low condition.

From a reliable source The World learned that five days will find the patient improved or on the verge of total collapse.

Mr. Wallace has been a sick man for upwards of two years, and was in a poor state of health prior to going on his recent trip to Alberta. The change did not appear to do him good, and on his return his system was very much run down.

Faithful nursing may improve him much, and the best is hoped for.

A VICTOR CHAMPION.

A Strong Advocate of the Great $3.50 Shoes for Men.

The portly, well-nourished individual had just concluded a story bearing on the painful difficulty he experienced in getting a pair of shoes to fit him.

"No two men have feet exactly alike," he had insisted. "My feet are of a particular shape. They are good feet—I like 'em anyway; but they don't seem to belong to the majority, and it's the majority that boots are made for, unless you have 'em made to order."

The "savoir faire" of his companion's appearance bespoke the smart, well-dressed man about town. From the top of his hat to the soles of his boots he was "correct," as the expression is, and the soles of his boots were quite as accurate as any part of him, because they were protected by a pair of Victor shoes. He smiled at the stout man's comic seriousness.

"Wear Victor shoes," he said. "That's the whole thing in a nutshell. They are good shoes; stout men's shoes, or any other men's shoes. They are a $5 shoe for $3.50—that's what they are as a matter of fact. But the point about the Victor is that they go in lengths and breadths, the sizes work both ways. You know the length of boot you want, and, once you have worn a Victor, you know the number of the breadth of the boot you want. You can get your combination exactly from 5 and 5½ right up as high as boots are made. Every style, every last, every length and every breadth, and $3.50. But, by-the-way, you can only get Victor shoes at Simpson's."

"Well, that is the best place anyhow," returned his ruddy-faced companion.

TARTE MUST EXPLAIN.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—A special meeting of the Montreal Harbor Board was held today to consider what action the board should take in regard to the charge made by Mr. Tarte that the sum of $20,000 had been offered to the board on behalf of Mr. Jamieson to rush thru the elevator contract. It was finally decided to write to Mr. Tarte asking for an explanation.

CALL FOR CONSCRIPTION

Only Way, Says Military Press, to Place Suitable Troops in South Africa.

COLONIES MAY BE ASKED FOR MORE

Ministers Condemned for Errors Costing Rivers of Blood and Millions of Treasure.

London, Sept. 30.—Frank advocacy of conscription is the feature of the latest issues of the British military journals, which state that the situation in South Africa has become so grave that only the return to the principle involved in the militia draft can place a sufficient number of suitable troops at Lord Kitchener's disposal and avert an imperial calamity.

The Naval and Military Gazette says: "It is to be feared that Lord Kitchener will require more men. Where are they to be got, unless, indeed, the colonies are asked to send more men?

"The yeomanry are not coming forward as it was expected they would, and the experiment of sending out raw recruits is not likely to be repeated. On the whole, there is little enough on which to congratulate ourselves just now, except the magnificent spirit of the army in the field, and of that we are ashamed to take advantage. Perhaps the government will redeem its past feebleness, taking the only step that meets the case and putting in force the only form of conscription which will be accepted in England."

The same journal deplores the state of things in Cape Colony, where large numbers of colonial Dutch have been joining the enemy. Practically the entire population of the districts invaded is giving assistance of various kinds to the invaders. "In 1899," it adds, "Ministers thought there would be no war. In 1900 they thought the war at an end. In 1901 they thought peace might be secured by proclamations. These miscalculations have been paid for in the devastation of South Africa, and by rivers of blood and millions of treasure. Nevertheless, the nation still refuses to learn its lesson, perhaps because it is not bitter enough. Do we intend to wait for an awakening that may come too late?"

OFFICERS WERE ALL KILLED.

Refugees From Disastrous Fight on Samar Island Arrive at Tannan.

Manila, Sept. 30.—Gen. Hughes, from the Island of Samar, reports the arrival of Sergt. Markley and one private at Tannan from the fight at Balangiga, where over 40 men of Company C, 9th Infantry, were killed by insurgents, who attacked the troops while at breakfast Saturday last. The men who have reached Tannan say that the officers of the company, who were at first reported to have escaped, were killed with the majority of the company. The troops were attacked while unprepared by 400 bolomen, of whom the Americans killed about 40. Many of the soldiers were killed in their quarters before they had time to grasp their rifles. Gen. Hughes is going to the scene of the disaster, and personally will command the troops.

THE STORY OF THE CAPTURE

How Miss Stone, the Missionary, Fell Into the Hands of Turkish Brigands.

WAS TRAVELING IN THE MOUNTAINS

Surrounded by a Band Who Demanded Money—One of the Men Murdered.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 30.—A detailed account of the capture of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary by brigands in Turkey, has been received in a letter from Mrs. H. C. Haskell of Samokov, Bulgaria, to a relative here. Her letter says Miss Stone had been hearing her usual summer school for Bible workers at Bansko, Macedonia. On Sept. 3 a party of six students from the Collegiate Institute at Samokov, three or four Bulgarian teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Tsclika, who had spent several years in America, Mrs. Chschera and Miss Stone, started for Bjumlak, 12 hours' travel. From there they were to go to their different homes. At 4.30 o'clock that afternoon, as they were resting in the mountains, Miss Stone and Mrs. Tsclika being on horseback and the rest on foot, they were surrounded by 30 or 40 armed men. These men were dressed in Turkish costume, but were masked or blackened. They ordered the party to march, and drove them up the steep mountain side. Miss Stone told the boys they were taking them away from the road to rob and perhaps kill them. She did not speak of capture, as it is almost unheard of for brigands to take women.

After going an hour's distance the brigands stopped and demanded their money. They took what gold they had, but returned the silver. When this was done one of them said to Miss Stone: "We want you," and ordered her and Mrs. Tsclika to go with them. She made no remonstrance. Mrs. Tsclika made a move to follow his wife, but they forced him back. A part of the brigands kept watch on those that remained to keep them from hurrying to inform the government, but next morning let them go.

The brigands murdered one of the men of the party before they released the captives to get his horse. They took this animal as well as the horses ridden by Miss Stone and Mrs. Tsclika. The students came to Samokov and wired Dr. House at Salonika, Miss Stone's station. He immediately went to the American consul and also telegraphed Consul-General Dickinson, who knew Miss Stone. The news spread over Bulgaria like a flash, for Miss Stone was widely known and greatly beloved.

RUSSIA'S CROP RETURNS.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—The official returns as to crops in Russia for the present year shows 650,000,000 poods of wheat, 670,000,000 poods of oats and 1,100,000,000 poods of rye. This return is 6 per cent. below the average for five preceding years.

DENTAL PLATE IN THROAT REMOVED VIA STOMACH

Dreamed He Had Swallowed False Teeth and He Had.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 30.—Maurice A., the nineteen-year-old son of James A. Brooks, swallowed, while asleep early yesterday, a plate with false teeth attached. He was dreaming that the plate had become detached and had slipped down his throat and awoke to find the dream a reality. He aroused his father, who hurried him to a physician living nearby, but after an examination the youth was told he had not swallowed his teeth.

A thoro search was made at his home, but the missing plate could not be found. As the choking sensation continued and the boy was unable to eat, the father took him to the Johns Hopkins Hospital, where Dr. Finney made an examination and found that the teeth had lodged near the top of the breastbone. Every effort to remove them thru the mouth failed, and an operation was necessary. An incision was made in the throat about the top of the breastbone. The plate could then be plainly seen, but it was too deeply embedded to be removed.

The incision was then sewed and laparotomy performed, the stomach being opened. A rubber tube was then passed in the stomach and up the food tract, or oesophagus, past the plate and out of the mouth. A cord, with a sponge at one end, was then attached to the protruding end of the tube, and the latter was pulled. The cord and sponge followed it, and the sponge, catching against the plate, pulled it down the oesophagus, and thus into the stomach, from where it was removed.

The operation is a rare one, but young Brooks is expected to recover.

NO REDUCTION JUST NOW

Canadian Northern Will Lot Lower Freight Rates Until They Have Outlet on Lake Superior.

GIVEN AN EXTENSION OF TIME

Expect to Get Into Port Arthur By November—Good Reasons for the Delay.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—"I am very sorry to say that the promised reductions on wheat rates on the Canadian Northern lines cannot be put into effect on Oct. 1 as anticipated," was the reply of Premier Roblin to an inquiry made this afternoon.

"The reduction promised," he continued, "was two cents per hundred pounds from all points on the Canadian Northern to Lake Superior. I regret exceedingly that this cannot be complied with at present, for two reasons, only one of which I am able to disclose, viz.: That the Canadian Northern line to Port Arthur is not finished. This is owing partly to the scarcity of labor and partly to the present weather.

"The company have asked for an extension of time, which we have granted. We have no control over these conditions, and I am sure the people of this country will exonerate us from all shadow of blame when I make public the other reason for delay, which I cannot do at present. The contract of Feb. 11 still stands as it stood all summer. It is impossible to tell exactly when the Canadian Northern line to Port Arthur will be finished, but it will be some time in November, I hope. I regret that the rate cannot be reduced at once, because the present condition of the wheat crop makes it desirable that every possible advantage should be given the farmers. The schedule of wheat rates was all prepared, but, of course, it is useless without a completed line to the lake."

Mr. William Mackenzie was interviewed in reference to the above, and in reply stated that he regretted the inability of the company to have the road to Port Arthur finished by Oct. 1. "The delay was owing to the scarcity of labor, which had been quite unprecedented and unexpected. Every effort had been made by the company to push the work, and nothing was now being neglected that would tend to hasten the completion of the line.

"There is no reasonable doubt," said Mr. Mackenzie, "but the route will be finished to Port Arthur this season, and just as soon as it is the reduction will go into effect. Had the contract been ratified sooner last spring, we would have been further advanced with our work before the recent wet weather came. However, the people can rest assured that the reduction will be made this season as soon as the line is finished."

"Is there any other reason why it cannot be made now?" was asked.

"Yes, we could not make any arrangements with any other line for an outlet until our line was finished. Had we been able to do so we would not have had to ask for an extension of time, but this shows the need for an independent outlet to the lakes."

Mr. Mackenzie confirmed the statement attributed to Mr. Mann that the company would build its freight sheds on Rorrie-street, between Bannatyne and McDermot-avenue. It was, he thought, an admirable place for such buildings.

DUKE REACHES FAR WEST

Vancouver Receives Heir Apparent and Royal Consort With Manifestations of Loyalty.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED

Visit to a Sawmill, Presentation of Indian Chiefs and Beautiful Drives Enjoyed.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 30.—The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall completed their trans-continental tour westward to-day, and are the guests of the people of Vancouver. Their special trains made the run down thru the canyon and valley of the Fraser River this morning, and at 11.30 o'clock pulled into the Canadian Pacific depot. On the terraced heights back of the depot a great crowd was gathered, and the royal special halted to a salvo of cheers. A guard of honor, composed of bluejackets from the North Pacific Squadron, was drawn up at the depot platform, and back of them were a detachment of the Northwest Mounted Police, in their smart uniforms of scarlet and black.

Premier Laurier and the Countess of Minto, who had arrived by the pilot special, joined with the local Reception Committee in the formal welcome to the Duke and Duchess. The former wore his uniform of admiral of the navy, and after the committee had been introduced the officers of the North Pacific Squadron were presented.

Thru Decorated Streets.

The Duke inspected the guard of honor before he and the Duchess were escorted to the state carriage which awaited them. They were then driven thru artistically decorated streets to the Court House. An attractive feature of the street decorations was a series of arches, one of which was erected by the Chinese residents of the city and another by the Japanese.

At the Court House Mayor Townley read an address of welcome, and the Duke, in reply, thanked him and the people of the city for their cordial reception. The Duke and Duchess then assisted in the formal opening of a new Drill Hall for the local militia.

Opened New Drill Hall.

The guard of honor at the Drill Hall comprised the Duke of Connaught's Rifles, 100 veterans, and 100 members of the Boys' Brigade. The Duke on entering inspected the guard and addressed the veterans and boys. His Highness contrasted the old and young. Veterans had shown what they would do for the Empire, and the boys were there to testify that they in their turn were ready to defend throne and Kingdom should need arise. Medals were then presented by the Duke to 28 South African veterans, including Nurse Affleck of Ottawa, who went out with the first Canadian contingent.

At 1.30 a civic banquet to the royal guests took place, and in the afternoon Hastings' large lumber mill was visited. Before leaving the mill the royal guests were presented with a souvenir book in morocco cover, the leaves of which were finely polished veneers of woods found in the forests of British Columbia.

Drove Thru Stanley Park

Leaving Hastings' mill the royal party was driven round Stanley Park. The drive covered eight miles, the scenery all thru being most beautiful, as the park occupies the whole of a peninsula, the greater portion of which is covered with virgin forest, some trees en route being 30 feet in circumference at the base. The view thruout the drive was beautiful, the carriages passing along paths lapped by the waters of the Pacific on one side and shaded by maple and fir trees on the other. Distant views of Vancouver Island and the smaller islands of the Gulf of Georgia and the mountains of the mainland were obtained at frequent intervals. At Prospect Point a stretch of inland, mountain-girt waters, 30 miles in extent, dotted with warships, yachts and pleasure boats, was seen.

At Brockton Point 3000 school children greeted the royal party, and the Duchess, with a few gracious words, presented a silk banner to the school possessing the most efficient drill team.

Indian Chiefs Address Duke.

The closing function before embarking was the presentation of loyal addresses by Chiefs of Sechalt and Fort Simpson Indians, who were in full native costumes. Indian Chiefs presented addresses to the Duke, who shook hands with the leading Chiefs and spoke a few gracious words, thru the interpreter.

Off to Victoria.

Late in the afternoon the Duke and Duchess boarded the steamship Empress of India, on which they are to be taken to Victoria, convoyed by the North Pacific Squadron.

To-night the city and fleet in the harbor were illuminated in honor of the royal party. On shore thousands of electric lights burned brightly, while the ships were outlined in lines of lamps.

The Empress of India and her convoy reach Victoria to-morrow morning, and the Duke and Duchess are to be given another loyal reception there.

WHEN THE DUKE WAS A BOY.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 30.—A touching incident in to-day's ceremonies was the recognition of an old Marlborough House gardener amongst the crowd outside the Drill Hall. The man looked tough in his shabby old suit, but the Duke and Duchess freely conversed with him, talking of the King, the Queen, Marlborough House grounds and other home scenes in the Duke's life. The man reminded the Duke of the games they had together when the Duke was a boy.

AUTHORITIES URGED TO ACT.

Jury Believes Maternity Home License Should Be Cancelled.

The adjourned inquest on the body of Stella White's child, who died at 7 Gladstone-terrace last Wednesday night, was concluded a little after 1 o'clock this morning at No. 6 Police Station, when the jury empanelled by Coroner Lynd returned the following verdict:

"We find that the deceased infant, Baby White, was a full born child of weak constitution; that he died at No. 7 Gladstone-terrace on the 25th day of Sept., and that the evidence does not show that death resulted from other than natural causes, yet we are of the opinion that the child did not receive proper food and skilful nursing, and from the information laid before us we feel that the Crown officers should take the necessary steps to have the license given to Mrs. McCartney to keep a maternity house cancelled, and we disapprove of any person holding the dual position of medical health officer and medical attendant of any institution of this kind."

BURNED HERSELF ALIVE.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Therese Nanbertz, a Hungarian, 51 years old, who lived at No. 56 due Rome, was on the point of having her furniture seized, and this seems to have driven her out of her mind. She bought four litres of petroleum the other day and saturated her furniture with it. Then she killed her parrots, birds and cats, smashed her furniture to atoms and set fire to it.

The noise she made gave alarm to some of her neighbors, and they informed the concierge, who refused to interfere. Flames burst from her apartments at 2 o'clock in the morning, and the fire brigade in extinguishing the blaze found the half consumed body of the woman.

SUICIDE ON SS. MONTFORT.

Quebec, Sept. 30.—Charles Miller, a cattleman on the Elder-Dempster steamer Montfort, committed suicide to-day by swallowing a dose of paris green. Members of the crew made the discovery about 3 o'clock this morning, and the man was removed to the Hotel Dieu about 8 o'clock, where he died half an hour later. Miller was a German and was 46 years of age.

London, Sept. 30.—(Telegram Cable.)—Liverpool men engaged in the shipping trade have no faith in the proposed Canadian fast line. Every wreck on the Canadian shore is a nail in the coffin for the fast line scheme.

UNKNOWN VESSEL BURNED.

Duluth, Sept. 30.—At 6 o'clock this morning John Roberg, a policeman, saw what he claims was a large steamer burning on the lake. The vessel was about three miles from shore, he says, and finally burned to the water's edge and disappeared. Roberg was at his home at the time, and the members of his family and another family living in the same house claim to have seen the spectacle. So far as can be learned they are the only people in either Duluth or Superior who saw it, but they are absolutely positive. Marine men can make nothing out of it and are skeptical. No missing boats have been reported.

NEAR PAARDEBERG.

Constabulary Stationed Near the Scene of Cronje's Surrender.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Sergt. W. H. Rea of the S.A.C., in a letter to an Ottawa friend, dated Modder River, Aug. 20, says:

"We are stationed on the Modder River about four miles from Paardeberg, where the battle of Paardeberg was fought. We have been over the ground, but have not had any time to spend looking over the graves. Being on Major Lyons' flying column since the beginning of June, we have had considerable trekking about, never being longer than one week in any one place. Our principal duties are at present to guard the different crossings or drifts along the Modder between Paardeberg and Modder River station on the railway. The Boers have made several attempts to get over, but the drifts are well guarded and wired with barbed wire so that it is next to impossible for them to get over any place. Major Lyons has eight troops, S.A.C., about four companies of Tommies and one 12-pounder along on his column, and when we get on the move it looks pretty fine. At present we have only one man confined to the hospital. The men are all in the pink of condition. We have a splendid captain (Beer) and excellent lieutenant (Permatinger). They are so very different from the general run of officers.

"So far we have not had any casualties. Our outposts have been fired on four or five times, and four squads (32 men), under the captain, chased about 60 odd Boers slam bang up against a British column, who shelled them well. We chased them about five miles as hard as we could gallop. Exciting? well, yes. I don't know how long we remain here, but expect to move in four or six days."

PAUL KRUGER'S SON IS DEAD

Tjaardt Kruger, Who Recently Surrendered to British, Passes Away After Short Illness.

DETAILS OF BOTHA'S REPULSE

British Garrison at Fort Italia Lose Heavily, However—Boers Left Many Behind.

Pretoria, Sept. 30.—Tjaardt Kruger, son of the former President, who recently surrendered to the British, has just died after a short illness.

BOTHA REPULSED.

Durban, Natal, Sept. 30.—A force of 1500 Boers, commanded by Gen. Botha, made an attack which lasted all day long on Sept. 26 on Portitala on the border of Zululand. The burghers were repulsed, but at a heavy cost to the garrison, whose losses were an officer and eleven men killed and five officers and 38 men wounded. In addition 63 men are missing, of which number many are believed to have been killed or wounded. The Boer commandant Opperman and nineteen burghers are known to have been killed.

Electric Seal Jackets.

Electric seal seems to have established itself firmly in the world's good graces. It has been thoroughly tested by wear during the last five years, and has received but little criticism. The electric seal makes a very effective jacket, especially when it is trimmed with Chinchilla or Persian lamb. Even when plain, it is neat and stylish looking. Then the price! That's low! The Dineen Company, corner Yonge and Temperance-streets, have a beautiful line of these jackets at $35. When trimmed they go a little higher in price. Call and see them—there are hundreds now on exhibition. Write for style book.

FAIR.

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Sept. 30.—During to-day a heavy northwest gale has prevailed in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and rain has fallen over a large portion of the Maritime Provinces, but from Quebec westward to the Pacific the weather has been fair.
