MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR SGT. TICHBOURNE LARGELY ATTENDED

High Tributes Are Paid to Dead Soldier by Pastor.

An impressive memorial service was held in Talbot Street Baptist Church last evening for the late Sergt. Arthur Tichbourne, who was killed in action on May 26. The pastor, Rev. H. H. Bingham, paid a fitting tribute to the life and character of this fallen hero.

"Well do I remember," said Mr. Bingham, "the Sunday evening that this young man surrendered his life to Jesus Christ, and witnessed to the fact that it was during the reading of the Scripture lesson he was impressed that he ought to give himself to the Saviour. He was shortly afterwards baptized, and united with this church, and throughout his soldier life, I believe, continued to live a true, consistent, Christian life.

"His last letter to his mother," continued Mr. Bingham, "was written just a week before he was killed, and in it he himself paid a glowing tribute to the value of the family altar in his father's home, the strength derived from his father's prayers and consistent life, and the mighty influence of his sainted mother. These are experiences a young man can never forget or get away from."

"Religion of the Trenches" was Mr. Bingham's subject. "Turning to the subject, he said: "There are many conflicting impressions as to the religion of the trenches, but that religion is there, and much of it, no one can deny. We do an injustice to the soldiers to call them saints. All heroes are not saints. It may be flattering, but it is false to tell the soldier his patriotism will be his passport to paradise, and that his reward will be heaven. No one knows better than the soldier that he cannot make his own atonement. Merit in death does not atone for sin. It is not the death, but a man's attitude toward God in life and death that saves. There is no doubt many soldier lads trust in God far more than they are able to express.

"These men are catching a fresh vision, many of them, of the meaning of the cross of Christ. Before they went to France God seemed to many as some vague, infinite being in a far-off heaven, unconcerned about the sorrows and struggles of men, but at the front thousands have caught a new vision of God. They see the glory of God shining in the face of Christ. They see that it was God in Christ suffering for them and bearing their sins, entering into their struggles, sorrowing with them, and so any message that speaks of a crucified Christ unfolding God to men will always be listened to by soldiers.

"There are no hypocrites in the trenches," said the speaker. "The stern life of battle and struggle is not conducive to making hypocrites. A soldier is usually out and out a believer or an unbeliever. His faith, too, is simple, majestic and compelling. He may have little regard for forms or rituals. He may pay no attention to religious phraseology, but if a Christian he knows something of the comradeship of Christ, and he knows he needs the constant friendship and fellowship of Christ to keep him steadfast, for the hardest work for the soldiers is not to hold the trenches, but to retain their ideals and spiritual outlook, to keep their vision amid the sodden and sickening scenes of war. The cross of Christ has revealed to these men the great source of forgiveness, strength, peace and comradeship. It is no wonder," said Mr. Bingham, "the most popular hymn at the front is 'When I Survey the Wondrous Cross.'"

The Elgar Ladies' Quartet sang two very appropriate selections during the service.

HIGH TRIBUTES PAID TO SGT. GORDON WILEY

At a memorial service held in Askin Street Methodist Church Sunday evening a striking tribute was paid by Dr. H. S. Dougall to the memory of Sergt. Gordon Wiley of No. 3 Stationary Hospital, who died of wounds received when enemy airmen bombed the hospital on May 28. Sergt. Wiley was a member of the church, and prior to enlisting also attended the Askin Street Sunday school.

During the service Dr. Dougall pointed out to the congregation the loss which the church had received in the death of Sergt. Wiley, a soldier of true, moral strength.

"He left Canada early in the war," said the pastor, "feeling the call of duty. He spent almost three years overseas, yet never expressed the desire to come home. In a recent letter to his mother Sergt. Wiley remarked that as long as he was able he should be in the fight. It is such sons that uphold our cause in France."

The pastor quoted extracts from letters written by Sergt. Wiley, which served to bring out the good qualities of the young hero.

The subject taken by Dr. Dougall Sunday evening was "Guardian Angels."

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Send in Your Problems and They Will Be Answered From Official Information by The Advertiser.

B. E. R.: Q.—1. Will a person who is in the United States have to come back and register June 22, or can he register whenever he returns?

2. Could a person obtain a registration card from the registration booths to take home to fill out for a person who is not able to attend, and cannot read or write?

3. Which would be the proper way to appeal an exemption granted to a B man until November. Apply now, or wait till the time is up and then ask for an extension?

4. Would a man who obtained exemption last fall while working a 100-acre homestead, and also had 50 acres rented, need to notify the registrar that he has since purchased the 50 acres? He now has no interest in the 100-acre farm which he was working at the time he was exempted.

A.—1. He can register before he leaves, or after he returns. In the latter case the booths would have been closed and he would then need to go to the postoffice.

2. No; if the registrar is notified prior to June 22, efforts will be made to send a deputy to the home and register such a person.

3. Better appeal within the ten days allowed you, if you are not satisfied with the decision. You can also apply for an extension before the expiration of your exemption, if you wish.

4. He must notify the registrar of any change in his address, but as long as he is still employed as a farmer he has not changed his occupation, and need not notify the registrar of it.

A. M.: Q.—1. Could I as a B-2 man take the medical course in Toronto, which it was proposed to give to C men?

2. Would I be eligible to join the Canadian or American Secret Service? To whom could I write?

3. Are B-2 men taken in the R. F. C. as mechanics or helpers?

A.—1. No information regarding such course here. You might write to the A. A. G. of Military District No. 2, at Toronto, if there is such a course going on.

2. Write to Sir Percy Sherwood, chief of the intelligence department, militia headquarters, Ottawa.

3. Yes.

Willing: Q.—1. I wish to go to France as an ambulance driver. To whom should I apply?

2. If I were to pay my way to England and enlist in the W. A. A. C. as a driver, might I be put at work other than driving?

3. Would the Canadian Ambulance Corps accept a woman's services if she provided her own ambulance?

A.—1. You would have to get overseas in some way and apply to the imperial army.

2. You might, though it is most probable that your ability as a driver would be made use of.

3. Write to the A. A. G. of Military District, No. 1, London, Ont., or the Minister of Militia, Ottawa, Ont.

D. H.: Q.—1. Would a man who reported for service in London, signed up, got his regimental number, was placed in Category D, and given 30 days' leave of absence, have to register June 22?

2. What is the difference between Category D and D-3?

A.—1. No.

2. None in Canada.

C. S. M.: Q.—1. What papers are absolutely essential for a Category B man?

2. How could I obtain a medical certificate? Is it necessary?

3. Do the mechanics with the Aviation Corps assist as pilots?

A.—1. His exemption certificate.

2. Uncessary.

3. No.

D. E.: Q.—1. Can a man enlist in the Army Service Corps?

2. What is the work of the A. S. C.?

3. Will they take an A man in the Forestry Corps?

A.—1. No; the A. S. C. is not recruiting at present.

2. Looking after the supplies and transport facilities.

3. Forestry is not recruiting at present.

FLORENCE: Q.—I am 21 years old last June, was examined last November and placed in E. Re-examined in May, and again in E. Can I go to the city for a day or two by carrying exemption certificate without being detained by military police?

A.—You can go where you like as long as you carry your exemption certificate.

SUNDAY CONCERT WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The band concert, held in Victoria Park last evening, under the auspices of the Nicholas Wilson Chapter of the I. O. D. E., was largely attended. The Canadian Garrison Regiment Band provided the music, and the program was one of the best of the season.

A substantial fund was received at the gates. This money will be used for soldiers' comforts.

The following program was rendered:

March—"Tannhauser" ..... (Wagner)
Overture—"Free Archer" ..... (Weber)
Valse des Fleurs—"Nut Cracker Suite" ..... (Tschaiskosky)
Tone Poem—"Finlandia" ..... (Sibilius)
Euphonium solo—"Lost Chord," (Sullivan). Bandsman Hubbocheck.
Selection—"English Airs" .. (F. Godfrey)
Waltz—"Imortellen" ..... (Gungl)
March—"Preciosa" ..... (Weber)
"God Save the King."

FLOWER SUNDAY IN LONDON CHURCHES HELD YESTERDAY

Special Services Conducted to Mark Day.

Children, flowers, singing birds and bright music had a conspicuous place in the services in several of the Methodist and one of the Anglican churches of the city yesterday. It was the annual Flower Sunday at the time of year when Mother Nature offers a wealth of flowers for decoration purposes, and has spilled over the fields with lavish hand the golden-hearted Marguerites. The First Methodist Church was, as always on Flower Day, a veritable summer bower. The white-petaled, yellow-centred dairies garlanded the pillars of the gallery, the choir loft and pupit step rails, and palms, peonies, hanging baskets and flower-festooned bird cages, in which canaries chirruped, added to the charming effect.

The children of the Sunday school occupied the gallery, even the smallest tots following the service with decorum and evident interest.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh of King Street Presbyterian Church, at the morning service, told the story of "Acres of Diamonds." In the afternoon a mass meeting of the Sunday school was held in the church, when Dr. Dearness of the Normal School gave an address on "The Message of the Flowers."

Members of the beginners' and primary departments gave most pleasing songs, and enjoyable music was contributed by the Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Miss Florence Eggleston. All collections for the day were for Sunday school purposes.

Little Children Received.

An interesting feature of the Flower Day service in the Memorial Methodist Church was the reception of wee tots of the cradle roll into the primary department, tiny boys and girls of 4 years old. Members of the primary department held open on the platform a flower-garlanded gate, through which the smaller children passed after demurely marching up the aisle, the ceremony symbolizing their entrance into the church school.

Much interest was manifested by the juniors of the congregation, as well as the grown-ups, in the story of "The Blue Flower" (Van Dyke), admirably told by the pastor, Rev. B. H. Robinson, M.A.

Flower Sunday was observed in the Dundas Centre Methodist Church by song services both morning and evening by the Sunday school, choir and orchestra, the pastor, Rev. W. E. Pescott, giving a short, appropriate address at each service. Under the direction of Mrs. Jas. Haskett, the church had been artistically adorned with festoons of daisies and smilax, clusters of peonies, hanging baskets and cages of singing birds. Twelve little girls in white frocks, with wreaths of daisies in their hair, occupied the front row in the choir, themselves as winsome as the flowers.

St. George's Church.

The children's choir, trained by Mr. Humphreys, was a feature worthy of special praise in connection with the children's flower service in St. George's Church, West London. The Canticles were chanted and the hymns sung with a precision that would have done much credit to a trained choir of adults. Flowers in profusion brightened the church, and these suggested the text of the morning sermon of the rector, Rev. G. B. Sage. "The flowers appear on the earth, the time of the singing of birds is come."

Large congregations were present at both morning and evening services.

A Flower Day service was held in the First Congregational Church.

At Hyatt Avenue.

Flower day services in Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church held yesterday morning and afternoon were largely attended. The church was decorated with flowers, while cages of singing birds added to the summertime atmosphere of the occasion. In the morning, Rev. E. S. Rowell gave a most interesting illustrated address on the nature of sin and the method of its cure by cleansing through Jesus Christ. In the afternoon, Rev. S. Anderson gave an address which was much enjoyed by young and old. C. P. Myrick, superintendent of the Sunday school, presided. In the evening, the pastor preached to the Epworth League on "The Open Window."

TAG DAY NETS $750 FOR CHILD'S WELFARE WORK

When all the returns are in it is confidently expected that in the neighborhood of $750 will be realized from the Child Welfare tag day held on Saturday. With the $100 promised by the president of the London Child Welfare Association, Sir George Gibbons, this will give $850 towards the $900 required to engage for one year a welfare nurse, considered indispensable to the effective carrying on of the work. Much credit for the success of tag day is due to the acting convener, Mrs. John Gemmell, and Miss Rudd, convener of the publicity committee. The mothers' clubs rendered fine service, looking after their own districts, and much appreciated help was given by the W. C. T. U. Mrs. A. T. Edwards took charge of the downtown district. Mrs. F. R. Hardie proved a most valuable aid to Mrs. Gemmell in organizing for tag day.

A meeting of the London Child Welfare Association is being held this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building, and all interested in the campaign to save London babies and give them all possible chance to grow up to healthy, vigorous citizenship are cordially invited to attend. Plans for the immediate future and particularly for the summer season, will be made at this meeting.

PATRICIA

"THE BELGIAN."

"The Belgian," produced by the eminent director, Mr. Sidney Olcott, and released by the United States Exhibitors Booking Corporation, marks the first independent effort of the producer, for he financed and directed the picture himself. "The Belgian" is the first of a series of productions Mr. Olcott will make this year.

"The Belgian" was made under Mr. Olcott's personal supervision and encompasses his years of experience with big attractions staged in various parts of the world for many of the most important of producing organizations. The picture has been indorsed by the Belgian diplomatic staffs in New York and Washington, as well as the entire Allied ambassadorial staff in the United States. The story is steeped in the patriotic spirit of Belgium, and touches notes of sympathy as only the deft combination of masters like Frederick Arnold Kummer, the author, and Mr. Olcott can achieve with artistic realism.

Valentine Grant and Walker Whiteside, famed both from their accomplishments on the stage and screen, portray leading roles. The other members of the cast, including Arda La Croix, Sally Crute, Giorgia Majeroni and others, are all highly capable and support their scenes to the full extent of the requirements of the scenario.

At the Patricia today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

11-CENT AVERAGE

Eleven cents was the average saving of the school children of London in the Penny Bank during March and April. The highest average was at Egerton Street School, where each pupil deposited 22 cents. Ryerson was next, with 21, and Alexandra 20. St. George, with 7 cents, was the lowest, and Empress, a close second, with 8.

London is slipping considerably below the rest of Canada. Of the large cities, London is far the lowest. Little Blenheim was her equal. St. Thomas was one cent below. Hanover and Harriston were 7 and 6 cents respectively.

Cornwall School Section leads, with an average of 70 cents, with New Toronto next, at 62 cents.

The total deposits for March were $36,645, and April, $33,424. The increase over last year is about $2,000.
