BEHRING SEA BLOCKED.

ALL THE VICTORIA FLEETS NOW ON THEIR WAY HOME.

The Business Has all Stopped—A Schooner Seized by the United States Cutter Rush.

VICTORIA, B, C, July 26.—The United States steamer Marion sailed for Behring Sea today. Commander Hitchcock of the Alert was a passenger and will rejoin his own ship.

Sealing is certainly stopped in Behring Sea and all the Victoria fleets are now on the way home. The entrance to Behring Sea is effectually blocked, and is now patrolled by five American and two British war vessels. The latter are the Nymphe and the Pheasant, and the United States vessels are the revenue cutters Bear, Rush and the Corwin, and the gunboats Thetis and Mohican.

Last night the Victoria sailing schooner R. B. Marvin arrived from the north, having been seized by the United States cutter Rush and turned over to the Nymphe, the latter giving the Marvin orders to sail direct for this port and remain here. The Marvin was notified at Sand Point by the Rush that sealing was prohibited in the sea, and, after being furnished with a copy of the proclamation of President Harrison, was ordered not to attempt to go into Behring Sea under penalty of seizure. No attention was paid to the warning and Captain McDougall sailed for the sea, determined to wait until notified by a British vessel. He was overhauled at Ounalaska afterwards by the Rush and taken captive. The schooner was turned over by the Rush to the Nymyhe, who ordered Captain McDougall to proceed here and wait further orders. The Marvin's officers say that nearly every schooner has received notice, and they will certainly be seized if they attempt to enter the sea after being warned.

The Marvin brought news that July 7 the sealer La Nymphe of San Francisco was fired on by the Thetis between St. George and St. Paul Island. She tried to escape from the Thetis, but was brought up by a shot. Another schooner, name unknown, was also fired on, but succeeded in escaping.

A few hours after the Marvin arrived the schooner Walter L. Rich entered the harbor. The captain of the Rich says he was about to enter Behring Sea on July 23 at Unimak Pass entrance to the sea when he was met by the United States gunboat Thetis and handed a copy of the proclamation. The captain was then warned of the consequences should he ignore the warning. The Rich cruised off the Pass for several days and then started for Victoria. She got twenty-one skins after being notified by the Thetis. The American schooner Albert Walker, whose owner is at Kodiak, was also warned at the same time as the Rich. Several schooners are said to be already in the sea. A number of them are intending to go in and hunt seal on the Russian shore and defy both the the United States and the British men-of-war.

At 1 o'clock this morning the schooner Ainoka entered the harbor here. The captain reports that seventeen British and American schooners were caught June 20 off Alitak Bay by the United States steamer Thetis, and warned not to enter Behring Sea on pain of instant seizure. The captain of the Ainoka decided to abide by the order and return to Victoria, but some of the schooners intended to try and enter Behring Sea and hunt seals on the Russian side. The Ainoka left Alitak Bay June 23.

A Vancouver despatch says: "The Vancouver Belle was the first of the sealing fleet to return to this port. She arrived last evening with twent-eight skins. She had just entered Behring Sea on July 8 when she was warned by the United States cutter Corwin to leave and she returned accordingly. At that time twenty-nine sealers had been warned. The schooner E. B. Marvin had taken fourteen skins when she was seized by the Rush. The Vancouver Belle brings news that the schooner Beatrice of this port lost a boat and three men.

Provincial Points.

Mr. David H. Clark (with D. Appleton & Co., Boston,) is on a visit to the city, after being absent from Halifax, where he was born, over 60 years ago; and lived with his grandfather, Capt. Bolser, who kept the Mauger Beach light-house.

The present season has been one of the best ever known at Marysville in the history of lumber sawing. The constant showers keep the water up to a freshet pitch and very few break downs, and these of a trivial nature, have occurred. The season will be short but the cut will not fall far, if any, below the average.

A reward of one thousand dollars has been offered by the Provincial Government, under the belief that the stables of Messrs. Robertson & Colville, Charlottetown, were set on fire on the night of Thursday, the 2nd inst., "to any person or persons not the actual party of the deed, who will give such information and evidence as will lead to the discovery, apprehension and conviction of the offender or offenders or any of them."—Summerside Pioneer.

One of the finest farms in York County is that on the Nashwaak two miles from Fredericton owned by J. R. McConnell. The dwelling house is a magnificent one in all respects but it is with the farm we have to deal. Besides his great hay meadows and orchards he has gone extensively into roots crops, having five acres planted to early potatoes. His turnip field covers five acres besides which there is a large acreage under carrots, beets, mangels, and parsnips.

On Saturday evening a young man named Logan and his wife left their boarding house on Barrington street, telling their hostess—Mrs. Taple—that they were going boating and would not be back till eleven o'clock. At midnight they had not come back and some alarm began to be felt. Yesterday morning they were still absent and the alarm became genuine. A rumor got afloat that they had been drowned. Their room door was opened and what was seen there abated the fears which had been entertained, but made it pretty certain that the couple would never more be seen in Halifax. The trunk was empty of all the good clothes and nothing was left but a pair of boots almost as old as the owner. They came here from St John three weeks ago to work in the cigar factory, and have probably gone back to the city of dampness.—Halifax Mail.

LITTLE GIRLS DROWNED.

ANOTHER SAD ACCIDENT OCCURS IN COURTENAY BAY.

Mary Caples Wades Beyond her Depth and Lizzie Allen, who Attempts her Rescue is Drowned With Her—An Occurence Which Brings to Mind Sad Recollections.

Yesterday afternoon, about 5.15 o'clock, the fire bells tolled an alarm from box No. 412, and word soon spread about the city that the firemen had been called out on account of a drowning accident at the head of Courtenay Bay, near the Marsh bridge. Two out of a merry party of six little girls who had been wading in the creek, had got beyond their depth and sunk in the running water of the creek before the eyes of

THEIR HORROR STRICKEN COMPANIONS.

The spot where the sad occurence took place was on the east side of Leonard's creek opposite the Church of England burial ground, and the alarm given on the fire bells brought hundreds of people to the place. One of the girls drowned was Mary Caples, the 12 year old daughter of Robert Caples who keeps a grocery store on the Westmoreland road. The other victim was Lizzie Allen aged 13 years, daughter of John Allen who lives at No 112 Charlotte street.

About a year ago

TWO BOYS WERE DROWNED ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE of the bay, Fred Mundee and Fred Young, and while the city is just about erecting a monument to the heroism of the boy whose life was lost in his attempt to save his companion, Lizzie Allen proves that the instinct of heroism is as strong in one sex as the other by risking and losing her life in trying to rescue her playmate from a watery grave. Maud, Bertha and Jennie Stevenson, aged respectively thirteen, ten and seven years, daughters of A. Stevenson, of Westmorland road, and Fanny Allen the sister of

were the four little girls whose companions met death while all were playing together in the water. Mary Caples had waded out a little further than the rest, and her foot slipped from the edge of the creek bank throwing her into the deep water. "Oh save me" she cried frantically and in an instant Lizzie Allen rushed to her assistance. In her anxiety and hurry to save her friend's life the poor girl ventured too far. She, too, slipped off the bank and beyond her depth and after a few brief struggles the two young lives went down together. Little Eannie Allen, too.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

from being drowned, for when she saw her sister in danger she rushed in several times to help her and was only saved by the Stevenson girls pulling her out. Mr. Stevenson had been working in the burial ground near at hand. He heard the cries of the girls for aid and rushed to the spot, but both girls who had got out into the deep water before he reached the spot, and as he could not swim he was powerless to do anything alone to effect their rescue, and he at once ran away for assistance. The firemen on their arrival placed ladders across the creek so that the bodies could not be carried out by the tide. It was hoped that the bodies might be secured in time to resuscitate them, but in spite of the united efforts of a number of men who tried to find them by wading and diving, nearly half an hour had passed from the time of the accident before

HAD SANK FROM VIEW

THE FIRST BODY WAS RECOVERED.

It was that of Lizzie Allen, and another quarter of an hour elapsed before Mary Caples' corpse was brought to view. Both bodies had been carried almost 50 yards by the current from where the girls went into the water first. The bodies were received by Coroner Berryman and ordered to be taken to the homes of the children's parents. The drowning of the two boys in Courtney Bay on the 30th. of October last year has been kept fresh in the public mind by the desire to honor the memory of Fred Young, and it is only a few days since connected with the drowning of Ethel Allen and Lizzie King, at Reed's Point, on the 24th of April, were vividly recalled by the finding of the body of one of the victims, so that when the news of yesterday's accident spread, the interest felt in the matter was intense, and the people of the city generally were thrilled with horror at the thought that within a year six young lives had been brought to a sudden close in so sad a manner. These feelings and recollections touched almost every one, and last night the houses of Mr Caples and Mr. Allen were thronged with people who wished to show their sympathy for the parents in their terrible bereavement.

THE PAINFUL CIRCUMSTANCES

Today Coroner Berryman after investigating the case decided that an inquest was nece sary and he began the inquiry at half-past three this afternoon.

THE MILLMEN'S STRIKE.

A POSSIBILITY OF ITS SETTLEMENT.

Two Large Mill Owners Meet a Delegation from the Union and Agree on a Basis of Settlement.

Everyone will be glad to know that thereis a strong probability that the millmen's strike is at an end and a peaceful solution of the question arrived at. For the past four weeks considerably over 1000 men have been walking the streets while the mills which gave them employment have been silent as graveyards.

It is years since St. John has had such a strike—indeed there has never been one before in which there seemed to be a stronger determination on the part of interested ones on both sides not to yield. The men were determined not to work ten hours a day and their employers were just as determined that they should. But common sense has at last prevailed and the probability is that before the end of the week the mills will again be at work. It is very important that they should. Although the strike has had no direct effect on the trade of the city proper the heming up of from $10,000 to $15,000 a week is an important consideration to a community the size of St. John. Still this is what has been going on for the past four weeks but, were it not for the published accounts in the newspapers no one would have suspected a strike of such magnitude was on. There has been no quarreling or fighting and although some hard words have been spoken on both sides there has been no open rupture.

To-day, George Barnhill, representing himself, and Fraser Gregory, representing W. H. Murray, met the officers of the millmen's union at the office of McLellan & Holly. Michael McDade, who has been acting as a friend of the union during the strike, was also present.

At the request of both parties, Mr. McDade stated the proposition that had been made to him by Messrs. Barnhill and Gregory, in consequence of which he had arranged the present meeting.

The matter was then discussed at some length, and some question arising as to what the proposition realy had been it was decided to have an understanding in writing.

The exact words of the agreement could not be ascertained but it was learned that Messrs Barnhill and Gregory consented that their men should return to work at the old hours and same pay as when they knocked off. If afterwards the question of wages should come up it should be arranged between the men themselves and their employers with the understanding that should a reduction be necessary in the interests of all concerned it should not exceed 6 per cent of the total wages now paid and no man's wages were to be cut more than ten cents a day—no matter how high the wages might be.

Messrs. Lingley, Hayes and Humphrey of the milmen's union, and Messrs. Barnhill and Gregory signed this agreement, which was witnessed by Hon. D. McLellan and Mr. McDade.

The proposition will be laid before the union at a special meeting to be held in the rooms of the Ship Laborers' Union tonight.

It is generally understood that they will accept these terms and if the union accepts it is thought likely that at least two other mills will fall into line immediately.

THE ST. HANDE ACCIDENT.

Fifty Persons Now Known to be Killed The Official Inquiry Fails to Show the Cause of the Disaster.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

PARIS, July 28.—Seven additional people, victims of the railway collision at St. Mande, died last night, making a total of 50 dead accounted for, but the terribly consumed state of some of the remains found makes it probable that in some cases heaps of cinders collected, may be those of two people who had been counted as one. The official inquiry thus far has failed to disclose the cause of the accident.

The assistant station master at Vincennes and the driver of the second engine have been arrested, charged with criminal carlessness.

Arms for the Chilian Insurgents.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Notwithstanding the vigilance of the customs officials here it has been learned that arms and ammunition have been shipped to the Chilian insurgents concealed in bales of hay. It is estimated that 80 stands of arms and three million rounds of fixed ammunition have been sent in this way on various merchant vessels.

Arrested for Embezzlement.

WHY DID SHE MARRY?

A BRIDE DESERTS HER HUSBAND JUST AFTER THE MARRIAGE.

He Held out his Hand saying: "Wont You say Good-Bye?"—She Folded her Arms and Looked Coldly at him as if he was a Stranger.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, July 28.— When Annie Weymann, in the presence of Rev. C. G. F. Haas, swore that she would be a true and loyal wife, Albrecht Bauer little thought that when next he heard her voice it would be to listen to her renunciation of him for ever. Bauer and Miss Weymann have been friends for two years. He visited her on Wednesday, July 22nd. and they went for a walk. They went to Rev. Mr. Haas' house and were married. Then they returned to Mrs. Weymann's house.

Mrs. Weymann ordered Bauer to leave the house. When Bauer called later in the day he was told that his wife had no desire to see him. Believing that she was unjustly restrained Bauer instructed Lawyer A. P. Wagener to begin habeas corpus proceedings. A writ was obtained and all the parties were in the Supreme court to-day. In his petition Bauer declared that Mrs. Weymann had told him he was too poor to maintain a wife, and that she had promised her daughter's hand to a richer and more eligible suitor.

Mrs. Bauer said that she did not know why she had married. She would never live with Bauer. The lawyer reported this to Bauer, and told him there was no law that could compel a wife to live with her husband, Then he explained the situation to Justice Barrett, and asked to be allowed to withdraw the writ. Permission being granted, Bauer, who was very much excited, insisted that he ask the court to make the young woman explain her reasons. Justice Barrett said that he had neither authority nor inclination to put any such questions.

The decision unnerved Bauer completely. His wife looked bored. When he turned round and held out his hand, saying: 'Won't you say good bye?' she folded her arms and looked coldly at him, as if he were a stranger. Then he begged for just one word of farewell. She trembled and turned pale, but said that she would not take his hand. Bauer turned away and Mrs. Weyman and her daughter left the court.

Bauer refused to be pacified. He is only 23 years old, and appears younger. His wife is 18. He said that the hasty marriage was not his doing. He had asked Miss Weymann to go for a walk ane she suggested their getting married.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

The Result of the Visit of the French Fleet to Cronstadt.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

CRONSTADT, July 28.—The dinner given by the French sailors yesterday was attended with the utmost enthusiasm. Toasts of a significant nature were drunk and the officers of the French fleet were greated with frantic cheers by the populace.

LONDON, July 28.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says "Official journals do not like the enthusiasm which has been aroused by the visit of the French fleet to Cronstadt. The Czar is said to be displeased with the manifestations made in favor of the republic and it is not believed the visit of the French squadron will have a lasting effect upon the friendly relations existing between the two countries. The opinion is expressed that the Czar will never consent to an actual alliance with the French Republic."

Parnell Must Pay the Costs.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

LONDON, July 28.—The bankruptcy court today decided that Parnell's objection to paying the costs of the recent divorce suit on the ground that he is not a resident of England is untenable. It is still open to Mr. Parnell to appeal, otherwise he must pay the costs or be declared a bankrupt.

THE EQUITY COURT.—In the case of the Standard Manufacturing and Trading company, limited, vs. John D. Williams, trustee of McGovern Bros., referred to yesterday, in which the plaintiffs asked for an injunction against the trustee, claiming that McGovern Bros. had made an agreement to give them a bill of sale and mortgage, the jury brought in a finding that no agreement had been made by McGovern Bros. as alleged by the company.

AN INTERESTING EVENT.—The many friends of Mr. Solomon McConnell of the North end have noted the laudable zeal and industry with which he has for some time past been working as though in preparation for some event of an interesting nature, but only a comparative few have been taken into his confidence so far as to be informed when the event was to transpire. It is announced today, however, that early tomorrow morning the all important ceremony will be performed at the residence of Mr. William Quinsler by which his daughter, Miss Nellie Quinsler, will become Mr. McConnell's bride. The young couple are both very favorably known. They will leave by the Flying Yankee on a short bridal tour.
