FORT GEORGE FARM LANDS—THE building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway through the wonderfully rich valleys of Central British Columbia means the opening up of the richest farming country in the West—and the last West at that. This coming spring will witness a great rush of settlers into that country, and prices of all lands are increasing very rapidly. These new farms need good men. We are spending large sums of money building roads, surveying lands and opening up the country for settlement, and are offering special inducements to actual settlers. Central British Columbia offers undreamed-of opportunities to progressive men. Climate is delightful, plenty of rain for all purposes; best hunting and fishing possible. We are offering selected farms at low prices—few dollars per acre cash and the balance spread over five years. We also allow you a one-year re-selection clause, giving you a full year to inspect your land, or have it inspected for you, and if you are not satisfied you may change your land without further expense. This is very fair, and enables you to buy at our present low prices. In our London office we have samples of grains and grasses grown right at Fort George this past summer; also pictures and maps of the entire country. For full particulars, regarding an exceptional opportunity, call on us or write. North Coast Land Company, Limited, Dominion Bank Chambers, London, Ont. 66n

WOULD KILL FARMER TO GET HIS WIFE

George Senior Tried to Murder John Robertson in Harwich.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, Dec. 6.—George Senior, an ex-convict, employed on a farm near Northwood, made a murderous attack on his employer, John W. Robertson, this afternoon. Senior felled Robertson with a spade, and was attacking him with a club when neighbors, summoned by Mrs. Robertson, disarmed the assailant.

Senior now faces a charge of attempted murder. He was at work beating carpets on Robertson's farm when Robertson passed him on his way from the barn to the house. Without a word of warning Senior slipped up behind his employer and dealt him a stunning blow on the head with a spade. He then proceeded to beat up the prostrate man with a club. The shrieks of Robertson's wife brought neighbors to the rescue, who pulled Senior off just as he was about to cut Robertson with a knife. Senior, who is an English immigrant, has already served a term in penitentiary, told the constable who arested him that he wanted to put Robertson out of the way so he could have his wife. The woman had never encouraged the prisoner's attentions. Senior pleaded guilty to a charge of assault preferred against him, and was remanded for a week. In the meantime a charge of attempted murder is being preferred against him, and it is on this latter charge that he will be tried.

AT THE DURBAR

natives bent deep towards the ground. The King-Emperor, the Queen-Empress and the Viceroy bowed right and left in acknowledgment.

A Splendid Bodyguard.

The bodyguard of Indian princes, who followed immediately after, outshone in splendor all that had passed. In strict order of precedence came 156 maharajahs, razahs, nawabs and other chieftains. The column was closed by a band of savage-looking Afghanese and Pathan chiefs, mounted on wild ponies, and a detachment of native and British troops.

Their majesties entered the city through the King's Gate, now opened for the first time since 1857, when the King of Delhi went to public worship.

All along the route the impression seemed to be profound and the reception was a cordial one. On arrival at the camp the troops defiled past the imperial carriage, receptions followed and the King-Emperor was presented with a brief address of welcome, to which he replied in a few words.

Their majesties and the vice-regal party then repaired to their camp, of which Circuit House, built by Lord Curzon in 1903, is the centre.

The vast camp stretched along the great trunk road in long symmetrical rows of white tents almost blinding in the vertical Indian sun, while the whole place when their majesties entered blazed with the bright hues of the east.

Crowds of picturesque humanity from the rajah in his silks to the half-naked Wallah gathered to welcome their Emperor and they formed a perfect picture. Mingling with them were Bejali Indians, army and administrative officers, native and British private soldiers and large numbers of foreign tourists.

The smartest modern carriage, the powerful motor car, the richly caparisoned elephant, and the blooded horse, added variety.

Very little trace was to be found of the various fires which have recently caused havoc in the camp.

The Emperor's tent does not differ greatly in appearance from the others. Internally, however, it is palatial. Great canvas halls stand nearby for official receptions and banquets.

About a quarter of a million persons have taken up their quarters in the canvas city, which is broken up by green lawns, polo grounds, fountains and avenues of trees.

Throughout the morning the coming and going of great dignitaries continued, and the throngs of natives kept their positions patiently, anxious to get another sight of their Emperor and Empress.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Earl McDougall, of South Harwich, Was Very Seriously Injured.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Blenheim, Dec. 6.—Earl McDougall, aged 16, son of Alex. McDougall, of Harwich, was badly injured when, as he was out rabbit hunting, the gun went off accidentally, and the bullet struck him in the left arm, between the elbow and shoulder. The muscles were so terribly torn that it is feared the arm is permanently injured. Young McDougall lost a lot of blood and suffered greatly from shock.

His father, who was visiting in Wingham, was at once notified, and hurried home.

WHITNEY INTOXICATED WITH POWER SAYS ST. MARYS SPEAKER

Has Become Arrogant and High-Handed and Needs To Be Checked Before the Country Suffers—Hon. Mackenzie King Was Given a Great Hearing.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Marts, Dec. 6.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Mr. Valentin Stock addressed one of the largest meetings held in St. Marys at the opera house this evening. Mayor Sanderson presided.

Mr. G. H. McIntyre gave a fine address, in which he declared that the menace in Ontario today was that the Whitney Government had become so intoxicated with power that it was arrogant and high-handed. The country needed men like Mr. Stock, and more of them, as a check on such acts of arrogance.

Mr. Stock was cheered upon rising. He, too, gave examples of the arbitrariness of the Government, as, for instance, in the administration of the liquor license law in Toronto, where, he alleged, the Minister of Education interfered to give a license to a man convicted fourteen times of violation policy of the Government, which heeded the advice of none, was scored. The lamentable results were pointed to by Mr. Stock, and the audience showed their sympathy with his criticism.

A tribute to Mr. McIntyre was paid by Hon. Mackenzie King in his opening remarks, Mr. McIntyre's argument for a strong Opposition being followed up by the speaker with a reference to both Federal and Provincial Governments being of one shade of politics. It meant that a group of men could carry on the business of the province, with no one to whom they would need to give an account. It was not many minds that made Ontario legislation. It was not even the Conservative members of the Legislature, not even the cabinet, but Sir James Whitney alone. "He who would be chief among you must be the servant of all." But Sir James did not have a sense of what he owed to the public. Mr. King told how Conservative papers and labor unions were denouncing Sir James for his arbitrary refusal to allow local option in land taxation.
