FILING CABINETS

The most satisfactory thing about a filing cabinet is to know that it's going to be satisfactory always.

You'll be sure to feel better satisfied with a "Macey" Cabinet after you've seen all the other kinds; but that seems unnecessary time spent, because when you see the "Macey," and the Macey principle, you'll be certain of endless satisfaction. Better see it first.

TO LEGALIZE BOOKMAKING AMENDMENT IS SUPPORTED

By 54 to 34 It Carries in House—Will Relieve O. J. C. of Case Pending.

Ottawa, May 1.—(Special.)—When Guss Porter's bill to amend the criminal code came up in committee to-day Jacques Bureau moved an important amendment to exempt incorporated race tracks from the operation of the law against "common betting houses." The amendment went thru, but not without a keen fight, several members of the cabinet and leader of the opposition voting against it. All the Toronto members, with the exception of Mr. Foster, who was absent, voted for the amendment, as also did the members for the Yorks.

The amendment reads: "Provided that a race course of an incorporated association shall not be deemed to be a common betting house merely by reason of any betting thereon during the actual progress of a race meeting, or by reason of recording or registering such bets or of anything done thereon as incidental thereto or connected therewith, and nothing contained in clause 1 of section 197 of this act shall be deemed to apply to any such betting or the recording, registering, depositing or the becoming custody of any such bet."

Calls it Retrograde.

It was pointed out that the court, when it considered the question recently in connection with the Ontario Jockey Club, suggested some such amendment to meet the case. Stockton (St. John) and Miller (South Grey) opposed the amendment strongly, Clark (Liberal South Essex) protested that it was retrograde legislation, and that the race track was the curse of the country.

Mr. Bureau pointed out that the amendment would apply only to incorporated associations, and to wagers on races actually in progress, which was really the intention of the present act.

A standing vote was taken on the amendment, which carried by 54 to 34. Among those who voted for it were Sir Wilfrid Laurier
