Public School Boy Wrestlers First Annual Championship

Events Decided at the Central Y.M.C.A. Saturday Morning — Boys Show Good Sportsmanship.

At the Central Y.M.C.A. Saturday morning, the wrestling championships of the junior school boys were decided. The boys have been working faithfully for the past few weeks, and the twenty-three bouts contested were close and exciting. The results were as follows:

—Under 75 lbs.—

The preliminary in the class brought together B. Graham and R. Crystler, and was fast. Both boys were clever, and both rolled from tight holds continually. Graham proved to be the stronger, and got the decision.

The second bout brought together Jim Prestwick and W. H. Hulme. Prestwick was the aggressor from start to finish, and got the decision.

The third bout was between E. Coath and C. Postill, and was a battle royal. Coath won by a fall in 2.45.

The fourth brought together B. Ball and L. Hugill. The latter was much the stronger, and won by a decision.

The semi-finals in the 75-lb. and under brought together B. Graham and J. Prestwick, and this was one of the closest bouts of the tournament, Graham eventually winning by one-half Nelson and crotch hold.

The second semi-final was between C. Postill and L. Hugill. Both boys worked hard all the time, Hugill's bridging being the best seen during the tournament, but Postill was the cleverer and won the decision.

The final was between B. Graham and C. Postill. The large crowd of boys present were worked up to fever heat, cheering for their favorite as they broke from one hold to another. Both boys were tired from their strenuous work in the preliminaries, but went at it hammer and tongs, and Graham was given the decision for his aggressive work.

—Under 85 lbs.—

The first bout in this class brought together two good boys in Cal. Cronk and G. Truax. Cronk used everything from a toe hold to head scissors, and won in 2.10.

Then came Frank Squires and H. Slater. Squires never had a chance, and lost in 2.00.

The third bout was between Richard Vaugh and Robert Argue—too strong for Shorty, and won in 1.30.

Waugh drew the bye, and the semi-final was between Slater and Goldfish. Cronk did much the better work and won the decision.

After a good rest, Cronk and Waugh went at it, and it was the closest kind of an argument. Cronk nearly won by a fall in chancery, but Waugh got away, and when the final time was up the referee could not give a decision, and the boys went two minutes longer, and the Goldfish was given the decision.

—Under 100 lbs.—

The first bout in this class was between Will Frank and Allan McLean, and was very even until McLean got a fall by head hold in 2.52.

The second was between Charlie Kerr and H. Dunn. Both boys are strong and clever, and this bout brought forth rounds of applause. Kerr finally winning by a decision.

The third bout was between W. Purdy and E. Booz, and both boys worked hard. The referee made them go an extra minute. Booz was given the decision.

The semi-final was between C. Kerr and Ed. Booz. Kerr got on top at the start and won in 45 seconds by a three-quarter Nelson.

The final was between Allan McLean and C. Kerr. This was a good fast bout while it lasted, McLean winning in 2.08 with a one-half Nelson and far arm hold.

—Under 115 lbs.—

The first bout was between Art Jarvis and Harry McLean. The latter was by far the stronger and won in 45 seconds.

The second was between Harry McLean and H. Booth. Both boys worked hard. McLean was wrestling out of his class and kept the husky Booth busy, but the latter got the decision after a close, hard bout.

The third bout was between Harry McLean and Don McBain. This was an interesting bout. McBain got into a bad hole at the start and had to take a hard gruelling. He was game until the last, and lost only by a decision.

The final was a grand battle between Harry McLean and H. Booth. Both boys fought with a grim determination, McLean winning with a head hold in 2.58.

—Heavyweight—Over 115 lbs.—

This was "pie" for big Norm Brymer. He won in 30 seconds from Harry McLean, who gave away 20 lbs.

Good sportsmanship was shown in every contest. Not once did any boy show signs of temper. This is the first annual championships. Prizes will be awarded at the banquet on May 7 to the first and second boys.

The following are the public school wrestling champions:

75 lbs. and under, Bert Graham.

115 lbs. and under, Harry McLean.

Y.M.C.A. Gossip

On Friday night the boys' department of the Central Y.M.C.A. held their one and three-quarter mile weekly handicap, with these results: Abbie Wood, 11.6 2-5, 1; A. Lackey, 11.7 3-5, 2; R. Ward, 12.22, 3. Junior first, R. Connell, 13.9 3-5.

Every Thursday evening the Senior Boys' Harrier Club of West End hold their weekly handicaps. These runs are proving very popular with the boys, and any boy who is not on the membership roll is requested to get busy and join, and thus be in a position to take advantage of these weekly handicaps.

Next Saturday afternoon the senior boys of West End will hold a five-mile team race. Every member is requested to send in his entry, as the club wishes this race to be a big success.

Notice.—If you are in the least way interested in lacrosse, your support is needed. The West Enders want a team in the Intermediate C.L.A., but they can't have a team without players, which position they are in at present. Get busy, boys, and hunt up that stick, you are needed. All players are urgently requested to turn out to practise on Monday night at Trinity.

The Senior Boys' Harrier Club of the West End held their two and one-half mile interclub race on Saturday afternoon, with but little success. The boys' clubs of the city refused to respond to their invitation, and consequently they had to run the race by themselves. Tough luck, boys. Try again.

The West End White Sox baseball team are certainly a promising aggregation. They are strong in every position, and have a goodly stock of players to select from, having anywhere from fifteen to twenty-five players out for each practice. On Saturday afternoon they had a fast practice game with the Wesley Church team on the garrison commons.

The senior runners of the West End Association went out for a practice run on Saturday afternoon. About thirty-five men started from the building and ran to the westward. The men could pick the distance they wanted to run or follow the captain elected for that distance. The captains for the various distances were: P. Pratt, two and one-half miles; W. Holford five miles; C. Smith, ten miles; A. Sellers, fifteen miles. It is needless to state that very few kept Sellers company.

The Central boys' lacrosse team played Weston on Saturday afternoon.

At the Island Stadium.

A busy afternoon in three kinds of sports was spent at the island stadium grounds. Weather conditions were ideal and about four hundred spectators were on hand.

Tecumseh Lacrosse Club divided its men up in two teams, called the "Jews" and "Irish" and the Jews were played off their feet at all stages of the game, the final score being 6—4. The teams:

Jews (4): Goal, Carlton; point, Skelding; cover-point, Camplin; first defence, Austin; second defence, S. McArthur; third defence, Harry; centre, Martin; first home, Greenshields; second home, Querrie; third home, Felker; outside home, Gordon; inside home, Laing.

Irish (6): Goal, W. McArthur; point, Purvis; cover-point, Patterson; first defence, Parkinson; second defence, Bullen; third defence, Kent; centre, Leaworthy; first home, Thompson; second home, Richards; third home, Oakley; outside home, Hewitson; inside home, Winters.

Tecumseh Athletic Club runners were busy all afternoon, about 50 being out in uniform. A three-mile handicap race was first on the bill, there being seven entries, including Dyment, Evans, Carlton, Wagner, Black, Henning and Charters. Finish, Wagner first, Black second and Evans third.

Mile handicap: A.Gow first, Humphreys second, R. Hughes third. Also rans: Smith, Woodley, Wren, Hilliard, Marsh, E. Hughes and Chuck Skeene.

Percy Sellen worked hard all afternoon, as did Elwood Hughes, who made his first appearance since the trip to Athens.

KENTUCKY HORSES COMING.

Doings at Woodbine Race Track on Saturday.

A shipment of horses from Kentucky is due at the Woodbine on Monday. They will be the first arrivals from the United States this year.

J. Garver galloped Dr. Chase's Marksman.

C. Phair had his plater on the track, but the rain, which set in about 8 o'clock, caused most of the trainers to keep their horses under cover.

PARK NINE WIN 5 TO 0 CITY AMATEUR LEAGUE

Season Opened Saturday With Royal Oaks Being Shut Out—Scores.

With all the ceremonies that are considered a part of the opening proceedings of any baseball league, no matter how unpretentious, the Toronto Senior League commenced their season Saturday afternoon on the Brock-avenue grounds. The grounds were in good shape, considering the weather, and a crowd of good proportions was in attendance.

Mayor Geary, assisted by Controller Church and Ald. McCarthy, formally set the ball rolling, his worship pitching to the alderman, while the controller donned the mask and pad. The result was a foul tip, and the spectators voted the mayor a real good ball player. Unlike other dignitaries, the city's chief magistrate knows how to handle himself on the ball field with some style.

The first game was between the Park Nine and the Royal Oaks, both teams presenting changed line-ups from last year. Hawkins, who worked for the Park Nine, was too much for his opponents, who failed to score, altho on a couple of occasions they looked like doing the trick. McIntosh pitched well, but he had one bad innings, the fifth, when the Park Nine accumulated four runs. The scores were made thusly: With one out, Allan bingled to left and Mearns sent him to third with a roller over first. The latter stole second, and two runs scored when Hawkins' drive leaked thru Lee. Another steal and a muff at first, followed by clean drives by E. Ross, tallied another brace. Pringle's hit and steal and Appleyard's error gave the Park Nine another in the sixth. In all but three innings the Royal Oaks were retired in order. Wideman's batting and running catches by Irwin, Boynton and Curly Ross were features. The Park Nine played errorless ball. The score:

COTTON SPINNERS SEND CABLED APPEAL TO TAFT

Call Attention to Distress Caused Thru World by American Corners

(Special Cable to Sunday World.)

LIVERPOOL, April 23.—C. W. Macara, president of the Federation of International Cotton Spinners' Associations, cabled to President Taft today, drawing attention to the great distress brought, not only upon Lancashire, but on all cottonmanufacturing districts, by American cotton corners.

In an interview, Mr. Macara pointed out that American cotton, which regulates the price of all growths of cotton, and which has been as low as six cents a pound, is now nearing 18 cents, and added: "It is not generally realized that it requires only an average increase of five cents per pound to be added to the cost of the present average cotton crop of the world to increase its value by no less than $500,000,000 per annum. Of such additional cost England would have to pay $100,000,000 and the 21 onthe cotton manufacturing countries the remaining $400,000,000.

"Beyond developing the cultivation of cotton in our colonies and dependencies, we in this country could not do anything to stop the operations of Patten & Co. I trust the American Government will do something in the way of bringing about an effective check to the present unsatisfactory condition of affairs."

The Value of the Dream.

Metropolitan Magazine.

A pillow-dream is a night-adventure of your subconscious self. You wander without volition in a weird world and come back with a tantalizing and fleeting recollection of fantastic persons and impossible situations. The metaphysical mystery of this sort of dream has never been cleared, but it is certain that the fruits gathered in these sunless excursions are of doubtful flavor and quickly perishable. Fortunately, we are capable of dreams which are not pillow-dreams—dreams which are best dreamed when the spine is vertical and every fibre of mind, soul and heart vibrant and vital. On these occasions we are in the clasp of our best mood—the mood of concept and creation. The wine of this mood is red like blood and the resultant intoxication is the holiest experience of which we are capable. In its high hours the soul is never maudlin or fuddled: it grips life strongly and deals with it in divine fashion, whipping its fugitive elements into orderly submission, compelling them to assume a useful steadiness like that of the dependable planets which can be found nightly at a given point in the heavens.

"Why is Mr. Jones so popular with you girls," "Oh, he's a dear! Why, he doesn't do anything but tell lies, and none of us can catch him at it!"—Cleveland Leader.

MARY AND HER LITTLE LAMB.

Oh, Mary had a little lamb, regarding whose cuticular
The fluff exterior was white and kinked in each particular.
On each occasion when the lass was seen perambulating,
The little quadruped likewise was there a gallavating.

One day it did accompany her to the knowledge dispensary,
Which to every rule and precedent was recklessly contrary.
Immediately whereupon the pedagog superior,
Exasperated, did eject the lamb from the interior.

Then Mary, on beholding such performance arbitrary, Suffused her eyes with saline drops from glands called lachrymary,
And all the pupils grew thereat tumultuously hilarious,
And speculated on the case with wild conjectures various.

"What makes the lamb love Mary so?"
the scholars asked the teacher.
He paused a moment, then he tried to diagnose the creature.
"Oh pecus amorum Mary habit omnia temporum."
"Thanks, teacher dear," the scholars cried, and awe crept darkly o'er them.

There are some golfers who never appear to be satisfied even when playing well up to their handicap, and one wonders how men who take such a view of everything can ever derive any pleasure from the game. A wealthy middle-aged gentleman, having secured the services of a well-known professional, followed out the latter's instructions so successfully that he once managed to accomplish a short hole in a single stroke. "Fine shot, sir," exclaimed the professional; "there's nothing to complain of in that." "It didn't feel right somehow," said the other gloomily. "But it's in the hole, sir," said his teacher. "Oh, is it?" said the malcontent, who was somewhat short-sighted. "Well, I didn't play the stroke at all as I intended!"

He: Would you rather be beautiful or clever?

She: Beautiful, I think. You see, there are lots of stupid men, but only a few blind ones.—Boston Transcript.

FIGHT AGAINST CONSUMPTION

Canadian Activity in That Direction—Annual Meeting in June.

The year 1909 will be marked in the calendar as a red-letter year in the history of the crusade against consumption. The movement received a great impulse from the congress of distinguished physicians which was held in Washington, U.S., in the autumn of 1908 to consider the further measures to be taken to stamp out this dreadful enemy to the life and happiness of mankind.

Canada, in common with the rest of North America, perhaps we should say the whole civilized world, has participated in the renewed and increased activity which resulted from the deliberations of the congress.

Never since the organization of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis has there been such activity displayed in Canada in this fight for life. Older branch associations have been reinvigorated, new associations have been formed which are showing in many cases a vigorous activity. Several new institutions for the relief and treatment of consumptives have been opened, and the demand for our literature has been larger than ever. Take it all in all, 1909 was a year of great progress in the work of the association.

The tenth annual meeting will be held in Montreal on June 7 next and preparations are being made to make this one of the best, if not the best meeting in the history of the association.

ODDS AND ENDS.

In France a spinster is not allowed to put money in the bank or have a cheque book. However, once married or a widow she can do business with bankers as far as her means and mind go.

Farmers in the vicinity of Cameron, Wis., are selling potatoes at 10 cents a bushel. They say that they would be unable to sell them at all were it not for the starch factories in nearby towns.

The manager of a restaurant in New York that has just closed its doors says that the rule requiring evening dress of those who dined there was fatal to its prosperity. Here is further testimony to the provinciality of the city that still has horse cars in its streets, says The Providence Journal.

Isn't it characteristic of America, says The Chicago Evening Post, that a $1,500,000 cafe should fail because the kitchen was so far from the dining room that an extra minute was consumed in bringing orders?

An Indiana poultry breeder recently sold a setting of eggs for $5 an egg.

"So she treated you coldly?"

"Coldly? Say, I'd have had to have a sextant and an artificial horizon to be able to find out what latitude I was in if I had been there for that purpose."—Chicago Record-Herald.

If Stars Were Put On Bargain Counter

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

I was looking at the Milky Way the other night when a curious thought came to me, suggested by what the newspapers have been printing about a tremendous eleemosynary "foundation" which a certain man obviously rich, American wishes to establish with his name and fortune. I asked myself: "How do the hosts of the stars in heaven compare in number with that man's dollars?"

Well, the census of the starry sky is concerned almost entirely with the Milky Way. The number of stars not connected with it is negligible—of no greater relative importance than the bank account of a corner grocery compared with the vast accumulations of the creator of the proposed great foundation.

But when you look at the Milky Way the idea of numbering its stars seems the dream of a madman. It stretches all round the sky; its extent is so unthinkably immense that science has never undertaken to measure it and the imagination could not grasp the figures that such a measurement, if it were possible to make it, would involve. Yet that whole enormous expanse of space occupied by the Milky Way is so crowded with stars that they make upon the eye the impression of a silvery scarf wound round the brow of the universe.

Seen Thru a Telescope.

It requires a telescope to see them as a broad zone of glittering points instead of an almost uniform band of whiteness in the firmament.

In some places they are more thinly scattered, so that, as you gaze thru the glass you almost thing that, with infinite patience, you might count the number included in a space as large as the face of the moon. But in other places they seem to be packed together like the sands of the seashore. They stretch away over thousands of square degrees of space, hanging in great festoons, spreading out in vast banners, where billions upon billions of cubic miles seem to be filled with stars thicker than the flakes in a driving snowstorm!

There are begemmed knots in that starry scarf so rich that the eye is dazzled and the mind confused by the spectacle.

Yet science, altho it shrinks from trying to estimate the space which they occupy, has succeeded in forming a fairly correct enumeration of the stars of the Milky Way.

The most extravagant estimates do not put the number at more than 300,000,000, and the most trustworthy and probable make them a third less.

A hundred million stars then, is the total population of the glittering universe, and when we see what a marvelous effect of innumerableness they produce we begin to appreciate what a hundred million means.

Five Times as Many Dollars.

Now, compare that with the dollars which the financial genius of one man has accumulated. I have read, and I suppose it is true, that that man owns $500,000,000. For every star in the sparkling universe, every star that the eye sees, every one that the mightiest telescopes show, every one that the marvelous photographic plates reveal, he could count down a dollar and yet leave four-fifths of his stupendous fortune untouched!

If the stars were for sale, at that rate he could buy them, every one, and have enough left to purchase four other universes!

He could corner the starry product of infinite space, and laugh at those who had imagined that such a trifling transaction would strain his resources.

Let all the stars fall; let them come in glittering, flashing multitudes; let them pile themselves in glowing heaps—he could wrap every one in a dollar and put it aside in his storehouses, and when the universe had no more to give he could still cry:

"I buy stars! Come on
