The Ottawa Child-Torture Case.

Our telegraphic columns on Saturday contained the announcement that Mrs. Bell, of Ottawa city, had been sentenced to imprisonment for life for the cruel treatment of her grandchildren. Without some knowledge of the crimes proved against this woman, one might believe that Judge Robertson was unduly severe in his punishment of the prisoner. But the evidence against her was overwhelmingly strong, and the accusations proved of so revolting a character as to suggest that the accused was more fiend than woman. Charged with the care of her two grandchildren—a boy aged less than 14 and a girl of 10—no outrage short of murder seems to have been regarded by this misguided woman as too cruel to mete out to these children.

It was proved that Percy Short, the grandson, was hung from the ceiling by corsets while he was in a nude condition. His grandmother made him pull hair out that grew under his arms, and she singed him with a candle. Not contented with that punishment, on a cold day in January last she took him to the garret, compelled him to strip naked, then put on him a wet shirt, and tying him hand and foot to a chair, left him for an hour at an open window. From this exposure, ulcers grew on his legs, and his feet were so badly frozen that his toes had to be amputated. On the revelations made by the boy after he was taken to the hospital, criminal proceedings were taken against the torturer.

Nor was the granddaughter Oneita treated with less cruelty. When the child appeared in court, she exhibited to the jury a bald spot on her head from which her grandmother had torn the hair. As a punishment for a slight offense, the woman put turpentine in the girl's eyes; but the most revolting crime of all was the tying up of the girl's tongue for a whole night, causing her intense agony. Mrs. Brosseau, who was a servant in the family at the time, swore that she heard Mrs. Bell tell the girl to go into the other room and lick Percy's sores. The girl began to cry, whereupon the prisoner took the child away, and when she came back she could not answer a question because her tongue was tied. Mrs. Bell said she had tied the tongue because Oneita had tasted Percy's soup and had swallowed some milk that was left in a glass. Mrs. Brousseau saw the tongue two days afterwards. It was black, ulcerated, and so swollen that it filled the mouth. Mrs. Brousseau said she burst out crying at the sight. At that time, Mrs. Bell said the child had poisoned her tongue by putting some of the salve from Percy's foot on it.

It was further proved that the woman was in the habit of sending the children down into the cellar in the dark, keeping them prisoners there. By making strange noises she pretended that evil spirits were after them. In the coldest days, they were made to run around the house with their feet bare, and when Mrs. Bell was remonstrated with she said that children had warmer blood than grown people, and would not catch cold. Perhaps this was her excuse for making the boy sleep in a cold garret cupboard and his sister on the floor downstairs, with only a thin covering, though there were several beds in the house. During all the time they were in Ottawa under the charge of their grandmother, the children told the court they had never been allowed to play with other children. They were often unmercifully beaten with a stick, and Mrs. Bell told a servant that she had authority from their mother to beat the children as much as she liked, but not to kill them, though they were not worth hanging.

The prisoner seems to have been afraid that she would get into trouble through her cruelties, as she compelled the boy to write a series of "confessions" at her dictation, exonerating her from all blame for his injuries, and claiming that he had been a very wicked and disobedient boy, and that he believed the Almighty had caused the ulcers to break out on his legs because of his disobedience and of his attempts to injure his grandparents. Both the boy and the girl swore that the "confessions" were first written on a slate by the woman, and subsequently copied out by the boy, who was afraid to refuse.

It is almost impossible to conceive that a woman presumably intelligent, well-educated, and making some pretense to religious convictions could be guilty of such atrocities as, according to the verdict of the jury, after several days of earnest investigation, were brought home to Mrs. Bell. The life sentence meted out to her must not be regarded as vindictive punishment. Rather ought it to serve as a warning to all persons placed in charge of children that society will not tolerate the cruel treatment of the defenseless.

The prisoner is only 51 years of age. She said that she was the daughter of a retired British lieutenant-colonel.

A Richmond (Texas) dispatch says: Miss Ella Somerville was shot and killed Saturday morning by her cousin, Albert Somerville, whom she was leading to her father's residence from a drunken carousal down town. The young man is from New York city, where his father resides, and was visiting relatives at Richmond.

Kruger's Claim.

The Rand President Wants Over $7,000,000 Indemnity.

Corea Reported to be on the Verge of Another Crisis.

The Cattle Embargo Bill May be Shelved by the British Parliament—Spain Promises Reforms for the Antilles.

KRUGER WANTS $7,500,000.

London, April 20.—The Daily News (Liberals) says that President Kruger has claimed an indemnity of $7,500,000 from the British South Africa Company for the recent raid of Dr. Jameson into the Transvaal.

BIMETALLISTS CONVENE.

Brussels, April 20.—The bimetallic conference, called with the view of paving the way to international negotiations on the subject, assembled here this morning. Delegates from Germany, the United States, Great Britain, France, Austria, Russia, Belgium, Denmark, Holland and Roumania were present.

CECIL RHODES IS ALL RIGHT.

London, April 20.—A dispatch from Salisbury, Matabeleland, dated April 16, says that Hon. Cecil Rhodes has completely recovered from his recent illness. According to this dispatch, he expected to start at once for Buluwayo, hoping to overtake the British forces sent to the relief of that town. According to another dispatch from Salisbury, Matabeleland, dated April 17, the departure of Hon. Cecil Rhodes for Buluwayo has been postponed for at least 48 hours.

GOOD NEWS, IF TRUE.

London, April 20.—It is understood that the Government has yielded to the persistent opposition displayed towards the Cattle Diseases Bill, and will not further press it. It is known that the idea of passing it has been abandoned, at least, for this year. The bill, which was introduced by the President of the Board of Agriculture, was to make the present law, which temporarily excludes foreign cattle from British ports, a permanent measure.

QUEER LUGGAGE.

London, April 20.—A dispatch from Cape Town says that the German steamer Bundesrath arrived at Delagoa Bay on Tuesday last, and at Komati on Wednesday. She landed a large number of passengers, who did not wish to allow their luggage to be examined by the customs officers. It was examined, however, and the searchers unearthed uniforms, top boots, helmets and other military trappings. A German officer afterwards produced passports, and the party proceeded for Pretoria, the capital of the Transvaal.

ANTI-SEMITE VICTORY.

Vienna, April 20.—Dr. Luegar, the Anti-Semite leader in the Reichsrath, was again elected burgomaster of Vienna on Saturday, by a vote of 98 to 42. The minority (Liberals) voted for Dr. Gruebl. Dr. Luegar made a speech to the crowd, during which he inveighed against Hungary, and declared that his election was a vindication of Christian liberty and the independence of Austria. Dr. Luegar has been repeatedly elected burgomaster, and as frequently rejected by the Emperor. On Dec. 8 last a riot followed the Anti-Semite meeting held in the Prater, in order to protest against the rejection of Dr. Luegar.

BETTER TERMS FOR THE ANTILLES.

Madrid, April 20.—The Secretary of the Colonies will make arrangements to put into effect the law granting political reforms to the Antilles. These arrangements will probably go into operation in Porto Rico on June 1 and in Cuba on July 1. The Government denies that the Washington Government prompted this action. The speech from the throne opening the Cortes will contain a passage dealing with the reforms. The Cabinet will meet on Tuesday to decide on the wording of the passage. The Standard publishes a dispatch from Madrid saying that the reforms will consist of those provided for in the Home Rule Bill voted by the Cortes last year.

BLOCKADED BY THE TURK.

Constantinople, April 20.—Telegrams from Bitlis, Eastern Turkey, state that the houses of Rev. George P. Knapp and Rev. Royal M. Cole, missionaries of the American board of foreign missions, of Boston, have been blockaded by the Turkish Government, and that their servants have not been allowed to go and come from the markets. On March 15 orders were given by the Turkish Government requiring that they and their families should all leave Bitlis by the southern route. The roads were then impassable. The missionaries heartily acknowledged the activity of Mr. John W. Riddle, the United States charge d'affaires, in securing the nullification of the order issued March 26.

AN IMPENDING CRISIS.

London, April 20.—A Tokio dispatch says: It is believed that affairs in Corea are rapidly approaching another crisis, which will involve the downfall of the present Premier and his faction. The Japanese subjects murdered in Corea since Feb. 11 number 38, in addition to five who are missing. Great patience has been shown by the Government and people of Japan in the face of these outrages, the nation's indignation being curbed by a conviction that any resolute employment of force to quell the insurgents and punish the murderers might involve a collision with Russia. But it being now evident that Russia's designs in the peninsula are not so matured or far-reaching as ordinarily supposed, the Japanese will probably adopt vigorous measures.

PRINCESS ALEXANDRIA MARRIED

Coburg, April 20.—The wedding of Princess Alexandria of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, third daughter of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (the Duke of Edinburgh), to the hereditary Prince Ernest of Hohenlohe-Langenburg, took place today. The civil ceremony occurred at 10:30 a.m., the witnesses being the Duke of York and the Grand Duke Paul of Russia. A procession was then formed and proceeded to the castle church at 11 o'clock. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha conducted the Empress of Germany to the church, and the Emperor of Germany conducted the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. At the moment of the exchange of rings an artillery salute was fired. The wedding breakfast took place in the throne-room.

NOTHING KNOWN OF NANSEN.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—The police have a report from Ust Yansk, Northern Siberia, that nothing is known there of Dr. Nansen. Ust Yansk is the point east of the Lena delta from which was dated the first report by Kushnareff, contractor for Nansen, that the explorer had reached the pole and was returning. The report which the police have now received also says that the natives who stayed from May to November on the Liakhoff and Kotelny islands, where Baron Toll's provision stores intended for Nansen's use are placed, saw no wreck or sign of Nansen.

CABLE NOTES.

Col. Lake, of Canada, will visit England in May to superintend the supplies of arms and batteries recently voted by the Dominion Parliament.

The Reichstag oleomargarine bill, as amended in committee, renders the import of American margarine practically impossible and there is little prospect of its adoption.

A dispatch from Lisbon says that while a wealthy manufacturer of that city, named Dominguez, was driving in a carriage to the Alexandria railroad station, a bomb loaded with dynamite and nails was thrown at the carriage. The missile exploded, blowing Senor Dominguez and his coachman to pieces.

BRITISH BARK SUNK.

Fifteen Persons Drowned—Collided With a Steamer.

Glasgow, April 20.—The steamer Marsden collided with the British bark Firth of Solway, Capt. Kendrick, yesterday, near Kish lightship, causing the latter to sink. Thirteen men and the captain's wife and child were drowned. The captain and eight sailors were saved. The Marsden is from Greenock. Her bows are badly stove.

PHOTOGRAPHING COLORS.

The Wonderful Discovery of a Frenchman—Explained to a London Audience.

London, April 20.—The latest development of genuine photography in colors was explained to a brilliant audience at the Royal Institution last Saturday evening by M. Lippmann, the distinguished French investigator. He has now succeeded in reproducing perfectly all the colors of nature on a sensitive plate. The prominent leaders in science who were present were aroused to great enthusiasm by M. Lippman's achievement. He explained his method, which is simple, and he displayed results which were marvelous. Light, as every one knows, leaves traces of its energy in the photographic picture in light and shade, but it is colorless because the forms of the individual waves or vibrations are not depicted. To secure this result, M. Lippmann places behind the thin, transparent gelatine film a mirror of mercury. This stops the rays of light and reflects them, thus rendering the vibrations practically stationary, as the result showed. They then leave on the film the impress of each separate prismatic color and shade. These effects are not similar to those of a pigment which can be seen in any direction. The film remains transparent, and its hues are like those of a soap bubble or nacreous mother of pearl and other substances in themselves colorless. In other words, the photographic plate, which is developed in the ordinary manner, must be held at a certain angle in order to see the chromatic effects. M. Lippmann showed by reflected electric light a number of pictures produced in this manner, several being the simple colors of the spectrum, and other photographs of natural objects and scenes, including portraits.

GRAND TRUNK WRECK

Near Breslau—Twenty-Five Freight Cars Ditched and Wrecked.

Stratford, Ont., April 20.—By the breaking of a journal on a freight car near Breslau on Friday night five cars were ditched. About 7 o'clock on Saturday morning a second accident occurred at Breslau station. A local freight, in charge of Conductor John Damers and Engineer Rogers, of this city, was standing at the station when the fast freight, No. 103, came along with terrific force, and before she could be reversed, plunged into the rear end of the local. Twenty-five cars in all were ditched and wrecked. The loss will be heavy. The wreck had the effect of demoralizing traffic for nearly eight hours. The wrecked train was loaded with sugar, tombstones and carriages from Oshawa, all of which cargo is damaged beyond redemption. Thousands of people viewed the wreck and swarmed over everything. Yesterday Grand Trunk railway detectives kept the crowds at a distance. It will take three or four days to get rid of the wreckage, which is piled up on each side of the track.

PACK OF WILD DOGS.

Vancouver, April 20.—A band of some fifty wild dogs of all sorts, sizes and conditions, mostly, however, mongrels, is regularly hunting game in the woods of Burnaby, a district lying between Vancouver and New Westminster. The pack steadily increases in numbers, but does not interest human beings. It is supposed to be partly composed of Indian or Siwash curs, partly of dog derelicts from New Westminster, whence there has latterly been some migration of population through long continued depression. A regular dog battue is suggested, as if the pack greatly increases in numbers, not only will much game be destroyed, but there may also be danger of human beings.
