Nearing a Crisis.

The Duke of Devonshire Alarmed at the Eastern Outlook.

Ashantee Rejects Britain's Ultimatum and War May Result.

New French Cabinet Formed by M. Bourgeois.

The Spanish General in Cuba Discouraged—Governor of British Guiana in London—Duke of Cambridge's Farewell.

WORSE!

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The condition of the Czarewitch is steadily growing worse. He is now continuously confined to his bed, and remains in an insensible, comatose state, not even recognizing members of the royal family. His life is despaired of.

ANOTHER APPEAL.

London, Nov. 1.—The Dublin Independent publishes an address issued by the Amnesty Association, addressed to Irishmen in the United States and Canada, making an appeal for aid in continuing the agitation for the release of the Portland prisoners.

THE DUKE'S ADIEU.

London, Nov. 1.—The War Office has issued a special army order on the occasion of the retirement of the Duke of Cambridge from the command of the British army. The order, in the Duke's behalf, thanks all those who co-operated with him to maintain the efficiency of the army, reviews the changes made during his command, and bids an affectionate farewell, the Duke feeling assured that he would hand to his successor a force of which the Queen and the Empire may be justly proud.

AVENGING LENZ'S MURDER.

London, Nov. 1.—United States Minister Terrill has succeeded in moving the Turkish Government to punish the men who murdered the American bicyclist Lenz in Armenia. He has cabled his State Department that the Kurds and Armenians who committed the murder are to be tried at Ezeroum and that the United States will be represented at the trial by the British consul at that place. This official was the first person to learn of Lenz's murder, and as there was no American consul in that vicinity he actively interested himself in the case and reported the results of his investigation to Mr. Terrill.

SALISBURY SCOLDS.

London, Nov. 1.—The Marquis of Salisbury made at speech at Watford yesterday, in which he declared that free trade had almost killed husbandry in several countries.

The Marquis did not blame those who had passed the free trade laws, but they should have thought more of the peculiar burden under which the land labored, and should have lightened the weight of those burdens when it could have been done with ease.

Salisbury added that he had merely adopted the foreign policy of his predecessors in office, and he reproached Mr. Gladstone for embarrassing the present Government by violent speeches on the Armenian question. He added that the farmers should be aided by reducing their taxes and facilitating their means of transportation and communication.

JAPS ON THE MOVE.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The Novoe Vremya says that according to advices received by that newspaper the Jap troops are being rapidly withdrawn from the Liao Tung Peninsula. It is added that the Mohammedan insurgents have captured Lan Tie Heou Fu, capital of the Province of Kan Soo, on the Yellow River, that they are defeating the Chinese in every direction, and that they intend to form an independent kingdom. Further, troops have been dispatched from Kashgar and other provinces. The secret societies of Central China are reported to be preparing to join issue with the Mohammedans.

A NEW CABINET.

Paris, Nov. 1.—M. Bourgeoise has succeeded in forming a Cabinet, all the portfolios having been accepted, with the exception of that of the Foreign Ministry. The new Cabinet is constituted as follows: Prime Minister and Minister of the Interior, M. Bourgeoise; Minister of War, M. Cavaignac; Minister of Marine, M. Lockroy; Minister of Finance, M. Doumer; Minister of Justice, M. Richard; Minister of the Colonies, M. Combes; Minister of Public Instruction and Worship, M. Berthelot; Minister of Public Works, M. Guyot-Dessaigne; Minister of Commerce, M. Mesureur; Minister of Agriculture, M. Viger. M. Hanotaux has definitely refused to retain the Foreign portfolio, and it is the intention of M. Bourgoise to offer it to someone who has attained prominence in the field of diplomacy.

The London Post's special dispatch from Paris says it is impossible to believe that the Bourgeois Cabinet can have any but the briefest and most inglorious existence. The new Ministry, it is said, cannot command more than 150 votes in the Chamber of Deputies.

RUSSIA AND CHINA.

London, Nov. 1.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegram learns that Russia admits that a seizure of Port Arthur, even with China's consent, would constitute a breach of international engagements; but she considers that the railway concessions in Manchuria concern only herself and China.

The Paris Temps says it is known that there was a connection between the Russian Foreign Office and the noteworthy article in the St. Petersburg Official Messenger. The Temps says it does not regard the official statement regarding the existence of a Chinese-Russian treaty as tantamount to an absolute total denial, applicable to the future as well as to the present, but rather as applying to the manner in which the fact was realized and the period when it will be eventually accomplished. The paper argues that a certain arrangement already exists between Russia and her allies with regard to China.

A SHAKY CABINET.

Paris, Nov. 1.—M. Vigu has accepted the portfolio of Minister of Husbandry, and consequently only the office of Minister of Foreign Affairs, said to have been tendered to Baron de Courcel, the French ambasador to London, remains to be filled. The Cabinet does not seem to please anybody very much, but it is understod that it will receive the support of the Radicals and Socialists during the time it lasts, which is not expected to be long.

MASS FOR THE LATE CZAR.

London, Nov. 1.—The Prince of Wales, wearing a Russian uniform; Prince Nicholas of Greece and the majority of the members of the diplomatic corps here, were present this morning at an impressive requiem mass celebrated upon the occasion of the anniversary of the death of the late Czar of Russia, Alexander III., who died Nov. 1, 1894, at Livadia. Father Smirnoff, chaplain of the Russian Embassy, assisted by the Russian bishop of San Francisco, officiated.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

London, Nov. 1.—The Duke of Devonshire, speaking at Leeds, said: "It is idle to disguise the fact that in both Eastern Europe and Eastern Asia events are occurring and questions are arising which may affect great interests in this country, and the time may be approaching when it will be necessary for us to appeal to all political parties for sympathy.

The Standard publishes a dispatch from Constantinople saying that trouble is threatened in Arabia. The Ministers are hurrying reinforcements to the Red Sea. It is stated that the lives of the Turks are unsafe outside the garrison towns. The Arabs are openly hostile.

The Vienna Boerse opened yesterday with a general panic prevailing, caused by the editorial said to have been published by the Official Messenger, of St. Petersburg, on the relations between Russia and Great Britain, and by other causes. The Austrian Foreign Office did not share in the uneasiness created by the newspaper's article.

THE DONS DISCOURAGED.

Madrid, Nov. 1.—The Havana correspondent of the Imparcial has had another interview with Captain-General Martinez de Campos, in which that commander reiterates the statement expressed in a previous interview that he believed the United States would recognize the insurgents as belligerents before they could be conquered. He further declared that a policy of leniency towards the insurgents must prevail, or 150,000 troops would be necessary to quell the rebellion, and even then 75,000 of them would perish. These unhopeful utterances have created consternation among the officials in Madrid.

El Liberal says that the statements by Captain-General Martinez de Campos, in an interview cabled to Madrid and printed in the Imparcial of that city, are badly received in military and political circles, where, it is added, the opinion prevails that certain things contained in the interview would better have remained unsaid. Senor Sagasta, the ex-Premier, is quoted as having said, after reading the interview, "This is not the time for words, but for action."

REJECTED BRITAIN'S ULTIMATUM

Accra, Gold Coast Colony, British West Africa, Nov. 1.—Capt. Donald Stewart, the special British commissioner who was sent to Coomassie, the capital of Ashantee, recently, escorted by 100 Houssas under Captains Gramer and Civine, to present to the King of Ashantee the ultimatum of Great Britain, has returned here, bringing the first authentic news of the result of his mission.

The King of Ashantee has rejected the ultimatum; but all announcements to this effect previously made were pure guess work. The king says he prefers war to accepting the terms of the British, and adds that he is fully prepared for it.

The terms of the British ultimatum were that the king should have a British commissioner in his country and that he should place Ashantee under the protection of Breat Britain. He had until today in which to reply. A strong force of Imperial and native troops will now be dispatched to Coomassie to bring the king to terms.

The news of the King of Ashantee's preparations for war may be quite serious for the British, if, as his envoys say, he has 50,000 rifles. He rules more than 3,000,000 people.

THE FRONTIER DISPUTE.

London, Nov. 1.—Sir Charles Lees, Governor of British Guiana, has arrived in England. He does not regard the frontier dispute as of much consequence, and says that the concessions granted by Venezuela to American capitalists do not extend into the territory claimed by Great Britain. The refusal of the Guiana Council to buy Maxim guns, at the request of Mr. Chamberlain, is touched on lightly and vaguely by the Governor, who says he is here principally for his health.

Further details of the status of affairs in British Guiana concerning the boundary agitation have been received from Demerara up to Oct. 10. In pursuance of the policy of the British Foreign Office, Capt. Marshall and Inspector Cole, of the British colonial constabular of militia, have been dispatched to inspect the outpost of Uruan, where the conflict with Venezuelans occurred. The semi-official announcements made at Demerara that the departure of the officers and their party is in connection with the recent dispatches from Minister Chamberlain. The Maxim-Nordenfelt Gun and Ammunition Company are in communication with the authorities at Demerara, as the result of an order already placed with the company and the prospects of further orders. The public and press criticisms of Minister Chamberlain for his recent dispatches continue. The Miners' Gazette points out that Mr. Chamberlain's solicitude for the gold industry of British Guiana is due to misinformation given him by interested and unreliable persons. Mr. Chamberlain's statement that the northwest territory would receive more attention is controverted, and it is alleged to be due to a desire of certain persons to secure a British port of entry in the northwest section. Mr. Chamberlain's plan of interesting British capitalists in concessions is ridiculed from the grounds that these concessions are already made, and that nothing more can be granted.

CABLE NOTES.

Right Hn. Joseph Chamberlain, accompanied by his wife, has returned from the continent.

Dispatchs from Vienna say that the Turkish and Russian Governments are convinced that England is isolated and without allies in Europe.

A dispatch to the Times from Constantinople says: The Sultan declines to accept the names which the Grand Vizier has suggested for the Armenian commission. He wishes to have men who are in his own confidence."

The Daily News says it is rumored that Sir Phillip Currie, at present British ambassador to Turkey, goes to Paris as the successor of the Marquis of Dufferin. Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, now ambassador to Spain, will succeed Sir Phillip Currie at Constantinople.

Great excitement has been caused at Corzueia, in the Province of Biscaya, Spain, by a dynamite outrage. Some miscreant placed a bomb in the convent at that place, and an explosion followed, causing much damage to the building. One report has it several nuns were so badly frightened that death resulted.

ROME SEVERELY SHAKEN

By an Earthquake Shock—People Terrified—The Pope Felt It.

Rome, Nov. 1.—A severe and prolonged earthquake shock was felt here at 4:23 this morning. Many houses swayed badly, walls were cracked, pictures and other articles fell from the walls and other places; people ran panic-stricken into the streets, and a serious disaster was for a time apprehended. Happily, the first shock seemed to have ended the subterranean disturbance. No serious damage was done, but some idea of the alarm created may be gathered from the fact that the prison of Regina Golli was so badly shaken that the terrified prisoners broke out into open revolt and tried to escape from the building. The situation became so serious that the troops from a neighboring barracks were hastily summoned, and it was not until they had surrounded and taken possession of the prisoners that order was restored and the inmates were driven back at the point of the bayonet to their cells. The Vatican buildings were severely shaken, but the Pope was perfectly tranquil. The thoughts of his Holiness were not for himself but for other people in danger. He sent to the nearest police depot in order to inquire if there had been any loss of life or serious damage to property, and his Holiness was much relieved by the answer.

PROVINCIAL CONVENTION, W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Thornley and Miss Cosford, of London, Re-Elected to Office—Interesting Reports.

Hamilton, Oct. 31.—The opening exercises of the W. C. T. U. convention yesterday were conducted by Mrs. Donaldson. The report on franchise by Mrs. S. Sencep, Toronto, was followed by an animated discussion of the subject. Mrs. Currie, Brantford, from governmental statistics, gave the figures of the population of the Dominion, showing that the male population of the Dominion exceeds that of the female population to the extent of 8,473, so that the gentlemen need not fear the increased voting power should women get the franchise.

The reports on Sabbath observance, Woman's Journal, and narcotics, showed marked improvement in each of these departments and many valuable suggestions were given in the discussions which followed.

Mrs. Asa Gordon then gave an inspiring and helpful Bible reading founded on six questions of our Divine Lord.

Mrs. Cavers presided at the afternoon session and opened with prayer. Reports on work among lumbermen, curfew bell, young woman's work were received and discussed. Progressive work is being done all along the lines. Mrs. Scott reported on literature depository. Mrs. Asa Gordon reported on evangelistic work, which department of work is varied and aggressive. Of benevolent work, ministering to the physical as well as to the spiritual relief of the poor and unfortunate, Mrs. Gordon truly said: "The extent of this work can in no way be estimated so as to be conveyed on paper. Human love can do much for the inebriate, but only the divine love can save him."

The president's annual address, rich in helpful thought, followed, and its adoption brought the convention to a standing vote. Adjournment.

In the evening prayer services in the several city churches, were addressed by White Ribbon delegates.

This morning the convention was called to order by the president. The reports of credential and appropriation committees were received. One hundred and seventy-five delegates responded to roll call. Several notices of motion were received. One particularly was adopted with enthusiasm—that local or county superintendents elected to office and not doing their duty for three months, be considered not elected, and such union hold another election.

Officers were then elected as follows: President, Mrs. Thornley, London, re-elected; vice-president, Mrs. Cavers, Galt; cor sec., Mrs. Wiley, Richmond Hill; rec. sec., Miss Cosford, London.

THE PARTY WASHING.

Exposures Resulting From a Falling-out in Toronto.

Charges of Lack of Sincerity Made Against a Leading Journal.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Very much interest has ben developed in the city as to the quarrel between the two newspaper advocates of the high tax policy. The Mail and Empire management, through its evening edition, the News, made an attack on the World, edited by Mr. MacLean, M.P., and yesterday the World retorted, taking occasion to make some remarkable revelations regarding the recent past of the subsidized organ of the men now in power at Ottawa. The World calls its neighboring Conservative organ a "reptile," a "betrayer of Sir John Macdonald," a plotter to "sell this country to the United States." Then the exposure proceeds, demonstrating once again how demoralization has seized upon the one-time compact party:

"For a number of years the Mail professed to be the organ of the Conservative party. It professed to be a supporter of the National Policy, a supporter of Sir John Macdonald's, and to be loyal to Canadian nationality. For some reason or other best known to the Riordans and their relatives who occupied positions in connection with that paper, they saw fit to betray the Conservative party and become its bitter enemy. They betrayed the N. P., and thereafter declared it to be a fraud, and they wound up this episode in their career by betraying the country and Canadian nationality, and became the advocate of commercial union, and finally of political annexation. Sir John A. Macdonald often declared that this conduct of the Mail and of its managers, of men who professed to be his friends, to be the most bare-faced betrayal of himself and his party and of the coutcry that he had ever encountered. When the history of the Mail's missions and embassies to New York and Washington to betray this country comes to be written up, as it will be written some of these days, this statement of Sir John Macdonald will certainly be borne out.

"One of the pretexts of this betrayal was the conviction which the Mail professed that Roman Catholics and Roman Catholic aggression were the curse of the country, and that to get rid of these was the great object of its existence. It, therefore, raised the greatest anti-Catholic crusade, both against Catholics and French-Canadians, ever known to Canada, in its columns, and kept it up for years. Quebec and the French-Canadians were declared to be the Irish and the Ireland of Canada, and all sorts of odium were heaped upon both.

"These attacks on the Conservative party, on the National Policy, on the nationality of the country, and on the Catholics of Canada, failed, as they all deserved to fail, and the Mail sought favor with Conservatives again by recanting all its errors and promising to do better in the future if the newspaper war in which it was engaged with the Empire would cease. Accordingly arrangements were made by which the two papers were consolidated, and some kind of bonds for good behavior in the future given. We believe that the prominent members of the Conservative party, to whom these pledges were given have failed to take any interest in the concern since the consolidation took place, and they elected directors. As far as the World can learn, they never exercised their powers or office.

"Since the so-called change of heart took place, the Mail has pretended to be in favor of the National Policy again, in favor of Canadian nationality, and has apologized for its former attacks on Catholics and French-Canadians. This last change, it will also be noticed, took place at the very time when some kind of defense of Protestant rights in this country, as against the demands of Quebec, for the passage of legislation remedial of the school acts of Manitoba was required. In other words, at the very time when a paper was wanted to take the stand of equal rights and privileges to all, the Mail, after all its years of professed Protestantism was found wanting. Nobody has a better conception of this than has Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, who formed an alliance with the Mail, and gave much of his energy and advice to furthering their joint interests. But Mr. McCarthy, like Mr. Patterson, and like Sir John Macdonald, was pitched over in a night."

LIBERATION OF THE EX-QUEEN.

(Pacific Commercial Advertiser, Honolulu.)

At 3:30 p.m. on Friday, the 7th, an orderly on guard at the executive building announced to the ex-Queen the approach of Col. McLean, who carried the parole pardon signed by the President.

On entering the room with Major Potter, the ex-Queen, clothed in a holoku, was seated by a table with her work basket and a basket of flowers upon it, and on the floor was a glass vase filled with water and holding gold fish. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wilson were present. Col. McLean did not require her to rise, but proceeded to read to her the contents of the parole-pardon, instrument. Major Potter followed and read a letter of instructions or regulations, which required her to maintain her residence in Washington place, with freedom of movement over the island, but without privilege of residing at any other place permanently or temporarily without authority from the Government.

Col. McLean then informed her that the guards were removed and she was free. She smiled and thanked him.

At 5:30 the ex-Queen, dressed in a black skirt and black hat, descended the steps of the Beretania street side of the building without assistance, and with ease, and, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, entered a carriage and were driven to Washington Place. Later on several express wagons, containing her effects used while she was imprisoned, were taken to the same place.

TO TREAT A SPRAIN.

Most successful treatment is use of hot foot baths for fifteen minutes three times a day; follow each bath with massage for fifteen minutes, then apply a rubber bandage from toes up as high as ankle and have patient walk. Ballet dancers use this method with such success that they are seldom incapacitated for work longer than a week.—Medical Record.

A MACEDONIAN CRY.

A Montreal dispatch says:

"Le Monde says that Mr. Maclean, M.P., was one of those who most contributed to Hon. Mr. Chapleau's retirement from public life, and thinks it inconsistent on the part of the World to desire his honor's return to the Ministerial benches."

"Any port in a storm" is probably Mr. Maclean's motto in these days of disorganization and internecine controversy among the high tax leaders.

HARRY DONNELLY SENT FOR TRIAL.

Harry Donnelly, the young man arrested a couple of weeks ago in connection with a drunken brawl at the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets, was this morning committed for trial by the police magistrate on a charge of assaulting P. C. Darville while in the discharge of his duty. On the evening of Oct. 18 Donnelly and his brother George were mixed up in a row at the Metropolitan Hotel, and after the police were summoned started north on Wellington. At the corner of Queen's avenue the patrol wagon came up with P. C. Wallace, Rowell and Weir on board. Darville had in the meantime left his Dundas street beat and overtaken George Donnelly near the avenue, and on placing him under arrest a tussle ensued and the prisoner was thrown to the ground. While engaged in the struggle with George, Harry is alleged to have jumped on Darville and torn his cape off. Darville and Rowell were the only witnesses, and on their evidence the accused was sent for trial. Bail was accepted. Charges of drunk and disorderly against both the brothers were withdrawn. Robert Wrighton, Wm. May and Wm. Watson paid their statute labor taxes and were discharged. Edward Rourke proved that he was assessed and not liable to the labor tax. Frank [illegible] failed to appear in answer to a summons, and a warrant will be issued. John McTavish and George Fox, for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, were fined $1 each. The case against Thomas Cox, charged with breach of the bylaw, was withdrawn. Cox was engaged by the Barber Asphalt Company, and was mixing mortar on the street. The city engineer asked that the case should not be prosecuted.
