The
ROYAL MASTER

"THE GREATEST TIRE THE WORLD HAS EVER KNOWN"

The Royal Master was built without regard for cost. It is the finest tire that can be built.

Its massive tread is double thick, cured by a new slow process. Its carcass is made with extra plies of web fabric. Side-walls are guarded against scuffing.

Not one Royal Master in a thousand will ever puncture. Not one in five thousand will blow out under two years of service.

The Royal Master is made over size. Or rather, the right size for real tire economy.

If you want tires that will last as long as you keep your car, then buy Royal Masters.

THE VALUE OF BRAN

Whole-wheat flour contains the germ and bran. In order to move food out of the intestines we must eat a certain amount of roughage. Bran is very highly thought of for that purpose. Experiments have shown that bran that has been soaked until the mineral matters are all washed out will not prevent constipation but will cause it. This shows that it is not the irritating qualities of bran which are useful but also the large amount of mineral matters which it contains. Bran in itself is not a food but it does contain large quantities of mineral matters which will not give calories but which aer necessary to maintain life. People always realize the good qualities of brain and are willing to pay high prices for fancy packages of it.

There are those who thank heaven for the meal and then grouch at the cook.

Where Her Son Lived

A portly Dutch woman applied at the postoffice for a money order to send to her son in the Far East. She told the clerk she had left her son's letter at home, but said he was "some place out by China dot sounds like der noise an automobile makes."

The clerk smiled and, turning to another nearby, she said, "What kind of a noise does an automobile make, Bill?"

"Honk! honk!" the other suggested.

"Yah, dot's it!" exclaimed the woman her face brightening. "Honk, Honk, dot's der place."

So the clerk made the order payable at Hongkong, and the woman went away happy.

LONGEVITY

James Brown was a careful man
He lived according to a plan
Of healthful living, safe and sane,
He never ventured in the rain,
No never trod a muddy street,
Without his rubbers on his feet,
He never stayed out late at night,
He exercised by morning ligh,
He wisely slept, he wisely ate.
His health was in a perfect state,
Until one mild and balmy day
He got that "flu" and passed away.
Bill Hoosit was a careless man,
He never lived by any plan,
He never caught a single whoop
For cold, or measles or the croup,
He ventured out in the rain or storm
Not worried if his feet were warm,
He walke dabout in the wintry air
With summer socks and underwear;
The 'flu' came on and passed away
And Bill is on the job today.

Moral

The only way to live and thrive
Is to stay on earth and keep alive.

WHAT A WOMAN SEEKS

(Edgar A. Guest)

This is what a woman seeks:
One with laughter in his eyes,
Soft and gentle when he speaks,
Strong and brave and very wise;
In whose company is fair,
Free from petulance and whining;
One who with a happy air
Gossips with her when he's dining.

This s what a woman seeks:
One whose love for her will last
Longer than a few glad weeks,
And the first sharp, stinging blast,
One who'll never do her wrong,
Never shame the name she's taken,
One who though the years be long,
Still will keep her faith unshaken.

This s what a woman seeks:
One who will not turn away
For another's painted cheeks,
But forever hers will stay,
One whose temper or despair
NIever to his duty binds him
But a man like this is rare
And no woman ever finds him.

A littl boy was advised by his father to use illustrations in his conversations whenever they should occur to him. "For" continued the parent, "there is no more forcibls way of conveying or impressing your meaning." Shortly after, the boy was being lectured on generosity. "It's better to give than to receive, John, far better." "Illustrate it, daddy," said John, quickly. "I think I shall understand it better."

There are many things in life that we would like to possess, but, not having the wherewithal, we must do without. On the other hand, there are things available to rich and poor alike if we only take the pains to acquire them. Among the latter we may class "good manners." The best time to learn and practice good manners is in youth. Therefore it is incumbent upon parents in particular to see that their children are taught some of the simple rules of etiquette in early life. The words "please" and "thank you" are too frequently used by many of our girls and boys; yet how simple once you have become accustomed to use them.

OCCUPANTS OF CAR HAVE MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

(Clifford Express)

An automobile accident which might easily have had a more serious termination, occurred on the provincial highway at Greenbush, about 3 miles from Clifford, shortly after six o'clock on Sunday evening, when a Ford runabout owned and driven by a Mildmay young man, skidded on the icy pavement and turned over in the ditch.

Two of the occupants, Miss May Lambertus, of near Walkerton, and Mr. Gordon Hunt, of Mildmay, escaped with slight injuries. The driver of the car, Mr. David Hunt, was pinned beneath the overturned car in the water which was in the ditch and that he escaped as he did seems nothing short of a miracle. The timely arrival of Mr. Melvin Milligan and his assistance in lifting the car to allow the driver to crawl out was practically all that saved him from drowning. They were then rushed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fulton from where medical aid was summoned and they were provided with warm clothing and the hospitality of the Fulton home.

In talking to the Express, Gordon Hunt stated that they were going to Toronto where he and his brother are employed. Miss Lambertus was accompanying them as far as Guelph from where she would take the radial and proceed on to Kitchener to visit relatives.

Near the scene of the accident the car began to skid in a dangerous way It is thought that the driver became a little nervous and applied the brake and in so doing turned the car around in the road. The right hand wheels dropped over into the ditch, turning the car completely over and pinning the driver head and shoulders beneath the water.

The accident was noticed from the Fulton home by Mr. Fulton. Being unable to go himself he called to Mr. Milligan who was in the house at the time and he immediately set out to render what assistance he could.

After helping to free the driver he accompanied them back to Mr. Fulton's. Dr. A. F. Thaler was called to render medical aid. Gordon Hunt escaped unhurt with the exception of a little shaking up while Miss Lambertus suffered a fractured dislocation of the left wrist. David Hunt was found to be suffering with pains in the back and water in the stomach and lungs. His condition, however, was such as to allow him to leave the Fulton home on Tuesday.

The car was towed to the garage of Mr. C. G. McPhail for repairs. The top and windshield were completely smashed, but apart from this it was found to be in pretty fair condition.

The ditch at this point is quite deep and the water, caused by the heavy rains of late, is over three feet deep.

PLANT A TREE

If every householder would plant one or more trees, it can be readily seen that a great difference would be made in the appearance of the community. The man who plants a tree does something for his community, for the present generation and for posterity. Trees are cheap and easily had. Why not plant one or more this year? Plant shrubs and flowers, too, for they add much to the beauty of any home and any community.

FOREIGN SWILL

(Hamilton Spectator)

Not only because of its effect upon Canadian industry, but because of its effect on the national thought and the impression that is left on the plastic minds of the new generation should the Canadian Government do something about this daily-increasing flood of second-class reading matter that is pouring over our boundary lines.

It is not necessary to read the stuff to idetnify most of it as literary junk. The display racks in front of our newsstands run largely to suggestive cover designs. And this swill, we are informed, has its greatest circulation among our high school boys and girls.

Some splendid magazines and great newspapers do enter Canada from the United States, periodicals of high purpose and tone, but the quality publications are sadly outnumbered by the trash.
