DUNGANNON.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.—The Dungannon Teacher's Institute will meet Saturday Sept 1st. Judging from the success of the past meetings it would be well for teachers to attend. Each subject is freely discussed so that any teacher gets the benefit of what the others know. The last meeting was a [illegible] Vulgar fractions, R. [illegible] Geography N. America, [illegible] The Verb, D. E. [illegible] W. Lane; Reading and [illegible] Brown; Writing System, H. Lockhart; Simple equation, D. D. Yule; School law, Mr. Hardy.

BASE BALL.—A correspondent of the Lucknow Sentinel has been making some wild charges against one of my last communications, but it is altogether a very foolish piece of writing. The first startling statement that he makes is that I am liar. In the face of facts this is a most shameless statement and must reflect the mental calibre of the author. Every one knows, that is acquainted with the Dungannon players, that they had only seven of their team on the field and that the full team was made up of a boy who belongs to Lucknow, and a young man from Dungannon who never belonged to their team. These are the true facts of the case, and which the "Junior" calls falsehoods. The action of the Lucknow players has been anything but honest or straightforward in connection with their dealing with Dungannon. They have never given or taken a challenge without backing out of it, and had there been no double dealing on the 8th, Dungannon would have had no occasion to take players out of the crowd, but would have been on the field at the time appointed with a full team, and would have had satisfaction, which the Lucknow players are afraid to give them. This junior correspondent also attempts to give a drive at the Dungannon players by saying that the Juniors challenged the Dungannon club, and that they were afraid to play them or were too big to play a junior club. The editor answers this satisfactorily: "A Junior Baseballist' had better get a better complaint to write about before he again makes a fool of himself." A Junior club played the school boys here on the 16th and got beat by a score of 34 to 17. If straws show the way the wind blows, the Seniors had not better try it on the Excelsiors here.—COM.

Shot by Mistake.

AN UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR NEAR BAYFIELD.

On Thursday (16th inst) Mr. Purvis, fish pedlar, was nearing Bayfield, when he met with the hired man of a farmer named Baker, who resides in the vicinity. Knowing each other, Purvis was asked to stop at Baker's on his way home with his fish. He declined, on account of the lateness of the hour, but afterwards consented. True to his word, he called on his return. Finding the door yield to his touch he walked in, expecting to meet his friend by appointment. That gentleman, however, was absent, and had neglected informing Mr. Baker of any of his arrangements. Some time before this it appears that some one had attempted to break into the house. Mr. Baker resolved that the next visit of any such individuals should be met with irresistible argument, borrowed a gun. When Mr. Purvis entered all was darkness, and Mr. Baker, with the idea that his house was burglarized, sprang out of bed, seized the gun, and fired. Mr. Purvis when he saw the fish imagined it was the striking of a match, but the report and his own feelings at the time convinced him he was shot. He then gave his name, but Baker being doubtful would not go near him. Purvis then left the house, and on the road met the hired man, with whom he returned. Medical aid was summoned, and five shots were extracted. This rather surprised Baker, who was of the opinion that the gun was empty. He, however, is doing all he can, paying the doctor's bill, loss of time, etc. The wounded man is at present at his home in Exeter, and will soon be around again at his work.

The All-Suffering Medico.

To the Editor of the Signal.

DEAR SIR,—Medical Students have to bear a good deal of unwarranted abuse, and there are not a few who, in their ignorance, regard the young votary of science as a great evil. They have their faults, doubtless, but they certainly earn a great deal more than their share of blame for annoying practical jokes, the ebullitions of youthful vivacity and ingenuity. Your cotemporary, I am sorry to see, is afflicted with this prejudice, and in last week's Star the insinuation is made that certain "ill-brained medical students" were the ones who probably did the recent dog poisoning. To accuse us of such an act is contemptible enough, the more so since the poisoning was done accidentally—one of our citizens having placed a poisoned fish at the back of his premises to kill rats, which some prowling dogs brought forth to their destruction but had the expression "ill-brained students" been omitted I should consider the writer was simply one of those prejudiced and narrow minded individuals above mentioned, and paid no attention to his vaporings

It is remarkable how many people there are who set themselves up to judge human character, and what a large proportion of them are shallow-pated and full of conceit. Such beings cannot comprehend their task, though imagining they do, and their criticisms show but the profoundity of their ignorance. Had your cotemporary a little of the wisdom of the present, he might, in the search for brain food, have been a victim with the poor canines.

My advice to him is to refrain from assuming such superiority, to exercise his brain to the same extent that the medical student does and his mind will be above such paltry silliness as to cast slurs upon industrious and intelligent

PHOSFOZONE.

The New Medicinal Combination, for Stomach, Heart and Liver Complaints. Pamphlet sent free on application.

Montreal, March, 1877.

MESSRS. EVANS, MERCER & Co.,

GENTLEMEN,—Having taken the "Phosfozone" for general debility and over-taxation of the brain, I think it only fair and just to bear my testimony to its beneficial effects. It was merely an experiment on my part, lacking all faith in the preparation, but I at once, after a few doses, experienced a pleasant effect which caused me to continue its use, and it is, I think, the great Desideratum required by all business men, particularly those of sedentary habits, and well adapted for strengthening weak and nervous constitutions.

Yours truly,

If a good machine you want to buy
I'll tell you where to call,
The best are sold by Fishers
So say the people all.
And they are always willing
To give every one a trial,
They sell the championsewing machine
It is the Family Royal.
If you ain't got the money
You need not fear,
If you cannot pay the cash
They'll trust you for a year.
And when the year is ended
And the money is come due
You never need to be afraid
That they will trouble you.
There are other agents
That sell the Wanzer and the Howe,
But they will never trade
On a horse or yet a cow.
But Fishers, they are willing
That the Farmer too should live
And they will take in change
Whatever they will give.
So if you want to deal with them
You need not be afraid,
For they are always willing
And open for a trade.
The blacksmiths, they have dealt with them
And now their women smile
To think their men were sensible
And bought for them the Royal.
The butchers too, who live in town
Whose women used to scold,
Have bought from them the Royal
That's worth its weight in gold.
Their women now are singing
And on their face a smile
They say that sewing is but play
Since they have got the Royal.
The bakers too have purchased one
But not to mix their dough,
They say it is the best machine
That ever was to sow.
Mr. Harney has been in town
He knows that this is true,
So if you want to purchase
We would like to deal with you.
