THIRTEENTH YEAR. SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 1 1893--SIX PAGES. ONE CENT.

CONGRESS TO MEET AUG. 7.

CLEVELAND SAYS THE SHERMAN ACT MUST BE REPEALED.

The Financial Situation Regarded by the President as Threatening to Cripple the Merchants, Stop the Wheels of Industry and Bring Disaster to the Country—People Must Be Relieved.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The President this evening issued the following proclamation:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, June 30, 1893.

Whereas,—The distrust and apprehension concerning the financial situation which pervades all business circles have already caused great loss and damage to our people and threaten to cripple our merchants, stop the wheels of manufacture, bring distress and privation to our farmers and withhold from our workingmen the wage of labor;

And whereas the present perilous condition is largely the result of a financial policy which the executive branch of the Government finds embodied in unwise laws which must be executed until repealed by Congress. Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, in performance of a constitutional duty, do by this proclamation declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both houses of the Congress of the United States at the Capitol in the city of Washington on the seventh day of August next at 12 o'clock, noon, to the end that the people may be relieved, through legislation, from present and impending danger and distress.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

HARRISON ON THE SILVER BILL.

He Thinks All the Blame Does Not Lie With His Measure.

NEW YORK, June 30.— Ex-President Harrison when asked to-night as to his opinion of President Cleveland's call for an August session of Congress said that presuming the latest despatches contained correct information it was the only thing Mr. Cleveland could consistently do.

If he thinks, said the ex-President, that the country is in a case of strangulation and that he has a remedy, why the sooner he applies it the wiser he will show himself."

If he thinks that he can give the necessary relief he would better lose no time. The cry is that there is not enough money. I think there is plenty of money but that people are holding on to what they have got and hoarding it.

The Load is Too Great.

I am not prepared to say whether I think that an August session of Congress will restore confidence, which is said to be demoralized. There may be serious obstructions. I cannot tell what may be the extent of Mr. Cleveland's knowledge on the subject, but I know that they would not have repealed the Sherman law for me.

I think that perhaps altogether too much of the much-complained-of stringency has been loaded upon the Sherman law. There are great many other causes which have contributed to the prevailing state of affairs. The load is altogether too great.

Sherman Explains the Object of His Bill.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 30.—United States Senator Sherman, writing to a correspondent in this city, says: You are quite right in your opinion as to the object of the Silver Act of 1890.

Its chief purpose was to prevent, and at all events to defer free coinage of silver. A bill for that purpose had passed the Senate by a large majority and would have passed the House but for the compromise act of 1890. Another object was to supply currency to take the place of National Bank bills being then rapidly retired.

Silver Mines Closing.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 30.—A dispatch from Veirhart, the chief mining town of the Belt mountain range, states that orders have been given for closing down the Moulton, Galt and Nevada mines. It is thought that unless silver advances no mines will operate after this week.

Idaho Miners Ruined.

SILVER CITY, Idaho, June 30.—The Madden, although not unexpected, fall in silver has virtually ruined the mining industry of the state. Orders have been issued during the past two days for closing down the silver and lead mines of North Idaho and of Wood River. Thousands of miners will be thrown out of employment during the next week and there will be much distress. As the gold mines yield considerable in silver, many that are classed as gold mines will be obliged to close down. The present indications are that business of all kinds will remain at a standstill until Congress meets, and if the Sherman law is repealed and nothing better enacted to take its place the production of silver in this state will cease. The closing of the mines will also effect farmers who are dependent upon a home market.

AN M.P. IN COURT.

Committed For Trial On a Charge of Assault.

LONDON, June 30.—Mr. John Deasy, member of the House of Commons for the west division of County Mayo, against whom a young girl employed as a servant in the house in which Mr. Deasy lodged, procured a summons for assault, was brought up in a police court to-day. It was previously stated that the magistrate had issued the summons for common assault, but Mr. Deasy was held for trial for indecent assault. Bail in the sum of £100 was accepted.

Mr. Deasy is a member of the Anti-Parnellite or McCarthyite section of the Irish Parliamentary party and is very popular among his associates. The outcome of the charge against him will be watched with keen interest in political circles.

ENGLISH ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

For Posting Placards Denunciatory of the Royal Family.

LONDON, June 30.—The Anarchists Cantwell and Young were arrested last evening for posting placards virulently denunciatory of the Royal Family. After alluding to the expensive preparations made for the wedding of the Duke of York and the Princess May, while "thousands of families are starving in London," the placards call upon the working people to assemble in Hyde Park next Sunday to "protest against this senseless waste of wealth on royal vermin."

NEW YORK, June 30.—Loan certificates to the amount of $5,225,000 were issued to-day. Arrangements were made for $750,000 more, which will be signed to-morrow. The payments for interest and dividends due July 1 will amount to $78,905,433.

THE G.T.R. DEAL FALLS THROUGH

The Road Will Continue Under the Same Management as Hitherto—Attempts to Oust Tyler Fail.

LONDON, June 30.—Duncan McIntyre of Montreal, who has been in London for some time, sailed for Canada to-day.

The statement recently published that the visit of Mr. McIntyre, Mr. Gould of New York and others to London was in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway is fully confirmed.

It is understood that Mr. McIntyre came here hoping to acquire control of enough stock to compel the present president of the Grand Trunk, Sir Henry Tyler, to resign. In this event the headquarters would have been moved to Montreal.

It was really the intention of Mr. McIntyre and his colleagues in this matter, had their plans carried, to enter upon a new and vigorous traffic policy.

Their plans in this respect, it is learned on good authority, were about complete. Mr. McIntyre was prepared to and did state as a leading inducement that various lines were willing and ready to extend to the G.T.R. favorable traffic agreements. The lines in question included those of the Gould system and possibly those of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. McIntyre himself cared to say little or nothing about his true mission and talked health pretty extensively. But his friends here are assured that Duncan McIntyre returns to Canada a badly disappointed man. He had, these friends say, a bona fide desire to lift the Grand Trunk out of what they term the rut.

Though Mr. McIntyre's visit and the proposition he made to several large Grand Trunk stockholders caused a ripple of excitement the affairs of that company will, it is said, proceed much as before.

CUT THEIR THROATS.

Captured Prisoners are Promised Armistice and Then Butchered.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Herald's Valparaiso special says: A correspondent in Molo telegraphs that General Saravia has reached Paso. On his march to Bage General Violas' command defeated the Castilhista troops. In revenge the Castilhistas cut the throats of the revolters whom they captured, although they had promised them armistice.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The World's special from Panama says: Peiorla has landed at Chala, Peru, and gone to Arequipa. He is said to be preparing to head a revolution designed to put him in the presidential chair. This alternative of civil war has been decided upon, according to current report, because Peirola would have no chance of being elected if he merely appealed to the suffrages of the people, as the government in power would control the polls. Hostile operations are expected soon.

THREATENS TO CUT RATES.

Grand Trunk Railway Protests Against Ten-Day Excursion Tickets.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The Grand Trunk Railway is not going to run excursion trains to the World's Fair, at least not enough to amount to anything, and it is now trying to prevent the other roads from running any. It sent out a letter to-day protesting strongly against the extension of time recently granted on excursion tickets by the roads of the Central Traffic Association. The limit is now 10 days.

The Grand Trunk says that if this arrangement is carried into effect it will proceed to demoralize business by cutting rates. The only reason given is that the 10-day limit will ruin the railroad. The other roads say that they will pay no attention to the Grand Trunk and will keep right on selling 10-day tickets.

Clarets.

The reason why W. Mara, 79 Yonge-street, sells clarets for 20 per cent. lower than any house in the trade is because he is sole agent in Canada for Jules Mermau Co., one of the largest firms in Bordeaux. Only one profit from the vineyard to the consumer.

THE VICTORIA'S SURVIVORS.

TWENTY-SEVEN OFFICERS AND 267 MEN WERE SAVED.

They Arrive At Malta And Are Transferred to the Defence Ship Orion—An Officer Tells the Story of the Disaster Confirming What The World Has Published.

VALETTA, Malta, June 30.—The British cruisers Edgar and Phaeton, belonging to the British Mediterranean squadron, arrived here to-day, having on board the surviving officers and crew of the battleship Victoria, which was sunk off Tripoli, Syria, on June 22, in collision with the battleship Camperdown.

Hundreds of small boats conveying relatives and friends of the survivors and a number of relatives of those who had lost their lives put outside the harbor to meet the warships. The latter came into port slowly. The survivors crowded along the bulwarks of the cruisers, calling to their friends in the small boats and answering as fully as possible the hundreds of questions put to them by everybody within hailing distance.

Every available craft in the harbor was crowded, and the bastions of the fortifications were black with people. As the warships slowly steamed to their anchorage, cheer upon cheer broke from the crowds on the shore and they were taken up and repeated by those on the cruisers.

Business was partially suspended in the city. A number of natives of Malta were in the crew of the Victoria and it is known now that 90 Maltese went down with the ship.

27 Officers, 267 Men Were Saved.

As soon as the Edgar and Phaeton came to anchor preparations were made on board of them to transfer the survivors to the coast defence ship Orion, which is stationed here. The transfer was soon made. Four officers and 21 men who are sick or who were hurt in the accident were among the number transferred. All the sick and injured are doing well. The Edgar brought 18 officers and 140 men and the Phaeton 9 officers and 127 men, a total of 27 officers and 267 men.

A press representative had interviews to-day with several of the survivors of the disaster, and the stories told by them confirm the report of the collision with the Camperdown as already telegraphed.

An Officer's Story.

An officer, who was an eye-witness of the whole affair, after detailing how the ram of the Camperdown had stove an enormous hole in the hull of the Victoria below the water line, said that almost immediately after the collision the Victoria began to settle by the head, and in four minutes the vessel turned partly over with her bows under water.

The Men Awaited Orders.

The officer added that he did not see a single man jump overboard until the order was given for every person to save himself. Many of the men were good swimmers, but they were unable to get to a safe distance from the ship before she turned completely over and went down.

They were caught in the vortex caused by the foundering ship and their strength and ability as swimmers availed them nothing against the suction which drew them down. When the ship was lying on her beam ends the engines continued to work, and one of the two screws, which was completely out of the water, raced at a very high speed.

The other screw was submerged, and its revolutions caused the water on one side of the ship to flow in a strong current towards its rapidly revolving blades. A number of the men who were swimming were caught in this current, and despite all their efforts were struck by this screw and killed. Perfect discipline prevailed from the time the Victoria was struck until the order was given to abandon the ship.

DEATH OF A NOTED CROOK

John Harvey, a Confidence Man, Dies Robbed and Deserted at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 30.—Three strange and mysterious-looking men arrived here on the Michigan Central on Sunday night. One of them was very ill and apparently suffering great pain. They went to a small and rather obscure hotel, where only the sick man registered. He used the name of Wallace. After putting him to bed, his companions hunted up a doctor and soon after left. They have not returned and probably will not, and the sick man is now a corpse. Such was the end of the life of one who was at one time and for over twenty years a prominent character in the criminal history of this country.

The man Wallace, alias Henry, alias Arling, better known as John Harvey, was one of the most noted expert confidence men and all-round crooks in this country. He has served various terms of imprisonment during his life, and has been an associate of Clutch Donohue and others of equal disrepute. Scarcely a rogues' gallery of any importance is without his picture.

THE DOMINION DAY SALUTE.

The Toronto Field Battery's Parade At the Old Fort This Morning.

The Toronto Field Battery will parade at the Old Fort drill shed at 10.30 this morning, and will firea salute of 15 guns at 12 o'clock.

For some reason the people of Toronto have, in the past, taken very little interest in the Field Battery, which is one of the best in the Dominion. Probably the reason lies in the fact that, unlike the other Toronto corps, the battery does not drill at the shed in West Market-street, but at the dilapidated structure at the Old Fort, foot of Bathurst-street, consequently the people have very few opportunities of seeing the parades.

During the last camp the Toronto boys received high praise from Lieut.-Col. Irvine for the good work they did, their splendid physique and their smart and soldiery appearance. There is no doubt that the Field Battery deserves equally as much consideration from the people of Toronto as the other corps, and it is to be hoped that this consideration will be afforded in the future much more than in the past.

The artillery drill is more interesting and prettier than the infantry drill, and the praiseworthy work the gun drill may be seen at the Old Fort this morning. To those who wish to spend a pleasant half-hour, our advice is go and see the salute fired to-day at 12 o'clock.

The Custom-house receipts for the fiscal year ending June, 1893, show two hundred and fifty thousand dollars more than the previous year, while the receipts for June, 1893, are forty thousand more than 1892. Truman of Ottawa at the Rossin House last evening, "but it has extended to Ottawa as well, and the prospects are that unless the Queen City residents wake up we will have Sunday cars before they do. There is a decided demand for them in the 'Washington of Canada.' At present the Trade and Labor Council of our city are ascertaining the views of the different labor organizations on the question, and petitions are in circulation asking for the running of the cars. You can depend upon it that Sunday cars have got to come, and the probability is that before the snow flies next winter they will be running in every city where the electric service has been introduced.

Count Stenbeck of St. Petersburg, Russia, arrived in the city yesterday en route to Winnipeg to make an inspection of the farming communities of the Northwest for the Russian Government. He is a lusty gentleman of some 30 years, with a stentorian voice that would render it impossible for him under any circumstances to ever become a conspirator against the Czar. While talking to The World he filled the whole rotunda of the Rossin with excellent English for a foreigner. Speaking of the alleged cruelties to political prisoners in the Czar's dominions he said: "Prisons are not pleasant places under any circumstances. It is not the intention of the Russian Government to provide first-class hotels for criminals and other offenders. People expect to be punished when they violate the law, and our prisons are penal institutions. They are not, however, the chambers of horrors the despatches have pictured them. Far from it. We pride ourselves upon our well-regulated prisons and the humane methods employed in them."

A representative of one of the oldest towns in the world was registered at the Queen's last evening, Mr. Otto Spactha of Gera, a town in the German principality of Reuss-Schleiz. Mr. Spactha is custodian of the field which on the banks of the White Elster, which was erected in 1086 and is still in a fair state of preservation. Another resident of an ancient city, also registered at the Queen's, was Mr. Chi Thoms of Drontheim, Norway. Both gentlemen are en route to Chicago.

"The nerve of some people is a source of continual astonishment to me, though I've been in the business a great many years now," said the veteran to the clerk in a confidential talk with the reporter. "Take the case of the fellow who never puts up at any hotel but who comes round with unfailing regularity to ask if there is any mail for him. He loves to have people at a distance address their letters to him at a hotel with a big reputation. He uses the envelopes and envelopes of the same house in replying, and almost cheats himself into the delusion that he is a guest. In fact, no guest makes freer use of the house."

A gentleman of travel was heard informing his less experienced friends at one of the hotels last night how to tell a French count from an untitled Gaul by his signature. It is a popular custom of both classes to sign their plain surnames without initial or handle of any kind, but a count is always sure to have a penultimate twirl of a "de" in front of the name proper. A Frenchman of title, whether he be penniless or no, is always "of" somewhere in particular.

THE HARVEST OF THE GRAVE.

Returns for June—Fewer Interments, But An Increase in Deaths from Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever.

The mortality returns for the past month show a decrease of 41, compared with those of the previous month. The only unsatisfactory features in the records are an increase of seven in the deaths from diphtheria, and of two in those due to scarlet fever. More than half the interments were those of children; very few old people died. There was one death from sunstroke, one as the result of a fall, one from drowning, and one killed by a street car.

Three Fatal Causes.

Following is a comparative statement of the deaths from the diseases mentioned during the past four months:

	March.	April.	May.	June.
Diphtheria	22	13	10	17
Typhoid fever	15	4	4	1
Scarlet fever	6	10	4	6
Total	43	27	18	24

From this it will be seen that there is an increase of 7 in the deaths from diphtheria compared with the month of May, and an increase of 2 in the cases of scarlet fever.

Out of a total of 237 interments, 120, more than one-half, were of children under 14 years of age. Only 25 of the 237 were over 70 years.

At the Five Cemeteries.

	June, '93.	June, '92.	May, '93.
Mount Pleasant	53	75	79
Necropolis	30	27	21
St. James'	80	89	114
St. Michael's	50	59	55
Prospect	11	2	9
	237	252	278

These figures show an increase of five in the total number of interments compared with the corresponding month of last year, and a decrease of 41 compared with May, 1893.

Analysis of the Returns.

At Mount Pleasant Cemetery out of the 66 interments 28 were those of children. There were only 11 persons buried above 70 years of age. Pneumonia was credited with 6 deaths, phthisis 5, diphtheria and bronchitis 3 each, scarlet fever 2, result of a fall 1.

At the Necropolis the interments were three more than in the corresponding month last year. Thirteen were children and there were only four septuagenarians. Among the certified causes of death were: Phthisis, pneumonia, diphtheria and bronchitis 2 each, killed by a street car 1, drowned 1.

At St. James' Cemetery the interments were nine fewer than a year ago. Forty-nine were children; only five were above 70 years of age. There were 5 deaths from diphtheria, 4 from pneumonia, 3 each phthisis and bronchitis, 2 from scarlet fever, 2 diarrhœa, 1 typhoid fever.

At St. Michael's there were 50 interments, a decrease of 9 compared with June last year. Twenty-five children were interred and only 4 old people. The following were among the causes of death: Diphtheria 7, pneumonia and phthisis 4, bronchitis 3, scarlet fever 1, killed by dynamite 1, sunstroke 1, cholera morbus 1.

At Prospect Cemetery there was an increase of 9 in the number of interments compared with a year ago. One death was ascribed to scarlet fever and 1 was due to the kick of a horse.

Spirits as free as the breeze.
