HANSON ON TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER IN AMHERST COURT

Witnesses Tell of Drunken Quarrel in Which Davis Was Fatally Stabbed —Crown Rests Case.

Amherst, N. S., June 24—The case of Harry Hanson, charged with manslaughter, was before Judge Graham in the supreme court today. On the afternoon of Saturday, June 4, the accused and a young Englishman named George Davis, both of whom had been drinking, got into a brawl at a boarding house. They were separated but at supper table the fight was renewed. Hanson was pulled out of the dining room into the kitchen, and it is charged that he caught up a heavy butcher knife from the table, re-entered the dining room and drove it into Davis' breast, wounding him so severely that he died two days later.

Hanson was arrested shortly after the crime was committed. He was indicted for murder but the grand jury reduced the charge to manslaughter. At the opening of court the judge requested C. R. Smith, K. C., and F. L. Milner to defend him. H. J. Logan, K. C., and J. L. Ralston appeared for the crown. The evidence brought out was about the same as at the preliminary examination and inquest. The main evidence against him was his own confession to Chief of Police Carter. Other witnesses called swore that they were so drunk that they had no recollection whatever of the fight or of stabbing, although present in the room at the time.

The prosecution rested its case just previous to adjournment and the defence will be heard tomorrow morning.

SHOCK SEVERE IN YARMOUTH, HE SAYS

L. G. Crosby, of this city, participated in the experience which befell the people of Yarmouth on Wednesday evening last, when the Nova Scotia town was shaken by an earthquake. Mr. Crosby returned yesterday from Yarmouth, which he had visited in the course of a business trip. Speaking of the shock generally felt there about 9 o'clock on Wednesday evening, he said that there was no doubt whatever that it was a real quake due to volcanic causes. In some of the smaller dwellings the shock had been strong enough to knock the dishes from the tables.

HIS LEG BROKEN IN THREE PLACES WHILE RETURNING FROM MASS

Monday, June 27.

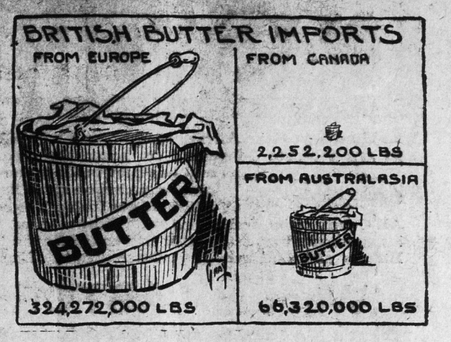
John Murphy, a painter, who resides in Somerset street, met with a very painful accident yesterday morning while returning from mass in Holy Trinity church. Mr. Murphy was taking a short cut through a field in order to get home quicker and when near home he stepped into a kind of a ditch breaking his leg in two places. He managed to crawl home, however, and Dr. Berryman was summoned. He found the leg to be badly broken. Mr. Murphy will be confined to the house for some time.

Mr. Jawback—Do you mean to say that everything I told you before we were married was a lie?

Mrs. Jawback—No, my dear, you told me one truth. You used to say you weren't worthy of me.—Cleveland Leader.

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

OUR BUTTER OPPORTUNITY



GREAT BRITAIN imported 406,283,300 lbs. of butter valued at £22,425,067 in 1909. Owing to their advantageous location, the countries nearest to the British Isles captured theb ulk of the trade as shown. Denmark alone supplied 43 per cent. of the butter imported to England, or 176,402,700 lbs. Russia, with 60,171,200 lbs. comes second, and Franee, Sweden, Holland, and Germany follow in this order. When the element of distance is considered, the Australasian colonies are no inconsiderable factors in this trade, supplying 16 per cent. of the total quantity. New Zealand alone furnished 27,858,100 lbs. against Holland's 14,856,700 lbs. Canada's exports of butter to Great Britain in 1907 were 3,470,500 lbs., and rose to 4,308,400 lbs. in 1908, but owing to the drouth of the past two seasons, and to the decrease in the number of milch cows, as well as to our increasing home consumption, our exports of butter fell off last year. The United States suffered more severely than Canada did, her exports of butter to Great Britain falling from 4,433,300 lbs. in 1908 to 69,300 lbs. in 1909.

SCHOOL CLOSING AT KINGSTON

Elsie Sterritt Presented With Governor General's Medal for Proficiency; Agricultural Picnic Follows.

Kingston, N. B., June 23—(Special)—The closing exercises of the Kingston Consolidated schools and the picnic of the Kingston Agricultural Society were held here this afternoon. Andrew Elliot, of Galt (Ont.), was present and spoke on Soil Cultivation. He was followed by T. B. Kidner, of Fredericton, who in a neat speech presented the governor-general's medal for general proficiency in the High school grades to Elsie B. Sterritt. A prize for botany work was presented to Garnett Carmichael by the retiring principal, E. C. Rice. Miss Margaret Bostwick, of grade II., was presented with a graduation certificate. The exercises were largely attended.

In the evening Mr. Elliot spoke very interestingly on Field Crops, as did H. W. Woods, M. P. P., of Welsford, who took for his topic The Use of the Cover Crop.

CLOSING EXERCISES IN HAMPTON SCHOOL

Hampton, N. B., June 24—(Special)—The closing exercises of the Hampton Consolidated school were held this afternoon before an audience which tested the standing room of the assembly hall to the utmost. The programme was long and varied, the chief features being the presentation of prizes, medals and certificates to the winners in the several departments. Th High school graduates were Miss Marguerite Adams, Miss Blanche M. Crandall, Chas. D. Dickson and Harold A. Seely. The class motto was "It matters not how long we live, but how."

Miss Marguerite Adams was the valedictorian, and Miss Crandall the prophetess.

The High school entrance certificate and those for highest standing were presented by Professor John Hill, of Yale; Sheriff Freeze prizes for manual training and domestic science by Dr. W. S. Morison; the Fowler gold medal for history by Rev. Mr. Colwell to Gladys Smith; the Humphrey memorial medal for mathematics by Rev. G. Farquhar to Marguerite Adams, and a special prize by Chairman T. W. Barnes to Douglas Dickson, a close competitor for the same; Rev. H. C. Rice presented his prize in English literature, a copy of Lowell's poems, to Marguerite Adams; Hilda Whalley won Miss Travis' prize for highest standing in grade VII., and Ruth Humphrey, Mrs. P. Palmer's prize for history in grade VI.

The graduating certificates were presented by John March. The address to the graduates was delivered by E. C. Weyman. There were choruses by the school, songs by, Miss Isabel M. Page and R. A. March, a clarinet solo by Master Roland Barnes and a recitation by Miss M. Evans. An essay on King Edward VII., read by Gladys Smith on Empire day, brought a prize today from the Rev. H. F. Whalley, who was greatly impressed with its excellence.

TELLS NOVA SCOTIANS THEY ARE WASTING MONEY ON ROADS

Amherst, N. S., June 24—A. W. Campbell, deputy ministtr of railways and canals, arrived in Amherst on a special train today, accompanied by members of the railway board and W. B. Mackenzie, chief engineer of the I. C. R.

Mr. Campbell addressed a large meeting of citizens of the town and surrounding country tonight on the subject of good roads. His address was one of the ablest efforts ever heard on an Amherst platform. He condemned the present system of road making in this province, and said it is waste of labor and of money.

BIRDMEN THRILL THOUSANDS AT MONTREAL AVIATION MEET

Six Flights in Aeroplanes at Opening on Saturday—Brookens, Two Thousand Feet in Air, Gives Circus Performance —DeLesseps Cheered by French-Canadians.

Montreal, June 26—(Special)—Count De Lesseps, the French aviator, famed for his flight across the British channel, and Walter Brookens, the Wright operator who holds the world's record for altitude, carried off the honors at the ten day aviation meet opened here on Saturday.

Brookens' feat was the most thrilling of the day. He soared to an altitude of 2,000 feet and at this height, he performed some evolutions that made the spectators gasp.

Ten thousand Montrealers went to Lakeside to see the flights and they were thrilled with the achievements. Six successful flights were accomplished, three by Count De Lesseps in a new Bleriot monoplane. The others were made with Wright biplanes, two by Brookens and one by Ralph Johnston.

He described sharp circles, tipped his machine at a sharp angle and made a dive that caused many to fear that he was falling. Brookens' altitude record is 4,953 feet, and he says he will eclipse this before leaving Montreal.

There were two balloon ascensions with parachute and a cruise by Cromwell Dixon, the boy aviator, in his dirigible balloon, a pattern of the Zepplin airship.

Miltgean, an aviator who was brought from France to operate the Bleriot machine owned by Wm. Carruthers, a Montreal sportsman, fell just after he had left the ground. He was not hurt, but the machine was damaged.

Count De Lesseps is accompanied to Canada by his brother Bertrand, noted as a duelist, and his sister. After his flights he was received with great acclaim by the French Canadians.

HON. MR. KING THINKS THERE WILL BE NO STRIKE

Toronto, Ont., June 26—(Special)—Hon. MacKenzie King was the chief speaker at a big Liberal picnic held at Dundas on Saturday afternoon. More than 1,500 people were present. He said the work of the conciliation boards was so satisfactory that he did not think there would be any strike of the railway men. The board that heard the case were very patient and painstaking in getting full information of the men's side, and their conclusions were carefully thought out. He expected the difficulty would soon be settled.

Other speakers were W. O. Sealey, M. P., who paid a high tribute to Hon Mr. King's work; Hon. A. G. MacKay and Dr. R. A. Thompson.

HOW ABOUT ST. JOHN'S BUILDING LAW?

(Monetary Times.)

A month from today Canada will have forgotten the Montreal and Niagara Falls fire disasters, which this week tore from their vitality two score of human beings. That is one of the worst features of the appalling incidents. The nation sympathizes, and in its race for dollars, forgets. The collapse of a water tank was apparently the immediate cause at Montreal, which in turn commenced fire and explosion. Strictly speaking, the death roll cannot be ascribed to fire, but the event comes directly within underwriting spheres and the need for better building regulations, restrictions and inspection.

In the past seventeen months, no less than three hundred and forty-five persons have lost their lives, either directly or indirectly, through fires. Presumably must be added another twenty-six, the human sacrifice to negligence, lack of inspection or carelessness, either general or individual, at Montreal. Providence is teaching us, by many and increasingly bitter lessons, the folly and the cruelty of the lack of respect for life and property, which is a typical characteristic of the American continent.

Such catastrophes indicate to a large extent extreme carelessness or partial ignorance. The only hope is that the latter is a temporary stage in our efforts to learn more. New towns grow quickly. Canada boasts. They are swept by fire and rebuilt on smouldering ashes. The boasting continues. Conflagration again visits, and the nation finds there is a limit to this economic waste. How many old buildings in cities which have felt growing pains in recent years, should be condemned and pulled down immediately? The fire chiefs and city engineers should be able to compile a lengthy list. The sympathy of all goes out to those afflicted by the Montreal disaster. Let this sympathy take a practical shape by the inauguration of definite steps to reform in building conditions and the fire hazard. The dangers should be weeded out and the planting of new weeds forbidden.

A MATTER OF PRIDE

(Ottawa Citizen).

It is always good to hear something pleasant about one's own country from abroad. Especially is it appreciated when it is justified, and in this connection an excerpt from the New York Evening Press seems to fulfil all the conditions. The Post publishes a despatch from Chicago as follows:

"Law enforcement in Canada and the slow reform of court procedure in the United States, according to Chicago lawyers, are proving a force in the migration to the provinces of western Canada. A letter written by a settler, they say, may give new impulse to the lagging efforts. A Minnesotan who had bought a farm in Saskatchewan, after telling of the crops, the railways, elevators, and the influx of settlers, concluded:

"I'll tell you what it boils down to. Ever since the settlement of this country began it has been understood and recognized that the man who breaks the law is going to be jailed. It don't matter if he is as spry as a gopher or as husky as a buffalo. It don't make any odds if he can crawl into a prairie dog's hole. If he breaks the law he's going to be jailed, good and sure! He can have fifty guns and $50,000, he can have any sort of blame pull you like—but he is just going to be jailed. It may take a day, a week, or a year; but he'll be jailed sure. May be he'll kill a Northwest policeman—may be he will. Well, then, he'll hang, for a dead sure thing! He'll never buy a northwest policeman, nor he'll never escape jail if he breaks the law. All Canada knows it, and we Americans know it, and that's why this country is a good country to live in."

This is the proper sort of advertising and Canada and the northwest, in particular, cannot get too much of it. A guarantee of fair play and justice to all is surely an asset in the development of a new country. It should be jealously guarded.
