DIED—In 1897—After over fifty years of trial, the demand for China Tea has rapidly died out, and today in Canada and Britain the demand is almost entirely for Ceylon Indian Tea. For that reason, about three years ago, the Tiger Indo-Ceylon Tea (in blue and white packets) was put up and today Tiger Tea is selling everywhere.

CHOPPED HIS FOOT OFF.

Terrible Experience of a Lumberman — Rode Horseback Four Miles With Dangerous Wound

Patrick Mahoney, who during the winter has been working in the lumber woods not far from Clarendon, arrived in the city this morning on the Fredericton express with his foot almost severed in two. Since yesterday afternoon, when he first met with the accident, Mr. Mahoney has shown marvellous courage.

The accident occurred in an out of the way place, four miles from the lumbermen's camp. Mr. Mahoney at the time was felling a tree with a heavy and finely edged axe. The axe glanced from the tree and cut through his foot, all but severing it in two. Mr. Mahoney was alone, and he knew that prompt action we necessary to prevent a great loss of blood. He managed to make his way to his horse, which was not far distant, and by painful efforts succeeded in mounting it. Once seated on his horse the pain from his injured member was almost unbearable, but by sheer pluck he stood it and directed his horse towards the camp, four miles distant. Mr. Mahoney says it was a ride of excruciating torture. The jolting of the horse kept the injured foot shaking and the blood flowed freely.

When he reached camp his comrades assisted in bandaging his foot and did everything possible to render his suffering bearable. Mr. Mahoney was driven to Clarendon Station this morning and boarded the train for St. John. He arrived in the city this morning unaccompanied. The officials at the Union Depot telephoned for the ambulance, which arrived in about half an hour. The ambulance, however, was of little use, as the driver refused to take him to the hospital without a certificate from a doctor.

He was then taken in a coach to Dr. H. G. Addy's office, Union street, where his injuries were somewhat tardily attended to. Later he was removed to the hospital by means of the ambulance by the order of Dr. Addy.

He was resting quite easy at noon.

NOVA SCOTIA CAPTAIN AMONG CANNIBALS.

He Could Have Married a Princess—A Negro's Skin for a Pair of Slippers.

To have entertained the king of a tribe of African cannibals at dinner and to have been presented with one or the ruler's dusky daughters in appreciation of the courtesy was the unique experience of Captain F. L. Foote, of the British barquentine Mary Hendry, of Liverpool, N. S., which arrived here on Tuesday night and docked at Brown street wharf, says the Barbados News. Captain Foote spent several weeks in cruising along the African coast, and the natives in the hope of securing trade with him, made him the recipient of various crude gifts. In relating some of his experiences yesterday, Captain Foote said:—

"King Ogby, whom I entertained at dinner, is the ruler of the Jakrimen, who inhabit Southern Nigeria. He was much impressed with the vessel and was much startled when he partook of roast pork. He asked whether it was white or black man's meat? Ogby is one of the most prosperous rulers on the coast. He has more than a thousand slaves, numerous wives, and countless children. A few hours after he left me, a young native girl presented herself to me. She said that she was a daughter of Ogby, and that he had sent her to me as a gift. Of course, I declined with thanks.

"While I was entertaining the king I remarked to him that I would like a piece of tanned skin for the purpose of making a pair of slippers. The next day one of Ogby's slaves came to the vessel with the hide of a negro from the neck to the waist. I was told that when he (Ogby) went ashore he ordered than one of his subjects be killed in order to secure the skin. King Ogby's tribesman eat little else than human flesh, and certain of the more robust are singled out to be killed for each meal. Of course, in time of battle they subsist on the slain bodies of their enemies."

"SANDY" BAXTER HOME AGAIN.

He Says the Provincial Boys in the West are Doing Well.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Baxter, of Vancouver, B. C., arrived in the city this morning on the Atlantic express.

Mr. Baxter is an old St. John boy and was formerly connected with the newspaper business in this city. He was then commonly known as "Sandy" and there was no more energetic newsgetter in New Brunswick. At the station this morning, as soon as he stepped off the train, he was recognized by many former friends, whose name in the old days was legion, and naturally the handshakes were many and vigorous.

Mr. Baxter is secretary of the Tourist Association in Vancouver, a position which brings him into daily contact with maritime boys. He says that the maritime boys out West are invariably prosperous and have formed themselves into a sort of mutual benefit association. All sojourners from the far Canadian east are warmly received and given a friendly push on their new way in life.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter while in the city will stop at the residence of Robert Jardine, 9 Elliott row. They will remain in the city for about a week.

POLICE COURT.

Last evening Dennis McColl was arrested for being drunk. He got out on deposit and was again arrested this morning while on his way to court, this time for indecent conduct. He paid eight dollars and got out for the second time.

The magistrate looked at John Leary and John Leary looked at the magistrate. "Here again, Leary," said the magistrate. "Yes," said John. "Two months this time"—and the incident closed.

John Thompson, a man fifty-eight years old, who has been about the streets for some days, was this morning sent to jail for vagrancy. Several drunks were disposed of.

A COLD PLACE.

Throughout the whole eastern section of Canada mild winter weather prevails. The only point at which the thermometer registered below zero today was at Chatham, N. B., and there the mercury was ten below zero sometime this morning. However, during the day there was a rapid moderating of the temperature and the last report from Chatham says that it was 16 above. It may sound strange, and yet it is true, that Chatham is one of the coldest places on the American continent.

A SENSATION IN SUNBURY.

A lot of talk was started in Sunbury county yesterday by the resignation of Henry Wilmot, one of the councillors for Lincoln. He claims to have discovered the fact that he was illegally returned at the last election. Mr. Wilmot had an opponent in the field, but for some reason the opponent was bowled out, and Mr. Wilmot given the election by acclamation. Duncan Grass, of Waasis was the returning officer. The people of Sunbury regard it all as a bad mix-up, and are speculating as to what will be the outcome.

SMALLPOX AT McADAM.

Yesterday it was discovered that a case of smallpox had developed at McAdam, the patient being a young woman in the employ of the C. P. R. She was removed to one of the company's houses, which has been isolated and is being attended by Dr. Ryan, the government officer. The smallpox is of a very mild type, and it is not known how it was carried. The quarters where the young woman was employed are being fumigated and will be reopened in a few days.

TWO PUT OUTS AND A FOUL PLAY.

Officer McCallum put out a bonfire on Waterloo street. It came one night too late for the cold snap. Another officer ejected John Leary from Jeremiah Murphy's house, and a third quieted a disturbance in James Fitzgerald's house on Brussels street.

The steamer Stanley, which was stuck in the ice off Pictou harbor on Tuesday afternoon, reached Pictou yesterday and later returned to Georgetown. She crossed again to Pictou today while the Minto went to Georgetown. This morning two days' mail from P. E. Island arrived here.

TRADE WITH AFRICA.

Canadian Gov't. Representative Brings Valuable Information—Is England Losing Colonies?

Among the passengers who landed from the C. P. R. steamer Lake Champlain yesterday afternoon were J. G. Jardine, Canadian government representative in South Africa, and William G. Fitzgerald of London, a promoter of journalistic enterprises.

Mr. Jardine says that he has interviwed many prominent importers in Africa and finds that the openings for Canadian produce are good. But Canadians are slow to take advantage of the market and are allowing Germans and Americans to get in ahead. Good trade could be worked up in organs, boots, paper, agricultural implements, flour and apples and many other lines. Business is dull just now owing to the drouth and the native labor trouble.

Mr. Jardine will, if permitted, see as many as possible of the prominent manufacturers in Canada and impart to them more detailed information. He has been suffering from malaria, and was given some months' leave of absence. He hopes to return to Africa in April.

Mr. Fitzgerald is a prominent magazine editor who comes to Canada to ascertain what tendency there is towards breaking away from England, and in such an event whether Canadians would prefer starting out alone or joining the United States. He believes that the policy of the imperial government with respect to the colonies is too weak and that colonial interests are being sacrificed for the sake of peace with other powers. Mr. Fitzgerald says there is a feeling in England that the colonies are slipping away and he believes that in a few years Australia will break loose, Canada being next to do so.

A GOOD SHOW TONIGHT.

Tonight the first performance of Shadows of a Great City will be given by the Dailey Company, and judging by the brisk demand for reserved seats business is going to be large at each performance. When the management announced The Fatal Wedding as their opening bill, they promised a good play, mounted with special scenery and given exactly as it was given in the larger cities. Those who attended those performances are well aware that the management kept their word in every way. Now they promise to do the same with Shadows of a Great City, and as they have kept their word so far, we have every reason to believe that they will do the same this time. This piece is beyond doubt the heaviest piece ever put on on the Opera House stage, and even exceeds The Fatal Wedding, and dramatically it is a far stronger play than that piece. The principal scenes are the prisons on Blackwell's Island, the daring escape of the prisoners, Hell Gate rocks, the entrance to New York harbor, Abe Nathan's pawnshop, and the East River. Seats are selling rapidly. Don't miss this treat, as it won't be given again.

A FAMILY OF CAPTAINS.

Captain Norman McKinnon, of the new St. John-Halifax steamer Senlac, is not "late of the LaTour," as has been stated, but is late of the Dominion dredge Canada, on which vessel he was first officer. His brother, Captain Adelbert McKinnon, is master of the LaTour, and has been for some years. Captain Loran McKinnon, mate of the Senlac, another brother, is the late mate of the LaTour. All the above are brothers of Captain Arthur McKinnon, of the Prince George, and of Captain Edgar McKinnon, an officer on the wrecking steamer Premier, working in southern waters. Unfortunately there are no more brothers in the family or they would probably be captains, too.—Halifax Mail.

INJUSTICE CLAIMED.

In the county court chambers this morning Judge Forbes made an order, returnable on the 15th instant, for the review of the case of Vaughan vs. Sancton, which was tried before Frederick M. Cochrane, justice of the peace, for the parish of St. Martins. Justice Cochrane decided the case in the plaintiff's favor, and now the defendant seeks to attack his judgment both on the ground of a want of jurisdiction and that substantial justice has not been done the defendant. Bustin & Porter for the defendant.

THE FISH MARKET.

The local fish market is now quite well supplied, and, as might be expected, the demand is not great. Frozen salmon from British Columbia, which have been kept in cold storage, are now on sale for 15c. per pound by the fish. There are also frozen shad from the north, selling at from 25c. to 35c. each. Smelts are scarce, for although the catches have been large, most of the smelts are being shipped to the states.

KINDNESS REMEMBERED.

Edward Kelley, the steward at Partridge Island was agreeably surprised the other day, when he received a present of two wild turkeys and two geese sent to him from England by the officers of the Lake Champlain. Along with the present was a card thanking Mr. Kelley for his kindness to the crew while the Champlain was in quarantine last winter.
