FAST TRAIN.—Commencing Monday, June 5th, the Canadian Pacific railway Fredericton express will leave Fredericton at 6 a. m., standard time, and arrive in St. John at 8.20 a. m., standard.

INSPECTED THE SCHOOLS.—Prince Bonaparte with lieut governor Tilley, mayor Beckwith, M Leandri and prof Belliveau went through the Normal school this morning and inspected the various departments.

ON A VISIT.—Mrs. D. Hatt, of this city, and Mrs. C. Hatt, of Marysville, are visiting Mrs. H. F. Bond at Toronto. Miss Ethel Hatt, who has been studying music since last autumn in the Queen city, will return home with her mother.

AT GAGETOWN.—Chief Supt. Inch and Inspector Bridges attended the Queens county teachers' institute at Gagetown last week, the presiding officer of which was Miss M. K. Tibbitts formerly of this city and now principal of the Gagetown grammar school.

LOST HIS HOUSE.—Alex. Torrens of Hanwell lost his dwelling and outbuildings by fire Tuesday. The house was new, only being completed last summer. It is said the fire was caused by a running brush fire started by parties clearing up land. The buildings were insured.

NEW SAW MILL.—Another saw mill is to be built on the site of that of R. K. Jewett's above government house, which was burned a couple of years ago. It is not yet known who are the promoters of the enterprise, but there is no doubt they mean business and that a new mill will soon be in operation in that excellent situation.

THEY WENT FISHING.—J. Henry Phair and a Boston gentleman left by the C. E. R. Tuesday morning for Indiantown, Miramichi, whence they will go up the north west branch sea trout fishing. T. Carleton Allen and Geo. Y. Dibblee went over on Saturday, and two gentlemen from Albany, N. Y., went from here on Thursday. The run of sea trout this season is exceptionally large, and the parties anticipate excellent sport should they succeed in overtaking the run.

ALMOST A FIRE.—Fire seems to follow Walter McFarlane of St. Marys. He has been twice burnt out, and Wednesday last nearly made a third fire. Fire caught in one of the wooden sheds back of his hames factory, and it was only by the greatest exertions that it was prevented from destroying the factory. The water system which supplies the factory got froze up last year, and is now out of order, so that water had to be brought from the river to extinguish the flame.

ELECTING A CHIEF.—On Thursday Indian commissioner Farrell went to Kingsclear and held an election for head chief of the Indians of Carleton, York, Sunbury, Kings, Queens, Charlotte and St. John counties. There were about forty delegates present and the result was the election of Anthony Paul of Kingsclear reserve. One old squaw voted for the Apohaqui reserve, having come all the way for that purpose. An election is to be held at St. Marys in a short time for a sub-chief.

Not Launched.

Last Saturday afternoon the attempt to launch John Gibson's new schooner, at the mouth of Nashwaak, ended in the breaking of the ways, and the stranding of the vessel when just in touch of the water. Although four powerful tugs with double tackle had been working at her they were unable to move her. She is a fine large coasting vessel, of 425 tons burthen, and the failure of the launch is to be deplored.

Out on Parade.

The royal regiment of infantry turned out on parade Friday morning in the officers square, by special request of prince Bonaparte, who, with lieut governor Tilley, mayor Beckwith and M Leandri, witnessed the parade from under the willows. The men, as usual, looked very well in their bright uniforms and the band acquitted itself in excellent style. The prince expressed himself very much pleased with the style and bearing of the men. At one o'clock he was lunched at the officers mess, and spent the afternoon sight seeing. He went to St. John this morning.

New Drug Store.

Alonzo Staples, late of the firm of Davis, Staples & Co., who has had twenty years of experience in the drug business, and understands all its branches thoroughly, has opened up for himself this week in his new store on Queen street, below the People's bank, lately occupied by the American express company. The store has been thoroughly remodelled and painted in a handsome manner, the prevailing colors being white and a rich yellow. A handsome set of shelves and a range of glass cases opposite the counter give ample room for the reception of his goods, while a spacious back store gives him plenty of room to compound prescriptions.

Nearly a Death.

As the band was playing in the barrack yard Friday morning, a horse belonging to Mr. Woodbridge, of the deaf and dumb asylum, which was standing at the post office steps, held by a little deaf and dumb boy in the wagon, became frightened and dashed down Queen street at full speed, with the little fellow clinging to the reins. He held on well and managed to steer his way through the teams until he reached Regent street corner, when the horse made a sudden turn and brought up against the iron lamp post. The boy was thrown out and struck his head against the post with great force. It was thought at first that he was dead, but on being carried to Dr. McLaren's and laid upon the couch, he revived. Dr. Currie arrived and examined his wounds. The little fellow was very little cut, but it was a narrow escape. The wagon was smashed pretty badly.

Fire at Canterbury.

The village of Canterbury, Station, York Co., was badly thinned out by fire on Thursday morning last. The fire started about 2.30 o'clock in the rear of Thomas Falconer's barn, and burned the combined dwelling house and store of Miss M Lundon, the house of Luke Lawson and his store. The buildings of Messrs. John Donovan and J H Carr & Sons were saved by the efforts of the residents. The loss is about $15,000 and there is about $10,725 insurance. It is thought that the fire was started by a tramp who was seen in the village on Thursday night.

The insurance is held mostly in St. John. The Western has $1,500 each on the Falconer building and on the stock and furniture, $1,500 on Miss Lundon's stock and $300 on her furniture, and $475 on the Lawson dwelling and outbuildings. The Ætna has $1,000 on Lawson's building and the Imperial holds a like amount, with $400 on the store and $100 on the barn. On his stock the Hartford has $500. The fire insurance association has $800 on his furniture and $200 on Mr. Falconer's piano. The Phœnix of London has $900 on Miss Lundon's stock and $450 on her dwelling and outbuildings. This makes a total of $10,725, divided as follows: Mr Lawson, $4,275; Mr Falconer, $3,300; Miss Lundon, $3,150.

Mr. Falconer was away from home at the time and scarcely any of the articles in his store or house were saved. Mrs. Falconer escaped with only her wrapper on.

A few of the goods in the Lawson store were taken out, as well as a small portion of his furniture. A horse belonging to him was burned.

Very little in Miss Maggie London's store was saved. Mr. Falconer will probably rebuild.

A True Story.

The young women of York county have not only proved themselves worthy of praise in the institutions of higher education of the province, but the school mistresses of this metropolitan county have earned a reputation in the field of husbandry as well. A couple of years ago a nice looking young lady came up to Prof. Robertson, the dairy commissioner, and said to him, "Can you help me, sir? I am a young woman, I was formerly a school mistress and have not long been married. I cannot succeed in making butter." "Certainly, madame," said the professor, "follow my directions and I will make you a good butter maker." Taking up a piece of coarse paper that lay near by, the professor wrote down in as few words as possible all that was needed to be done in the manufacture of good butter. A year passed, and there was an agricultural exhibition for the county of York, held in Fredericton, at which the professor was one of the leading judges, of course, in dairy products. The award for the best quality of butter was given to a farmer's wife residing not far from Fredericton. After the award had been made, a neat looking lady stepped up to the professor and said,—"Do you not remember me, sir?" "Really, madame," said the courteous professor, "I see so many faces that I cannot remember all the names." "Do you remember," said the lady, "a young woman who told you that she had been a school mistress, but was now a farmer's wife, and wanted to know very much how to make good butter, I am that farmer's wife. I followed your directions exactly, with the result which you see to-day."

Alumni Meeting.

The annual encœnial meeting of the associated alumni of the university of N. B. was held in the college library Wednesday evening last at 8 o'clock. There were present: Jas A VanWart, Dr Harrison, Dr Bailey, hon James Mitchell, Wm Wilson, Dr Bridges, H V B Bridges, J W Palmer, B C Foster, Dr Murray Maclaren, Wallace Broad, rev G G Roberts, Eldon Mullin, Geo A Hughes, F St John Bliss, J W Macready, Geo L Wilson and others. Secretary-treasurer, Geo. A. Hughes, read the report of the council for the past year, giving an abstract of the financial statement, recommending that the Brydone Jack scholarship of $40 be awarded to A. B. Maggs, he having been reported by the examiner to have passed the best examination in mathematical and experimental physics, for which subject the scholarship was assigned; that the degree of Ph. D. be bestowed on Geo. R. Parkin, M. A.

B. C. Foster and F. St. John Bliss, whom the committee appointed to audit the yearly accounts of the secretary-treasurer, reported the accounts satisfactory with vouchers for all payments.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J H VanWart, vice-presidents, W. M. McLean, Dr. Murray Maclaren and Wallace Broad; secretary-treasurer, Geo A Hughes; council, B C Foster, Phillip Cox, Dr. Bailey, rev G G Roberts, H V B Bridges, J M Palmer and F St John Bliss.

At a meeting of the senate on Thursday morning it was decided not to bestow the honorary degree of Ph. D. upon Geo. R. Parkin as recommended by the alumni.

Lumber Notes.

The recent sudden fall of the water has created a disastrous state of affairs among the lumbering interests of the St. John. As long as the high water lasted everything went along swimmingly, and the reports last week were to the effect that all the lumber would be got out. But the water fell too rapidly. The drivers were taken entirely by surprise, and the result is that millions of lumber is hung up fast on the headwaters of the St. John and Aroostook. W. H. Murray was in the city this week looking for logs to buy. There is a great scarcity of lumber in the St. John yards, almost all the mills being short, with the exception of that of Miller & Woodman. Mr. Murray's two chief operators, D. P. Gilman and Kilburn are both hung up, the former at Big Black river, and the latter at the northeast rapids. About 25,000,000 feet are fast hung up in the Aroostook. Other small operators are in trouble, and the result will be a scarcity of logs during the summer, unless there comes another freshet. Over on the Miramichi a more favorable state of affairs is reported. Messrs. Lynch and Richards are said to be safe, but Richey's and Burchell's drives are hung up on the Sevogle. Altogether the year has been a bad one for lumbermen in general, and those who have succeeded in getting their logs out safely will reap the disadvantage of their brother lumbermen and of the general public.

Rafting operations were begun at the Douglas booms on Wednesday last.

Over 50,000,000 of lumber is reported hung up on the upper waters of the St. John.

Prince Bonaparte.

Prince Roland Bonaparte, grand nephew of the great Napoleon, arrived at Fredericton Thursday by the two o'clock western train from Ottawa, and registered at the Queen. His coming was announced by a telegram from lord Derby to attorney general Blair Wednesday night. Sir Leonard Tilley came up from St. John by Thursday morning's train to meet the prince and do the honors of the capital towards him. He was met at the train by barouches containing sir Leonard Tilley, provincial secretary Mitchell, mayor Beckwith, Thomas Temple, M. P., major Gordon, R. D. Wilmot, M. P., lieutenant col. Maunsell and others. He is accompanied by his private secretary, Leandri de Virgile, and a servant, Ch. Clement. After luncheon at the Queen the party went down and inspected the provincial buildings, including the house of assembly and departmental buildings; the Episcopal cathedral. From here they drove to Marysville and inspected the cotton mills, the saw mills, the brick yard and the other points of interest there. In the evening prince Bonaparte, by invitation of the lieutenant governor, attended the encœnial exercises of the university, and appeared to take a very great interest in the proceedings.

THE ENCOENIA.

Orations, Report of Examiners, and Presentation of Medals.

The encoenial exercises of the U. N. B., were held in the college library Thursday night at eight o'clock, and were attended by a larger number of visitors than usual. The library was packed to its utmost capacity and the liveliest interest was taken in the proceedings. On the platform were seated Sir Leonard Tilley, Prince Roland Bonaparte M. Leandri his secretary, Bishop Kingdon, Canon Roberts, Dr. Travers, Prof. Belliveau, Hon. James Mitchell, Rev. H. Montgomery, W. S. Carter, J. D. Hazen, M. P., J. A. Vanwart, Dr. Bridges, H. V. B. Bridges, Wm. Wilson, F. St. John Bliss, Jas. M. Palmer, Dr. Murry McLearn, Dr. J. Z. Currie, Havelock Coy, Eldon Mullin, J. W. McCready, Wallace Broad, Prof. Davidson, Dr. Bailey, Prof. Stockley and B. C. Foster. In the audience the elite of the city showed themselves, and although the crowd was very great, the best of order was preserved throughout. The members of the graduating class, especially the female portion, showed to great advantage, and bore their honors well. The good looks and apparent health of the lady students was sufficent proof of the fact that their devotion to their studies had not undermined their health nor diminished their attractiveness. This was especially noticeable of the winner of the Douglas gold medal, the blue ribbon of the university, Miss Isabella McIntosh, and in the case of Miss Francis Everett, who has not only distinguished herself by being the first lady winner of the Alumni medal, but has also held the highest distinction in her class through the whole undergraduate course. The young men of the graduating class are a sensible and manly lot of fellows and will do credit to their alma mater.

At 8 o'clock Chancellor Harrison introduced Prof. Stockley who delivered his oration in praise of the founders.

Prof. Stockley spoke for some length of time, his subject being "Why open the colleges?" It was practically a dissertation on the scheme of university extension, its good work and benefits. It abounded in wise and truthful statements and conclusions, and seemed to meet with the approbation of all those present. He was very much in favor of university extension because that scheme extended the benefits of education to the real students, the hard working, hard headed, sturdy living earnest toilers, who could not go to the colleges, but to whom the colleges should be brought.

Miss Isabel Mackintosh, winner of the Douglas gold medal, read a portion of her essay of the social effects of scientific investigations of the nineteenth century. Then came the presentation of medals by sir Leonard Tilley.

Valedictory address by H H Hagerman.

Alumni oration by inspector Bridges.

Academical announcements.

Mr. Hagerman, in the valedictory, after referring to the history of his class and their experiences as freshmen, discussed new departments of study recently established at the university by founding of chairs of mental and moral philosophy and civil engineering. Course of studies had also, during his undergraduate course, been modified and enlarged. Formerly there was only one course for B A degree, now there were bestowed degrees of B S C and engineering diplomas beside a number of optional studies. A fitting tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Stockley, and hearty thanks of his class was extended to citizens of Fredericton for their kindness and hospitality to him and his classmates during their undergraduate course. Before saying farewell he enjoined succeeding classes to maintain and conserve time honored institutions of college, and took his farewell with feelings of sorrow and regret.

H. V. Bridges delivered the oration on behalf of the alumni society, which we regret to be unable to publish in full. It contained a glance at the history of the alumni society, its aims and objects, and showed to what extent it had attained those objects. The alumni gold medal, the alumni scholarship and the Brydone-Jack memorial scholarship all attest to its interest in the welfare of the college. A plea for more direct connection between the university and the grammar and high schools, and for greater and more frequent intercourse between the members of the faculty and the primary schools of the province, in order to draw more students to the university, was eloquently and earnestly made, and struck everyone present as being a work in the right direction.

The degree of Ph. D. was not conferred on Geo. R. Parkin.

Following are the names of the graduating class arranged in the order of merit:

FIRST DIVISION.

Miss Francis Everett, Kingsclear.
H. H. Hagerman, Florenceville.

A Good Concern.

Scott & Bowne, manufacturers of that well known and popular medicine, Scott's Emulsion, have moved into their new building, located on New Chambers, Pearl and Rose streets New York. It is said to be a magnificent building twelve stories high. The following has been received from that firm which we publish with the knowledge that their transactions with THE HERALD since it first started have been very satisfactory:

"While we naturally think that our great success would not have been possible unless Scott's Emulsion possessed superior merit, we do not under estimate the value of advertising, and we would suggest to every business man that in advertising he finds the best and quickest way to public favor."

Death of John A. Morrison.

John A. Morrison, sr., died at his residence below town last Sunday morning at a quarter past one o'clock, after an illness of two months. Mr. Morrison was not only one of the oldest, most prominent and best respected citizens of Fredericton, but has been almost all his life closely identified with the lumbering and other business interests of the province, having carried on business in Saint John and other parts of the province previous to his removal to Fredericton. He was a native of Belfast, Ireland, from which place he came to New Brunswick when eighteen years of age and has lived a busy and useful life in the province ever since. Thirty-three years ago he came to Fredericton, where he has since resided up to the time of his death, and where he succeeded in establishing a good name for the Phœnix saw mills. Of his personal qualities it is unnecessary to say a great deal. Throughout the whole province of New Brunswick there was scarcely a single active business man so well known, so much respected and so widely esteemed as he. The citizens of Fredericton one and all knew him, for there was no one more active and energetic in the transaction of business affairs; no one more familiar to the eyes of all citizens, and no one more frank and courteous in manner and speech or more genial and kindly in disposition. It was with a feeling of general loss that the community heard the news of his death on Sunday morning.

The funeral took place from the late residence of the deceased at four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, and the very large attendance of all classes of citizens showed how much Mr. Morrison was respected by his fellow citizens. Nearly all the prominent business men of the city were present, as was also a number from Marysville. Rev's Willard McDonald and Payson officiated. The procession to Forest hill cemetery, where the interment was made, headed by the employes of the Phœnix mill numberng nearly one hundred, and upwards of 62 carriages besides a large number of pedestrians, followed the hearse. The mourners were: Julius L. Inches, secretary for agriculture, a brother-in-law of the deceased; John A. Morrison, jr., Frank I. Morrison, S. L. Morrison, three sons and two grandsons, Roy and Guy; his brother, W. J. Morrison and his two sons. Mr. Morrison would have been seventy-three years of age had he lived until the 12th of July next. He leaves a widow and six sons, viz: John A. Morrison, jr., Frank I. Morrison and Stewart L. Morrison of Fredericton; W. P. Morrison of San Francisco, Cal.; Thomas E. Morrison of New York, and Julius I. Morrison of Kansas city.

George N. Golding, brother of Israel N. Golding, the well known livery stable keeper of York street, and son of the late Stephen Golding, died at his residence on Brunswick street on Wednesday morning of abscess of the brain. Deceased had been apparently in the best of health until about a week ago, when he felt a severe pain in the back of his head. Abscess rapidly developed and he sank quickly. He was about 45 years of age, a man of quiet, unassuming disposition well liked by every one; and his sudden death when scarcely past the prime of life is a shock to everyone who knew him. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn their loss. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. The rev. G. G. Roberts, rector of Fredericton, officiated. The remains were interred in the rural cemetery above town. A large number of citizens were present.

What's the Matter With Freddie?

For some weeks the little cupid that graced the top of the fountain at city hall, generally known as Freddie, has refused to operate. No water has passed through the fountain, and unless some arrangement can be made by the citizens as to appointing a special committee to attend to the matter the fountain will remain for the summer not a thing of beauty. It appears that the public works committee consider it within the realm of the water committee to turn on the water while their opinion is the reverse. They are of the unanimous belief that William McKay is the man who should attend to the matter.

There does not appear to be any trouble with the fountain except that no one will turn on the water. What water is in the basin is becoming very stale so to speak, and it will be in order for inspector Farrell to command some one to bail it out at the expense of the city. It was common report yesterday that as the prince of Wales had turned on the water, and in a word inaugurated the fountain that the city council had decided now that prince Bonaparte was in town to get him to set the thing running.

Meanwhile the fountain delights the eyes of the beholders, but is as dry as possible; and though the aldermen pass it by with averted faces, yet someone will have to be compelled to open it up.

Encoenial Pranks.

Thursday night was encoenia night at the university, and the students, according to custom, indulged in the usual pranks, firing their ancient cannon, and ranging the town through during the early hours of Friday morning. It seems, however, that on this occasion they went quite a bit farther than usual.

The removal of the military guns from the officers' square only made them the more determined to fire one of these cannons, and on Friday morning about four o'clock they accomplished their task to the dismay of the soldier's and the alarm of the citizens. The story goes that on Wednesday night they entered the yard, loaded the gun and awaited the next night. On Thursday night they had a canoe at the bridge in readiness. They climbed the fence between the hospital and the drill hall, attached a wire to the lanyard of the gun and after a failure or two succeeded in discharging her, breaking considerable glass and turning out the regiment. The sentries were not asleep but on account of the position of the gun, the guards on their regular beat could see it only half the time. It is likely now that the feat has been accomplished, the students will let the guns rest in peace hereafter. Other pranks were played but very little damage was done.

Kings and Westmorland in the Ranks.

A well attended convention of the liberals of Kings county for the purpose of selecting delegates to the great convention at Ottawa on June 20th, was held at Hampton on last Tuesday afternoon. The delegates chosen were: S L T McKnight, Springfield; J M Humphrey, Hampton; Charles B Keith, Havelock; D D Robertson, Rothesay; H S Parlee, Studholm; Capt A L Peatman, Greenwich; F L Fairweather, Sussex; J E Fairweather, Norton: E J McCready, Cardwell; M E Harrington, Hampton. Resolutions were adopted and speeches made by the different members present. The convention was a complete success; the delegation chosen is a good one, and much satisfaction is expressed that a full quota from Kings will attend the big convention at Ottawa.

The convention of the liberals of Westmorland county was held at Dorchester on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was very largely attended, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. J J Anderson was called to the chair. A nominating committee of seven was appointed, who reported the following gentlemen chosen as delegates: W F George, J T Hawke, Early Kay, James McQueen, coun LeBlanc and Dr Doherty.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER.—Lieut. colonel Maunsell and the officers of the R. S. I. gave a complimentary dinner at the officers' mess on Tuesday night in honor of surgeon McLearn, who has been officially gazetted. The school band was in attendance and rendered some fine music from the balcony of the barracks, which hundreds of the citizens listened to and enjoyed.

NEW PASTOR.—Rev. Mr. Davidson, the new pastor for Marysville and Gibson Baptist churches, will occupy those pulpits to-morrow, at the former place in the afternoon.

Personal Mention.

Chas. Appleby, attorney at law of Woodstock, is in the city, and took the degree of M. A. at the University Thursday night.

R. B. Rossborough, B. A., has accepted a situation in the bank of Nova Scotia here, and entered upon his duties Thursday last.

Mrs. F. P. Sharpe and Miss Sharp, of Toronto, are at the Queen hotel on a visit to Mrs. Sharp's son, O. H. Sharp, of the bank of British North America.

Miss Francis Everett, daughter of Alfred Everett, of Kingsclear, and neice of Benj. Everett, led the graduating class of the university, with a following of ten, seven of whom are young men.

J. W. Hartt and wife left Tuesday morning for St. John, where they took the train for New York, en route to Fort Hill, South Carolina, where Mr. Hartt has accepted a professorship in a state dairy college.

Heraldisms.

The Olivette arrived here last Wednesday evening for the first time this season.

Dr. McLearn has resigned the position of physician to the Indians, and will be succeeded by Dr. Vanwart.
