FOURTH DAY AT WOODBINE FIVE FAVORITES FAILED

Pirate Polly Won Feature, Light Brigade Beat Elliott—Long Shots Won Three.

There was a crowd of holiday dimensions in the betting ring on the fourth day at Woodbine Park and if it is public play that makes the favorites, then the books must have finished a fine winner. First choices won only two of the seven races and those were the handicaps that went to Pirate Polly and Scarfel. Three events were landed by the long shots, Dick Haase, 15 to 1, Wellington J. 10 to 1, and Montana, 10 to 1, the other two going to the second choices, Sadducee at 5 to 1, and Light Brigade, 11 to 10, that beat Elliott in a two horse race.

Two of the favorites, Brigadier and Crestfallen, finished outside the money; two others, Prince David and Pillardist, just showed, while Elliott, of course, ran second.

William Hendrie won two races in fast time, both with Wonderly in the saddle. Scarfel equaled the best at Woodbine Park for six furlongs, 1.15, while Light Brigade beat Elliott in 1.42¾, within three-quarters of a second of Latheron's record mark for the mile.

The $1000 Michaelmas purse saw the three finish less than a half length apart, Pirate Polly, with top weight, staying long enough to get the verdict from Kitty Platt and Royal Legend that rushed over the field to the wire.

Scarfel had just sufficient left to stave off Cloten in the Epsom Handicap, Mrs. Frank Foster dropping away back into third place.

Michaels was taken off Brigadier in the first and Munro substituted, but the favorite didn't win, tho carrying the bulk of the money.

The mile race for the Doncaster Plate furnished a great betting duel between the rival stables. Daly was first triumphant, as his horse went to the post favorite, and then it was Hendrie's turn to see Light Brigade romp home a winner.

Dick Haase performed cleverly and won the steeplechase at long odds, Billy Ray, backed down two points, ahead of the strongly played favorite Prince David, Enough said.

McCue made Wellington J. win the hunters' flat, easily outriding Mr. Davies on the second choice, Thornhedge. The start landed the pile placed on the favorite to the layers and at that Pillardist finished third.

Maritana turned a trick to close up the day, romping home, with Adel Trebla and Demurrer ahead of the favorite.
