190 YONGE STREET, September 14, 1897.

A GRAND FURNITURE DISPLAY

An unusual event in connection with our Furniture Department that is bound to create the greatest enthusiasm among home-owners and lovers of beautiful homefurnishings. During the progress of the Fair the furniture manufacturers of this Province held a special Furniture Exposition in this city. At great expense to themselves they sent samples of their best and finest productions to be displayed at this Exposition. Such a collection of high-grade Furniture was never before seen in Canada. At the close of the Exposition, rather than ship everything back to their respective warerooms, they decided to dispose of their exhibits to the trade, irrespective of cost. Recognizing our leadership in the Furniture trade and knowing of our tremendous outlet for reliable Furniture, they naturally looked to this store for assistance. Our shrewd buyers, ever on the alert for buying chances, were soon on the ground, and, with their experience and a thorough knowledge of the tastes and fancies of Toronto shoppers, carefully selected and purchased "the cream" of the exhibits. The purchase, which was by far the largest made, includes:

—Parlor Suites —Dining Room Suites
—Bedroom Suites —Hall Furniture
—Office Furniture —Cheffoniers

In fact everything that is worth your thought was selected from the big display.

To-morrow (Wednesday) morning we shall be ready with a magnificent display of this special purchase, together with a repetition of our own Housefurnishing exhibit at the Industrial Fair. Everything will be conveniently arranged for easy seeing on the Third Floor of the Queen-street section. (Take Queen-street elevators.) We want every home-owner or home-lover in Toronto to see this grand display. You may consider this a personal invitation to come. Those neglecting to come miss the opportunity of seeing the finest exhibition of artistic Furniture ever shown in Canada by a single retail organization.

A PLEBISCITE ON EXEMPTIONS.

There may be a difference of opinion on the question of tax exemptions. The people are divided, no one can say in just what proportion. While, therefore, more or less opposition would be raised against the abolition of exemptions there would be very little, if any, to the taking of a plebiscite. When a question of right and justice is concerned we do not think that minorities or majorities should be consulted at all. We think it should be one of the fundamental planks of our constitution that no individual should be called upon to pay the taxes that are honestly due by another. Unfortunately no such safeguard exists in the Canadian constitution, and the local legislatures assume the power to make unjust exceptions to what should be a thoroughly impartial law. A grievance of this kind is bad enough when it is sustained by a majority of the people, but it becomes doubly unbearable when a minority presume to perpetrate a wrong upon the majority. If we cannot have impartial laws in Ontario we should at least have only such laws as are approved by the majority. Majority rule in this question of exemptions will be one step in advance, but it will not be a final step, for we at least can never concede that legislatures have a right to make unjust laws, no matter how great the majority may be. In the meantime, then, let us have a plebiscite to ascertain how the majority stands in regard to exemptions. The cities and towns generally will be found favorable to the abolition of exemptions, while the villages and smaller towns may be opposed to a change in the law. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the municipalities will take a vote on the question next January, and that legislation will be subsequently introduced to give effect to the ascertained wishes of the people.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

One result of the Dingley Tariff was the temporary closing down of the big pulp factory at Sault Ste. Marie. According to a Sault exchange, the unsettled state of affairs caused by the tariff necessitated the mill looking to Europe for disposing of its pulp. The demand there requires that the pulp shall be the dry product. This made necessary a reorganization of the plant by the addition of drying machines. These machines will soon be completed, and when they are installed the mill will run again in full blast. According to the same exchange, there is no difficulty in regard to selling the pulp, as the Old Country market will take all the mill can produce, and contracts have been made already for all the pulp that the mill can make.

EXEMPTED FACTORIES.

The manufacturing concern that makes exemption from municipal taxation a sine qua non of its establishment in any given locality may be set down as designed to fill no long felt want in the community. If a genuine demand exists for any article, or if a market can be found for the products of any industry, the paying of their proper share of taxes will not deter capitalists from undertaking such busisesses.

The American Rattan Company is an example of one of these exempted concerns. Ten years ago it was granted exemption from taxes on agreeing to employ so many hands. The time has now expired, and the concern has decided to go out of business, or rather a deal has been made whereby the plant will be transferred to Walkerton. The country will support only so many factories, and the attempt to plant them where they will not survive is similar to a man's trying to lift himself by his boot-straps.

A DUMPING GROUND FOR FREE CORN.

Canada is now being flooded with American corn, which was last session placed on the free list. During the month of August $915,000 worth of corn was imported into the country by way of Montreal alone. The price of barley, oats and the other coarse grains raised by Canadian farmers will fall in direct proportion to the amount of corn imported. If the farmers of Canada generally entertain the same opinion in regard to free corn as that held by the farmers of York county something will have to give the next time the representatives of the people meet Sir Wilfrid in Parliament.

OVER-GOVERNED CANADA.

An effort is being made in the eastern part of Canada to simplify the system under which they are governed. We in Ontario, with our 90 representatives in the Legislature, complain of over-government, but we do not suffer to the same extent as the people of the Maritime Provinces. The three Maritime Provinces, with less than a million population, have 125 local legislators, three lieutenant-governors, three bancs of judges, three sets of Cabinet Ministers and so on. Consolidation is the order of the day all over the world, and, judging from our experience in Ontario, we would say it would be a good thing for the Maritimes to confederate into one decent-sized province, to be governed by a legislature of not more than fifty representatives. We believe public opinion in this province would favor a reduction by one half of the members of our Local Legislature.

SPRAY BATHS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The German town of Goettingen, with a population of 21,000, has made a decided innovation in connection with one of its public schools. It was noticed by the school authorities that the children of a miscellaneous school usually went unwashed during the winter. An experiment of placing "spray baths" in one of the schools was then made. The cost, exclusive of asphalting and drainage, was: Reservoir, with fittings, $61.85; furnace, $40.46; water pipes, $71.40; tubes and fittings, $11.99; making a total of $185.64. No compulsory rules were enforced, but in two months after the introduction 75 per cent. of the children made use of this convenience. The children were sent down to the basement, in which the bath was placed, in groups of from six to nine. The school program was so arranged that little time was lost from the regular work. It was found that a class of 51 boys could bathe in 50 minutes. The school director, or superintendent, at Goettingen has this to say concerning the results of the plan:

The quickness and willingness to learn after bathing, the education of the sense of cleanliness, the furtherance of the health of the children are such important and real results of the arrangement that I cannot but express to the city authorities the wish that, if possible, similar bathing establishments might be introduced into the other public schools.

Up to the present about 40 cities in Europe, principally in Germany and Switzerland, have followed the example of Goettingen.

Devout priests frequently mortify their flesh and voluntarily force themselves to undergo great bodily hardships and deprivation. They are enabled to do this and escape serious injury to their health by reason of the purity of their lives and the fact that they deny themselves the pleasures of the table.

An ordinary man who lives in the ordinary way cannot long endure hardship, deprivation or overwork, unless he takes the right remedy to reinforce nature. The average man when he is in good health eats too much. When he gets a little out of sorts he pays no heed and keeps right on "making a hog of himself."

In some instances he gets thin and emaciated. In others he gets grossly corpulent, and weighted down with flabby fat. In the first instance he is a candidate for dyspepsia and nervous prostration. In the second for kidney trouble or heart failure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enables the average man to undergo a great deal of hardship, deprivation and overwork, in spite of the life he leads. It causes the food to be properly assimilated. It builds firm, healthy flesh, but does not make corpulent people more fat. It cures dyspepsia, nervous troubles, kidney disease and 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It prevents weakness in any organ of the body.

"In August, 1895, I was taken down in bed with a burning and severe pains in my stomach and under my shoulders, and dizziness in my head," writes Ira D. Herring, Esq., of Emporia, Volusia Co., Fla. "My home physician said my symptoms were like consumption. Nothing that I ate would digest, and I had great distress in my stomach. I wrote Dr. Pierce for advice, and took four bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three of 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am now able to do my work and eat many things that I could not touch before I took these medicines."

An inactive liver and constipated bowels are promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe.

STUPIDITY IN SCHOOL CHILDREN.

It is curious to note the difference between the attitude of the school teacher and that of the medical man to the "stupid" child. To the one, eager to push forward the pupils to successful examination, stupid children are an eternal source of worriment and annoyance, and a drag upon the class; they are even objects of terror to the teacher, who knows that the number of pupils who pass at the end of the term is the test to-day of his or her ability to impart the three Rs, together with other departments of modern education. To the doctor, on the other hand, with his deeper wisdom of life and his knowledge that mental conditions depend very largely upon the physical, the "stupid" among children are regarded in quite a different light. He is not so apt to rush at conclusions concerning the mental capacity of boys and girls who, to the superficial observer, seem merely stupid.

Easily removable growths or enlargements in the throat produce defects in hearing which cause many a child to appear stupid when an operation, trifling as to pain, cost and time, would make him as bright as his fellows. It is painful to recall the old days when schoolmasters too literally respected the Biblical saying anent sparing the rod, and to realize in the fuller light of our knowledge that innocent children were birched and battered for unconscious inattention; and that they only heard when bellowed at by their enraged masters, because unsuspected physical conditions had left their senses defective.

In the course of an interesting talk upon this important subject with one of our thoughtful physicians, he remarked that he knew now that a large number of the pupils with whom he was at school, who had the reputation of being "stupid," were simply defective in hearing or sight, and that a little care and thought on the part of parents in securing medical examination and treatment would have spared them the cruel humiliation and heart-burning which are so frequently the lot of so-called "stupid" children.

Dealing with this same subject, a writer in the sociological department of a recent number of The Hospital says:

"Stupidity, real and apparent, in children presents a difficult study. There comes a time when the colt must be put in harness, the child begin to study. As neither task is natural to the animal involved it is almost impossible to accomplish it without a certain severity. The thing to be desired in both cases is that the severity be no more than sufficient, that the powers of each creature be guided in the right direction without being cramped and maimed. And therefore the application of whip or bit or spur must be accompanied by careful study of the animal. You can never make a cart horse win the Derby, and you can never make a stupid child a clever one; but you can find out wherein his stupidity lies, and what compensation nature has afforded him. It is only in comparatively recent years that we have begun to perceive how much tone deafness, color-blindness or myopia may have to do with an apparent dulness which was too often set down as the result of inattention.

"Even where no such easily-diagnosed defect exists, one must admit such differences as puzzle the wisest. Against the phenomenal "calculating boy," to whom all arithmetical problems are as nothing, you put the child who can scarcely grasp the fact that two and two make four as an abstract idea. Yet he may be no more stupid than the other, but only of a more materialistic temper, which realizes things only when set in visible shape before it. The natural tendency of schoolmasters is to condemn as 'stupid' the child who is dull in things scholastic. Life often reverses the schoolmaster's verdict, and shows that the so-called dulness was intelligence which had not yet found its proper channel."

COUNTY AND SUBURBAN NEWS.

Budget of Interesting News Gathered by World Correspondents Over a Wide District.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The High School Board met in the Town Hall this afternoon, Dr. Martin presiding. A committee consisting of Dr. Gilmour, J.C. Jennings and the chairman was appointed to co-operate with the teaching faculty in arranging for the commencement exercises. They delegated authority to the Property Committee to build a fence around the back of the yard and decided to hold future meetings at 7.30 p.m. instead of 4 o'clock.

At a meeting of the West York Licence Commissioners, held in the inspector's office, the license of the Avenue Hotel was transferred from Archie Smith to Mrs. A. J. Smith and the transfer from G. S. Booth of the Heydon Hotel, Weston-road, to James Eckhart of Toronto.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held in the council chamber to-night, the Mayor, Dr. Clendenan, in the chair. Four petitions, covering about nine yards of foolscap, were presented from the mechanics of the town asking that all bread offered for sale or delivered in the town shall be in 2-lb. or 4-lb. loaves. Their request was granted and Broom's bread bylaw got its third reading. Councillor Ryding commenced a very spirited discussion by asking what the structure on the north side of the Town Hall was for? Chairman Smith answered that it was to afford protection to the steps of the police station and as a stable for Chief Robinson's horse. He further asked whether the Executive Committee had made a trade with Mr. Scarlett for land to pay his arrears of taxes, whether it was true accounts had been paid before being passed in Council, and how contracts had been made with men putting in sewer connections. The result of these enquiries led to an explanation of the arrangement between Mr. Scarlett and the town, the statement of the treasurer that accounts for hay and oats and other necessaries were sometimes paid before being passed in Council, and Mr. Paterson's account of $15 extras on laying pipe, being left over for further consideration. Councillor Powell wanted to know whether the solicitor felt sure of winning the appeal case brought by Mr. Watkinson against judgment on under the town bylaw re junk shops. He thought it would be difficult to prove that Mr. Watkinson kept a junk shop, the meaning of which was hard to define, and said it was foolish on the part of the town to be quarreling at law with its citizens as to whether they kept junk shops or not. He gave notice of motion for repeal of this bylaw. Other matters under discussion were the supply of lights gratis to committees using the town park, which it was thought was a practice not to be followed in future, and the raising of the street railway tracks, which it was promised would be proceeded with.

The town solicitor stated that the assessors had not assessed the Consumers' Gas Company, the Bell Telephone Company and the Electric Railway plant and that he had entered appeal to be brought before the Court of Revision.

Richmond Hill.

Mr. A. Campbell has returned to the village after a lengthy engagement in the city.

Miss Clara Hillman of Cleveland is visiting Reeve Savage.

Mr. F. H. Kirkpatrick, master of the Public School, has resigned in order to continue educational studies.

Mr. H. Hopper, who has been north purchasing cattle, returned yesterday with a large drove.

A horse driven by Mr. James Wright from the Methodist Church at Buttonville on Sunday afternoon ran away and the buggy was smashed before the animal could be stopped. Mr. Wright was fortunate enough to escape without injury.

Mr. H. Newson, a bricklayer on the new school building, fell from a wall to the ground yesterday. The man received some nasty cuts about the face and sustained a severe injury to his left hand and arm.

North Toronto.

Miss Lily Jackes of Eglinton is away visiting friends at Chatham.

Town Assessor William Brown will about complete the 1898 roll this week. Deductions averaging about 10 per cent. have been made from the assessment.

The town's new windmill suffered a break-down for a second time yesterday.

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board was held last evening. Messrs. S. J. Douglas, C. Bonnick, F. Davis, G. McCormack, A. Snider were present, with Mr. Douglas in the chair. A deputation consisting of Mayor Davis and Messrs. Donohue and McCrae were present and asked the board to institute a fifth class at the Davisville School. A communication from Inspector Fotheringham was received deprecating the idea. The board, however, concurred in the wishes of the ratepayers and granted the request. The extra class carries with it an increase of $50 to the principal of the school. An application from Mr. Balfour of Eglinton for $25 per year increase was not considered with favor. The reports of the recent examinations of the school were dealt with and considered satisfactory.

Dave Beldam Home.

D. Beldam, the well known auctioneer of Scarboro, is home again from Ireland, where he went last spring as the representative of the Massey-Harris Company. Mr. Beldam has fallen in love with Ireland and its people, and states that it is the most beautiful country he ever saw and the people the most hospitable he ever met. He was very successful in selling a vast quantity of machinery, more than he expected, and could have disposed of more could he have got them, over 1000 binders alone being sold in Ireland and England this season. The crops in England are good, and thousands of acres were still to cut at the time of his leaving. Mr. Beldam is in the best of health and ready again to attend to all auction sales, and hopes for a liberal patronage.

East Toronto

Mr. F. W. Robarts of Lee-avenue has been offered a remunerative position by the Canada Paper Company in its new establishment in New York.

The Church of England Pavilion, where services have been held throughout the summer, was crowded to the doors at its closing meeting last evening. The services were taken by the Rev. H. C. Dixon, whose indefatigable efforts have made the mission a success. In addition to the regular meetings several successful garden-parties were held under the auspices of the Fresh Air Committee.

There are several cases of scarlet fever in the neighborhood of the Don Paper Mills.

While taking out shale at his brickyard on the Don, W. Taylor was struck on the head with a falling stone and knocked senseless. He received several bad bruises.

No bicycle club in Ontario has made a better showing during this season than Excelsior Club of this village. The success of its members in prize-winning has been almost phenomenal. It was organized for the first time in March last, and now has about 35 members. Its officers are: President, A. B. Cook; vice-president, R. Patterson; captain, W. J. A. Carnahan. The following are a few of the prizes won by the racers of the club: A Gendron wheel and clock by R. Stoner; a "New Barnes" wheel, three gold watches and a gold locket by A. Blaylock; Heintzman piano, by Harold Johnson; pair of tires and shine rims, by H. Blaylock; clock, by F. Little; chair, by W. Hitch; clock, by E. Hind. In the R.Q.T. road race there were five members of the Excelsior Club among the first 40 men. As announced in The World, the Excelsiors will hold a demonstration to-night in honor of Harold Johnson, who is the hero of the hour. A procession will be formed at the club house on Danforth-road at 7.30 p.m. The York Citizens' Band will lead. After the procession has gone through the main streets of Little York and East Toronto, a program will be rendered in the Y.M.C.A. Hall.

The Defective Sidewalk.

Mrs. Dunlop, 305 Manning-avenue, a lady who is slightly lame, was walking up Lippincott-street yesterday when she fell off the broken sidewalk opposite No. 166. The fall was a very severe one and she was nearly unconscious when the police ambulance was summoned by Dr. Machell. She was removed to her home and is suffering from a very serious injury to her back.

In a Pitiable Plight.

A man who said he lived at 420 Adelaide-street west was found in a soaking wet and half conscious condition by Arthur Adams of 117 York-street, lying near the water's edge on Lake-street, between Bay and Yonge, last night. Mr. Adams roused the man and put him on a car for his home.

Will Not Increase the Fee.

The Liberal-Conservative Club, at a special meeting last night, discussed many important motions regarding proposed changes in the constitution. One to increase the membership fee from $1 to $2 drew out a lot of discussion and was eventually lost. The regular meeting of the club will take place next Monday night.
