HOWE'S CIRCUS WILL BE HERE TOMORROW

Will Give Two Performances on the Show Grounds at Fairville —Parade in the Morning

The following excellent notice of Howe's London Circus was clipped from the Montreal Gazette of July 12. It speaks in the highest of terms of the show, which will exhibit on the Fairville show grounds tomorrow afternoon and night, with a free street parade in the morning.

"Howe's circus was unable to accommodate the crowds that traveled down to the grounds in Ontario street east yesterday afternoon and evening. Montrealers are circus lovers and tax the capacity of a Barnum & Bailey or a Ringling Bros.' show. Howe's is not so large as the forementioned shows, so at both performances yesterday standing room was at a premium. If the Howe circus is not as large as some of the big tent shows, it is a good one. Clowns, jugglers, acrobats, bareback riders, aerial artists, entertain as of old, and there is the glamor of the sawdust, pink lemonade and peanuts to bring back to the elders memories of bygone days and make the youngsters speechless with delight.

"There is a herd of musical elephants, which make a noise with instruments, and there is Duchess, which the Howe people claim is the largest pachyderm in captivity. Duchess certainly looks big when standing beside ayoung chap the size of a brewery horse, and she gobbled up peanuts galore and waved her trunk for more, while the smallest elephant of the herd shrieked with jealousy.

"The Eddy family are adepts on the wire and do some wonderful acrobatic work and are the feature of the ring show. A Japanese troupe won applause also, and the clowns made the spectators laugh with their antics. The bareback riding also pleased in another way.

"A feature of Howe's show is the fine condition of the animals in the menagerie. They are all sleek and their hides are clean, glossy and apparently well groomed. Even the hyena, which is generally a mangy-looking brute, looks respectable and is so proud of himself that he doesn't deign to laugh. Three lion cubs, a couple of weeks old, attracted many people to their cage, as they played like kittens and shared with their mother a chunk of meat that would satisfy a boarding house. There are also camels, leopards, monkeys and llama and fat-tail sheep, and several smaller species of animals in the beasts' tent.

"At the night performance there were so many people in the tent that the performers had difficulty carrying out their programme."

AMATEUR PLAY IS TO BE REPEATED

Another large audience witnessed the performance of The Lion and the Girl, by Miss Sadie Calhoun and her company of talented local performers, at the Opera House. The play was given as good, if not a better portrayal than on Monday night, and the applause was warm and generous. The audience was large and at the close all went away seemingly well pleased.

Miss Calhoun, in the role of Margie, again won the plaudits of all, as did Mr. Lund as Mr. Wilson, the engineer. The local members of the cast, Messrs. Kenney, McGinley, Walker and Corr, again acquitted themselves favorably. The specialties were also well received. By request the company have decided to produce the play Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the children and those who were unable to attend the two evening performances. A large number of suburbanites and others are expected to take this opportunity of attending what is perhaps one of the best amateur shows yet produced in the city.

BEFORE AND AFTER.

She—Before we were married you said I should want for nothing.

He—Well, you didn't want so much then.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA and any painful affliction promptly relieved by ABSORBINE JR.

a safe, pleasant, antiseptic liniment. Penetrates to seat of trouble, healing and soothing. Also removes soft bunches such as goitre, wens, cysts, weeping sinew; heals cuts, sores, wounds; reduces Varicose Veins, Varicocele, Hydrocele; cures strains and sprains. Takes out the soreness and inflammation—stops lameness. A customer writes: "My wife has been troubled with a rupture limb for 12 years—no results. Only night, relieved most every morning remedy. Gives the trouble a long even a temporary rest—one-half bottle of ABSORBINE JR. Rupture used by rubbing it in the hand only, shows no more pain and has prevented from pain since the use of your third application. The swellings were large and prominent, at this time almost invisible. This is almost a miracle, but it is as near the truth as I can express it. We gladly recommend it to anyone who may suffer in like manner."

Safe and pleasant to use—quickly absorbed into skin, leaving it dry and clean. Results like the above make faith unnecessary. Ask your neighbors about it. The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"MOSTLY, I think, because I've tried to live my life by hours and days rather than by weeks and months."

That's the latest receipt I have picked up for a way to have water from the Ponce de Leon fountain right on your own table every day.

I know I have written on that subject two or three times before, but, except for a recipe for an all-powerful love philtre to compel unwilling love, do you think there is any formula that the world is so passionately and universally interested in as a recipe for prolonging youth?

I don't.

So when I meet man or woman who has grown gray without growing old, I always ask, "How have you done it?"

And this, given me by a beautiful white haired girl of 86 summers, is my latest answer.

And the best, I think.

"By trying to live one's life by days and hours rather than by weeks and months."

Do the cares and tasks and needs that beset you seem more than you are equal to just now?

They try honestly to lay aside that part of them which belong to tomorrow and see if you do not marvel at the little that is left.

I shall never forget the first time I sailed under Brooklyn bridge.

As we steamed up the river towards it is seemed impossible to me that we should be able to go beneath it. "But look how tall the masts are—much higher than the bridge. How can we get under?" I cried when my father tried to reassure me.

Of course the masts dwindled as we approached the bridge and of course we passed beneath it quite safely. And equally, of course, I was not afraid the next time I took the trip. Why can't we be be as trusting about other things?

Why can't we remember that every time it has seemed to us that we simply could not accomplish what had to be done in the next week, when that week came it was not only possible but comparatively easy?

Why can't we apply that remembrance when we find ourselves fretted at the thought of some new mountain of impossibility that lies across our paths—some new bridge that it seems as if the boat could not pass under?

Tomorrow is a great contriver. It has always solved its own problems very easily and it always will if you give it half a chance.

Today is the time to be happy. Tomorrow is a better time for troubles and problems and difficulties.

Live your life by my beautiful old friend's rule of "hours and days rather than months and weeks," and adopt this motto of Thomas Bailey Aldrich, and I'll promise you not a ripe old age, but better than that, a youth that shall last until you die.

"I'll not confer with sorrow till tomorrow,
But joy shall have her way this very day."

CINEMATOGRAPH FILM SHOWED BATTLE OF GERMS

Paris, July 27—A remarkable cinematograph seance was given at the Academy of Medicine recently, Professors Comandon, Lavaditi and Mutermilos have at last succeeded in enlarging and photographing a real fight between germs, showing a struggle between the leucocytes, or white blood corpuscles, and the trypansomes, the agents of the terrible sleeping sickness.

Bearded savants sat spell bound as there was unrolled on the screen before their eyes a picture of the mighty struggle older than man, which goes on in some form in everyone—the ancient battle between the agents of health and of disease.

In the opening round the wiggle tailed trypansomes had the best of it, darting and gliding at will among, over and under the disc-like corpuscles, which made no resistance. For a moment it looked bad for mankind's well-being and the watching scientists leaned forward eagerly. There was a flash of white and then a section of film began to unroll showing an invigorating serum being added to the fluid in which the contest raged.

Almost instantly the leucocytes became active and now whenever a trypanosome touched a corpuscle the latter held it tight so that it was unable to escape. The grasp of the corpuscles slowly tightened and the germs were absorbed until finally only the wiggling tails protruding from the sides of the corpuscles were visible and finally even these disappeared. Health and the white corpuscles had won the day.

"It opens up a new field of usefulness for the cinematograph," said Prof. Comandon to a newspaper correspondent after the exhibition.

RHEUMATISM AND COMMON SENSE

Father Morriscy's No. 7 Eliminates the Uric Acid.

Many treatments will relieve the aches and pains of rheumatism, but there is only one way to cure that dread disease. The common sense method is to remove the cause, and the effects will soon disappear.

Rheumatism is caused, as is well known, by the failure of the kidneys to perform their intended work of filtering the uric acid out of the blood and eliminating it from the body through the bladder. When the kidneys go on strike, the uric acid is carried to the joints and tissues, where it causes stiffening of the muscles, and the excrutiating pains of rheumatism.

Father Morriscy, the learned priest-physician, after much research devised a prescription which would act directly on the kidneys, and by toning them up to vigorous action, cause them to clear the system of the uric acid. This remedy, known as No. 7, has been used successfully in thousands of cases.

Father Morriscy's Liniment will bring relief from the effects of rheumatism, while his No. 7 Tablets will get to work on the cause and in due time cure the disease.

Why suffer from this painful and troublesome affliction when by using the common sense methods originated by Father Morriscy and successfully followed for years, it is possible to aid Nature to restore you to health?

If you are not yourself rheumatic, you doubtless know of some one who is, and who would be glad to learn of a treatment which has such a consistent record of cures. It is easy to take and sure to benefit and ultimately cure rheumatism. 50c. a box, at your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 99

Moncton, N. B., July 26—Jack Edwards, aged fifteen, son of Ald. Edwards, of Halifax, who ran away from home, was located by the police here today at the race track and was sent back home on the Ocean Limited this afternoon. The lad's ambition seems to be a jockey.

The weekly tennis tea will be held this afternoon at the courts. It will be in charge of Miss Muriel Sadleir, Miss Kitty Best and Miss Grace Magee.

BISHOP FARTHING IN STRIKING APPEAL AGAINST BARROOM

Ald. Carter and Other Temperance Workers Tell of Progress of Cause in Quebec

Knowlton, Que., July 27—The second annual temperance convention opened at Knowlton Sunday with three great meetings. The outstanding figure of the Sunday services was the Rt. Rev. J. C. Farthing, Bishop of Montreal, whose presence at the convention marked with emphasis the widening and growing interest of the Church of England on temperance and moral reform.

The Bishop's Address

The Episcopal Church was crowded to the doors for the evening meeting when the Rev. Canon J. S. Carmichael presided. John H. Roberts was the first speaker, defining the attitude of the Dominion Alliance.

The Right Rev. Bishop Farthing followed and, while declaring himself not an absolute prohibitionist, took a resolute stand for the abolition of the bar and the saloon.

"In view of the gospel story and our Saviour's attitude," said His Lordship, "I cannot regard the taking of liquor as a sin, nor would I make drinking a crime. I feel that I must guard human liberty to that extent, but there is no question of society today being vastly different from the Jewish society of our Lord's Day. Drinking today is chiefly a matter of the bar and saloon, and no man can justify the present day saloon. We are face to face with a serious menace presented by the modern development of the liquor traffic. No man is satisfied to have his son attending the bars. It is absolutely unnecessary that there should be these drinking places, the associations of which can never uplift a man. The bar is an excrescence on modern society. Where there are bars there is danger threatening the welfare of the community. So I am glad that the Alliance has entered upon a campaign to educate the people and to enforce the law, for there must be public opinion behind all legislative advance. In local communities when public opinion is ripe, where you can enforce prohibition, make it effective and see that those responsible for the enforcement of the law do their duty."

Speaking at the afternoon meeting at Conference Grove Ald. S. J. Carter of Montreal said that since the first Knowlton Temperance Convention the temperance workers of the province had been acting in closer co-operation than ever and more successfully than anybody could have anticipated. The co-operation of Archbishop Bruchesi and Bishop Farthing and the bishops and clergy of all the churches, had been the great and single feature of the year's work, and with such united forces as those represented, victory could not long be delayed.

Church and Bar-room

Rev. H. B. Spence spoke on the question of "The Church and the Bar-Room." After portraying the evil effects of the bar-room and liquor traffic in the community, Mr. Spence went on to deal with the power and possibilities of the Christian Church in regard to the banishing of the bar-room.

"The liquor traffic would destroy the church if it could," said Mr. Spence, "and the church could destroy the liquor traffic if it would. To do so the church must be united on this question and on the platform of the Dominion Alliance all the churches could stand to drive out their common enemy. Wherever there is a bar and a church in a community there will be a row and the size of the row will depend upon the activity of the bar and the life of the church in question. The bar-room is a problem that can only be dealt with by law. The banishment of the bar represents the common measure of the churches, Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational having each declared for the abolition of the bar.

The committee of the Women's Council dealing with the Campbellton relief matter will be in Keith's assembly room on Thursday at 10 a. m. They will receive contributions for the sufferers.

FOR FALLING HAIR

You Run No Risk When You Use This Remedy

I promise you that, if your hair is falling out, and you have not let it go too far, you can repair the damage already done by using Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, with persistency and regularity, for a reasonable length of time. It is a scientific, cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal preparation that destroys germs, stimulates good circulation around the hair roots, promotes hair nourishment, removes dandruff and restores hair health. It is as pleasant to use as rain water, and it is delicately perfumed. It is a real toilet necessity.

I want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic with my promise that it will cost you nothing unless you are perfectly satisfied with its use. It comes in two sizes, prices, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at my stores—The Rexall Store, Chas. R. Wasson, 100 King and 24 Dock streets.

Death of Henry Monk

The death is announced of Henry Monk, advocate, son of F. D. Monk, M. P. for Jacques Cartier, who was twenty-eight years of age, and had been ill for the last two years. He was educated at the Jesuits' College and graduated from Laval University. He was admitted to the bar some five years ago.

The Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association held a concert and social in Orange hall, Germain street, last night. D. C. Fisher occupied the chair. The following programme was carried out: Piano solo, Miss Daisy Phinney; vocal solo, Miss Anderson; reading, Miss Young; vocal solos, Miss Marshall, Mrs. Myles, Mr. Noakes, Alexander Chisholm; piano selection, Miss Calvert; address, Mr. Hall, of Toronto. Refreshments were served.

Not An Experiment

14 Years Successful Record

The Oxygenator is not a new device nor an untried experiment. Our 72 page booklet, "Oxypathy"—free for the asking—tells the wondrous story of the Oxygenator in all parts of the world in the past fourteen years. It lasts for life; never loses its potency; can be used by every member of the family, from infancy to old age. No drugs to buy; no burdensome expenses; every family its own physician.

The Oxygenator is used in the privacy of your own home, avoiding repulsive examinations. Particularly efficacious for children and no drugs to take.

The Oxygenator is often imitated with varying degrees of success; but there is only one genuine Oxygenator, and we have no connection with nor responsibility for any other oxygen device.

The Oxygenator, 2 sizes, prices $25, $35. Also rented or sold on our liberal installment plan.

BRITISH LIBERALS PLEASED WITH THE PREMIER'S SPEECH

London, July 26.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech at Lanigan, wherein he alluded to England's trade policy as a shining example, is referred to editorially with much appreciation by the Liberal press.

The News thinks it indicates how grossly the tariff reformers here misrepresent the attitude of Canada and her rulers towards free trade and protection and hopes without confidence that the reformers will drop this, as not the least of their fictions.

The Leader says: "Now we know how the 'Cobdenite fetich' appears to the eyes of one of the greatest and most illustrious of colonial statesmen."

The Chronicle also points the same moral.

A strike has been declared at Hartland, among the men employed with the Peel Lumber Co. The trouble arises over the date of the payment of wages. About twenty men are affected.
