A Kent County Girl Wants Four Thousand Dollars for False Arrest.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—A case of some interest to New Brunswickers is a suit for $4,000 damages brought against Chief of Police Drury and a patrolmen of Chelsea by Miss Georgianna Martin, a girl of 19, who came here last March from Kingston, Kent county, N. B. She brought the suit for alleged false arrest.

It appears that Miss Martin came at the request of one of her brothers, who lives here, but not finding him, stayed a while with the family of one Thomas Gallant, a Kent county man. Subsequently she secured work, but in some way lost her position and became practically penniless. One night she had a quarrel with the landlady where she boarded and was turned out. She had no one to whom she could go that night, and while out doors, she was arrested by a policeman in Chelsea as a night walker. When taken to court she acknowledged she was a night walker and was sentenced to serve sixty days at the Deer Island prison.

After her release from the prison Miss Martin claimed that she did not have any idea what the term "night walker" meant, as she had not been long in the city. She declares she is a good, honest girl, and, after applying to the British consul for advice, she decided to bring suit for false arrest.
