STRICT CHOLERA MEASURES.

CHOLERA CAN SCARCELY REACH CANADA FROM THE ATLANTIC.

The Grosse Isle Quarantine Station to be Placed in a State of Thorough Efficiency—Two Steam Tugs This Year For Disinfecting Travelers—No Deep Water Wharf.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—Messrs. Andrew A. Allan and George Hanna, representing the Allan Line, and John Torrance and W. M. MacPherson, representing the Dominion Line of steamships, had an interview with Sir John Thompson, Hon. M. Bowell, Hon. A. R. Angers and Hon. T. M. Daly to-day, with reference to immigration and quarantine matters.

With reference to the latter subject the deputation was informed that it was not at all likely that the trouble of last year as to the authority to be exercised by the Dominion and Provincial Governments would be renewed, as a conference would shortly take place between the two Governments, when it was expected that the matter would be amicably and satisfactorily settled.

The deputation was also informed that in view of the possibility of cholera making its appearance every possible precaution would be taken, and the Grosse Isle quarantine station placed in a state of thorough efficiency. The best disinfecting apparatus had been supplied and proper accommodation provided for all classes of passengers. A second steam tug would be employed next year so as to facilitate inspection and disinfection.

No Deep Water Wharf.

As to the deep water wharf asked for, it was pointed out to the deputation that it would cost a very large sum of money, at least $150,000, and that it could not possibly be completed before the end of the season, if then. The present pier afforded ample accommodation for the landing of passengers, and although the deep water wharf would be a convenience for vessels to lie alongside and be disinfected, still the disinfecting could be done as well from tugs.

With the exception of the wharf, the deputation was assured that on the opening of navigation, Gross Isle quarantine station would be found thoroughly equipped in every respect, and it was also intended to improve the quarantine station at Halifax.

In conversation Mr. Allan expressed the opinion that immigration next year would not be materially affected by the cholera scare.

Mr. M. C. Upper's resignation of the County Judgeship of Haldimand has been accepted.

SCOOPED IT ALL IN.

One of the Funny Deals Occasioned by Woman's Wiles.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—William Gray, proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hotel here, sued D. Ranger, another hotelkeeper, for $5000 damages for taking away from him the affections of his wife.

The case was to have come up to-day at the assizes. Last evening it was settled out of court, Ranger giving Gray $1000, taking over the St. Lawrence and assuming all indebtedness incurred by Gray in his business. Mrs. Gray will also stay at the St. Lawrence, which is now in charge of Ranger, and Gray is said to have started for England early this morning. Gray was a non-commissioned officer of the Foot Guards.

HANDSOME WRAPS.

Beautiful Garments for Toronto's Fashionable and Fair.

The enchanted season of balls, concerts and fashionable entertainments is now at its height, and Toronto's society ladies vie with each other in the elegance of their attire. It should be remembered that jackets are decidedly passe for evening wear, and even the woman wearing one of sealskin is not to be envied, as the big sleeves of the modern gown cannot be crushed into the close compass of the outer garment. The only wrap that can be worn is one of Dineens' beautiful fur-lined circulars or a fur cape. W. & D. Dineen, whose well-known storerooms are at King and Yonge-streets, have made it an invariable rule to hold a clearing sale during the month of January, and this year, as usual, they have marked everything down to cost or below. This course has brought their magnificent and desirable circulars within the reach of every lady. The stock includes 150 exclusive designs, most of which cannot be duplicated. In three quarter-length circulars there are some beautiful and striking effects. These useful wraps are being sold at prices ranging from $8 to $25, in meltons of various colors, brocades and fancy cloths, with fur lining, and handsomely trimmed with fur. There is a full line of full length Russian fur and fur-lined circulars for street and evening wear. These beautiful garments are seen in endless variety, including every fashionable color and design. They are in red, crimson, navy blue, garnet, electric blue, and are trimmed with all the fashionable furs, with wide and comfortable storm collars of fur. The prices run from $12.50 to $50, which is now the price of the circulars formerly sold at $65. The linings are in plain grey squirrel, grey and white squirrel, brown squirrel, hampster squirrel and many other fur linings, making these beautiful and luxurious garments durable and warm. Dineens' showrooms are crowded daily, and their stock of furs is being greatly reduced every day. Therefore, it behooves every would-be possessor of one of these handsome wraps to make her selection as soon as possible.

Railing Against Fashion.

In writing to an English magazine, Ouida says that "all modern society spectacles are spoiled by the attire of the men, the most frightful, grotesque and disgraceful made costume which the world has ever seen." Notwithstanding this fierce assault such a clever authoress, men will continue to wear a costume which was devised for practical use and leave the æsthetic style of dressing to the ladies. It might be here remarked that the modern full dress costume for men is incomplete without quinn's shirts, waves and neckties. e

Island News.

The much required want is to be supplied to island residents for the summer of 1893 in the shape of a coal and wood yard. Arrangements have already been made for 100 cords of No. 1 hardwood, which will be piled over in the course of another week and sawn up on the Island this winter preparatory for deliver to the cottagers. Good measure guaranteed. Send in your orders to W. A. Clark, 601 Yonge-street, Island Purveyor. e

BEN BUTLER DEAD.

He Was Attacked with a Fit of Coughing—His Valet Found Him in the Bathroom.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Benjamin F. Butler, the lawyer, statesman, politician and millionaire manufacturer, died at his Washington residence, No. 220 New Jersey-avenue, southeast, this morning. The General had always to a greater or less extent made his residence in Washington, although many of the scenes of his successful ventures have been located elsewhere.

During the present winter a case which had been decided against him in the highest courts of the State of Massachusetts, and in which he took an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, has demanded his almost constant residence in this city.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning the General was attacked with a fit of coughing, which awakened the man servant, who always occupied an adjoining room. He at once hastened to the General's bedside and asked him what the matter was. The General meanwhile had gone to the bathroom adjoining, whither his valet hastened and offered his assistance.

The General mentioned that his expectoration had been discolored with blood. He did not appear to think seriously of the matter, however, and after the valet had assisted him to his bed he said: "That's all right, West. You need do nothing more," and apparently went to sleep. He had lain on his bed but a few moments, however, when his heavy breathing again aroused alarm. Mr. Lanier Dunn, his nephew by marriage, who resided in the same house, started out in search of medical assistance.

It was fully 15 minutes before he could secure aid, and when he returned with Dr. Luce, the assistant of Dr. Bayne, the family physician, it was seen that the General was already in extremis. The doctor so informed his two nieces, Miss Stevens and Mrs. Dunn, who were at his bedside, and death ensued almost immediately.

The interment will take place at Lowell, Mass., in the family lot, where lie the remains of his wife and his son Benjamin, the latter of whom died in 1876. Gen. Butler's wealth is estimated at $7,000,000. He was born in 1818 at Deerfield, N.H. His father, Capt. John Butler, served under Jackson at the battle of New Orleans.

He received a collegiate education in Maine, studied law and became a member of the Massachusetts Legislature. His prominence in national politics began with the Charleston convention in 1860.

At the outbreak of the war he was Brigadier-General of the Massachusetts militia, and when Lincoln issued orders for troops Butler took command of the celebrated Eighth Massachusetts Regiment, which was the first organized to encounter the onslaught.

British Comment.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Daily News says editorially of Gen. Butler: "His death removes a notable figure. He had great capacity but not one of a high order. He was certainly a patriot.

The Daily Chronicle contrasts at length Gen. Butler's good and bad qualities. "Silence may cover the atrocities committed by him against the women of New Orleans," it says editorially. "With all his great gifts he was a legacy of evil from the war. His death does not leave a gap in the ranks of good citizens."

CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES.

Is Ald. Saunders to Have Charge of Public Works?

"Ald. Saunders is to be the next chairman of the Committee on Works," said a gentleman yesterday who claims to be conversant with what is going on in inner circles at the City Hall. "At least, that is what the cards are being played for now. Ald. Saunders, you know, has been Mayor Fleming's right-hand man and the two would work together harmoniously. Ald. Shaw, however, has many friends, and if he is willing to accept the chairmanship for another year it will take a pretty strong combination to keep him from getting it. Of course, the Mayor will naturally try his best to shelve Ald. Shaw. He said on election night that Ald. Shaw's influence was done at the City Hall, and you can bet that His Worship will leave no stone unturned to make it assured."

"Who, then, will take Ald. Saunders' place as chairman of the Executive Committee?" ventured the newsman.

"Ald. Leslie," was the reply.

"But he doesn't pull with His Worship," rejoined The World.

"He does not, I know; but I heard His Worship say to-day that 'While the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return,'" was the mysterious reply.

Where Is McCarthney?

Yesterday afternoon Robert Dandy, the Bay-street newspaper mailing agent, complained to the detectives that $42 had been stolen from his office on Monday, and that John McCarthney, who boards with him, had not been seen since. Soon after Joseph Trueman, a Queen-street west liveryman, said that John McCarthney had hired a chestnut team and a Gladstone rig to drive to Weston and had not since turned up. When last seen McCarthney passed the Lambton tollgate and asked the way to Georgetown. He has not yet been arrested.

Career of a Famous Novelist—A Canadian Who Has Attained Great Fame.

Blood Royal is the title of the latest novel by Grant Allen. It is an intensely interesting story and will be read by thousands of this favorite author's admirers. Grant Allen is a Canadian who has rapidly come to the front among the famous living writers of fiction, his former story, "What's Bred in the Bone," having been awarded the £1000 prize over a thousand competitors by the publishers of an English periodical. Blood Royal is copyrighted in Canada and is for sale by John P. McKenna, publisher, newsdealer and stationer, 80 Yonge-street, near corner King-street. The edition is a special one, well bound in a very attractive paper cover.

Another Cold Wave.

The weather moderated yesterday, the thermometer rising from 18 degrees below at early morn to 6 above in the afternoon. The storm centre has moved from Quebec to the eastern part of the gulf and is causing strong very cold westerly winds in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. The mild weather continues in Alberta.

Another severe cold snap is promised. A light fall of snow this morning will be followed by strong west to north winds and lower temperature again.

It is more than a luxury. It maintains sound digestion and vigorous health. Adams' Tutti Frutti. Sold by all druggists and confectioners; 5 cents.

A Great Recital.

Next Tuesday evening Edgar J. Ebbels, the popular reader, will give his second annual recital in Association Hall. He will be assisted by Mrs. and Mr. Blight and the Toronto Mandolin and Guitar Quartet. Mr. Ebbels is announced to read a scene from Victor Hugo's famous, "Les Miserables." The plan opens at Messrs. Nordheimers' on Friday morning.

THE TRUTH IS NOT PLEASANT

STARTLING TESTIMONY ON THE PANAMA CANAL SCANDAL.

The Manager of Press Affairs Resigned Because He Had to Pay Too Many Bribes — A Contractor's Enormous Profits—Baron de Reinach Received Two Million Francs as a Bribe.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—There is a strong feeling in the Chamber of Deputies, as well as among the general public, that M. Ribot has not yet sufficiently purged the ministry of those, whether innocent or guilty, who have been under suspicion in connection with the Panama scandal. The public demand is strongly for a thorough investigation, without any hampering influences, and for a ministry free from the breath of scandal.

If M. Ribot should fail to explain to the satisfaction of the Chamber the reasons for the changes which have been made in the ministry, the Royalists will interpellate him on the subject. Leaders of the Royalist party in the Chamber of Deputies came to this decision at a meeting held last evening. They will also take occasion to ask why the reconstruction of the ministry was not more thorough.

The Royalists have shown greatly increased activity within the past 24 hours and the authorities appear to be in possession of some new and important information as to their designs. There has been considerable telegraphing between Madrid and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and enough is known to make it certain that the French legation in Spain is keeping a most careful watch on Royalist intrigues beyond the Pyrenees and in Paris.

The moderate Republican organs accept the new ministry with good will, while the radicals are dissatisfied and urge an appeal to the country. The Monarchists assert that the new Cabinet is powerless to dominate the situation.

M. Ribot's decision to accept M. Burdeau's declination of the Ministry of Marine has caused a decided improvement in the situation. With Burdeau removed from the Cabinet it is believed there will be no difficulty in the new ministry securing the support of the Chamber, especially should such an acceptable person as Admiral Gervais take the place.

Bringing Out the Truth.

The trial of Charles de Lesseps, Marius Fontane, Baron Cottu and M. Eiffel was continued to-day.

M. Fontane said that shortly after the formation of the Panama Canal Company he was placed in charge of the company's business with the press. He gave much information regarding the bribery of newspapers to prevent hostile attacks upon the company and also to prevent the publication of matter that would have shown the true condition of affairs on the Isthmus of Panama. Fontane stated that he held his position as manager of the company's affairs until 1885, when the exactions of newspapers became so heavy that he was compelled to abandon the post.

Interest in to-day's proceedings was centered in the examination of M. Eiffel, the contractor. He admitted that he had cashed checks for 12,000,000 francs, which had ostensibly been drawn to pay for machinery, while he had actually expended only 1,500,000 francs for that purpose. He had given 2,000,000 francs to M. Hebrard to secure the contracts with the company and 2,500,000 francs to Baron de Reinach in order to secure the latter's influence in his favor with the Government.

M. Flory, the Government accountant, who recently examined the accounts of the Canal company, stated that M. Eiffel had been paid 69,000,000 francs on his contract and that his profit was 33,000,000 francs.

Eiffel's Testimony.

It required considerable questioning to bring M. Eiffel to the admission that besides the two million francs given to M. Hebrard and the two million francs given to Baron de Reinach two million had been paid by him to a certain contractor whose favor, like that of Hebrard and Reinach, was indispensable to success.

Presiding Judge Perivier then asked: "What did you do with the six million received by you for taking to pieces and shipping to the isthmus and there reconstructing machinery which, as a matter of fact, you never even supplied in this country?"

"I kept that sum," replied M. Eiffel, lamely, "because it formed part of my remuneration for the risk I was taking."

"But your contract provided that you receive 20 per cent. to be paid to you within 30 days of the date of sending the orders. Now, you took 2,885,000 francs from the Forges et Chanters de Mediterranee as a percentage, although the order was never executed. Do you think that this sum belonged to you?"

"It was not my fault that the order was not delivered. I myself have often paid on contracts which were never executed. Besides this contingency was contemplated by the general candidates of the transaction."

"I consider such a transaction void," replied Judge Perivier, severely, "since it was the result of an error, to call it nothing more. The prosecutor-general will tell you more about this to-morrow and at the subsequent sittings of this court."

M. Eiffel quailed visibly under these words and the audience rose from their seats to get a better view of the manner in which he bore the reproof.

Cholera at Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Jan. 11.—The two sailors of the Spanish steamer Murciano, who were taken down with cholera, were ill for several days before they were taken to the hospital. They are supposed to have got the infection from the Elbe water. The river is lower than ever before.

At Magdeburg it registers only 24 inches. The general conditions are believed to be more favorable for an epidemic than they were last year. An English seaman who was discharged from a cholera hospital last Saturday says he was seized with diarrhœa and cramps after having drunk Elbe water in Altona.

Three more members of the crew of the steamer Murciano, from New Orleans, have been attacked by cholera. Cholera has also appeared among the crew of the ships Laborer and Newcomer at Hamburg, from Bargteheide.

A visitor to Amsterdam, from Utrecht, died to-day of cholera.

Killed by Foul Air.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—While a number of men were engaged in cleaning the double bottom of the cruiser Madea at Chatham to-day 4 of them were overcome by foul air. Two of them died.

THIS MAY MEAN CHEAPER COAL.

The Reading Combine Has Broken Up Because of Disagreement Among Overreaching Corporations.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The Herald editorially says:

The public is to be congratulated upon the dissolution of the Reading coal combine. This comes about not through any goodness of heart on the part of the coal barons, but because of a disagreement among overreaching corporations.

The Jersey Central has withdrawn from the agreement because Mr. McLeod failed to carry out his provisions to guarantee to that company its allotted share of the coal tonnage. This was not from any purpose of slighting that company, but in the greed to raise and maintain prices at ridiculous rates the three companies of the combination all fell off from their allotted percentages. On the other hand, the companies outside of the pool yielded a little in prices and were big gainers in tonnage as well as revenue.

The Jersey Central is now in exactly the same position that it was before the agreement of last February. It has a right, of course, to agree with the Reading on prices, but there is reason to believe that it will pursue a more independent course.

A SICKENING SIGHT INDEED.

A Chinese Corpse and a Sick Chinee Lie Side by Side.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 11.—Lee Gee Tang, aged 35, was brought to the Chinese hospital two days ago, died late last night and was buried this afternoon. The man was unattended and lay on a plain rough board which did service for a bed. Upon the same board was another sick Chinaman. Upon a separate board was an aged paralyzed Celestial. Tang died last night and the corpse lay for hours in the same room with the sick Celestial. It was all huddled in dirty, filthy quilts and left just as it had died. Several Chinese junk tapers were lighted and filled the room with repugnant fumes. No fire was in the place and light was furnished by a dirty, greasy candle in a more dirty-looking bottle.

This was the condition in which the city health officials found the hospital when visited last midnight. In another room was found the mad Chinaman, who had been again turned over to the tender mercies of the benevolent Chinese tyhees who support this institution. The crazy Celestial was seated on his board bed. He was laughing and grinning. There were several pictures of Chinese demigods. An oil lamp was burning in their honor. And a large supply of lighted junks were set close to the insane man. It is not known whether the junks were supposed to frighten away the insanity, but their proximity to the wretched Celestial suggested the idea. The only food found was a little boiled rice. The rice, the lighted junks and the ugly looking demigods constituted the hospital.

CALLED HIM DUTCHY.

And Then Stabbed Him in the Side With a Penknife.

HAMILTON, Jan. 11.—There came near being a tragedy at the Hess-street School yesterday afternoon. For some time past the boys have been in the habit of teasing Willie Heibner, calling him "Dutchy." At recess yesterday Fred. Jackman, a 10-year-old lad, was one of those who annoyed Heibner. The latter is 15 years old and is bigger than Jackman. Heibner determined to stop the boys from poking fun at him and slapped Jackman on the face.

With that Jackman pulled out a knife and stabbed him in the side, inflicting a deep and serious wound. Heibner was taken home and Dr. Philp was immediately summoned. He pronounced the wound serious, but did not apprehend that it would result fatally. The blade of the knife was a good-sized one and was very sharp.

Young Jackman was detained at the school and the police were telephoned for. Detective McKenzie answered the call and arrested the lad.

Jackman was released on bail furnished to-day, but the case was not proceeded with, as Dr. Philp said Heibner would not be able to appear for several days. The case was adjourned and the bail bond renewed. The young defendant claims that Heibner chased him and that he ran against the knife.

HOME RULE RUMOR

That Gladstone Intends to Double on Labby and the Unionists.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Morning says that its French correspondent, who is an intimate friend of the Prime Minister, is strongly of the opinion that Mr. Gladstone intends to "dish" Mr. Labouchere and upset the Unionists by repealing the Act forbidding the Irish Parliament to meet in Dublin; instead of presenting the home rule bill.

All that would be required, says the correspondent, would be the adoption of a resolution by the Privy Council permitting them to pass local acts, leaving bills affecting property and taxation to be debated at Westminster.

A MANDATE FROM THE POPE

REFERS TO SEPARATE SCHOOLS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Each Bishop to Send His Conscientious Opinion Upon the Question—More About the Alleged Conspiracy—A St. Paul Editor Uses Some Vigorous Language Against Archbishop Corrigan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Ecclesiastical secrecy has been broken by the publication of this authoritative statement:

"The Papal delegate, by order of the Holy Father, has sent out an important notice to the archbishops, to be communicated by them to the bishops of the United States. It is a mandate from the Pope that each bishop shall remit within the month of January in a sealed letter addressed to the Pope, either directly or through the intermediary of the legate, his personal conscientious opinion of the propositions on the school question, which Archbishop Satolli, in the Pope's name, laid before the New York conference of bishops in November last."

A despatch from Chicago says that Rev. Dr. John Conway, editor of The St. Paul Northwestern Chronicle, arrived in this city yesterday en route to Europe. Father Conway, speaking of what he terms Archbishop Corrigan's "letter of moral assassination," said to-day:

"I have read very carefully the astounding revelations made last Saturday. The whole country stands aghast at the shocking propagandism which was taking place from New York. For motive and for method it is as diabolical an piece of Machiavellism as has ever disgraced the pages of history. A man holding one of the highest positions in the Roman Catholic Church, ostensibly the friend of that Church and of its head, tries to discredit the Pope's own representative, and to reverse the policy of the Pope in reference to the Roman Catholic Church in this country.

"When Archbishop Corrigan's own letter, written to a Chicago layman, was photographed and published it took away all possibility of denial on the part of the New York conspirators."

THE K. OF L.

Archbishop Corrigan Did Not Vote for the Memorial.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The Rev. Father Lavelle of the Cathedral has spoken for Archbishop Corrigan, who is out of town, in answer to published statements that suppressed disagreement between Archbishops Ireland and Corrigan was due to the latter's opposition to the K. of L. and his vehement support of Cahenesleyism. Father Lavelle said, "You may positively put down such statement as false. Archbishop Corrigan is an American of the Americans and a Catholic of the Catholics.

"For instances, on March 30, 1887, the papers printed a memorial presented by Cardinal Gibbons to the Pope regarding the K. of L. The statement was made in that memorial that but two out of the 12 archbishops voted to condemn the Knights. The two, whose names have frequently been mentioned, although I don't care to mention them, live over 1000 miles from New York.

"In regard to Cahenesleyism," continued Father Lavelle, "the Metropolitan of New York has always been a determined and active opponent of those principles and all efforts to introduce the system into this country."

Blaine is Improving.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Dr. Johnston paid his good-night visit to Mr. Blaine shortly before 10 o'clock. He remained with his patient about a quarter of an hour and on leaving the house said to a reporter that Mr. Blaine had passed an uneventful day and was resting easily to-night.

Dr. Johnston's confidence in the condition of his patient is shown by the fact that he will not visit him again to-night.

Fire in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11.—There was a serious fire at Miami to-day, which destroyed several buildings, including the Massey-Harris Company's warehouse, Young's drug store, S. Chubb's grocery, Dr. Phillips' office and several other buildings.

Rev. W. J. Burns, rector of Coniscliffe, Darlington, England, has been appointed Bishop of Qu'Appelle, to succeed Bishop Anson, who resigned. The new Bishop is unknown here.

Vickery Still Awaits Trial.

STRATFORD, Ont., Jan. 11.—Vickery, the Mitchell sewing machine agent who fled from the country some weeks ago after discounting, it is alleged, $1300 of forged paper with Mr. Cull, a private banker at that town, was brought up for examination to-day, but his case was again adjourned, this time till Jan. 19.

A Question Answered.

The question is very often asked, "Where can I secure a satisfactory investment for my spare money?"

A policy of life insurance on the investment plan is the best channel through which you can secure what you desire, and by taking out a policy on the compound investment plan of the North American Life Assurance Company, Toronto, you will certainly accomplish the desired end. 246

A WATER FAMINE.

Portions of the City Without a Supply for Several Hours—What Caused the Famine.

The citizens have the possibility of a water famine staring them in the face.

About noon yesterday the indicator in the Superintendent's office showed a sudden falling off in the pressure. At 3 o'clock it was barely 58 pounds instead of 90 pounds as usual.

Later came the startling intelligence that the engine at the high-level pumping station was at a standstill because there was no water to pump.

Householders north of Bloor were left without water, while the pressure all over the city was very low.

At first it was thought that the engines at the main pumping station had given out, but an enquiry elicited the information that the three engines were pumping merrily away. The department was confounded. Men were sent out to ascertain if a main had bursted in a secluded part of the city, while others tramped the water front to see if one of the valves had been forced. But nothing was found that would explain the cause of the decreased pressure.

Last night there was an improvement in the pressure, and the engine at the high level station was able to start up again.

"The cause of the falling off in the pressure," said Superintendent Hamilton to The World late last night, "is undoubtedly the indiscriminate waste of water by the citizens. There cannot be any other reason for it, or it would be discovered."

"Do you think all danger is past?"

"No; it won't be all right till we get the new engine started up again. This, however, we expect to do in the course of a few days."

The reason that the city north of Bloor-street was without water is this: All that part of the city south of Bloor-street is supplied direct from the main pumping station. The surplus flows into the Rosehill reservoir and to the high level pumping station in Rathnelly-avenue. The mains north of Bloor are supplied from this station.

In the Afternoon.

Superintendent Hamilton issued a circular to the citizens requesting them to assist in maintaining a good fire pressure by using as little water as possible. Owners of hoists are asked to refrain from using them and parties owning steam boilers are warned against accidents from lack of pressure. All parties found wasting water will be prosecuted.

HARBORMASTER BALDWIN ILL.

Seized With a Stroke of Paralysis—Will Probably Recover.

Vesselmen and citizens generally will be sorry to hear that Harbormaster Morgan Baldwin is seriously ill at his residence, 49 Duke-street, having sustained an attack of paralysis. His friends say the attack is not a serious one, and that Mr. Baldwin will soon be able to resume his duties, but at present he is confined to his bed. In the meantime many enquiries are being made at Mr. Baldwin's residence, and many of his friends have expressed their sympathy.

Don't You Buy Tickets.

"You take my advice," said the street car conductor, as he tore off a pasteboard slip and returned the remainder, "don't you ever buy tickets. Economy's the road to wealth. A hundred times in my life I've seen three or four fellows get on and one would reach for his money. 'Hold on!' another would say. 'I've got tickets.' Back would go the money and up would go the pasteboards. There is something in human nature that makes a man spend car tickets as if he was a duke. He looks on them as worthless. The fellow who lets them alone and puts up a nickel when he has to generally rides free. Watch it some time and see for yourself."

An Improved Car Coupler.

The Street Railway Company has been looking, and until lately in vain, for a perfect car coupler. But Mr. J. McGowan has modified the ordinary link and pin car coupler and adapted it for street car use. The coupler swings on a pivot under the car to allow the turning of corners, and the only other change is that the pin rises when the link enters and drops into position instead of being replaced by hand. Cars can be coupled or separated without the conductor stepping to the ground. The new coupler may be seen on trolley car No. 216, which runs on the belt line.

A HANDFUL OF CRIMINALS

IS WHAT THE SOCIALISTS CALL THE MINISTRY OF FRANCE.

A Howling Manifesto—Safety Can Come Only From the Ranks of the Nation's Workers—Signed by Fifteen Socialist Members of the Chamber of Deputies—Mass Meeting Called.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The Socialist Union has issued the following manifesto:

"Opportunism has become engulfed in the quagmire of bloodshed at Fourmies and the mud from the Panama scandals.

"As it sinks it threatens to drag the country and the republic to ruin. In this emergency safety can come only from the ranks of the nation's worker.

"The system of delivering up Parliament and Presidency to a handful of criminals must be abolished if the Republic is to be a Republic of honesty and to maintain the position it holds with so much glory in the vanguard of nations.

"The political constitution of the country must be revised at once by a constituent assembly with imperative mandates. We must organize a Government by the people, through the medium of universal suffrage."

The manifesto closes with a call for a great meeting in Paris on Saturday in order that the people may be enabled to ratify these demands. The manifesto is signed by 15 Socialist members of the Chamber.

A COUNT'S SON KIDNAPPED.

Garcia and His Bandits Demand $2000 as Ransom—The Troops Have Gone After the Villains.

HAVANA, Jan. 11.—Ignacio Herrera, son of Count Barreto Herrera, was kidnapped yesterday from a plantation near San Antonio de Las Vegas by four bandits, among them being Garcia and the notorious mulatto, Piacenia.

The bandits refused an offer of $1000 ransom and declared that they would not release the captive until they received $2000. A detachment of troops has been sent in pursuit of the robbers.

A SPEECH AT CHATHAM.

Lord Stanley Expresses His Opinion on the Trade Question.

CHATHAM, Jan. 11.—Lord Stanley was welcomed here this morning. In his address he said:

"He believed an undercurrent of warm feeling towards the United States existed in Canada, and that Canadians were anxious to cherish those feelings of friendliness and kenship and also extend trade relations with their neighbors within the lines of the constitution and having in mind the best interests of Canada, both present and future. [Applause.]

"A trade bargain could be a bad trade bargain; but he felt and believed that when the time came to make one, Canadians would be governed in arranging it by the highest and worthiest considerations and in accord with the truest and best sentiments of a loyal and patriotic people." [Applause.]

Lord Stanley at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Jan. 11.—Lord Stanley arrived here this afternoon. He listened to addresses from Mayor Fleming for the town, and from Senator Casgrain for the Essex County French citizens. A reception and banquet was given in the evening.

THE STORY OF THE SPOONS.

After the capture of New Orleans by Admirals Porter and Farragut on April 25, 1862, General Butler was placed in charge of the troops he at once entered upon the work of confiscating property on the slightest pretext.

A story of his confiscation tendencies, which stuck to him all his life in spite of his strenuous denials, was that on one occasion he dined at the residence of a prominent citizen, and, finding there a number of silver spoons which tickled his fancy, he bore them off in his coat-tail pockets—confiscated them by order.

VIGILANT WATCHMEN

Receive Hearty Thanks From a City Manufacturer.

TORONTO, Jan. 11, 1893.

Holmes Electric Protection Company, 8 Wellington-street East, City:

DEAR SIRS,—We desire to convey to you our thanks for the prompt action taken on the discovery of the fire at our premises, "The Toronto Scale Works," by your watchman on the night of the 10th. We feel satisfied that but for your efforts a disastrous fire would have taken place and very likely another Esplanade conflagration been recorded.

We comment highly your method of despatching officers to be present in such cases, where their assistance can be called for if necessity should arise.

Your electric call system for checking watchmen and instantaneous alarm is, we believe, all that could be desired.

Yours very truly,
C. WILSON & SON,
Scale Manufacturers,
67 Esplanade-street, Toronto.

HAD HIS EARS FROST-BITTEN

AND DIED WHILE THEY WERE BEING RUBBED WITH SNOW.

He Was John Comerford, an Employe at the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane—He Fell Into the Arms of Hotelkeeper Clarke—Then Groaned and Breathed His Last.

HAMILTON, Jan. 11.—Last evening John Comerford, assistant storekeeper of the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane, hurried into the Mountainview Hotel, told John Clarke, the proprietor, that his ears were frost-bitten and asked Mr. Clarke for a handkerchief to wrap around them.

Mr. Clarke produced the handkerchief, but before giving it to Mr. Comerford he went and got a handful of snow and proceeded to rub the frost-bitten ears with it. While doing this Mr. Comerford suddenly fell with a groan into Mr. Clarke's arms and expired. The cause of his death was heart disease.

The deceased was 67 years of age. Before obtaining a position at the asylum he had carried on a grocery business at Brantford, where his family still resides.

D'ALTON McCARTHY.

The Mail Uncerths a Scheme to Drive Him Out of Public Life.

The Mail of yesterday had nearly three columns of a letter from a correspondent dated Collingwood, and which professes to give the true inwardness of the attack on Mr. McCarthy made by The Empire. The substance of The Mail's discovery is that Mr. Thomas Long, who is vice-president of The Empire and acting-president during Mr. Brock's absence in Europe and who is an influential Conservative in the Collingwood district and who in religion is a Catholic, and, therefore, according to The Mail, anxious to resent Mr. McCarthy's attitude on the Manitoba school and other religious issues, has determined to destroy the member for North Simcoe by reading him out of the party through the columns of the Conservative organ. The Mail's charge is practically contained in the closing paragraph of its editorial:

The remarkable feature of the situation is the part the liberally subsidized organ of the party has taken in the conspiracy of the Catholic faction, which, as it must know, if indeed it knows anything, will result in a reduction of the
