FEDERATION TO BACK THE BOMB SUSPECTS

Will Take Charge of Defense Fund To Be Raised by Labor.

Indianapolis, May 1.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arrived Saturday, and immediately went into secret conference with 40 labor leaders of national and state organizations. After the conference Mr. Gompers said the McNamara case was discussed, and that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor would take charge of a defence fund, which would be raised by contribution from the various labor organizations of the country.

A meeting of the executive council is to be called soon by Mr. Gompers, who said the session probably would be held in this city. Further than this, Mr. Gompers would not talk regarding the action of the labor leaders.

Beside the local labor men present, William J. Spencer, secretary of the building trades department of the federation, and Frank L. Mulholland, of Toledo, attended. Mr. Mulholland is an attorney for the national organization and probably will be one of the lawyers for the defence of the three labor men now in jail in Los Angeles, Cal., for the explosion in the Times building.

Detective Burns, who brought about the arrest of the three men, is still in Indianapolis, seeking evidence against the men. He said there were no developments, and that he expected to start for Los Angeles today.

DICKENS TESTIMONIAL IS CAUSE OF A CLASH

The Great Author Himself Forbade Any Such Action.

London, April 30. — The opposition to the Dickens testimonial has lately been rather bitter, and a large number of letters has been sent to the press maintaining that such a testimonial is against the expressed wishes of the great novelist. The battleground on which the controversy has raged is the proviso Dickens inserted in his will forbidding any public testimonial to his memory or the erection of any statue of himself.

The question is whether this proviso was intended to hold good a century after it was written, and even in the face of the need of some of the author's descendants.

Stamps to Raise Fund.

The British Dickens centenary committee is a marvellous body of distinguished men, and they think the proviso should not now hold good. The method by which the committee, at the head of which is Lord Rosebery, hope to create the testimonial fund for the benefit of Dickens' descendants, who are badly off, is by the sale of the Dickens stamps, which they expect every Dickens lover to place in the copies of Dickens' books which he possesses. It is reckoned that there are 48,000,000 copies of the author's works extant in Great Britain and America, and if the Dickens penny stamp is put in a quarter of these the committee will have accomplished what they desire.

To ascertain whether the attacks by those who believe that the promoters of the scheme are running counter to Dickens' wishes have produced any effect upon the committee, a correspondent called upon Beckles Wilson, the secretary, who expressed the belief that the testimonial movement will outlive all opposition.

Dickens Aided Many.

"Dickens," he said, "literally wore himself out in order to make provision for those he loved, and we are doing this for his descendants because, through undeserved misfortune, they have not retained the position in which Dickens believed he had placed them. "Lord Rosebery has bought 1,200 Dickens stamps, and he writes: 'It would be terrible if my books were found without stamps in them.'"

Stamps have been placed in the King's books at Windsor Castle and Buckingham Palace, and Queen Alexandra has placed 250 stamps in her books.

As to the future, Mr. Wilson is full of plans. Committees have been formed abroad. At the Festival of the Empire there is to be a Peggotty's hut, with all the people who lived there. At the coronation exhibition there will be an Old Curiosity Shop. Further, Sir Herbert Tree is to run a series of Dickens plays and at the Albert Hall there will be a Dickens ball with thousands of dancers.

WEDS A MOHAMMEDAN

English Girl Must Wear Veil If She Adopts Moslem Faith.

London, May 1.—The marriage of Miss Ola Humphrey to Prince Ibrahim Hassan, a relative of the Khedive, has raised many questions as to whether such a ceremony between a Mohammedan and a Christian celebrated in an English registry office would be considered legal in the Ottoman Empire.

A correspondent visited the Turkish embassy in Portland Place, where one of the secretaries said:

"The marriage will be held as legal both in Turkey and Egypt. There is no question as to that. The only thing is that the wife of Prince Hassan becomes a Turkish subject.

"Whether the princess will be recognized in Turkish and Egyptian society depends entirely upon the attitude of Prince Hassan's family. It is a personal matter which will be decided by the head of the family.

"As to the princess going into seclusion upon her arrival in Mohammedan countries, that depends entirely upon the wife's religion. If she remains a Christian, she will find no difference in her life, being free to move about in society as she does in European countries. If she changes her religion and becomes a Mohammedan, then, of course, she will be obliged to wear the veil and conform to the customs of Mohammedan wives."
