The usual supplemental examinations in the various courses will be held this month at the college, beginning on Wednesday, the 23rd inst.

Argonauts Practice To-Night.

The Argonauts turn out for the first time of the season this evening. Nearly all of last year's players will turn out, with the addition of Murphy of Kingston and several of Varsity's last year's players. The new game is a new one to many, and veteran Joe Wright is one of those who say that he will not learn this new game, and that he is getting too old.

Rossland Ore Shipments.

Rossland, B.C., Sept. 19.—Ore shipments for week ending to-night were again over 9000 tons, largely due to increased output at Le Roi. Details are: Le Roi 6000, Centre Star 1500, War Eagle 1230, Le Roi II. 320, Jumbo 250, Spitzee 30, I.X.L. (milled) 250; total for week, 9580; year to date, 277,497.

Cannot Come This Year.

London, Sept. 20.—Replying to an enquiry as to whether he anticipated being able to accept the invitation of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association to visit Chicago, Mr. Chamberlain telegraphed: "I shall not be able to leave England this year."

Robinson Crusoed.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 19.—James Lanoton, a New York broker, was wrecked on Little Captain's Island, off Greenwich, in Wednesday's gale. He led a Robinson Crusoe sort of existence until late yesterday afternoon, when he was rescued by Augustus Scott, the bridge tender at Cos Cob.

Captain and Mrs. L. G. Pierce of Des Moines, Iowa, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. F. W. Stair, of 134 St. George-street.

T. W. Glover returned to his home at 51 Leotherravenue, from Yorktown, Assa., yesterday. About six weeks ago he was suddenly taken very ill and had to be put under the doctor's care, but he hopes to return west shortly.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Samuel Woodhouse Struck a Fog Signal in C.P.R. Shops, Which Exploded, Injuring Him.

EAST TORONTO COUNCIL MEETING

Discuss Question of the New Bridge for Extension of Street Railway.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 20.—Samuel Woodhouse, an Englishman in the employ of the C.P.R., was working under an engine in the shops, and noticed a fog signal in the ash box. He did not know what it was and gave it a crack with his hammer. The little torpedo exploded and shattered both hands. Several stitches were put in, but it will be some time before he is able to work again.

Six Italians, with unpronounceable names, were struck by the cable at the C.P.R. shops, which accidentally broke and fell in their midst. One was seriously hurt and the others were injured more or less.

Thirty-eight car loads of cattle arrived at the Union Stock Yards to-night for Tuesday's market.

The Rangers held a successful hop on Friday night. The Waverleys will hold their first dance on Friday of next week.

Rev. T. E. E. Shore spoke to the young people to-night upon the possibility of prohibition in the near future. He said that Stephenson's invention of the steam engine was looked upon as a vision; that electric lights, electric cars, the telegraph and the telephone were only visions within the recollection of many of his congregation. Chamberlain had the vision of a zollverein, federation was only visionary for a time, and it remained for Abraham Lincoln to abolish slavery. There is, said the speaker, a vision in our land that the saddest of all evils shall be dissipated. Men are called Utopians for being visionary, but the dawn is breaking and a better day is coming.

East Toronto.

East Toronto, Sept. 20.—A meeting of the Special Street Railway Extension Committee was held in the Council Chamber last night, and was attended by all the members of the Council except Councilor Ross, who was out of town. Mayor Dr. Walters presided, and gave an interesting history of the Main-street bridge. When East Toronto was a very young village, the Grand Trunk Railway Company desired to close that portion of Dawes-road that crossed their property and interfered with the tracks in the "York yard." To compensate the then village, the G.T.R. undertook to extend Main-street across their premises, erect a wooden bridge 25 feet wide over the tracks and maintain it in perpetuity. The company have faithfully carried out their agreement, but the bridge is neither wide enough nor strong enough to accommodate electric cars. The present agitation began early this year, upon East Toronto attaining the status of a town and annexing that part of the township formerly known as Little York. The understandigg was that if the Little Yorkers consented to join forces with East Toronto everything possible would be done to have the Scarboro cars cross the G.T.R. tracks, in order to accommodate the people "north," and hence the present activity of the Council in that behalf. Councillor Abbott, chairman of the committee, reported that G.T.R. Superintendent Jones, Master Bridge-Builder Mitchell and a number of the engineering staff had inspected the bridge and approaches thereto on Friday afternoon last. Mr. Jones had expressed himself as favorable to the construction of a new and suitable bridge, provided the Council would make an acceptable proposition. The cost of a steel bridge 40 feet wide, with concrete foundations, and of approaches at both ends of the same width, was estimated at $8000, and, when the work of construction begins, it could be completed within 30 days. It was agreed that an offer should be made to the railway company undertaking, on behalf of the town, to contribute a fair share toward the construction of the proposed bridge, provided the plan was suitable, and made proper provision for the electric car tracks and general public requirements.

Councillor Richardson stated that the special committee re water supply had been procuring information as to plans, cost, etc., of a proposed new waterworks system, and that his committee would make a full report at the earliest possible date. In this connection, the Mayor said it was quite likely that when the town installed a proper and independent system the G.T.R. would abandon their present works and take their supply from the town. It is understood that the railway uses much more water than all the rest of the consumers in town combined.

In answer to Councillor Oakley, the Mayor stated that the Balmy Beach Park commissioners would be called together this week.

A special meeting of the Council will be held on Thursday evening next, to appoint a tax collector, and for other business.

There was a fight among four men on the corner of Gerrard and Main-streets last night, about 8 o'clock. Constable Tadsberry arrested one of them, named W. Knowlton of 290 Broadview-avenue, and secured the names of some of the others. Knowlton will appear before Magistrate Ormerod Monday morning.

At Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, at the morning service, the Holy Communion was administered, and 14 new members received into the church.

The choir of St. Saviour's Church will hold a social in Snell's Hall, on Tuesday evening. A good musical program will be rendered.

On Thursday evening, the harvest festival will take place at St. Saviour's Church. Special music will be given. The service will be continued next Sunday.

Balmy Beach.

Prof. Burnett had a successful balloon ascension at Victoria Park Saturday afternoon, but Frank Robarts met with a nasty accident. It appears that Frank was helping to hold the monster balloon on the ground and had let the rope go at the proper time, but it caught on to a heavy pole, which fell on his back and head, knocking him senseless. Restoratives were applied and he regained consciousness in about 15 minutes.

The boys of Arizona Camp gave a farewell oyster supper to their neighbors, the boys of Thessalon and The Strollers' Camps, on Friday night.

Councillor J. McP. Ross is away on a business trip to Ottawa. Mrs. John Little is spending a couple of weeks at the Gardiner House. Mr. and Mrs. W. Dickson and family are visiting at F. W. Robarts, Balsam-avenue. Herbert Lee, who has been engaged at Munro Park all summer, will leave for San Francisco, Cal., on Wednesday.

North Toronto.

An adjourned meeting of the local board of health will be held to-night, and the question of allowing the establishment of a slaughterhouse on the premises of Saunderson Bros., Eglinton, finally disposed of. The board has inspected the premises complained of and express satisfaction at the sanitary condition in which they are kept.

The exterior of Zion Baptist Church is being painted, and the appearance of the building is much improved.

A football team of the Eglinton public school played against a city team brought up by former Principal Wright on Saturday afternoon. The contestants were evenly matched, but the home section won by a goal to nothing.

Mrs. McCartney of Yonge-street, Davisville, was severely injured on Saturday afternoon by a collision near the C. P. R. crossing. The vehicle driven by Mrs. McCartney was run into by another rig and she was pitched out on to the road. On examination it was found that Mrs. McCartney was suffering from a fracture to two ribs and otherwise injured internally. She was conveyed to her home and is expected to make a gradual recovery. Mrs. McCartney's horse was a valuable trotter, and the animal received injuries that it is thought will result in its death.

The question of enlarging the well accommodation at the town water works will for reasons of economy be put off till next year. The council is anxious to avoid any further large expenditure this year, but it is learned that several hundred dollars will have to be spent in renovating the electric light wires.

The Davisville pottery has received considerable enlargement in recent years, but the demand still exceeds the output, and Ex-Mayor Davis complains of being still hampered in supplying his customers.

Kew Beach.

R. S. Williams' Mr. Henry won the sailing race Saturday afternoon. The only other contestant was J. Banks' Phantom. Skipper Lalor of the Mr. Henry and his crew, consisting of Harold Smith, Arthur Lynn and A. Gemmell, jr., are given great praise for their navigation experiness.

J. H. McKnight and family have left the beach for their home on Rose-avenue. Miss Maggie Buckley, who has been visiting Mrs. T. J. Foulkes, will leave for a month's visit to friends in Kingston this week. Foster Hayden, Lenty-avenue, is ill in the General Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. C. Abrahams, at Frisco Lawn, are away on a couple of weeks' visit to New York.

Woodbine.

The Kingston-road junction is new well protected by the police and for some time past there has been no disturbance of any kind in the neighborhood.

It is high time that some public convenience was located at the corner of Kingston-road and Queen-street.

West York Conservatives.

West York Young Conservatives organized at Weston on Friday night. Leonard Wallace of Woodbridge was elected president, James Coulter of Weston, John McNeil of Vellore and George Elder of Elder's Mills, vice-presidents, and Thomas J. McGuire of Weston, secretary-treasurer. The first regular meeting will be held at Weston on Monday evening, Oct. 12, when the subject for discussion will be "The Grand Trunk Pacific." A. Keefler, George Elder and George Symes, &c., will be the speakers. A large map of Canada was ordered to be purchased, and a suitable clubroom will be secured.

Cedar Grove.

In the death of Andrew McCreight Scarboro Township loses one of its oldest and best respected residents. He came to Canada when eight years of age and resided continuously on the farm where he died. The funeral was largely attended.

The late Mr. McCreight left a widow, two sons and three daughters. One son, James, lives on the old homestead; Frank, harnessmaker, in East Toronto; Miss Jessie is a nurse in Winnipeg; Miss Maggie resides at home; and Mrs. Pearson, Carberry, Man.

METHODISM IN IRELAND.

Rev. John Park of Dublin Says It is Progressing Finely.

Rev. John Park of Dublin, Ireland, past president of the Irish Methodist Conference, and now on a visit to Canada, preached at Metropolitan Church last night. In commencing an excellent sermon he said he came only as a representative of the many ties which bound Methodism together thruout the empire, and not as a representative of the Irish conference. The condition of Methodism in the Emerald Isle was never better. Altho in the past the church had worked against almost insurmountable obstacles, yet it was undoubtedly progressing, and that in face of the ever-decreasing population. Men were now preaching the gospel under the Methodist banners on the streets and public squares of many of the cities and towns of Ireland, without the slightest hindrance, and this was surely a good sign. The preacher continued by saying that the people of Canada would experience good results from this outdoor preaching, in the emigrants who came here. Mr. Park preached from St. Luke, ix., 25: "For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself and be cast away."

Some Men and the Church.

The alarming title given by Rev. J. E. Starr to his sermon of last night attracted a large audience to the Bathurst-street Methodist Church, but the "War Necessary" of which he spoke was a religious crusade and not a political fight or perchance a war among nations.

The majority of people, he said, went thru life enjoying themselves and never wanting to get hurt or to hurt anybody. They were on their way to a good time in Heaven, and they expected a good time on earth. Many church members were so busy saving themselves that they had no time to save other men and women. Many men joined the church and expected it to minister to their desires. They did not want to be bothered with others, but the ydid not realize what "chunks of pure, unadulterated, concentrated, selfishness" they were. Some people in the church thought the devil was to be fiddled out of the world instead of fought out.

Christianity was equally applicable to social and public life as to individuals. Jesus Christ was a politician. He always had the people's interests in view. He had installed a new divorce law and He had not taken up social reform, temperance and direct legislation because the time was not ripe. If He were alive to-day, He would take up these questions. People said public opinion was against it. "Was it the opinion of the party leaders or of the subsidized party press? If so, God help us."

Work of India Missions.

In the Jarvis-street Baptist Church last night Rev. J. G. Brown, general secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, spoke "On the Evolution of a Native Christian of India." Adherence to caste, according to Mr. Brown, which is one of the greatest obstacles for missionaries to overcome, is now slowly dying, and he prophesied a time when there would be no such thing in India. "In India to-day," he said in conclusion, "there are thousands upon thousands of young men and women praying in private and leading the lives of Hindus in public and even deceiving their parents as to the true state of affairs within their hearts."

Membership Doubled.

Rev. Dr. Langtry addressed 113 members and friends of the Young Men's Progressive Bible Class at their anniversary service yesterday afternoon in their parlors, corner West Queen-street and Spadina-avenue. Clarence Bell, superintendent, presided. The Progressive Choir, under the direction of Walworth McLean, assisted by O. B. Dorland, W. McBrutney and the Crescent Male Quartet, rendered appropriate selections. Dr. Langtry, as rural dean of the diocese of Toronto, congratulated St. Mary's Church on having so successful a class connected with it. It was a class of which any clergyman might be proud. Dr. Langtry's theme, "Be not conformed to the world," was practical and inspiring. While the class had more than doubled its membership during its first year he wished it increased prosperity and usefulness in the future.

HAVE YOU SEEN JAMES?

Man Missing From Oxford Described by Word and Picture.

James Bossentce, who disappeared from the farm of John Porter, Conroy P.O., where he was employed, in May last, is now 26 years of age. The photograph accompanying picture was taken when he was 18. He has dark brown hair and large blue eyes. He is of medium size, standing about 5 feet 7 inches, and weighing about 140 pounds. He was clean shaven and wore a dark tweed suit, a black fedora hat, red necktie and a steel grey waterproof coat. His mother, an aged widow, lives alone in Harrington West, Oxford County, in a small frame house. She was never in need, as he gave her the greater part of his earnings and paid weekly visits home. He was not addicted to drink, and, if left alone, would not have caused anyone trouble. The mother is now broken down with grief as a result of the tricks that were played on the boy by smart alecks. There is some talk of foul play, but the general impression is that he ran away to escape arrest, with which he was threatened by fakir liquor inspectors.

In Memory of Emmet.

New York, Sept. 20.—Six thousand enthusiastic persons gathered in Carnegie Hall to-night to do honor to the memory of Robert Emmet, under the auspices of the United Irish League.

PREPARING FOR ACTION TORY PARTY DIVISION ELECTION LOOKED FOR

Chamberlain Marshalling His Forces to "Buck" the Country on His Original Proposals of Fiscal Reform.

New York, Sept. 20.—The Post's London cable says: Those persons who imagined that Mr. Chamberlain, having been politely driven from the cabinet, meant to retire to his Birmingham home and cultivate orchids, as Lord Salisbury retired to his ancestral Hertfordshire estate and laboratory, received a rude awakening on Saturday. Mr. Balfour no sooner had launched upon the public his philosophical treatise, characteristically labelled economic notes on insular free trade, than he hurried off to his North Berwick golf links, where Friday he played so poor a game that ultimately he tore up his scoring card. Mr. Chamberlain is not that type of man. Outside his home he has no passion but politics. He shuts himself up in council with his leading political associates, carefully maps out the Kingdom for his own and his supporters' campaign, singles out his man for each fight, and today publicly sets a definite program before all his friends.

Stands by Original Plan.

Not one particle of his original plan does be abandon. First stands a closer union with the colonies, by means of preferential tariffs, and an endeavor to make the empire self-sufficing as regards food supply. Second stands the employment of the tariff to secure reciprocity and failing that, retaliation. In a word, Mr. Chamberlain means fight, and British politics never had a more alert, unsparing or even bitter fighter than he.

Mr. Balfour's efforts to keep the Ministry going with remnants only excite laughter. With Mr. Chamberlain and his 150 members of parliament let loose in the constituencies armed with a definite policy, dissolution is inevitable and probable before the end of next summer. Unless past experience is to be belied, there will be the bitterest fight of this generation. With Mr. Chamberlain every man who is not an avowed friend is an enemy to be hit above or below the belt. No one has forgotten his recent election cry, "Every vote given for the Liberals is a vote given for the Boers," and for the first time in his career Mr. Chamberlain has no compeer and much less a leader to restrain his zeal.

Party Split Asunder.

Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain write to each other as tho his resignation had made no breach in the party. In truth, the party has been split asunder for two months past. Today, it consists of four distinct camps. First the retaliators, under Mr. Balfour; second, the preferentialists, under Mr. Chamberlain; third, the free traders, under Lord Goschen, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, and Mr. Ritchie; fourth, the wobblers, under nobody in particular. The retaliators and the preferentialists together made up about three-fourths of the party. Mr. Chamberlain is confident that all but an insignificant section of these will come under his banner. So soon as he makes clear his plans, which involve no increase, but merely a readjustment of the present food taxes, so soon also will the Chamberlainite candidates in the constituencies, up and down the country, prepare to fight every man, of whatever political hue, who does not fly the Chamberlain colors.

Unrivalled Campaigner.

Mr. Chamberlain may be all wrong and his policy may be doomed to ignominious collapse under the cry of "the cheap loaf in danger," but a regard for the facts compels the unbiassed recorded to state that he is still unrivalled as a political campaigner. Almost unaided, he won the last election for Unionism, as he did the election before. That even those who hate his political principles are bound to confess. He is the sole minister amid a crowd of incompetents who has proved himself an efficient administrator by making the Colonial Office, once the worst, now almost a model state department. Moreover, his well-planned organization has ample funds, and the pick of the brains of the rank and file of the Unionist party. Even Mr. Balfour is a Chamberlainite, and says as much publicly, tho he lacks Mr. Chamberlain's courage to face the "cheap loaf" cry.

Is Liberalism Alive?

In fact, Mr. Chamberlain's only out-and-out opponents are the little band of free-trade Unionists and the incoherent mass of leaderless Liberals, whose most aggressive group is more concerned in the police court resistance to the education rate than in fiscal discussions. Mr. Chamberlain has given English Liberalism the change of its lifetime, but there are no signs yet that Liberalism is alive to the fact.

WAIT TILL TUESDAY.

London, Sept. 20.—The Observer this morning says King Edward in the course of his audience with Premier Balfour yesterday approved certain changes in the ministry. Mr. Balfour, The Observer adds, will probably make official announcement of the new appointments to-morrow or Tuesday, but this announcement is likely to be incomplete, as the Premier will not be able to perfect the reconstruction of the cabinet until the Duke of Devonshire, the Lord President of the Council, and Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Secretary for Scotland, shall have decided what course they will adopt.

Daring Jail Delivery.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 20.—A daring jail delivery was accomplished here today, when Squire Hibbler, Clayton Day and Frank Chenault, negroes, all awaiting sentence to prison terms for murder and robbery, made good their escape. To accomplish it, Chenault split the head of Deputy Jailer Williams with a bottle, seriously injuring him, an dopened the doors for the others. Hibbler was wearing prison stripes, but stole citizen's apparel before leaving the jail. A search for the men was instituted by Deputies with others.
