WILL SUGGEST THAT CHEAPER HOUSES BE BUILT UNDER PLANS

Local Delegation Going To Interview Controller.

UNNECESSARY EXPENSES

Too Many Clothes Closets Entail Extra Cost To Workmen.

Chairman J. G. Richter and Commissioner R. H. Hessell of the local housing commission, and Building Inspector A. M. Piper will go to Toronto tomorrow morning to interview J. A. Ellis, the provincial housing controller and, the architect of the provincial commission, to suggest certain modifications in the Ontario housing regulations, in order to permit of the erection of workmen's dwellings at a cost lower than is possible if the present regulations are observed.

Too Many Closets.

The members of the delegation will point out that the average workingman's income is inadequate to meet the monthly payments on houses containing all the conveniences called for by the regulations. They will urge, among other things, that the closets required in each bed-room, which have to be plastered inside and out and provided with doors, add materially to the cost and are not really indispensable since curtained corners provided with shelves and hangers would answer the same purpose with complete satisfaction to most of those anxious to take advantage of the housing scheme.

Modify Room Sizes.

A modification of the room-dimension and area regulations will also be urged, on the ground particularly that a living-room is more often than not used as a parlor by a majority of workingmen, and does not need to be a large room.

The results of the visit will be communicated to the commission at its regular meeting on Wednesday, and from present indications it is quite likely that the consent or refusal of the provincial commission to modify the regulations will determine whether London will operate under the scheme at all.

Aviators Do Some Fancy Flying and Take Up Passengers

Airmen Brought Here by the Majestic Theatre As Attraction.

To give Londoners an opportunity of seeing their own city from above the management of the Majestic Theatre arranged with the Canadian Aero Film Company to have some airplanes in this city today.

Former Royal Air Force pilots are in charge of the machines, and in addition to carrying passengers, arrangements have been made by the company to produce a moving picture, which will include views of the city and of the leading business houses and industrial plants. This film will be shown at the Majestic as soon as completed and developed.

Besides carrying passengers, the pilots gave exhibition flights, and did stunts in the air surpassing anything that residents of this city have seen either in reality or on the screen.

Will Oppose Any Increased Fares Without People's Vote

Ald. Moorhead States His Stand on Street Railway Question.

Ald. C. J. Moorhead will vigorously oppose any movement to have the city council authorize a higher rate of street car fares without first consulting the citizens and securing their consent to such legislation.

Speaking on the subject today, he declared that, apart altogether from the illegality of action by the council, in his opinion it would be morally wrong to commit the people to any modification of an existing franchise such as that under which the street railway operates.

"The present bylaw," he said, "fixes the fare and unless, and until, the people of the city declare by a vote that they are willing to have the fares raised, the council has no right to allow them to be raised. Apart from everything else, it would involve an increased valuation if the city decides to take over the road at the expiration of the franchise. The council certainly should not do anything which would involve considerable and unnecessary added expense to the public in the matter of the purchase price of the utility."

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE SERVICE

During the carnival held by the Great War Veterans' Association at Queen's Park last week, the No. 4 Nursing Division of St. John Ambulance Brigade had a first aid tent. Over 44 cases were attended in all during the week, some necessitating a doctor. Others, merely nervous cases among returned soldiers. One man, who opened a box containing a large rattlesnake, was badly bitten by it. His son had the presence of mind to withdraw the poison by his mouth. The man was very week for some time after.

FINE HOTEL TO BE BUILT NEAR SULPHUR SPRINGS

London To Enter Lists With Other Health Resorts.

COMPANY IS FORMING

Meeting On Thursday To Get Board of Directors Installed.

London's sulphur springs, from which gush out water said to be as curative and beneficial as any mineral water on the continent (and as distinctive in odor and flavor), at last are to receive the recognition due them. Thursday of this week, a meeting of some twenty-five or thirty citizens will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to form a board of directors and make plans for the development of this big natural resource of the city.

The plans include the building of a sanatorium-hotel, the last word in construction and equipment, with nursing and medical service for health seekers who make it their mecca.

Owing to the fact that the water is at its best as it comes gushing up from the earth, it is probable that the hotel will be built on the mineral spring grounds on the river bank at the foot of Dundas street, and that an arcade entrance will connect it directly with the Dundas street car line.

Urged to Wait.

A. W. Gould, who has been the proprietor of the Mineral Springs' property for something over four years, was urged not to rebuild, by prominent citizens, after the burning of the old sulphur baths. The idea in their minds was that London with such an asset should have the curative value of the springs known far and wide, and facilities for attracting tourists and patients, whom the springs might benefit.

To The Advertiser today, Mr. Gould said, "during the past four years, I have again and again received inquiries from a people at a distance in regard to the mineral springs, and asking for reservations. We had no hotel accommodation, and consequently when I wrote back to this effect, we heard nothing more of the prospective visitors.

Success Assured.

"I was in Mount Clemens last week in order to get ideas regarding equipment, etc., and when the proprietor learned that we had a population of 60,000 people in London, he declared that success for us is a foregone conclusion with the commercial backing we can expect to draw upon all the year round, from the citizens taking advantage of the baths, as well as the tourist trade. Mount Clemens, Arkansas Hot Springs and Banff depend practically altogether upon tourist business."

Plans have already been drawn, for the hotel, and the estimated cost of hotel and other preparations is $200,000.

It is probable there will be changes in the original plans which show a six-story building with sun rooms and roof garden on the top. Apart from provision to entertain staying guests and give the citizens the advantage of the baths, there will be ample facilities for entertainments in the big dining room, which can be used for dancing, in the sun rooms and in the roof garden which will be used for tea rooms and tea garden.

If dreams come true, there will be bowling greens and tennis courts, and citizens interested state it is only a matter of a short time until advantage will be taken of opportunities offered by the river for aquatic amusements. Improvements must come whereby the river can again be a popular place for boating, canoeing, etc., right from the foot of Dundas street.

So far as the medical end is concerned, it is stated that a local physician is among the promoters of the project.

It has been decided to make this meting an open-air event, and hold it in the Springbank pavilion on the evening of Friday, June 20. A musical program is being arranged and refreshments will be served.

GREAT INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY IS TO PASS THROUGH THIS CITY

Theodore Roosevelt Road Will Join Two Portlands — The Association Wants Map Niagara-Port Huron, Which Must Show London.

London is to have a definite place on the map of the Theodore Roosevelt international highway linking up Portland, Maine, with Portland, Oregon, as a perpetual memorial of the one time president of the United States who wrote his name indelibly on the pages of history of the world.

London Must Be There.

The London Chamber of Commerce has received a request from the Theodore Roosevelt International Highway Association, asking the local organization to recommend the most direct route from Niagara to Port Huron, stipulating that London must be on the route. A map is now being prepared by County Engineer Charles Talbot on which the most direct route will be marked, and as soon as this is finished, it immediately will be forwarded to the American association.

Its Advantages.

Members of the chamber of commerce draw attention to the importance to this section of the country of bringing through thousands of tourists annually, and also the fact that it will be in the interests of the municipalities through which the highway passes to do their part in keeping up the road and putting their best foot foremost.

WHITBY LETTER NOT SIGNED BY CLERK S. BAKER

J. E. Willis Says Sir Adam Beck's Statement Without Foundation.

City Clerk S. Baker has received a letter from J. E. Willis, who, Sir Adam Beck said, read a letter at a meeting at Whitby which bore the London coat of arms and the signature to which Sir Adam professed to have been told was S. Baker. Mr. Willis says, in his communication that Sir Adam Beck had no authority to state that the letter was written by Mr. Baker, such a statement being without the slightest foundation, in fact.

In the concluding paragraph of his letter, Mr. Willis makes the definite statement that the only communication ever received from Mr. Baker or Mr. Baker's office was the one asking about the letter to which Sir Adam Beck referred.

Local Police Take Slight Calmly; See Reason For Reward

Toronto Force Needs Big Incentive To Accomplish Anything.

Detectives and police officials here are not at all disgruntled because no $25,000 reward has been offered to them by the Chief of Police of Cleveland, for information implicating or leading to the arrest of persons who exploded the bomb near Mayor Davis' house in Cleveland.

A notice to this effect stating that information would be treated as confidential, and that the name of the informant would not be disclosed, was received from Cleveland recently by Toronto police.

Attention of officials here was drawn to the unusually large amount of the reward.

"Probably it was felt that the Toronto police required a very very great incentive in view of some of their late endeavors," was the only reply forthcoming from the sleuths at Carling street station.

Returning soldiers who reside in the United States are rapidly joining up in G. W. V. A. Secretary Cunliffe has received correspondence from a man in Terre Haute, Indiana, requesting 80 application forms, this number of men wishing to join the association in Terre Haute.

NOT DECIDED YET.—J. F. Hicks-Lyne, whose remandings, adjournments, pleas and elections at the county courthouse have been a matter of almost daily routine for several weeks, did not elect by which manner he preferred trial on the charge of bigamy, this morning, and was further remanded until he comes to a decision.

AFTER GRAND LODGE. — Mayor C. R. Somerville, Clerk S. Baker and President G. M. Reid of the Chamber of Commerce have been named representatives from London to go to Toronto next week to lay before the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., the claims of London as a meeting place for next year's grand lodge. It is understood that Toronto will bring pressure to bear to have the grand lodge meeting there again next year. This will mean the bringing to the grand lodge headquarters between 800 and 1,000 visitors. London already has plans in view to make the visitors comfortable and happy, provided the invitation is accepted.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Fifty building permits, representing a valuation of $54,070, have been issued during the first ten days of June. The largest one, issued today, was for a two-story brick veneer dwelling, which W. E. Summers proposes to erect on Egerton street. The cost is given as $3,000.

SLINK VEAL.

The board of health this afternoon will consider taking drastic action to discouraging offenders against the regulation, prohibiting the sale of slink veal. Dr. C. S. Tamlin, the veterinary officer, has made several seizures lately of this proscribed meat, and will submit a report to the board.

PROFITS ARE SMALL ON SALES OF BUTTER, SAYS DAVIES MANAGER

E. C. Fox Declares Company Lost Money On Some Lines.

MORE PROFIT IN MEATS

Operating Cost of the Firm's Business Totalled 20 Per Cent On Dollar.

Ottawa, June 10.—E. C. Fox, general manager of the Wm. Davies Company of Toronto, was the chief witness this morning before the cost of living committee of the Commons. Mr. Fox told the committee that his firm conducts a general meat packing and produce business. Meat products are handled from the hoof to the retail store.

Mr. Nicholson explained to the witness that the committee was desirous of ascertaining the prices paid for butter when it went into cold storage in June and July 1918, and what the same butter cost the consumer during the 1919 selling season.

Mr. Fox said that butter costing 43.51 cents per pound at Montreal between June 22 and July 7 was sold on the average at 44.91 cents and costing 43.37 cents at Toronto sold at 45.21 cents.

Mr. Devlin asked what the average profit was throughout the year.

Lost Money, Says Manager.

"We lost money," replied Mr. Fox. He explained that money was lost on the general business of cheese, butter and eggs, but not on butter alone.

The profits on butter, he said, did not exceed 10 per cent gross on retail sales.

Mr. Devlin asked why creamery butter was so much more expensive than the best farmers' butter.

Mr. Fox replied that his firm was selling butter at 58 cents retail. This butter was bought last week at 83 cents.

Mr. McCoig remarked that there was a spread of 18 cents on butter sold in Ottawa.

Shrinkage Is Small.

To Mr. Nicholson, the witness said the shrinkage of butter in cold storage was very small.

Mr. Devlin asked why butter was selling at 68 cents in Ottawa when it was selling in Toronto at only 58 cents, but this question was left over until Ottawa retail merchants appear before the committee.

Mr. Fox stated that the operating cost of his company totalled 20 cents on the dollar. It was impossible to tell what the net profit was on butter, unless they sold butter only. They made 5 cents gross on a pound of butter.

Mr. Stevens asked what they would sell butter at in Toronto if they were not selling it as a leader.

"We would add 4 cents," replied Mr. Fox. They did not charge the same profit on produce as on meats.

Cost Them Each $1 For Letting Cattle Graze On Streets

North End Residents Complain About Eeach Other's Cows.

"What have you been doing?" the magistrate asked of Mrs. Lucy MacDougall, one of the residents of the north end colony in the vicinity of north St. George street, when she came forward in police court this morning, registering intense indignation and great respectability, to answer to a charge of allowing her pet cow to graze on city property.

A police constable testified that he had found the cow industriously eating grass on St. George street, near Regent, which at that spot, as Mrs. MacDougall said, is nothing more than a mud path.

Mrs. MacDougall objected. It wasn't on city property, anyway and nobody used the street besides, she declared.

"I saw a cow up that way myself a few days ago careening around all over the street," the magistrate interposed. "As a matter of fact," he continued, "lots of my personal friends live near you and some of them have paid fines lately. Two of your neighbors were assessed a dollar no longer ago than this very morning."

"Maybe they deserved it," said Mrs. MacDougall.

Then the police inspector made a few remarks concerning cows and their dining places, with special reference to north St. George street.

Complaints Made.

"People up in that district are always complaining about each other's cows," said he. "Why, this morning some folks came to the police station and told me that Mrs. MacDougall ought to be summoned for allowing her cow to roam all over the place."

Returning to active participation in the case before him, the magistrate explained that as he had fined two neighbors today for a similar offence, Mrs. MacDougall would undoubtedly have to pay $1 and costs likewise.

"You'll have to pay or the other people will think I am discriminating in your favor, you see," he gently pointed out.

"But the cow was only on the street for a few minutes."

"It wasn't on the street at all when you commenced to testify, and now you say it was there for a few minutes. I'm afraid, Mrs. MacDougall, you will have to pay the little fine," insisted the bench.

Will Pay.

Mrs. MacDougall promised to call tomorrow with the money.

George Dixon and Arthur Coverat were the two other northend residents who each paid $1 and costs for privileges of street grazing.

H. Elgie, a bread wagon driver, has a half holiday on Wednesday, so he came to police court instead of tomorrow, the time for which his case had been set, and learned that while he had busied himself at lunch in his house yesterday, his horse had done the same thing on the boulevard in front. The horse had been unhitched from the wagon, and had roamed over the sidewalk in search of more succulent grass. Elgie paid $1 and costs.

LONG ISLAND DOCTOR IS BEING TRIED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Prosecution in Case Will Depend Entirely On Circumstantial Evidence.

JURY TO GO TO SCENE

Photographs of Finger Prints To Be Exhibited in Court.

Mineola, L. I., June 10.—The trial of Dr. Walter K. Wilkins, charged with the murder of his wife, is now in progress in the criminal branch of the supreme court before Justice Manning. It is expected that the trial will last about three weeks. The evidence on which the physician was indicted is almost entirely circumstantial.

Mrs. Wilkins was struck down outside her Long Island home on the night of February 27. Her skull was crushed by the blows of a hammer. On the night of the tragedy Dr. Wilkins told the police that when he and his wife returned from New York he was the first to enter the house. As he opened the door, he said, he was hit on the head, and his life was saved by a stiff hat he wore. Then, according to his story, Mrs. Wilkins, who had remained outside, cried for help.

One of three invaders described by the physician then left the house, he said, and Mrs. Wilkins' cries ceased. After the men had gone, Dr. Wilkins said he found his wife dying.

Plan of the Defence.

The Wilkinses had arrived at Long Beach at 9:06 p.m., and their home is only a five minutes' walk from the station. It was 9:53 before police headquarters was notified of the murder. Charles Wysong, counsel for the defence, says he will prove that this version of what happened is true. This will be the defence.

Prosecutor Weeks will seek to prove that Mrs. Wilkins entered the house on the night of the tragedy. He will produce witnesses to swear that when the body was examined her hair was down and there were no hairpins found near it, but hairpins were found in the house. Mr. Weeks, in addition, will contend that the murdered woman was in the house when the first blow was struck and that marks on the woodwork and walls were made by her blood. To support this, he will produce a black velvet hat she wore, which was undamaged. The detectives say they also found her gloves inside the house.

Newspaper as Evidence.

A piece of newspaper was found wrapped around the hammer with which Mrs. Wilkins was killed. Other pieces of the same paper, with blood stains on them, were found in various parts of the house. There were finger-prints and paint marks on the hammer which the prosecution says are those of Wilkins. All the finger-print exhibits of the prosecution have been photographed and will be thrown on a screen in the courtroom for inspection by the jury.

Mr. Weeks will take the jury to Long Beach to inspect the scene.

For some time after the murder Dr. Wilkins was not suspected. Then, after his story had been gone over many times, he was called to the office of Mr. Weeks to clear up certain points. The next day he left secretly for Baltimore. Three days later he returned to New York and gave himself up. While Dr. Wilkins was out of the city his attorney, Louis Friess, turned a document over to Mr. Weeks, which was a will left by the slain woman. Mr. Friess explained that he had not produced it before because he did not consider it valid. It was not witnessed.

Some time after the murder a tailor in New York came forward and informed Mr. Weeks that Dr. Wilkins had brought a blood-stained suit of clothes to him to have cleaned and pressed. The physician had denied that he wore the clothes in question on the night of the murder.

Plan For Reparations From Germany Outlined by French Expert.

Paris, June 10.—The plan for reparations which is now proposed in the council of four, according to Marcel Hutin of the Echo de Paris, consists, first, in seizing German liquid assets to the value of 25,000,000,000 francs; second, to leave a margin of two years, so that an accurate idea of the economic and financial situation in Germany may be gained; third, after two years to exact payment on account of 125,000,000,000 francs in gold, or negotiable securities, and fourth, to give the reparations committee authority to raise the amount of the annual payments by Germany, should her capacity to pay increase.

Arms Covered With Scars Where Morphine Needle Used

Young Man Goes to Reformatory for Term to Overcome Habit.

Court physicians found upon examination of a young man last week that there was not the space of a pinhole on both of his upper arms that was unscarred from hypodermic needle "dope" punctures.

He was remanded to jail for examination last week when he appeared in police court charged with having a complete morphine outfit in his possession. He said he found the drug and the instruments in a packet on the Grand Trunk station.

Relatives of the accused, who is a young, clean-cut looking man, have made no effort to see or plead for him, the magistrate told him this morning in police court. He pleaded for a long time to be allowed to accompany a returned soldier brother out west where he promised he would reform.

"Then I'll enlist in the army if you will give me a chance," the prisoner offered when the magistrate declined.

He was sentenced to a term in the Ontario Reformatory of not less than three months and not more than two years.

Commission Is Given Credit For Big Decrease in Price

Raw Materials for Transformers Up, But Price of Latter Down.

The tenders received for transformers by the utilities commission at its last meeting provide an interesting commentary on the effect on prices of combines. Although the cost of all raw materials used in the manufacture of electrical appliances has been steadily jumping, the prices quoted were very little more than half what the commission paid the last time it purchased transformers. The only explanation given is that a close combine, which previously existed between the different electrical companies has been broken up, it is said, as the result of action by the London utilities commission, which set the manufacturers to quarreling among themselves.

GOES TO REFORMATORY

Roy Strong Found Sleeping in G. T. R. Car After Warning.

Found asleep in a Grand Trunk railway car yesterday, Roy Strong, for the second time within a week, was in court charged with vagrancy.

On June 5, Strong was ordered to go to work and to keep away from his mother, who had informed the police she was unable to urge her son to work, and that he was worthless.

"Do you want to go to prison?" the magistrate asked him this morning.

"Not if I can help it," Strong mumbled.

Strong's persistence in keeping away from toil decided the magistrate in sending him to the Ontario Reformatory for an indeterminate period.

Anglican Delegation.

Specific Sundays were set aside by the assembly on which ministers may present to their congregations different phases of the work of the church. The bishop of Niagara, Very Rev. Dean Owen and Ven. Archdeacon Forneret were received by the assembly as a delegation from the Church of England.

"Out of the synod meetings and greetings may I express the hope that the spirt of unity, brotherhood and co-operation may be fostered," was one of his lordship's remarks. "The Christian church," he said, "in its widest sense, is divided. She therefore cannot bring her moral influence fully to bear upon the nations that were at war.

"If the Christian church had been invited and filled with the living God there would have been no war. In this country we are divided. We cannot present an unbroken front and bring our moral influence to bear upon the Government. As a Christian church we are humiliated when we contemplate the industrial unrest. And yet I believe unity is in the air; that it cannot be suppressed.

"We have united our forces for the great drive of the coming autumn for the strengthening of the religious forces of the country. Yet what is there between you and me? The principles of our church are fundamental. The brotherhood of chaplains in the terrible experiences overseas will be perpetuated. Let us pray for the day when the spirit of unity will prevail," concluded his lordship.

Offending Motorists Are Lawful Prey of Police

Many Are Summoned, One Accused Getting Case Adjourned.

The most usual thing the police do these days is to lay information against motor car drivers, who commit breaches of the Ontario motor vehicles' act. Drivers of cars persist in taking the wrong sides of city streets, passing standing street cars on the same direction, both on the right and the left sides, and speeding on
