CHEESE-PARING COUNCILLORS.

Those members of the Town Council who voted against the grant of $100 to the Goderich Mechanics' Institute did something that is not to their credit. The economical councillor is a blessing to any Board, but there is a wide difference between economy and stinginess, and refusal to help a deserving public enterprise does not evince a spirit of carefulness, but one of meanness. Although one councillor actually stated that the Mechanics' Institute was not a public institution (and Mr. Garrow soon set him right on that score), the majority of those who opposed the grant did it on account of "hard times" and "high taxes." This cheese-paring spirit in public men is to be deplored. If the municipal purse-string is to be tightened, it should not be drawn taut when an appeal from a public library and reading room is made, especially when a grant of $100 from the town would command a larger grant of $200 from the Provincial Government. The Mechanics' Institute is a great boon to any town, and if but a few hundreds of persons patronize it, then the more's the pity. If some of our councillors were to take a course of readings from the very useful library of our local Institute, perhaps it would give them enlarged views regarding the true welfare of the public. Our councillors naturally grow economical as the term of their office draws to a close, but that is no reason why they should spare at the spigot while they have let out at the bunghole.

THE STORY OF A HALF-PENNY.

A copper coin lies before us. It was issued in Prince Edward's Island in 1855. That sea-girt Province was even then big with a sense of its importance and its rights, for on one side is embossed the sentiment :—"Self-Government and Free Trade." That was the cry twenty-five years ago, and that is the feeling in the tiny Province yet. Since that coin was struck, Prince Edward Island has experienced great political changes. It's political solitariness has given place to a union with the confederated provinces of Canada. It has become one of the ingredients of the present Dominion. It joined the Union expecting to retain its rights and liberties in both a political and a commercial sense, but we believe that it has been deceived, or else the Government half-penny token now lying before us is no more the exponent of the political faith of the Prince Edward Islanders. Where is the free trade of the Province? Snatched from them through the specious pleas of a party desperate for office, who promised different things to the different provinces. And what of the boasted principle of "Self Government?" That same party even now urges the abolition of Provincial Legislatures. Prince Edward Island has lost Free Trade, and if the Dominion Government has its way, it may lose "Self Government" in the form of a Legislature. That is the reason we shake our head when we look upon the well-handled coin that lays upon our table, displaying in bold characters the motto, "Self Government and Free Trade."

THE HARBOR TOLLS.

Last week Mayor Doyle and Messrs. Garrow and Johnston left as a deputation from Goderich, under instruction from the Town Council, to endeavor to have the tolls taken off Goderich Harbor. In company with Mr. W. W. Ogilvie and Mr. John Porteous, Gen'l Freight Manager G. T. R., they had an audience on Tuesday morning with the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Public Works, respecting the subject of the removal of the tolls. It appears the Government some years ago made improvements in the Goderich harbor, and built commercial docks at the solicitation of the town with the understanding that half the cost of the docks would be paid by Goderich. This was agreed to, and the work was proceeded with. On the completion of the contract the town paid $10,000 as its share of the expense incurred, and asked the Government to assume the tolls and keep up necessary repairs. This was done by the Government and matters went on all right until this year, when it was discovered that the harbor tolls militated against the lake trade of Goderich when it was brought into competition with Collingwood and other ports where harbor dues did not exist. Hence the mission of the deputation to Ottawa.

At the Thanksgiving service in Knox Church on Wednesday morning, in alluding to the reasons the Dominion had for thanksgiving, the preacher said that in this Province especially it was a cause of rejoicing that "owing to a bountiful harvest scarcity of bread was not added to a scarcity of labor—for during the past two or three years labor was scarce." The worthy preacher was giving utterance to an unpalatable truth, but he spoke the simple words of an honest heart. Labor is scarce. The fact that a number of young men left town on the excursion to Buffalo and Detroit last week to look for work, bears testimony to the fact that employment cannot be readily found on this side of the line. We take no delight in writing about this state of affairs. But we would like to remind the public that Sir John Macdonald promised better times and plenty of employment to our young men. He said that more hands would be employed in the manufactories than under the old Administration, and that no longer would the laborer be seeking employment, but the employer the laborer. And every public man should be kept to his promises.

The result of the Presidential election has been the return of Garfield and Arthurs. Contrary to general expectation, New York State went Republican. The Tammany Hall influence in New York city, instead of helping Hancock, killed him. At the time of going to press the exact majorities by States are not in, but it is certain that the Republicans have swept the country. General Garfield is a able man, but Arthurs is not so creditable a character. He was but little heard of during the campaign, for the less his friends said of him the better for them. Hancock will again be flattered by the Republicans, and English will soon be forgotten.

Dundas Banner: "It is an old saying that it is sometimes a good thing for a man to have had a father, so far as this world's goods are concerned, but in the case of old Mr. Pope, of Charlottetown, Prince Edwards Island, it is lucky that he had a son, the Hon. James Colldge Pope, who since he became a member of Sir John's Government, has appointed all his known relations to government offices, and now closes his arduous labours in that direction by foisting his old father—80 years of age—into the first position in the Government, a salary of $1,800. In order to make room for the last of his blood retations at the public crib, Mr. Pope made pretence that he was about to remove the officer who had previously discharged the duties assigned to Pope sen., to another sphere of labour, after he got the old man in the work, which now costs $3,000 instead of $1,500 as formerly. If Sir John don't strangle his colleague from Prince Edward before a great while he will have to provide him with more relations by Act of Parliament or the poor fellow will have nothing to do. If he has a mother he should create an office for her or die in the attempt to do her justice."

CLEARED OUT.

Blake, the Lumber Dealer, Skips to the States.

And Leaves many Creditors and Endorsers of Paper to Mourn his Departure.

Exeter was somewhat startled on Saturday last, as the news that Mr. W. Blake had accepted a retirement under the Stars and Stripes to a life of toil and industry under the Union Jack. He left here some time during the past week, and nothing was heard of him until Saturday, when he politely informed some parties what he had done. Blake, when he first came to Exeter, about seven or eight years ago, worked with Mr. Fanson at the shoemaking trade. Some time after this, finding something as he supposed more congenial, he bade good-bye to the peg and awl, and at once commenced the business of contractor. He was the principal in the erection of Port Blake dock, at which point he established a brick and lumber yard. Considerable quantities of these staples were shipped from there to Detroit and other parts of the States. He, in company with his partner, then commenced and completed the erection of a dock at Kintail, and entered extensively into the same business as at Port Blake. They did a very extensive business at both these points. Another shipping dock was erected near Wiarton on the Bruce Peninsula, and large quantities of lumber and bark shipped from there. They employed a large number of men and did a very extensive business. Last summer he purchased a large boat, "The Kincardine," to facilitate business. At Kintail, in connection with their other business, a general store was started, and a number of clerks employed. In the short space of time in which these works were established and their evident success, a great amount of energy and tact were displayed. That the business relations were not satisfactory has been shown by Blake's clearing out, and leaving many of our principal business men in very peculiar straits. Rumor has it that one of them has endorsed for him to the extent of $13,000, having therefor but straw security, but we are not in a position to state whether this is true or not. Others are interested in different amounts ranging from $25 to $5,000. It is said that over $40,000 are awaiting arrangement in this immediate neighborhood. Besides this it is surmised that a number of farmers and those working for him are mulcted, as well as business firms at a distance. Rumor also says, and we presume correctly, that he has taken with him from Detroit, a lady of means, while he has left here a wife and two children, to whom the public tender their sympathies. We are informed, whether truthfully or otherwise, that this is not the first time he has played this little game of swindling and barefaced robbery.—[Reflector.

We are glad to say that those gentlemen in Goderich who have been dealing with Blake have not been "nipped" severely by that individual, although a considerable business had been done with him. Mr. Horace Horton loses some $150, and congratulates himself that it wasn't more.

John B. Gough, the temperance lecturer, has arbitrarily refused to carry out his Canadian engagements.

Brussels.

Mr. Elijah Frayne and family left Brussels last Wednesday for the North-West.

Mr. Wesley Fear leaves this week for the Dental College, Toronto, where he will pursue his studies in dentistry.

Mr. J. E. Smith sold a spring colt, "Clear Grit," to Mr. Peter Scott, of Brussels, for $55. It will be remembered that Mr. Scott lost a very valuable colt a few weeks ago, and this one will take its place.

A Little More Cider.—Mr. Van Allan, a real live, unadulterated Yankee, who is just now introducing Van Allan's cider mill into this section, is one of the attractions at the Queen's Hotel. The old man is as full of fun and anecdote as an egg is of meat.

Accident.—On Sunday evening a cow broke into Mr. John Leckie's garden, and the proprietor, not liking the intrusion, hastened to drive the animal out of the garden. Unfortunately a clothes line was stretched across the way and Mr. Leckie was brought to a sudden standstill in the midst of his pursuit of the bovine, by contact with the line. It caught him across the eyes, cutting one of the eyelids, and changing the color of the upper portion of his face badly. Mr. Leckie's escape from losing his eye was almost a miracle.

Two millions of logs is the estimated cut in the Ottawa district for this season.
