NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

The principal in the recent defalcation in the Leavenworth, Kansas, bank was highly respected, highly connected, and has hitherto borne a good character. Having sustained these usual conditions, there was no good reason why he shouldn't turn up missing.

This is the way Gen. Ames is dealt with by a Mississippi paper, the Westville News: "Would that an avenging Heaven would send a deserving thunderbolt, and strike the corrupt carcass of this archfiend Ames from His green earth, and consign it to the worms of the dust, and that his blackened and polluted spirit might descend into the bottomless pit, and there, amid the smoke of its torments, writhe and wrangle forever and forever."

It is reported at the New York Post Office that a bag containing a large number of registered letters and other valuable documents, which arrived from Liverpool last week, by the steamship City of Limerick, during transit was almost entirely destroyed with its contents thro' the explosion of a bottle of nitro-glycerine, which had been smuggled into the mail bag. It is said the loss of the securities will prove to be very heavy. A later despatch says the bottle contained iodine, which escaped the notice of the mailing clerks. A large number of letters containing checks, bonds, etc., were stained a deep brown, and the writing rendered undistinguishable.

Wednesday morning Columbus and Reynolds Beam (brothers), went to Samuel's Station, three miles from Bardstown, Ky., and attacked G. W. Samuels, of that place, with pistols, in front of his house. Samuels returned the fire with a shot-gun, killing Columbus Beam instantly. Reynolds Beam then fired several shots at Samuels, when William Samuels, his son, ran out of the house with a double barreled shot gun and, discharging the contents at him, fatally wounded him. Samuels and his son rode to Bardstown and surrendered themselves to the authorities. The affair has created general excitement around Bardstown. It originated in too great intimacy between Samuels and the wife of Columbus Beam, and the shooting has been threatened some time by the Beams, who are highly respected parties.

Last week Prof. Wise, his son and Dr. Parisel, from Paris, met Mr. P. T. Barnum to give expression to their views as to the possibility of a successful trans-Atlantic balloon trip. Mr. Barnum purposes giving his entire attention to the subject for some time to come, and with that view he started for Europe in order to consult with aeronauts in London, Paris and other places. He seems quite sanguine of success, and says that no amount of trouble or expense will deter him from carrying out his scheme. The balloon which Prof. Wise recommends would cost from $15,000 to $18,000. He would have it made of Chinese silk, and he says that with a diameter of eighty feet it need not weigh over 2000 pounds. The upper part of the balloon would be "reinforced" with a muslin covering, rendered waterproof.

A curious transaction was recently consummated in Charleston, S. C. The Baptists of that city owned a fine church edifice worth $60,000, but being hard up offered it to the Methodists for $20,000. The Methodists eagerly grabbed at the opportunity. Subsequently the Baptists repented of their hasty offer, and wanted to withdraw it, but the Methodists refused, threatened damages, and compelled a transfer of the property. Thereupon the Baptists got indignant, and their organ, the Church Union having quoted the details, adds: "In regard to all which we have simply to say that to purchase for $20,000 what was worth $60,000 was unfair; to force the bargain when the losers wished to recede was unkind; and to grab in this way from one denomination for another was unchristian." The Methodists, however, looked at it in a different light. Bishop Haven, describing the transaction, says: "Didn't the happy band shout for joy? They prayed and fasted and wept: now they rejoiced and feasted and wept." We fancy that the public sympathy will go with the Baptist children of light, who were euchred by the Methodist children of this world in a game which they (the Baptists) did not understand.

In the October Aldine there are four full-page pictures, each a master production, by celebrated artists. Mr. John S. Davis has a lovely picture called "Nutting," a group of children beneath chestnut trees; Mr. Alexander Lawrie gives a grand view of Elizabeth Valley, in the world-famed Adirondack region of New York; Mr. Holman Hunt, the famous English artist, is represented by "The Eve of St. Agnes;" and Mrs. Greatorex has a characteristic sketch of an old house in New York City, the Harsen Mansion. Besides these great pictures, Mr. Kruseman Van Elten gives a mid-summer view on Salmon Brook, in Conn., Mr. J. McEntree, of the National Academy, has a brilliant and dreamy October sketch called "Falling Leaves," as good as anything which ever came from the pencil of this famous artist; a bird picture of a duck and sparrows, called "Opulence and Indigence," is after Gustavus Lus; an original American landscape scene, represents the flight of wild geese over a reedy lake; there is a magnificent portrait of the beautiful and accomplished Angelica Kauffmann; and Benjamin Vautier, one of the most popular painters at Dusseldorf, has a charming German interior, called poor "Pussy!" The remaining illustrations are a little gem, "The Summer Shower," and a view of "The Hinter-See, in Upper Bavaria." Dr. Fuller-Walker, the editor of The Aldine, has articles on "St. Agnes," "Salmon Brook," "Falling Leaves," "Elizabeth Valley," "Among the Birds," and "A German interior." He also writes of the "Central Park Bronzes" in the art column, and of Philip Gilbert Hamerton's "Intellectual Life," and the President of Spain's (Emilio Castelar) "Old Rome and New Italy." The musical department glances at the coming New York season, and reviews music abroad. From this outline sketch of the October Aldine, it will be seen that it has an immense variety of art gems and literary articles of the highest order. Subscription price, $5, including Chromos "Village Belle" and "Crossing the Moor." James Sutton & Co., publishers, 58 Maiden Lane, New York.

GENERAL.

The last broad gauge train on the Grand Trunk is expected to leave Montreal October 2d, at 9 p. m.

A lady had several hundred dollars worth of point lace clipped off her clothing by an adroit thief, while she was at church, singing, "Strip me of the robe of pride, clothe me in humility."

The lovers of Britannia's history who have lately been deploring the spread of Paganism in English literature do not derive much consolation from the fact that the two handsomest vessels in the British navy are now known as the Sultan and the Shah.

A candidate for the civil service recently gave up his examination in disgust, because he was asked how many bushels of wheat could be bought for ten dollars if one bushel cost forty cents. He said he had not learned anything about wheat, but had always done his sums in potatoes and turnips.

A colossal statue of Nelson, modelled by Lord Clarence Paget, was recently unveiled by Lady Clarence Paget and touchingly dedicated to all mariners, on a rock on the Anglesea bank of the Menai Straits, and, apart from its artistic and legendary interest, will serve as a very useful landmark and guide.
