PALACE OF PEACE OPENED AT HAGUE

Queen and Notables Present

Carnegie Lauded For His Generous Gift

Dutch Minister in Speech of Acceptance Says "Eternal Peace" is Not For the Living But Declares the World is Growing More Willing to Settle Disputes By Arbitration.

(Canadian Press.)

The Hague, Aug. 28—The Palace of Peace was inaugurated here this afternoon when the ceremony of handing the edifice over to the charge of the Dutch foreign minister was carried out in the great court in the presence of Queen Wilhelmina, the Dowager Queen Emma and Prince Consort Henry. These were surrounded by a distinguished gathering of diplomats, representatives of peace societies and people prominent in all the arts and sciences.

Abraham Van Karnebek, president of the Carnegie Foundation, with a splendid speech, handed the palace into the care of its appointed custodians. He eulogized the interest shown in the peace movement by the queen, emphasized the significance of the inauguration of the palace and expressed a full meed of thanks for the generosity of Andrew Carnegie.

Eulogizes Carnegie.

Jonkheer Reneke Var Swinderen, the retiring Dutch minister of foreign affairs, then accepted the custody of the building on behalf of the diplomatic corps in which it is vested under the presidency of the Dutch foreign ministry. He referred to the opening of the Palace of Peace as an important page which had been added to the history of arbitration, the significance of which was deepened, he said, by the presence of so many statesmen and lawyers of international standing.

Then after a few sentences in French, eulogistic of Andrew Carnegie, who, he said, "had placed the fruits of his strenuous labors at the service of humanity," Mr. Van Swinderen turned to Mr. Carnegie, who was standing beside and, breaking into English, said:

"Mr. Carnegie, there is no doubt, I should think, that you today are the happiest man among us, seeing in these surroundings the transformation of your beautiful high-spirited munificence into this future seat of international tribunals. In the name of the civilized powers of the world I address you. The whole world shares your views and has proved its deep appreciation of your generosity by voting with imposing unanimity the funds necessary to keep this temple always at the very high standard to which you enabled its constructors to raise it."

Reverting into French, the foreign minister, holding the key of the palace, asked:

"Eternal Peace" Not For the Living.

"Would the edifice live up to its high sounding name?"

He then answered his own question with an emphatic "no, not if it is taken to imply that its bell will shortly ring in the inauguration of eternal peace—two words which are always out of place except when they are inscribed over the entrance gate of a cemetery." Then he added an emphatic "yes, if expectations did not attempt a flight beyond the borders of what humanly speaking was possible of realization."

Speaking of the Palace of Peace as a laboratory for the regeneration of moral forces, Mr. Van Swinderen declared that although the principle of arbitration had been accepted by ever-expanding areas "the memorable words uttered by the American statesman Elihu Root, of New York, at the laying of the foundation stone of the Pan-American building at Washington remained the true maxim of all arbitration treaties—'The matters in dispute between nations are nothing; the spirit which deals with them is everything.'"

He concluded: "All controversies can be settled from the moment that the two contending parties desire a settlement and diplomacy can greet the inauguration of this temple with head held high and a heart full of hope."

FIVE ROUMANIANS DYING AFTER BATTLE IN INDIANA TOWN

Indiana Harbor, Ind., Aug. 28—A feud born in the mountains of Roumania was fought to a bloody finish in the streets of this city today and five men are dying from knife wounds as a result of the battle.

ARREST SYDNEY MURDER SUSPECT

R. C. Goodwin or F. Haynes Charged With Death of Atkinson

HAILS FROM 'FRISCO

Reported to Have Threatened Life of Hotel Proprietor, Who Was Found Dead on Road—Magazine With Prisoner's Name on It Found Near Scene of Tragedy.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 28—After being shadowed for a day and a half, F. Haynes, or R. S. Goodwin, of San Francisco, was arrested on Charlotte street this morning by Provincial Constable Edwards, and is now lodged behind the bars at the city jail, charged with the murder of B. S. Atkinson, found dead on the road from Mira Ferry to Sydney, and having, according to the coroner's jury's verdict, apparently met his death by being thrown from the team in which he had driven his family to the bungalow at the ferry and in which he was returning to the city.

Yesterday afternoon evidence reached the crown through the police which caused a search for Haynes, or Goodwin, and the machinery of the law was got in motion. Newfoundland and New Glasgow were both communicated with, in case the suspect had taken French leave, but these precautions were unnecessary.

Hails From Frisco.

Haynes came to Sydney six weeks ago, hailing from San Francisco. He passed as a mineralogist, first taking up residence at the Minto Hotel, of which Mr. Atkinson was proprietor. The latter complained twice to the police chief that the lock to his bedroom had been picked in his absence. He laid the blame for this upon Haynes, who was turned out of the hotel. About this time, it is reported, Haynes made a threat against Atkinson's life.

From the Minto Haynes went to the Queen Hotel, and since then has been rooming in different places. Some time before Mr. Atkinson met his death, Haynes was seen in the neighborhood of the summer colony at Mira. At several houses he inquired if he could get meals there, saying he could shift for himself in the woods at night.

He usually carried a magazine and several times was seen by persons passing sitting on the roadside, partially concealed, reading. Haynes, alias Goodwin, is a big man, swarthy, well built, weighing about 250. Since coming here he has become generally well known and fairly well liked by most that knew him.

When arrested by Constable Edwards, he made no resistance, taking the matter very coolly.

The name on the magazine found in the woods has been positively identified as R. C. Goodwin. Further investigations near the scene of the tragedy go to show that someone had made a little retreat for himself which he occupied frequently, as cigar butts, matches and other articles are strewn around. Haynes will likely be up for a hearing tomorrow.

INFANT'S BODY IN MONTREAL STREET MAIL BOX

Montreal, Aug. 28—The body of a still-born infant in a bad state of decomposition was collected from one of the city mail boxes today, and as it bore no stamps was sent to the "dead letter" department, where the ghastly contents of the package were discovered.

The body was sent to the morgue and an investigation instituted by the police authorities.

Women's Intuition:—

Women are credited with a sort of sixth sense—intuition—which keeps them right in many emergencies.

In nine cases out of ten, this so-called feminine intuition is nothing more than extreme carefulness and good judgment.

Women take pride in being careful and thrifty—they like to dress well and see their children dress well.

It is a source of satisfaction to them if they can look better than their neighbors, and do it for less money.

Women are readers of advertisements. They know it pays to read them. They find advertising not only profitable, but entertaining.

PROMISE OF LOAN MAY BRING MEXICAN PEACE

American Envoy Will Try Again

John Lind to Return to Mexico City and Resume Negotiations—Washington Now Hopeful That "Dollar" Diplomacy May Accomplish What Threats Failed to Do.

(Canadian Press).

Washington, Aug. 28—Strong hope prevailed in official circles tonight that the Huerta government and the United States soon would arrive at a mutual understanding leading to a peaceful settlement of the revolutionary disturbances in Mexico.

Administration officials expressed themselves as pleased with the day's developments. President Wilson regarded as hopeful that tone of the note sent by Frederico Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, in reply to supplementary suggestions made by John Lind before leaving Mexico City for Vera Cruz last Monday.

The full text of the two communications was received here, and while neither side, according to the official interpretation, yields any of the essential points in its contentions, the method of approaching the difficulties at hand is admittedly more friendly and framed with more regard for a practical solution.

Officials found encouragement, too, in Mr. Lind's decision to return to the Mexican capital, as they had left it to his discretion to go there if there was a prospect of renewing negotiations along tangible lines.

The two notes exchanged by Lind and Gamboa were published in full here today and official Washington read them closely.

Much interest was manifested in the suggestion made by Mr. Lind that all proposals be laid aside for the present except that which asks Huerta not to be a candidate in the coming elections.

Promises American Loan.

It was learned that while President Wilson knew the gist of Mr. Lind's second proposals, he was not acquainted until today with the text of the communication in which Mr. Lind promised that if his last suggestions were accepted, assurances would be given American bankers of the moral support of the American government for a loan to rehabilitate the finances of the present Mexican regime.

The White House view of the offer of the loan was that should the present effort to bring about peace appear to be bearing fruit, it would be incumbent upon the United States to help Mexico straighten out her financial tangles.

The argument of Senor Gamboa that Huerta, as provisional president of Mexico, was prohibited by the Mexican constitution from succeeding himself, and that the American contention therefore was unnecessary, was scrutinized closely, and some officials pointed out that no guarantee existed that Huerta would not resign at some time prior to the election and thereby make himself eligible. It was suggested, too, that to accept the citation of the Mexican constitution as sufficient restriction on Huerta's candidacy might be construed as a recognition of Huerta as the con-

MRS. HANDSOMEBODY WINS MARITIME GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats Mrs. Maddison, Moncton, in Final of Tournament—Other Results.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 28—A heavy downpour of rain this forenoon did not dampen the ardor of the lady golf players at the maritime tournament, for the putting and approaching contest was held. Miss Pipes, of Amherst, and Mrs. Lenoir, of Halifax, tied with eight each. In the playoff the former won.

In the afternoon when the weather had cleared the championship final was played. This was won by Mrs. Handsomebody, of Windsor, who defeated Mrs. Maddison, of Moncton, 4 up and 3 to go. Mrs. Handsomebody is now champion of the maritime provinces. Miss Thomson, of St. John, is not expected to defend the title.

In the championship desolation finals, Mrs. Cooke, Moncton, beat Miss Pope, Charlottetown.

In the semi-finals of the first consolation, Mrs. Bonnyman, of Amherst, beat Miss Pipes, and Mrs. Goodwill, Charlottetown, beat Miss Vroom, Windsor.

In the final consolation desolation, Miss Tighe, Amherst, beat Mrs. Patterson, Truro.

In the finals of the second consolation Mrs. Purdie, Amherst, beat Mrs. Roberts, Halifax.

The annual meeting of the association will be held tomorrow forenoon. In the afternoon an interprovincial match, New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island against Nova Scotia, will be played, nineteen players on each side. This will close the tournament.

BUILDING COLLAPSES IN PETERBORO; FIVE KILLED

A Dozen or More Injured When Section of Big Department Store Fell in Ruins Burying Clerks and Customers in the Debris, Some of Whom May Die.

(Canadian Press).

Peterboro, Ont., Aug. 28—A gloom has been cast over the city by one of the worst, if not the worst, disasters in its history. With no more warning than a few ominous cracks that were immediately followed by a rending of timbers and a crashing of bricks and mortar, a big section of the largest departmental store in Peterboro collapsed this morning, killing five persons and injuring more or less seriously almost a dozen.

The Dead:

Miss Dorothy V. Sisson, aged 25, 287 Park street, Peterboro; saleslady in store.

Miss Lillian A. Boddison, aged 23, 274 William street, Peterboro; saleslady in store.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, widow, aged about 40, 264 Hunter street, Peterboro; customer.

Mrs. John Kelly, aged about 50, wife of John Kelly, farmer, near Norwood.

Alfred Cuff, aged 35; bricklayer, married, Peterboro.

The Injured.

Mrs. J. A. Finlay, of Norwood, back and legs seriously injured; still in critical condition.

Henry J. Manley, carpented, 175 Edinburgh street, Peterboro, both legs broken and badly bruised and shaken up; critical.

Mrs. Sidney Middleton, of Smith, badly bruised and suffering from shock.

Mrs. Agnes Tucker, formerly of Norwood, saleslady in store, head and face badly bruised and cut.

George A. Shearer, carpenter; Edward Shrimpton, carpenter, and George Curtis, bricklayer, were slightly injured.

The obvious cause of the calamity which occurred shortly before 10 o'clock this morning was the weakening of the walls by extensive interior alterations, involving the removal of a brick partition separating what formerly were two stores.

FINE INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK IN SACKVILLE

Foundry Strikes Settled and Optimistic Feeling Prevails—Many New Buildings Finished or Under Construction—Town May Buy Electric Light Plant and Sell Cheaper Power.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Sackville, N. B., Aug. 28—Financial stringencies do not worry Sackville. This town's industries weathered the depression of 1907 and the more prolonged "hard times" of 1913 without perceptible effect. Only the foundry strike this summer, and that is settled now amicably, ruffled the business atmosphere and the outlook at present is most encouraging.

With the black fox industry "catching on," the growth of small fruits in and about the town assuming large proportions, the factories with one exception running full blast, three fine brick blocks being added to the business portion of the town, and the prospects bright for a banner year at the Mount Allison institutions, to say nothing of the projected although long-deferred post office and customs building, Sackville should have reason to remember 1913 as a year which served as a harbinger of more prosperous times, while in the west and some centres in the east retrenchment and shrinkage in business prevails.

Of the new buildings, one of the largest is that being erected by H. Miller in Main street on the site of the old Chignecto block. This is a fine brick structure containing three stores and four tenements, Mr. Miller to occupy one himself.

In Bridge street the land occupied by the building owned by Capt. Peter Hansen, destroyed by fire last September, has been purchased by Gauis E. Fawcett, C. W. Cahill and James H. Teare and Messrs. Fawcett and Cahill have about completed fine stores while Mr. Teare after a visit to the west, where he found things pretty dull, it is reported, will erect a building of concrete on his lot.

Ald. W. H. Oulton's fine new building is to be occupied as a restaurant and by an art store kept by Mr. and Mrs. Eddington. The Sackville laundry building, destroyed by fire, has been replaced by one of concrete blocks, manufactured in Sackville.

A large fox ranch with an enclosure of three acres and twenty-five pens is situated within a mile from town with Isaac Hicks, of Upper Sackville, in charge of construction and the company composed almost exclusively of local men.

Six tons of strawberries was the crop exported by W. B. Fawcett, of Upper Sackville, this year and it was a poor year at that.

Opportunities of Sackville town and parish have recently attracted attention as far away as England and Col. Arthur Morris, late head of the Duke of York Military School, Guston, Dover, has purchased the Richardson farm on the Brooklyn Road and will locate here with his family.

Concrete sidewalks are being laid in principal streets and there is some complaint that the council did not keep pace with the needs of the town this year by extending the walk about 800 feet farther along Main street. The citizens are likely to get an opportunity soon to say whether or not they approve of the acquisition of the Sackville Electric light plant at $60,000. By securing the plant the town would be in a position to offer special rates to new industries for power and thus add materially to the factories here.

With the opening of the Mount Allison institutions a month hence it is believed the town will welcome the largest attendance on record, as President Borden reports applications for the Ladies' College, the Academy and the University to be above the average.

LADY OF GASPE'S MATE LOSES HIS CERTIFICATE

Wreck Commission Declares His Conduct Cowardly in Seeking Safety After Collision with Another Steamer

Montreal, Aug. 28—"The court is of the opinion that the cowardly conduct of Joseph Gauthier, the second officer of the Lady of Gaspe, in leaving his ship at the time of the accident, shows that he is not a fit and proper person to hold an officers' position, and the court therefore cancels his mate's certificate."

In these words the court of wreck commission, consisting of Captain Lindsay, dominion wreck commissioner, and Captains Clift and Nash, dealt with the second officer of the Lady of Gaspe, which was damaged in collision with the direct liner Crown of Cordova off Cape Madeleine on the night of July 26.

The evidence showed that Gauthier, together with several of the crew and passengers, was found after the accident on the forecastle of the Crown of Cordova, and the court found there was nothing to account for his presence there except self-preservation.

"The court severely criticizes the extraordinary lack of discipline on a vessel carrying over 180 passengers, the Lady of Gaspe, being navigated by a man who had signed on as wheelman yet was acting as pilot, lookout, and in charge generally, who steered a course by buoys and range lights exclusively and who lost his bearings directly fog and mist shut in the lights ahead, and who did not use the compass.

The court severely censures the master, Cleophas Vezina, for want of supervision and not having a proper watch kept and a lookout set, and properly organized boat stations in case of accident; but, as he took prompt and proper action by setting his vessel on the bank when he found her sinking, and thereby probably saved the lives of many of the passengers, the court does not deal with his certificate.

The court found that the Lady of Gaspe was alone to blame for the collision, having anchored in mid-channel without regard to the fact that the Crown of Cordova was astern, and that apparently no attempt was made to see where the direct liner was, nor were sound signals given according to the rules of the road.

Cocaine Sellers Jailed.

Montreal, Aug. 28—John Cowan and Irene Smith, charged with selling and having cocaine in their possession, were sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500, or an additional six months in jail, by Recorder Geoffrion today.

ASQUITH MAULED BY SUFFRAGETTES

THINK THAW IS SAFER IN JAIL

Counsel for Maniac Not Likely to Apply for Release On Bail

FAILED TO SEE GOUIN

Jerome and Other American Lawyers Missed Premier, Who Had Gone to New York—Chauffeur Who Helped White's Slayer to Escape to Have Hearing Today.

(Canadian Press.)

Sherbrooke, Aug. 28—Harry K. Thaw's lawyers, successful so far in keeping their client in jail, safe from the immigration authorities, rejoiced tonight when they received word from Quebec that the trip of William Travers Jerome to see Sir Lomer Gouin, provincial premier and attorney-general, had been in vain.

Mr. Jerome, leader of the New York state forces seeking Thaw's return to Matteawan, accompanied by Deputy Attorney-General Franklin Kennedy, left here last night hoping to lay before the premier facts that would persuade him to sweep aside the commitment on which Thaw is held in Sherbrooke and place him in the hands of the immigration authorities. Presumably Mr. Jerome did not know that the premier was to leave Quebec for New York to join those paying tribute to Lord Haldane, who is to arrive there from England tomorrow.

Similarly, this fact was not known to Louis St. Laurent, engaged by the Thaws to defend "Gentleman Roger" Thompson, the chauffeur. Although concerning himself chiefly with the Thaw case, Mr. St. Laurent is a resident of Quebec, a Liberal, and a supporter of the premier, and he was dispatched thither, it was understood, to use what ever influence he could bring to bear against the premier taking any action in the Thaw case at this time. He will return here tomorrow to defend Thompson when the latter is arraigned before District Magistrate Mulvena on a charge of aiding an undesirable to cross the frontier. If Thompson can prove he is a British subject, he cannot be deported, but he can be fined a maximum sum of $500 or imprisonment for three months.

Thompson Will Not "Squeal."

Thompson said tonight that he would plead not guilty and absolutely would not "squeal" as to the details of Thaw's delivery from Matteawan.

It will doubtless be necessary for the prosecution to prove Thaw insane before they can establish that he is an undesirable alien and thus sustain the charge against Thompson. If this is the case the Thompson trial may go over until alienists can examine Stanford White's slayer.

There was renewed talk today of the possibility of Thaw being admitted to bail pending the long wait for trial before the king's bench in October, the length of time it now appears he will be held. One of Thaw's counsel said tonight that his admission to bail he would regard as an extremely unwise move. "In my opinion the immigration authorities could then take him in charge and although they could not deport him, in view of his being bound by a bond to appear in court, they might be able to embarrass us. For the present Mr. Thaw will remain in jail; perhaps later we will hit on a way to get him out in safety."

DISASTROUS TYPHOON IN JAPAN

Many Killed and the Country Devastated—15,000 Houses Inundated in Tokio.

Tokio, Aug. 28—Extensive ruin has been caused in Japan by the typhoon which has raged here for several days. Scores of people were killed and hundreds of bridges and houses destroyed. In Tokio itself 15,000 houses were inundated, while in the country the railroads and the crops were much damaged.

A party of seventeen children was lost while climbing Mount Koma-Ga-Take.

CONDITIONS OF AMERICA CUP RACE MADE PUBLIC

New York, Aug. 28—The New York Yacht Club tonight made public the conditions agreed upon between it and the Royal Ulster Yacht Club representing Sir Thomas Lipton, to govern the races that are to be sailed in September of next year between an American defender and Sir Thomas' Shamrock IV. No statement was made as to the probable dimensions of the defending craft.

Grabbed on Scottish Golf Course

Premier Roughly Handled by Two Muscular Amazons

Miss Asquith Went to Her Father's Rescue and Battled Assailants Till Detectives Rushed to Scene—British Leader Resumed His Game Later and Was Roundly Cheered.

(Canadian Press).

Elgin, Scotland, Aug. 28—The British prime minister was the object of an attack this afternoon in which his chivalry restrained him from adequately defending himself. While he was golfing with his daughter on the Lossiemouth links, two stalwart suffragettes, who had quietly come up to the green, sprang at him suddenly. They knocked off his hat, grabbed him by the clothing and dragged him some distance over the ground.

The prime minister bore his rough treatment complacently and refrained from using force to make them desist while they imparted to him their opinion that he was a scoundrel and a past master in the arts of Ananias.

Miss Asquith, who was a little distance off when the suffragettes pounced on her father, ran to his assistance, and proceeded to apply militant methods to her assailants. The battle waged for only a few moments when two detectives rushed up and with difficulty released Mr. Asquith from the clutches of the suffragettes.

The detectives took the women to the club lodge where, after listening to various opinions of themselves hardly less complimentary than those they had expressed to the premier, they were placed in a motor car and driven to the Elgin police station, to the accompaniment of much booing and hissing and repeated cries of "Let us get at them; we will duck them in the sea."

At the station the women refused to give their names or addresses. Mr. Asquith resumed play after the suffragettes had been hauled off him, and was loudly cheered when he reached the last green.

FREDERICTON GIRLS OFF TO EUROPE

Do You Know Anyone Like This?

Stop and look at this illustration again. It shows splendidly the far reaching power of a little Want Ad. Aided by this little messenger a son was found in the heart of equatorial Africa and brought back to the bedside of his dying mother. If ever you have occasion to communicate with someone whose address you do not have, a little Want Ad may find him quickly at trivial cost. Want Ads are wonderfully effective little messengers.
