KILWORTH.

Kilworth, Aug. 25.—Miss Clara Kilbourne has gone to resume her duties as nurse at the Berlin Hospital.

Rev. Geo. Jackson, of London, preached two very able discourses at the recent anniversary services in the Methodist Church.

Alonzo Kilbourne, accompanied by Mrs. Kilbourne, left on Saturday for their home in Parkhill after a pleasant visit with their numerous relatives here. Mr. Kilbourne is a native of this place, from which he removed some 35 years ago and settled near Parkhill. He engaged in farming with marked success, and is now one of the wealthy men of the county.

A disgraceful occurrence took place on Main street Sunday afternoon last just after Sunday school. Two youths about 15 years of age engaged in a fierce fistic encounter as the result of some old feud. The combatants were separated before serious damage was done. The mayor, while regretting the stain upon the good name of the town, thought the lads should not be too severely dealt with this time, as they were the victims of their surroundings. The wonderful atmosphere of this place had so much ozone and other life-giving principles in it that it generated in our systems a superabundance of energy. If parents, guardians and teachers would direct this energy into proper channels, all would be well; but some of those, who should be exemplars to our youth, are, by their frequent indulgence in heated discussions on religious, political, and domestic topics, largely responsible for arousing the martial spirit in our young men. He would not blame these older transgressors over-much, however, as they too, had to breathe the same highly-stimulating atmosphere which was the fundamental cause of all the discord and strife in the community.

Mrs. John Gillis, of Flint, Mich., is visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. S. Gillies.

Mr. Neil R. Gray and Miss Kate Nichol are visiting Mrs. Peter Douglas, McGillivray.

STRATHROY.

J. D. Meekison, Business Agent.

Strathroy, Aug. 27.—At 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning Mr. Charles A. Thompson, Penetanguishene, and Miss Birdie Lenfesty, only daughter of Mr. Lenfesty, of this town, were married, the event taking place in St. John's Church, and the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Newton. Miss Lenfesty was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Johnston, of Toronto, while Mr. Lahey, of Penetanguishene, acted as best man. After the marriage a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, where evidences of kindly remembrance to the bride were quite apparent. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on the 10:45 train for a honeymoon in the east.

Last evening the West Adelaide Presbyterian Church held a harvest festival. The church was beautifully decorated with fruit and flowers for the occasion. An excellent programme was presented, consisting of addresses by Rev. Messrs. Currie, Graham, Baldwin, Bristol and others. Music by the Strathroy and Thedford choirs, and recitations by Miss McLean, of Watford. Mr. E. Roland, of Strathroy, filled the chair in a very acceptable manner. Tea was served from 5:30 to 8:30 o'clock p.m.

Mrs. Demming, wife of Mr. James Demming, sen., died at her home in Metcalfe, on Tuesday morning. Deceased was a native of Ireland, and came to Canada with her parents in 1831, settling in the township of Vaughan, York county. About 1851 she married Mr. James Demming, who survives her. Besides the bereaved husband, she leaves a family of three sons and four daughters, namely, J. A. Demming, of Kerwood; John and George W., of Metcalfe; Mrs. H. P. Richardson, Kerwood; Mrs. Willis, Belfast, Ireland; Mrs. Chantler, London, and Miss Lizzie Demming, of Metcalfe.

Catechism Day.

The Debate on the Address Continued.

A Number of Conservative Questions Answered.

Sir Adolphe Caron Repudiates the French Domination Cry.

He Is Proud of Mr. Laurier—Mr. Frost Speaks as a Manufacturer—The Solicitor-General Speaks.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Yesterday's session was occupied by the debate on the address. It was a day of maiden speeches, the effect of which was to confirm the impression that the quality of debate in the Commons has not been impaired by the copious infusion of new blood. The Opposition had no new arguments to advance against the Government, but the length or number of the speeches from the left of the chair suffered no curtailment on that account. The criticisms offered by Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster were revived by their followers, but with more candor than had characterized the utterances of the vanquished leaders. In addition to the Parliamentary fledglings, two old members of the Conservative party participated in the discussion—Sir Adolphe Caron and Mr. Dupont. A feature of the day was the disclaimer of Sir Adolphe and Mr. Monk, the member for Jacques Cartier, of any sympathy with the French domination cry raised by their political brethren in Ontario. Sir Adolphe declared that Canada had outgrown this sort of parish politics. As for himself, he felt proud that one of Quebec's most gifted sons should be placed in the high office of Prime Minister. Mr. Pitzpatrick, the new Solicitor-General, and Mr. Frost, the representative of North Leeds and Grenville, were the only speakers on the Government side of the House. Mr. Fitzpatrick disposed of the race and religious cry, and Mr. Frost, as one of the leading manufacturers of Canada, voiced the confidence of the Industrial interests in the tariff policy of the Government.

The Speaker officially notified the House of the vacancy which had been caused in the representation of Brandon by the resignation of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, and stated that he had issued his warrant for a new election.

CROSS-QUESTIONING.

The Conservatives had a heap of questions to ask.

In reply to Mr. Boyd, Mr. Laurier said the House would be notified when the new Minister of the Interior was appointed.

Mr. Laurier was asked if he had sent a telegram to Pictou on June 18, 1896, saying the coal interests would be carefully guarded by him.

Mr. Laurier admitted that he had sent such in reply to a telegram of inquiry. He said that what was meant by the sentence that "coal interests would be carefully guarded" was that at the proper time coal interests would be guarded carefully. (Laughter.)

Sir Hibbert Tupper asked: Is the following a fairly accurate report of a part of a speech of the honorable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries at Sussex, N. B., in January last: "A 17 or 20 per cent tariff was high enough to give encouragement to any manufacturer; if it were not, the manufacturers should go down. The present policy developed trusts and combines, notably cotton, sugar, oil, cordage, iron and steel. The Liberals would declare eternal warfare against them"? If yes, will the honorable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries say whether he is of the same opinion still? If the above is not a fairly accurate report, will the honorable the Minister say wherein the report misrepresents his views?

Mr. Davies replied: My views on tariff reform were given at some length in a speech which I delivered at Sussex on the occasion to which the honorable gentleman refers. I do not think that a quotation of a single sentence from that speech is calculated to give fairly an idea of what my views were, but I think the honorable gentleman will find the whole speech very interesting and very instructive, and I invite his attention to it.

Lieut.-Col. Tisdale asked if changes were to be made in the Royal Military College, Kingston.

Dr. Borden replied: The commandant of the Royal Military College at Kingston having resigned his position his resignation was accepted, and steps have been taken to replace him. Should any other changes be required or become necessary the matter will be duly considered by the Government.

Lieut.-Col. Tisdale asked the Minister of Finance as to a letter written by the latter to the Halifax Chronicle in which he said Mr. Laurier had approved of the proposals of the Province, by which they were to get increased subsidies.

Mr. Fielding said he wrote the letter to show that Mr. Laurier's approval extended to all the Provinces, and that he had not, as his opponents alleged, made a bargain with Mr. Mercier to give some special and undue favor in the way of Provincial subsidies to the Province of Quebec. Mr. Fielding continued: "From the Nova Scotian point of view, the subject is less important now than it was four years ago, inasmuch as since that time, under the wise legislation of a Liberal Government, the finances of that Province have been materially improved. But if the Provinces raise this question the Government will then give it all due consideration." (Applause.)

SIR ADOLPHE'S REPUDIATION.

The debate was then resumed by Mr. Quinn (Con.), Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick (the new Solicitor-General), Sir Adolphe Caron, Mr. Monk (Con.), Mr. Frost (Lib.), and Mr. Casgrain (Con), Mr. Chauvin (Con.), Mr. Hackett (Con.), and Mr. Dupont (Con.). Sir Adolphe's speech was the most remarkable. On the school question he said, he stood where he stood as a member of the Bowell Government. He took that position because he believed it would be best for Confederation. He believed the constitution guaranteed the rights to the minority in Manitoba, and that it was the duty of this Parliament to do what it could to secure those rights. He would not be satisfied until these rights had been restored. If the rights could be restored amicably he would be glad, but he could not imagine upon what basis the divisions in the Liberal party could be brought together. Sir Adolphe condemned the criticisms of Mr. Laurier because he is a French Premier. He thought that Canada had outgrown that sentiment. Canada had outgrown parish politics. He did not want office to be given to a man because of his race, but he was proud as a French-Canadian to see in the place of Premier one of Quebec's most gifted sons. But they wanted not merely a French-Canadian, but a policy that would develop the country. How fatal it would be to the ambition of French-Canadians if it could be said that under the Premiership of a French-Canadian Canada had retrograded and not advanced. (Applause.)

NOT BORN TO BE HANGED

Sutton Sentenced to Death Six Time but Finally Pardoned.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 27.—Gov. O'Ferrall yesterday pardoned Wayman Sutton, of Wytheville, charged with killing Peter Harvel. Sutton shot Harvel from ambush in 1892. Sutton was tried, convicted, and sentenced to be hanged. His friends formed a mob and rescued him from prison. Sutton then went out to the State of Washington and became a Sunday school teacher and a member of a military company. He was brought back to Richmond and resentenced.

It was found that he was sentenced on Sunday, and the prisoner had to be tried and sentenced for the third time. This time the judge failed to give the condemned man 30 days from the time of trial to the time of execution, according to law and Sutton had to be resentenced.

A technicality in two cases necessitated the man being sentenced twice more, and then Gov. McKinney commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment. The testimony of the chief witnesses against the prisoner in a subsequent trial was impeached, and upon this ground Gov. O'Ferrall pardoned Sutton. He has served two years in the penitentiary. He left last night to join his wife and family in Tennessee.

Trail Creek Mines

The Richest Gold Fields Ever Discovered on the American Continent.

I have a limited quantity of stock for sale in mining properties in Trail Creek which, from all authenticinformation that I have been able to obtain, I feel safe in recommending to my clients.

	Capitalization	Price of stock.
Nest Egg	500,000 shares	.25
Palo Alto	1,000,000 "	.15
Deer Park	1,000,000 "	.12½
Rossland Red Mountain	1,000,000 "	.20
Georgia	1,000,000 "	.40
The View	1,000,000 "	.20
Great Western	1,000,000 "	.18
Silverine	500,000 "	.12½
The Wonderful	1,000,000 "	.25

The Nest Egg has shipping ore lying on the dump. The company is immediately to be equipped with mining machinery to enable it to soon become one of the dividend-paying mines of Trail Creek.

The Palo Alto Company have started development work on a rich body of shipping ore.

The Great Western and Golden Chariot, owned by one company, is considered one of the most promising properties in Trail Creek.

The Deer Park has a ledge of ore 100 feet wide. A shaft 70 feet deep is sunk on this ledge, and though the ore is low grade at the present time all the mining experts believe that when this immense ore body is sufficiently developed it will make one of the greatest, if not the greatest, gold mines in British Columbia.

The Rossland Red Mountain is being developed by a tunnel 400 feet long to meet a shaft 200 feet deep. In this shaft the richest copper ore of the camp is being mined.

The Silverine has a narrow vein of exceedingly rich ore, and development work is being rapidly carried on.

The Georgia is being developed night and day by a full force of men working on a vein of rich gold and copper ore.

The View is being worked by means of a tunnel. Rich shipping ore is being mined in the face of this tunnel.

The Wonderful is a silver lead mine in the famous Slocan district. It is still in process of development, but the ore produced from this property and now being shipped assays over $110 and nets the company $70 a ton clear profit.

These are all properties in which the management is capable and conservative and where the developments justify the belief that they will in a short time become most valuable mines. They are properties recommended me by most careful and experienced mining men, and I believe an investment of a small amount of money in these companies will eventually lead to very big returns. Within the past twelve months this district of British Columbia produced, under adverse circumstances, over four millions in gold, copper, silver and lead. The best informed men believe that in the coming twelve months this same mining district will produce from twelve to fifteen million dollars worth of gold, copper, silver and lead. Hitherto American miners and capitalists have reaped all the profits accruing from this rich country, and I think the time has come when Canadian capital ought to seek investment in these mines.
