NEWFOUNDLAND.—Ex-
official return of exports s just appeared, and fur-and information regarding country. From this docut the export of dried cod-1,294,056 quintals. This s as far as our grand staple d, especially when we take hanced prices of codfish last quantity at the low average dollars per quintal, we find 213,301. This, be it re-rice in Newfoundland—the fisherman was paid. Its

...reign market would be a third ...ly no less than 137,871 quintals, so that the year must be pronounced highly prosperous. Of the whole quantity exported in 1869, 571,948 quintals were shipped at St John's, and 106,077 at Harbor Grace, the second town in the island. The importance of the Labrador portion of the fishery may be estimated from the fact that no less than 338,666 quintals were exported by the various houses connected with Labrador, being considerably more than a fourth of the whole catch. When we take into account that this enormous sea-harvest needs no ploughing or sowing, only the reaping, and that it has undergone no reduction for 300 years, we see what a mine of wealth Newfoundland has in her surrounding seas. The value of codfish too has been steadily rising in the markets of the world. Since the revolutions in Italy and Spain, commercial restrictions have been removed, and intercourse between the seaboard and the interior improved in these countries. A greater demand for the codfish of Newfoundland has thus been secured, and at an enhanced price. The termination of the war between Brazil and Paraguay has also opened new markets for our staple produce, while the rise in the price of butcher's meat in Britain leads to a larger consumption of our cod. The demand for it in tropical countries must continue to increase; while Lent, in all Roman Catholic countries, secures a certain consumption at that season. All these causes have raised the price of the best codfish there to $4.65 per quintal—a figure which is so high that it can scarcely be maintained. In addition to this advantage, our fishermen have their provisions at a very moderate cost this year—a barrel of flour not exceeding six dollars in price. —Correspondence St. John Telegraph.

The Montreal "Gazette" learns that Mr. McTavish, late Governor of the Hudson Bay Company's territory, died at Liverpool on the 23rd inst.

Diseases such as Consumption, Bronchitis, Debility from Typhoid and other low fevers, from excessive grief, study, or close confinement, and prostration of the vital powers, yield to Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites sooner than any remedy ever before discovered.

The muscles of the stomach are strengthened, digestion becomes complete, the absorbent vessels take up the nutrition, the blood becomes vitalized and pure, the nervous system vigorous, and the thin, pale, or sallow-complexioned become plump and hearty, and regain the ruddy tint of health.

THE SECRET TREATY.—Berlin, July 31.—The Anzeiger publishes a circular addressed by Count Bismark, on the 29th instant, to the representatives of Prussia at the Courts of neutral Powers. The document gives the following exposé of the secret negotiations between France and Prussia:—

"Before the Danish war," says Count Bismarck, "the French Legation at Berlin urged an alliance between France and Prussia for the purpose of mutual aggrandizement. France, anticipating a war with Austria, as a consequence of the Danish war, made overtures for the restoration of the Luxembourg frontier of 1814; the acquisition of Saarburg and Louden, while a broader settlement of the boundary question on the basis of language was not to be excluded. These instances in May, 1866, took the form of a proposition for alliance, offensive and defensive, the manuscript original of which is in the Foreign-office here. The propositions are as follows:—

1st. Should a Congress of Powers assemble, Italy is to have Venetia, and Prussia the Duchies.

2nd. Should Congress disagree, the alliance, offensive and defensive, will be made between France and Prussia.

3rd. Prussia to open hostilities against Austria within ten days after the dissolution of the Congress.

4th. Should no Congress meet, Prussia to attack Austria within thirty days after the signature of the present treaty.

5th. Napoleon to begin hostilities against Austria as soon as Prussia begins, despatching 300,000 men during the first month across the Rhine.

6th. No separate treaty to be made by either Power with Austria when the joint treaty is made—the following to be the conditions:

1.—Venetia to go to Italy.
2.—Prussia to select German territory at will for annexation, the number of inhabitants not to exceed eight millions of souls—the territory thus acquired to become part of the kingdom of Prussia without federal rights.
3.—France to have a liberal share of the Rhine provinces.
4.—A military and maritime alliance to be made between France and Prussia, to which Italy may be a party should she so desire.

This programme, the circular states, was rejected in June, 1866, in spite of the threatening urgency of France. Proposals were incessantly renewed, with modifications, sacrificing Belgium and South Germany; but they were never seriously entertained by Prussia. For the sake of peace, however, it was thought best to leave Napoleon to his delusions. No word implying approval was returned at the time counted on to revolutionize France and extinguish the scheme; hence the long delay and silence. The attempt against Luxembourg failing, France repeated her former propositions, making the specifications clear in regard to the acquisition of Belgium by France and South Germany by Prussia.

The last propositions were formulated by Count Benedetti himself, and it is improbable that he wrote them without the authority of the Emperor, as they are the same which were made four years ago, under threat of war as the alternative of refusal. Any one acquainted with these antecedents must have known that had Prussia acquiesced in the seizure of Belgium, France would soon have found another Belgium in Prussian territory.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

LONDON Aug. 1, Midnight.—In the Commons to-night the debate on the war question brought a large crowd of persons, who filled the galleries and other places. The feeling of the House was strongly marked in favor of an energetic policy, and when Mr. Cardwell, the Secretary of War, proposed a vote for 20,000 additional troops and two millions sterling, he was loudly cheered; so was Mr. Gladstone when he told Mr. Stapleton that if colliers are chartered to attend the fleet of a belligerent to supply coal, they will, to all practical intents and purposes, become storeships attached to that fleet, and will come under the operation of foreign treaties.

LONDON, Aug. 1, Midnight.—The negotiations between Italy and France for the withdrawal of the French troops from Italian soil have been brought to a satisfactory conclusion. The Italian Government has guranteed the preservation of order in Rome and the French troops have vacated the city.

LONDON, Aug 1, Midnight.—The French Government requires passports of all foreigners entering or leaving France.

LONDON, August 2.—The first instalment of French troops from Rome arrived at Marseilles this morning.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Evening.—An official despatch from Metz announces that to-day, at 11 o'clock in the morning the French had a serious engagement with the Prussians. Our army took the offensive, crossed the frontier and invaded the territory of Prussia. In spite of the numbers and position of the enemy, a few of our batallions were sufficient to carry the heights which commanded Saarbruck, and our artillery soon drove the enemy from town. The impetuousity of our troops was so great that our losses were slight. The engagement commenced at 11 o'clock and ended at 1. The Emperor assisted at the operations, and Prince Imperial, who accompanied him, was everywhere received with enthusiasm on this first battle field. His presence of mind and sang froid in danger were worthy of the name he bears. The Emperor returned to Metz at 4 p. m.

Important despatches have been received from the Hague announcing that a desperate naval battle has been fought off the German coast, resulting in the loss of a Prussian cruiser.

Later.—Another telegram from the Hague states that on Wednesday last two French cruisers overtook some Prussian gunboats in an estuary of the Elbe, on the North German coast, a few miles distant from Coxhaven, a seaport village, about 58 miles northwest of Hamburg, on the west bank of the Elbe. The action was spirited and resulted in the destruction of one of the Prussian gunboats, she being sunk by a shot of the enemy.

LONDON, August 4.—the affair at Saarbruck is greatly magnified in French accounts, and depreciated by the Prussians; the latter claim that only two companies defended the place.

PARIS, August 3.—The Emperor on his return to Metz, after the battle, sent the following telegraphic despatch to the Empress:

"Louis has received his baptism of fire; he was admirably cool and little impressed.

"A divisiou of Frossard's command carried the heights overlooking Saarbruck.

"The Prussians made a brief resistance.

"Louis and I were in front where the bullets flew about us.

"Louis keeps a ball he picked up.

"The soldiers wept at his tranquility.

"We lost an officer and ten men.

(Signed) NAPOLEON."

The city of Metz was illuminated last night in honor of the victory.

After the retreat of the Prussians the French did not occupy the the place.

London, Aug 5 (midnight.—The report that Sarrlouis had been taken by the French, after a brilliant engagement, proves unfounded. The report came from Paris and is contradicted by a later despatch, which says there has been no fighting yet at that point.

PARIS, Aug. 5, evening.—La Liberte, in an extra issued this evening, says that it has received information that heavy fighting has been going on since morning at several points along the frontier.

At one o'clock yesterday afternoon three regiments of Gen. Douay's division, and a brigade of Light Cavalry were attacked at Wissembourg, by a very considerable force of the enemy, who had been massed in the woods skirting the Lauter river. Our troops for several hours resisted the attack of the enemy, and then retired to the summit of Pigeon Hill, the eminence of which commands the line of railroad to Richi. General Douay was killed.—One piece of artillery, the horses having been killed and the carriage broken, fell into the hands of the Prussians.

Berlin, Aug. 6 via London 10.30 p.m.—The Prince Royal telegraphs the following bulletin from the field of battle: "A victorious battle was fought near Worth. Marshal McMahon was totally beaten by the larger portion of my command. The French retires upon Bitche."

Signed,
Frederick William, Prince Royal.
Field of battle near Worth, 4.20 p.m.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—The following official despatch has been received here:

Mayence, Aug. 6, 10, p. m.—The French have turned back on their entire line and have commenced to retreat towards the interior of France.

Saarbruck, Aug. 7, p.m.—The town of Saarbruck has just been retaken by the first Prussian Army corps, under the command of Gen. Steinmetz.

Aug. 7, 4, a.m.—The Prince Royal reports last evening as follows:—"In the battle in which we defeated McMahon, whose corps had been reinforced by divisions from the corps of Joilby and Canrobert, we have taken two eagles, 6 mittralleurs and at least 4000 prisoners.

Gen Bagi was wounded.

The loss was great on both sides.

Berlin, Aug. 6, via London 1.30, p.m.—The French Emperor has withdrawn his entire line, and is concentrating his troops for the defence of Paris. His losses have been enormous.

King William sends the following despatch to the Queen of Prussia:—

"Good news! A great victory has been won by our Fritz. God be praised for his mercy. We captured 4,000 prisoners, thirty guns, two standards, and six mitrailleurs. McMahon during the fight was heavily reinforced from the main army. The contest was very severe, and lasted from 11 in the morning till 9 at night, when the French retreated, leaving the field to us. Our losses were heavy."

Mentz, Aug. 6, (midnight.)—Marshal McMahon has lost the battle. Gen. Frossart, who was on the Saar, has been obliged to retire. His retreat was effected in good order. All can be re-established.

Signed, Napoleon.

Mentz, Aug 7, 3.30, a.m.—My communications with Marshal McMahon have been intercepted. I am going to place myself in the centre of the position.

Signed, Napoleon.

The "Express" special telegram last evening contains the following:

Paris, Aug. 7.—A proclamation from the Empress of the French says:

The details of our losses are wanting. The situation, however is not compromised, but the enemy is on our territory, and a serious effort is necessary.

A battle appears imminent, and in presence of the grave news our duty is plain. We appeal to the patriotism and energy of all.

The French chambers have been convoked, and were placing Paris, with all possible haste, in a state of defence. In order to facilitate the execution of military preparations we therefore declare Paris in a state of siege. There must be no faint-heartedness, no divisions. Our resources are immense, let us pursue the struggle without flinching and the country will be saved.

By order of the Empress Regent.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Count Bismarck, in a despatch, sends the following:—

"Field of Battle, 1.10 p. m., 7.

In the battle at Haguenau, Marshal McMahon was totally defeated and retreated to Bitchie. The French lost thirty cannon and six thousand prisoners.

BISMARCK."

In the other fight, on Saturday, near Saarbruck, General Froissard's (French) corps was retreating on Metz when the Prussian centre overtook and attacked them with great force, bringing on a general engagement, which lasted for six hours, and resulted in the full retreat of the French when night came on. The battle was a very severe one, and the loss frightful. The mitralleur did terrible execution, but the Prussians resorted to the bayonet and wrought fearful carnage. There are many computations as to the number of the killed and wounded in the two battles of Saturday at Haguenau and at Saarbruck, but no official statement has yet been issued.

By last accounts the Prussian forces had reached a road leading to Metz, along which they were pushing their columns.

Marshal McMahon has re-opened communications with General Froissard, and is reported by Prussian spies to be trying to reach Nancy.

The object of the Prussian Generals is not yet clear to the general observer.

It is supposed by some that it is intended to continue operations upon the Rhine and to attack Strasbourg. By others, it is thought the Prussian object is to fix the field for a gigantic battle before Metz and Nancy.

The Emperor Napoleon published yesterday, (Sunday) through France, the official report of the two defeats, on Saturday.

The French people are greatly aroused.—The excitement is intense everywhere. Great indignation is manifested. Crowds filled the streets of Paris, vowing "vengeance. The masses surged along the great streets clamouring "vengeance against the Prussians; has a Bismarck."

Nothing approaching the excitement in intensity has been exhibited for years. From all the great towns the same report comes.—"Vengenance upon the Prussians" is the nation's cry.

All the year round, "Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders," should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in summer, they should only be given in Winter and Spring.

Officers and Soldiers who served in the Army, Physicians, Surgeons, and eminent men and women everywhere, join in recommending "Johnson's Anoydyne Liniment to be the best internal and external family medicine ever invented. That's our experience

" by Mail, postage paid, $1.20 " " or 12 cents single copy.

Early orders are requested.

2. We understand that a Lecture on "The Holy Land," is to be delivered in the Halifax Grafton Street Church, on Thursday evening, the 18th iust., by the REVD. LACHLAN TAYLOR, D. D., of Toronto.—Further notice will be given hereafter.

3. Complimentary Addresses and Valuable Presentations.

(1) Our attention has been called to an address presented to the Rev. E. Evans, as he was leaving Chatham, which is signed by the leading members of the Protestant Community of all denominations in that town. It was accompanied, as we learn by the Union Advocate, by a purse containing about $120.

(2) We learn from a Commudication written by a Circuit Steward, and dated at Tryon, P.E.I., July 24th, that the labors of the Rev. T. J. Dienstadt, for two years on the Bedeque and Tryon Circuit, have been very acceptable and useful, and that he recently passed thence to St. John, cheered by unambiguous tokens of the high appreciation, which, those among whom he had been laboring, had of his faithful services. A purse of £37, P. E. I. cy., was presented, and he left followed by the prayers of many devoted friends who had received profit from his Ministry.

4. We are requested by the Rev. C. Ladner of Newfoundland, to most gratefully acknowledge the liberal donation of 20 dollars left some time since with the Editor of the Provincial Wesleyan, by the aged widow of an old Missionary, for the Old Perlican Church. He says:—

"Her help has made quite a pleasant sensation among our poor fishermen, who really feel grateful, and has encouraged me in as much as that our modest request for one of the first stations occupied in Newfoundland, and indeed in British America met with so encouraging an answer. Will you be so kind as to renew the request, and with your own pen, ask our friends for a little assistance? In so doing, you will cheer us all and give a further token of the connexional sympathy which should exist among us.

Perhaps if the many friends could be made aware of the very limited means of our congregation to complete this House of Worship, or would look upon our New Church on this rocky coast, as a Memorial Sanctuary in which such faithful servants of Our Lord and the Church, labored with success, namely, Hoskins, Hickson, Lewis, Noall, Wilson, Barr, and many others who have been called to their reward, they would perhaps contribute the value of a board or brick.

I am again reminded on examining the registers that those Fathers and Brethren, now with you in the other Provinces, either labored here or preached in the old House of Prayer, with such profit to themselves and the people as both could testify.—Angwin, Addy, England, Sprague, McMurray, Prestwood, and Nicolson.

And it was in this place, among the people of this Circuit, (who deeply mourned over the removal of their much loved Pastor) that Brother Gaetz was removed from the scene of labor to that of eternal rest. Will not our friends of the Colonies thus render a little help to build this House for God—and thus on the old field of spiritual toil, raise a monument by which former labor and workers shall be remembered.

Any amounts, however small, will be most thankfully received, and the donors duly appreciated.

I hope you will understand my desire in the matter, and that we may be countenanced in this good work if only in a small way.

You will be pleased to hear that there is a turning to the Lord in Island Cove. May the cloud arise and spread over the whole land.

May I also ask you to say you would receive contributions? It is my hope to get a few bricks from P. E. Island, Nova Scotia and N. Brunswick friends."

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, will be received at this office until noon of THURSDAY, the 15th day of September next, for the construction of a Breakwater at Little Hope Island, on the South-west coast of Nova Scotia.

Plans and specifications can be seen at this office, or at the office of Dr. J. F. Forbes, M. P., Liverpool, N. S., or at the Railway Office, Halifax, on and after the 10th day of August next, where printed forms of tender can also be obtained.

The siganatures of two solvent and responsible persons, willing to become sureties for the due fulfilment of the contract, must be attached to each tender.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest, or any tender.

By order,
F. BRAUN, Secretary.

Railway and Town Bonds

$1,000,000 Security for $1,000,000 Debt.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE ST. STEPHEN RAILWAY COMPANY, GUARANTEED BY THE TOWN OF ST. STEPHEN'S are becoming a favorite security, some leading Capitalists of various parts of this Province and of Nova Scotia have already invested largely in them.

Having, before putting these bonds upon the market under the direction of one of our most reliable Legal Advisors, made the fullest enquiry as to the issue and endorsation of these bonds, I have much pleasure in recommending them as an investment that will, I think, give the utmost security and satisfa tion.

These bonds are still offered at 95. The interest for even months only added. Parties purchasing before the first of the month WILL GET THE ACCRUED INTEREST for the present month in addition to the FIVE PER CENT DISCOUNT from the face of the bonds, and these have NOW ONLY ABOUT FIFTEEN AND A HALF YEARS TO RUN, they will be found to YIELD OVER 6½ PER CENT INTEREST PER ANNUM.

Parties investing for Estates cannot find security paying the same rate of interest, that will be more reliable. For additional information see advertisement elsewhere in this paper, or apply by letter or otherwise to.

M. H. RICHEY, Esq.
JAMES F. AVERY, Esq., M D.,
JOHN DUFFUS, Esq.
W. C. SILVER, Esq.
GEO. P. MITCHELL, Esq.

The Board of Managers being desirous to open the above Institution at an early day, request that applications on behalf of proposed pupils may be forwarded to the Corresponding Secretary, if possible by the first day of September next.

Young blind persons, between the ages of 8 and 18, satisfactorily recommended, will be admitted at $12.00 per annum, payable by half yearly instalments in advance. This sum covers all expenses of board, washing, tuition, and medical attendance. The pupils must furnish their own clothing and pay their own fares to and from the institution.

The Board will receive and consider special applications for the admission of Indigent Blind Pupils.

Forms of application and any further information desired, will be furnished on application to
