FREDERICTON, JULY 7, 1894.

BIGGER GAME.

General Herbert heretofore has been content to humble a lieutenant, a captain or some such modest individual in the militia service, but this week he hangs in his belt the scalp of Col. Powell, Adjutant General of all Canada, and next in command after the General himself. What particular act Col. Powell has been guilty of is not clearly indicated from official quarters, but it is probable that he has met the General somewhere and failed to properly salute His Serene Highness. Our military big wig is mighty particular on even the smallest points of etiquette. About the only excitement we have in military circles these days is the occasional news that the General has "sustained" somebody, and he will keep on suspending till, like Luard and Middleton, he himself will have to leave the country. The General has an idea that being a "blawsted British officah," he should have all things at his feet, but the government and the militia are great fools if they submit to his arrogant and overbearing dictation. It is said that every man in Canada who wears a military uniform trembles to his very shoes when he hears the General approach. A story is told of his bad manners as exhibited at a social gathering in this city not very long ago. At his request an officer high in authority had prepared a paper on some military topic, which he read at the gathering at the General's suggestion. The guests in turn were asked for criticisms, and when it came to His Highness, turning to the officer he said the paper was very good indeed in a way, but as it failed entirely to touch the question he had suggested for discussion, the officer's labor was entirely lost, or words to that effect. That is the way the story reached THE HERALD, and our informant remarked that with the other guests he felt very deeply for the confusion of the officer whose effort was so little appreciated by his superior.

That General Herbert has the Ministers entirely under his control was well evidenced by his destruction of the R. R. C. I. band at this station. Mr. Foster was going down to Belmont to a political picnic and his friends wanted some music to brighten the thing up a bit. The military band was engaged, but it never lived to play at another political picnic. The General heard about it and swooped down with an order for its extinction. Mr. Foster knows the reason, but he does not attempt to wrestle with the General who reigns supreme over the militia department. Col. Powell just now is the individual feeling the weight of the great General's displeasure, but the order of suspension has been set aside by the minister of militia, who for once has evidently taken the bull by the horns.

THE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

The eastern section of the C. P. railway has been singularly free from serious accidents, and the horror of Monday which is given in detail on the first page of THE HERALD will send a thrill of sorrow through the mind of every reader. A railway train with a fairly full passenger list, booming along on its journey from Montreal to St. John in the early hours of the morning, suddenly crashes through a trestlework, down to the bottom of a rocky abyss, four human beings meet instant death, and a number of others are maimed for life. What a blessing the Pulman and first class passenger coach were not also hurled into the death inviting ditch. Supt. Timmerman, who has been at the scene of the wreck, says the accident was due to obstructions placed on the track by some murderous wretch, and in this opinion he is backed up by the Maine Railway Commissioners who have been on the spot. Some of the passengers allege that the trestle was rotten, and hold the railway authorities responsible for the slaughter. It is scarcely worth while arguing the point at this stage, as the only living witness of the accident, fireman McDonald, is still unconscious and unable to tell his story. He is in a fair way of recovering, and will be able to settle the disputed question. One can scarcely credit the story that the company would take the risk of running their trains over a rotten trestle. Why they have lost the entire train wrecked on Monday, and the cost of that would rebuild the trestle a great many times, and besides the company by neglecting to keep its property in repair, would become responsible for heavy damages to sufferers by such neglect. On the other hand it is difficult to believe that there are fiends in human form capable of committing wholesale murder such as Monday's disastar entailed. May not the accident be attributed to some other cause, a rail spreading perhaps, or some such contingency as that. The company, firm in the conviction that the accident was designed, have offered a reward of $4,000 for the discovery of the person or persons who committed the crime, and when the injured fireman has sufficiently recovered to tell his story, will hold an investigation.

A STUDIED INSULT.

A fully substantiated report comes from Ottawa, that the Ministers had no intention of giving Hon. Mr. Laurier an opportunity to speak at the banquet given the intercolonial delegates, until the Liberal members of parliament discovered the program, and refused to attend the function until their honored leader was placed on the toast list. The evident intention of the Ministers to injure Mr. Laurier and push only themselves to the front, was an insult,not only to the Liberal leader and his followers in parliament, but to every Liberal in the country. But Mr. Laurier and his friends had their own satisfaction. The managers of the banquet were not only compelled to give Mr. Laurier a chance to speak, but they had also to hear from his lips the most polished and eloquent address delivered during the evening, and that, too, in a round of excellent speeches. The Montreal Star, an independent Conservative newspaper, says that Hon. Mr. Laurier admittedly delivered the discourse of the evening. His eloquence thrilled the vast assembly, and when he concluded, hundreds rose to their feet and shouted themselves hoarse.

THE Telegraph, after pulling down the University of New Brunswick, is after the professors and the senate of that institution. Dr. Inch also receives a criticism from our rather erratic contemporary, but THE HERALD understands that as long as the Telegraph artist lets the Chief Superintendent alone, he does not mind what the editor says about him.

THE FINAL RESULT.

Although there have been a few changes in the results of the Ontario elections, as at first announced, the final returns show that Sir Oliver Mowat has been sustained by a good working majority of straight Liberals, that Mr. Meredith does not command one-third of the new legislature, and that religious toleration in Ontario, is a real thing, which even the recent bitter crusade could not down. The Liberals will have in the new House a majority of eight or ten over all other parties combined. In a house of 94, Sir Oliver Mowat will have a compact following of over fifty stalwart and avowed supporters. More than half of the avowed Patrons are Liberals, and most of them were really the Liberal candidates in all but name. Their support will raise the government majority for all ordinary purposes, to nearly twenty.

Mr. Meredith suffered a crushing defeat. His personal party followers number scarcely more than half of Sir Oliver Mowat's, and he cannot count on being able to draw into his camp the unattached members. Everybody knows how the "independent" member votes. It is for the government and patronage every time. The probability is that Mr. Meredith will find himself in control of about one-third of the Chamber when things assume a normal position. The Patrons will number about one-sixth of the members, but as they do not hold the balance of power, they will probably not hold together as an organization for parliamentary purposes. Those of them who are Liberals will naturally fall into line as supporters of Sir Oliver Mowat; those who are Conservatives will either do the same thing, or gradually attach themselves to Mr. Meredith. The P. P. A. is practically "not in it," in the Assembly. Some members of the society are members of the House, but only one avowed P. P.A. candidate has been elected, Mr. McCallum, of East Lambton — and, as an old Liberal, he will probably be found supporting the Mowat government on general questions.

HAD TO PAY UP.

THE members of the York municipal council, have discovered that the authority of that august body is not quite so extended or final as the Czar of Russia's will. Last January, to the discredit of the county,, they refused to pay some perfectly legitimate bills incurred in the trial and conviction of Edward Wheary. The chief reason, no doubt, was that two or three of Mr. Blair's friends were interested in the charges, and the average York county councillor, with a few exceptions, will stay up all night at any time to have a whack at Mr. Blair or his friends. But there is a higher authority in New Brunswick than even the York county council, and it was found necessary in this instance to call it into action. The legislature stepped in and compelled the county authorities to pay their just debts. The matter was briefly discussed at the council, Tuesday afternoon, and when it was shown what the statute was, the councillors,with one or two exceptions, swallowed their medicine like men. An up-river representative, however, squirmed perceptibly, and announced that he'd "never come back any more." He and his fellow councillors were only "tools," he said, and he would not submit to government dictation. The situation was intensely interesting, and it is a pity the Attorney General could not have been present and witnessed the agony of his old time enemies. However, they have paid up and look as pleasantly as possible under the rather distressing circumstances, and the next time they fool with criminal prosecution accounts, they will first see at which end the bills are loaded.

THE British Columbia local elections are taking place to-day, and despatches from the Pacific Coast indicate a general belief that Premier Davie and his government will be sustained. There are a number of easily manipulated far away baby constituencies, which, together with the dead-sure Island boroughs, makes the election reasonably safe for the Government, though the cities and larger ridings on the mainland are very doubtful. The Opposition people in Vancouver are seriously handicapped, as their recognized leader, Mr. Cotton, editor of the News Advertiser, is serving a term in gaol for contempt of court.

THE great strike has paralyzed railway traffic in the United States. Yesterday at Chicago, six men were killed and many wounded, and numerous fires were started by the strikers. The troops are being called out at various points, and grave damages threaten the country.

YORK MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

One Day Finished the Business.

The July meeting of the York Municipal Council was called to order at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Warden McKeen in the chair All the councillors except Coun. Heron were present and answered to their names.

After routine committees were appointed as follows:

Sec. Treasurer's Accounts.— Councillors Fullerton, Mowatt, Kinghorn, Estabrooks. and Jamieson.

Public Accounts.— Councillors Graham, Murray, Hallett, Simmons, Cropley, Boies, Lawrence, Nason, Pinder, Thompson, Estabrooks, Carr, and Geo. S. Inch.

Adjourned.

Afternoon Session.

When the Board was called to order after dinner, Secy. Black reported that all three bills prepared for the legislature had passed as follows: (1) to provide for conveying certain school laws in Canterbury; (2) to divide the parish of Dumfries and constitute the parish of McAdam therefrom; (3) to authorize the assessment of $500 paid the Gibson fire sufferers.

Coun. Hallet moved additional parish officers for Queensbury as follows: Geo. Manuel, Highway Commissioner; Theodore Jones and Samuel Hill, Constables; Ludlow R. Cliff, Joel Woodworth and George Parent, Road Surveyors.

Coun. Fisher wanted to hear from the committee on the Almshouse dispute. They had two years to do their work and it was about time they reported or resigned.

Coun. Kinghorn said the committee had met a city committee, but no understanding had yet been arrived at. The committee hoped, however, to have a report for the January meeting.

On motion of Coun. Cliff, Basil Goodine was appointed pound-keeper for the islands in Kingsclear.

Coun. Fullerton submitted the report of the committee on the Secy. Treasurer's accounts: The total payments from Nov. 30, 1893 to June 30, 1894, including the balance of $2,536.61, due the Merchants bank Nov. 30 last, amounted to $15,597.05; the total receipts for the same period were $8,042.16. The amount overdrawn at the Merchants' bank on June 30, 1894, was $7, 554.89. Correct vouchers are on file for all payments.

On motion of Coun. Lawrence the changes made in the Douglas list of Parish Officers since the January session were confirmed.

On motion of Coun. Jamieson all Parish Officers appointed for Canterbury since the January meeting were confirmed.

Secy. Trea. Black said the Council had no authority to appoint Parish Officers at the July session. Any vacancies could be filled by the councillors during the recess, and did not require confirmation.

On motion of Coun. Simmons John McTague and David Carson, assessors, were ordered to be paid $5 each for attending the E. A. Berry assessment appeal, and charged to Dumfries.

On motion of Coun. Murray, section eight of the bye-law relating to the running at large of cattle and sheep on islands and intervals, was changed, increasing the rate on sheep from five to eight cents.

Coun. Kinghorn presented a bye-law to establish a part of island and interval district viz.: from the upper end of Glencoe island to the lower end of McLaughlin's island as a separate pound district.

Couns. Murray and Cliff opposed the change, and the bye-law was withdrawn.

Coun. Fullerton said he found on examing the Secy. Treasurer's accounts that bills amounting to $297 in connexion with the Wheary trial, rejected by the Council last January had been paid by the Secretary Treasurer. He said this council had not met since January to order the payment of accounts and he thought an explanation was in order.

Secy. Trea. Black said while it was true the council had not met since last January, the Legislature had, and had passed a law which compelled the payment of such accounts. He read the statute and said that under it he had paid the accounts mentioned by Coun. Fullerton.

Coun. Fullerton said he supposed there was no getting out of it now.

Coun. Scott said we were only tools here for the legislature. We issue the warrants of assessment and collect the taxes, and the legislature does the rest. He thought he would resign before another session.

Coun. Pinder submitted the report of the public accounts committee, recommending the payment of the following accounts:

F. White, Scott Act case, to be paid from Scott Act fines,.....	$32 75
J. B Grieves.....	12 00
M. B. McNally.....	6 00
W. H. Carten.....	4 60
T. A. Wilson.....	34 50
Anderson & Walker.....	6 15
Ellis, Robertson & Co.....	8 00
S. Watt.....	11 50
H. B. Rainsford for services in Millville burglary cases.....	80 00
John Black, drawing bills for legislature.....	15 00
J. B, Hawthorn, Millville burglary case account, $72, ordered to be paid at.....	55 00

The accounts in the Queen vs. Carson were thrown out.

The committee recommended that a typewriter be purchased at $100 for use in the Secy. Treas. office.

Coun. Kinghorn opposed the typewriter recommendation. He was just thinking of asking for a committee to see where we could economize.

After some further discussion the report of the committee was adopted and the accounts named above were ordered to be paid.

Coun. Jamieson moved to restore the salary of Peter Haining, caretake, to $180, the figure it was at before last January. Coun. Cropley seconded the resolution.

Coun. Kinghorn had moved the reduction and he could not vote for this resolution.

Coun. Scott was in favor of the resolution.

Coun. McNally thought the work could be done for $75.

The resolution was carried on the following division:

Yeas — Graham, McMullin, Murray, Scott, Pinder, Lockhart, Carr, Jamieson, Cropley, Fullerton, Fisher, Nason — 12.

Nays — McNally, Hallett, Lawrence, Kinghorn, Estabrooks, Geo. S. Inch, Simmons, Mowatt, Thompson, Cliff — 10.

Coun. Cliff moved for a committee of five to ascertain if some means cannot be taken to reduce the heavy taxes levied on the people.

Coun. Scott wanted to know where the committee would start.

Coun. Cliff said the committee could place the blame for the increase where it belonged — to the government, to the council, or to the Secretary Treasurer — wherever it ought to be placed.

Coun. Pinder suggested a reduction in the membership of the council. While the question of economy was up, he might mention that Sheriff Sterling had complained he could not get good men to serve as constables for $1.00.

Couns. Kinghorn, Scott and Fisher said there were plenty of men to be had in the County for $1 a day.

Coun. Nason said there were lots of men in his parish who would grab for the job at $1 a day.

Coun. Cliff's resolution was carried and the Warden appointed Couns. Cliff, Pinder, Scott, McNally and Murray the committee.

Secy. Trea. Black reported that Wesley VanWart, acting for Mrs. Minchin Gordon had called his attention to a claim Mrs. Gordon has for two debentures, one for $200 and one for $300, formerly held by her brother Geo. Minchin, which had never been paid and are lost. The coupons had all been cut off and paid, but the principal is still due. Mrs. Gordon only claimed the principal. Mr. VanWart wanted the Council to deal with the matter.

On motion of Coun. Pinder, the question was referred to the debenture committee with power to act.

On motion of Coun. Graham the valuators were ordered to meet the assessors and adjust the valuation of the new parish of McAdam before October next.

Coun. Cliff moved that the reporters at the Council be paid the usual amount for their services. Coun. Fisher seconded the resolution. Carried.

The Council adjourned sine die.

Spoke Plainly Enough.

During the course of Canon Ketchum's sermon on Sunday morning, says the St. Andrews Beacon, he made allusions to the meeting of the synod. There were some familiar figures, he said, that would be missed from it. Chief Justice Allen's ill-health would no doubt prevent him from attending. He had always been a pillar of strength in the courts of the church. Death had taken away others during the year. There were two others who had fallen away lately. One of these, it had been stated, was guilty of nothing more than an indiscretion, but in one holding the high office he did, no indescretion could be condoned or overlooked. In the case of the other, who had always appeared wise and kindly, moderate in his views and full of charity, all were startled to hear of his doubts and his intention to abandon the church. While he hoped this would not occur, he felt that his usefulness as a minister of the church was gone. The speaker attributed his doubting condition to an increasing tendency to physical disability and a want of balance in mental power,

Glass! Glass!

JUST received from the manufacturers direct, 572 fifty feet boxes of Window Glass, assorted sizes, from 7x9, to 34x60, good clean glass.

Of what use is a window if you can't see through it, some glass is so crooked that you can't distinguish a man from a horse. A man may be just as straight as an arrow, yet cheap glass is likely to make him appear hump-backed and walking on three legs.

Plate glass costs more but not very much. It is clear as crystal, and will last enough longer to pay the slight advance. Should you think of buying, call on or write us. But if you want cheap glass we can sell it to you, but it is like a handsome child with a dirty face.

Plate glass is now so reasonable in price that no well to do house owner has any excuse for using cheap glass. Plate glass costs no more to set, does not break so easily, looks better, transmits more light, and gives an undistorted view. We will be glad to talk over the glass question with any interested party. We can furnish any kind of glass wanted, any size any thickness. Old hats and rags may fill holes in broken panes but they are more picturesque than elegant, we can furnish you with a nice new pane or box of glass that you can see better through than the old hat or rags.
