SAPPHO IMPASSIONATE.

BY HOWARD GLYNDON.

O smile that draws my heart! O voice that wins
My ears from hearing any other sound!
O eyes! in which my love of life begins,
In which its end is found!

That only one to whom thou givest thy love,
And each and all of its delights most dear,
In my and mind is set the earth above,
Of the high gods the peer!

When thee I see, from vein to vein there leaps
A strange, fine thrill, that centres in my breast,
Kindling the longing chambered in its deeps—
A sweet but fatal guest!

Helpless, distracted, all unprized, I hang
Upon thy look, thy gesture, step, and tone;
Delirious—lost—glad of the wondrous pang
That stabs but me alone.

But me alone? Ah, if thou shouldst but stretch
Thine arms to me, and gloriously draw nigh,
Like Icarus, that fond and foolish wretch
Flame-ravished, I could but die!

NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

Wood's Household Magazine, for May, has an abundance of excellent reading. There is the real go-ahead snap to this periodical which entitles it to much credit, and we cannot name one that will afford an equal amount of entertainment and instruction for so little money. The number before us contains among other articles a paper entitled "Poor Jack," by F. W. Holland, in the interest of seamen; "The Child in the Church," by Mary Hartwell; "Kin and Kad," by H. V. Osborne; "Dumb Days," by Caroline B. LeRow, and some good poetry. There are several illustrative articles, the New York Fashions, Architectural Designs, &c., &c. Price of Magazine one dollar per year.

Mrs. Lizzie Kearney of West Rutland, Vt., while in a fit of insanity, drowned herself and infant Monday night.

An elegantly furnished house at Des Moines, Ill., was robbed of everything except a cooking stove during the absence of the family.

Frederick Myrick, a farmer and speculator, of Bridgeport, Vt., was assaulted Monday night on the highway, and robbed of $250. His head was beaten almost to a jelly.

A St. Louis lawyer has been debarred from practising for three years for appropriating all the funds of his client. As this decision applies to his case only, there is no hope for an immediate abolition of the legal profession.

The temperance cause must be advancing—for a find in one of our primary schools having refused to spell cider was called to the desk to explain, when he said he had signed the pledge.—Bangor Whig.

There are 40,000 commercial travellers in the United States, and it costs over $67,000,000 a year to keep them moving.

An old fogy in Philadelphia objects to paying a gas bill of $16, for the frivolous reason that there are no burners in his house.

"The Yale Seniors won the foot-ball match last Saturday." The way the study of the classics develops the feet now-a-days is really wonderful to contemplate.

The New Haven agent of a life insurance company nearly brained himself with an axe a day or two since. That he was not quite successful is only to be accounted for from the too well-known fact that a life insurance agent never "goes out" when axed to do so.

A gentleman in Lafayette being asked "to take a drink" declined, but said, if no objections were made, he would take a loaf of bread for his. The party went to a bakery, the treater bought a tenscent loaf of bread, had it done up, and his friend took it home. The loaf was afterwards sent to a needy family.

The whole amount of the annual wine production of the United States is estimated in round numbers at 20,000,000 gallons, and the market value at $14,000,000, the business not having been commenced until some ten years ago. It is divided round in larger or smaller quantities. To California, 5,000,000 gallons; Ohio, 3,000,000; New York, 3,000,000; Missouri, 2,500,000; Illinois, 2,500,000; Pennsylvania, 2,000,000; Iowa, 400,000, and so downwards. In New England—Massachusetts, 5,000; and Connecticut, 20,000 gallons.

The ill effects of putting heavy charges of rent, wharfage, &c., upon business, are illustrated in the case of the city of Louisville, that at one time had a great river trade, which is reported upon honeyborn authority to have been driven off to Cincinnati and other places by the high rates of the Wharf Committee, so that now it is said "a jackass could do all the wharf business in a wheelbarrow," and "there are now at the wharf three steamers, each paying big wharfage, and all waiting for enough freight to pay their bills and leave."

A young man in Pittsburg, Pa., was directed to signal an approaching train. While proceeding to comply with these orders he fell upon the track and was run over by five cars and the caboose. His legs were completely cut off just above the knee, but remembering his orders he cleared the track of the dismembered portions of his own body, and taking a flag from his pocket waved it until he had stopped the train, which was fast approaching. But for this heroism other lives must certainly have been lost, as a collision was inevitable.

In New York it is stated that the present Commissioner of Public Works, who is a successor of Tweed, has made a half dozen special contracts involving over a million dollars, without any advertising therefor, the prices charged being 50 per cent. higher than could have been obtained under competition.

This is what the Louisville Courier-Journal is responsible for: An exchange tells us that "Mr. Palmer, of Saratoga County, N. Y., swallowed four false teeth the other day, and seven or eight wise doctors are gradually killing him in the effort to get them up." Why don't they tie a rope round some small sized dentist, and let him down there with a grab-hook?

It is reported from the Pacific that the coffee berry has been found growing wild in Southern California, and as its culture succeeds well in Mexico, the Golden State may soon add this most remunerative crop to its already marvelous list of productions.

GENERAL.

That predilection for the study of theology which the Scotch are said to posses seems not to be the monopoly of the sterner sex. The London Athenæum states that upwards of 200 ladies attended Prof. Macgregor's opening lecture at Edinburgh, most of whom enrolled themselves as members of the new theological class; also that about 150 ladies attended regularly the class of Biblical criticism conducted by Prof. Charteris, the first session of which was recently closed.

We lit the poor fellow at dead of night,
The carcass continually turning,
In order that every side might get its share
Of this new patent process of burning.
No pelting rain storm came wetting the pile
Of faggots to which we had bound him,
No Babcock extinguisher deadened the glare
That formed such a halo around him.

Everything appears to be beaded now in the feminine dress line, from sunshade to underskirt. All kinds of beads are used, from the real jet to those sold at five cents the string. The newest bonnets, said to be imported, are literally covered with beads on top, and the same may be said of the sunshades, which, to be admired, must be always kept up—sun or no sun!

Mackenzie's admirers chuckled when he was raised from a stone mason to a Premier. That's nothing. Here's a shoemaker been made German Consul-General at New York. He spells his name thus: Schumacher. What boots it if the man has a good soul and heals the woes of a suffering people. How one is impressed with the truth of the old quotation "Great aches from little toe-corns grow," or something like that.—Toronto Sun.

"Sacramental Swipes" is the name given to some of the compounds recently made as a substitute for wine to be used in the communion service of the tectotal churches.

A couple of facetious drummers who were on a train of cars that were going very slowly up a sharp grade near Burlington, Vt, made considerable fun of the conductor for the slowness with which the cars were moving, and began to amuse themselves by jumping off from the rear car and running around the train. Soon, however, the cars reached the top of the hill and began to spin off at a rapid rate. One of the men succeeded in jumping on, but the other was compelled to walk four miles to the next station.

Aunt Frankie Flowers of Bowling Green, Ky., claims to have been the first "crusader" against the whiskey ring. Several years ago it was proposed to start a large steam distillery in her immediate neighbourhood. She no sooner heard of the fact than she called on the gentlemen and told them that they could not do it; that if they attempted it she would, with a company of women, tear away the house log by log, and burn them in their presence. The distillers took the hint and abandoned the enterprise.

Worse than gunpowder. During the last ten years, $20,000,000 worth of property has been destroyed, and 30,000 persons killed or injured by the use of unsafe oils.

Alluding to the fact that three steamers have been fatally weakened by additions to their length, the Christian Register says; "Many fine sermons have been ruined the same way."

While cremation versus inhumation is exciting general attention throughout the civilized world, aquation, or burial far out at sea, has its advocates in England. We have had too much of that the past winter.

The abstract accounts of the receipts and expenditures of the Commissioners of the British woods and forests for 1873, show the income of the land revenue to have been £418,697; that of Windsor parks and woods £6,152, and of the royal forests and woodlands, £34,054. The total receipts from these sources, including a balance of £20,998 brought forward, amounted to £479,902, while the expenditures amounted to £80,448, and of the net revenue £375,000 was turned over to the Exchequer as surplus, and £24,423 were returned as a balance. The mines account amounted to £42,457, and the expense to £4,153.

FEMININE.

Mark Twain believes in the woman movement if it is confined to the washtub.

"A new bustle, highly approved, is made of cork."—Jennie June. Conceive the unfortunate situation of that bustled woman if she should fall into the water!

A Pennsylvania wife has been cutting off her husband's ears because he was insolent. But, as one of our exchanges remarked a few days since, "Man wants but little ear below."

A New York girl got mad at her Kansas lover and expressed him 1,400 love-letters. She got pleased again next day and telegraphed him to return the letters at her expense.

Bobbs complains that his wife is an inflationist. She blows him up every day, and makes him circulate until he actually feels that he is beyond redemption.—Louisville Commercial.

The Louisiana young women are signing a promise not to marry young men who frequent drinking saloons. They think that every gentleman should have a wine-cellar of his own.

You may talk yourself into a bronchial affection, but you can't convince a Vermont woman that there won't be a death in the family if she dreams of seeing a hen walking a picket fence.

If a lady in a red cloak were to cross a red field in which was a goat, what wonderful transformation would probably take place? The goat would turn to butter and the lady into a scarlet runner.

A young lady in Ohio, was so moved by a sermon that in the midst of the congregation she took out her ear-rings and stripped the flowers from her bonnet.
