The official description of the exports of Canada for the last year goes far to show how groundless is the assertion so often made by the Tories that whatever prosperity the country enjoys is mainly due to the N. P. The exports were:—

Products of the Mine	$ 2,916,254
" " " Fisheries	6,898,881
" " " Forest	25,709,848
Animals and their products	22,665,610
Agricultural products	31,294,127
Manufactures	4,043,123
Miscellaneous	768,650
	$94,296,496
Estimated amount short returned at Inland ports	3,023,322

Coin and Bullion we omit.

The increase was mainly in products of the forest, which increased from $17,666,693 in 1880 to $25,709,848 in 1881; and in the value of animals and their products, butter, cheese, &c., which rose from $18,504,009 in 1880 to $22,665,610 in 1881. In agricultural products there was a slight falling off. In 1880 it amounted to $32,287,128, and in 1881 to only $31,294,127, while the value of manufactures exported fell from $4,484,211 to $4,043,123.

Last session a return of the amount paid as expenses of members of the Government and others who went to England, really or presumably on the business of the Dominion, between the 10th of February and the 16th of December, 1880, was ordered. It was only brought down a few days ago. The items given are—

"Colonel Dennis, travelling expenses for Sir John Macdonald and himself, $700; passage per Allan line, $126.53; Hon. J. H. Pope, travelling expenses, $388.88; expenses of Sir John Macdonald and associate in London, $3,193.31; Sir Charles Tupper, $1,946.66; total, $6,860.38."

The British Government appear to be growing ashamed of employing large bodies of troops in protecting the so-called property defenders in Ireland and Emergency men, some of whom have been found to be dishonest, and all of whom do what they can to increase the excitement and inflame general indignation. In the House of Commons, speaking of a report that the Government was about to withdraw police protection from property defence men, Forster stated that while the Government would afford every protection to caretakers, it must be allowed to judge as to the means and decide each case on its merits. He believed the object would be best attained by a good system of patrolling. It was impossible to give each caretaker a guard of police.

BRITISH WAGES.—When people tell us that protection causes an increase of wages they ignore the conditions existing in the several European countries, and they ignore the lessons of history. In Germany and France, under protection, wages are not as high as in England under free trade, though the hours of labor are longer in the continental countries. In 1840 the industries of England had all the protection they could desire, yet the wages for 12 hours' work were much less than now for 9 or 10 hours' work. Mr. Bright, in his speech at Rochdale last November, quoted some figures which he had gleaned from the books of the establishment of which he is part owner. The following is a summary of wages per week:—

	1840.	1881.
Throstle pieceers,	8s.	13s.
Drawing frames,	7s. 6d.	15s.
Rovers and slubbers,	8s.	14s.
Doffers,	5s. 6d.	9s. 6d.
Warpers,	17s. 6d.	35s. 6d.
Blacksmith,	22s.	34s.

In that same period the population increased by more than 10,000,000, allowing for the reduction in the hours of labor, wages about doubled. This goes to show that the workingmen of England have gained largely by the removal of protection, and the same would be the case in this country if the masses could get to understand their own interest. While population grew from 18,336,000 to 28,792,000, the exports from Great Britain increased from £51,000,000 to £200,000,000. Great Britain now consumes at home 35 per cent. of her entire production of textile fabrics. The value of the portion consumed at home, £65,000,000, is just equal to the amount paid annually to foreign nations for raw material. Great Britain produces three-fourths of the breadstuffs consumed at home, which term includes about five sixths of all the food consumed, while nearly one-third of the meats are imported. If Great Britain had the fish, the timber, the redundancy of grain, fruits and meat, which Canada possesses, her growth in wealth and prosperity under the sensible fiscal system she maintains would be an astonishment and an instruction to the whole world.—Hamilton Times.

The Western Watchman says of St. Louis, Mo.: Five men were hanged in this city, within as many weeks and three more are awaiting their doom in our city jail. Yet on Saturday last a young man, a scion of one of the wealthiest families in this city cruelly murdered his aged grandmother that he might come into possession of a few trinkets that she wore on her person.

One hundred years ago there were only about 100 Catholics in Boston, now there are at least 150,000. Ninety years ago their first church, the cathedral of the Holy Cross, was then building; John Adams, President of the United States, being the first subscriber. There are now 30 Catholic churches in Boston.

A young man of Wokaw, Belgium, who had maliciously interrupted a jubilee sermon, soon after swallowed by mistake half a glass of vitriol, and died after an hour of dreadful suffering. H declared that his death was a punishment from Heaven.

The Suez canal report tells a wonderful story of England's commercial greatness. During the year 2,256 English ships passed the canal. This was four times greater than the total of all other nations put together. Last year not a single American vessel passed the canal. France came next after England, with the magnificent total of 109 ships—one-twentieth of the English. There could not be a more convincing proof of the merits of the two trade systems.

The Mounted Police at Fort McLeod and a band of Blackfeet Indians narrowly escaped having a bloody conflict on the 8th ult. The disturbance arose out of the arrest of Bull Elk, a Blackfoot chief, for firing at a number of whites at Blackfoot Crossing.

ST. PETERSBURG, 18th.—The Metropolitan of Moscow addressed a letter to the Czar, advising him to go to some quiet secluded spot. The Emperor's seclusion, he continues, will lead to a disunion between the Emperor and the people who will finally accustom themselves to dispense with a sovereign. The Czar was irritated by the letter and will eidsavour to have the Metropolitan dismissed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—At a conference of the Navy Department last evening, with regard to the reorganization of the navy, the tenor of the remarks was favorable to the views of the last report of the Secretary of the Navy. It was agreed that the necessities of the service require prompt and liberal action on the part of Congress. Representative Harris submitted a draft bill, which seemed to meet with general favour, providing for increasing and improving the navy. It was the general expression that the larger of the proposed new vessels should be constructed first, and the others built as the needs of the service require. The proposed bill contemplates the construction of large-sized fast cruisers at a total cost of about $9,000,000, and includes one vessel of not less than 5,780 tons; two of not less than 4,500; two of not less than 3,050 tons; one ram, one torpedo gunboat, one cruising torpedo boat, and one harbour torpedo boat. The bill also authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to employ an expert in naval architecture, steam engineering, and ordnance, for assistance and advice in this matter.

The proposed legislation in Germany concerning the various Roman Catholic bishoprics gives interest to the condition in which these sees now find themselves. In the Kingdom of Prussia there are twelve bishoprics, of which three—Kulm, Ermeland, and Hildesheim—have survived the Kulturkampf, keeping their bishops always on their thrones, although they have all had confiscated a considerable part of their revenues. Two sees became vacant by death after the struggle began. They are Trier and Fulda, both of which have recently been provided with new bishops in the appointment of Dr. Karum and Dr. Kopp. Breslau, Osnabruck, and Paderborn became vacant by deposition, and their bishops have since died, but they are now under control of ecclesiastick who discharge most of their episcopal functions without holding the rank. In the four sees that remain—Koln, Posen, Limburg, and Munster—the bishops have been deposed and are still alive, but the sees are without spiritual heads of any kind. It is in these that the Government derives from the Landtag permission to restore the bishops at its discretion. The names of the bishops are Melchers, Ledochowski, Blum, and Brinkman.

That dreadful scandal known as the Park and Boulton case, which astounded London in 1870, has been revived. Boulton and Park were arrested ostensibly for impersonating women, and Lord Arthur Clinton was badly involved in the affair—so badly, indeed, that he committed suicide. It was an article of popular faith at the time that the suicide story was false, and that Lord Arthur simply emigrated to Australia. There were no grounds whatever for this delusion, but the public is now thoroughly satisfied that it was not mistaken from the fact that a woman named Furneaux has been making money by personating his lordship among London tradesmen. The strangest part of the story is that the Furneaux woman has obtained fifteen thousand pounds by personating Lord Arthur. A hundred pounds has been offered for her photograph by one of "the penny dreadful" people, and cheap biographies of her are being sold by thousands. It is not unlikely that Lord Arthur's family—he was uncle of the present Duke of Newcastle—will be compelled to exhume his body to prove he really did take his own life.

Agricultural implements were imported in 1880 to the value of $80,654, and in 1881 the import increased to $90,110. The value of breadstuffs imported in 1880 was $1,799,363. In 1881 breadstuffs to the value of $2,185,801 were imported on which $320,686 of duties were collected. Still the Conservatives assert with their usual assurance, that there is no tax on breadstuffs! Coal to the value of $2,741,854 was imported in 1880. In 1881 the amount increased to $4,090,000, paying a duty of $640,694. Hence we find that from taxes on food and fuel alone the Finance Minister obtained nearly a million dollars of his surplus. Cotton and cotton goods to the value of $8,665,281 were imported in 1880. In 1881 the amount increased to $10,040,275, paying $2,230,693 duty, or over $550,000 more than in the previous year. There was a corresponding increase in the imports of hats and caps, iron and steel, woollen goods, leather goods and other articles which, Sir Leonard claims, should be excluded from our markets.—Montreal Herald.

A HUMAN BELLOWS.—There is a man in the hospital at Salt Lake City, named James Dwyer, who has three bullet holes in his chest, one of which is still unhealed. Through the last-mentioned wound, which is a little way below his left arm pit, he expels air from his lungs. A Tribune reporter visited the man a short time since at Mark's Hospital. He had no hesitation in exhibiting his peculiarity, and when requested to strip, removed his shirt, and showed the reporter four holes in his chest and back, where two bullets had entered, and another where a ball had struck his shoulder and came out under his arm. There was also a hole or two in his leg. From the wound under his armpit he breathed so loudly that the sound of air escaping through the orifice could be heard the length of the room. The reporter held his hand before the hole and felt the air rushing out. Dwyer tells his story as follows:—

"I was in Bonanza city about three years ago. I had a mining claim and a man named Flaxon—Charley was his first name—came at me with a six-shooter for a fight. Well, before I knew it he had filled me up with lead, I had holes all over me, and they crossed this way and that, until I couldn't tell for a certainty which bullet had made any two holes. For a while you could look into one of the holes and see my heart quite plain, but that healed up, and now there is no show to see the heart at all. If you had been here a year or more ago I could have shown you the heart beating right along. I ain't much of an exhibition now; all I can do now is to pump air out of my lungs by this hole. Once I could take it one place and send it out another, but the other hole healed. I was all well once, but the wounds opened again."

"Did you return the fire?" asked the reporter.

"Hadn't any gun; but after I was shot a few times I went for him and got him down, and the crowd pulled me off. When I got him down he began to holler murder; nice chap to be singin' out murder after the way he had acted. He shot his partner once the same way. Guess I'll be out in a few days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The Senate to-day passed a bill authorizing the President, in recognition of the eminent public services of Ulysses S. Grant, late General of the army, to nominate, and by and with consent of the Senate, to appoint him to the army, with rank and grade of General, to be placed on the retired list with pay accordingly.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—Three hundred and twenty-five Jewish refugees arrived, to-day, on the steamer Illinois. They are mostly from the Provinces of Kieff, Odessa and Warsaw. A committee, appointed for the purpose, conducted them to the Pennsylvania Railroad depot, which had been fitted up for their accommodation. Every effort is being made by the citizen's committee and corps of volunteer physicians to minister to the health and comfort of the unfortunate refugees.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—A Tucson despatch of yesterday relative to the steamer Newbern picking up a famished boat's crew, is understood to refer to a boat containing Capt. McArthur, of the British ship Milton R., his wife and children, with a number of seamen. The Milton was abandoned on fire last Christmas. Three boats left the ship, one of which was picked up by the ship Cochin, which arrived here Jan. 29th. The mate's boat has not been heard from.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—At a meeting of Scotch iron masters, in Glasgow, yesterday, it was agreed, subject to approval of the English masters, to prolong for six months the agreement restricting the manufacture of iron.

MILLERSBURG, Feb. 24.—At New Carlisle, Ohio, yesterday, the boiler of a portable saw mill exploded, killing Geo. Stutzman, Michael Immell, Mr. Herschberger and two men named Beechy. Michael Streetman was injured, so that amputation of one leg was necessary. His recovery is doubtful. These were the only men about the mill at the time. The boiler was known to be in a bad condition for some time.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 24.—A house inhabited by a wood chopper named Leggart, his wife and five children, has been swept away by a snow slide.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The agents here of the steamer City of London give her up as lost. W. H. Ross, of Quebec, one of the owners of the City of London, expresses the opinion that she was blown up with dynamite. The steamer City of Limerick, of the line, is now out 47 days from this port and is probably lost. She had no passengers.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—In the House of Lords, this afternoon, after two hour's discussion, the committee proposed by Lord Donoghue More, to inquire into the working of the Land Act, was agreed to without division.

VIENNA, Feb. 24.—A very violent type of black small pox has broken out in Trebinge.

Catholic BIRTHDAY BOOK.

AMONGST a great number of Protestant publications of this kind, this little work is got especially for Catholics. Instead of the literary quotations in the former, it contains a more useful and profitable selection of "Mottoes" and "Practices," chosen from the works of the Holy Fathers and other eminent spiritual writers. Otherwise the arrangement is the same as in the other Birthday Book. There is a Calendar indicating also the Feast, with blank space opposite to every day, where friends and acquaintances may be requested to inscribe their autographs under the date of their respective birthdays. Cloth $1.

Every one knows what an ordinary birthday book is like: each day of the year has a text of Holy Scripture, a verse of a hymn, or something of the kind. This is a similar book as to its plan and arrangement, but instead of the texts and hymns, there is for each day a short sentence from some Catholic Doctor or writer, or a suggestion for "practice."—LONDON TABLET.
