Election in Oxford County Was Not Invalidated by Temporary Absence of Returning Officer—No Bad Faith.

Justice Rose has given judgment in the great case of the Queen ex rel, Watterworth v. Buchanan and Cuthbert, and there is great excitement in the County of Oxford. The learned Judge differs from the Referee, and feels obliged to allow the appeal of Mr. Buchanan, with costs, and declare the election valid. He holds that the evidence shows that the absence of the returning officer, and what was done during it, and two other absences complained of, did not really affect the result of the election. No votes were refused or lost and no harm done. There was no suggestion of bad faith. "If," His Lordship adds, "the fact of absence for a few moments through illness would of itself avoid the election, a fainting fit or other uncontrollable cause might be fatal." It is rumored that the case will be eventually carried to the Privy Council.

TO-DAY'S LISTS.

THE HERBERT ESTATE.

Judge McDougall Gives His Decision in Favor of the Assignee.

Yesterday Judge McDougall handed out his decision in the case of Nicholas Garland and Robert Jenkins against W. A. Campbell, assignee of the estate of C. S. Herbert, who left the city suddenly a couple of years ago. Before Herbert's departure he sold his stock to the plaintiffs, who paid him all the purchase price except $1229.51. Herbert also gave Thomas Allison an order on the plaintiffs for $115.38, which order was accepted by Garland. Afterward Thibaudeau Bros. brought suit to restrain Garland from paying over the balance to Herbert, and ordered it to be paid into court. Herbert then assigned to Campbell, and Garland paid the whole amount into court, overlooking the order in Allison's favor. Garland took no action to get back the amount of Allison's order, and the court ordered the payment to Campbell of the $1229.51. Action was then brought, the Judge holding that Garland, having paid the balance of purchase money into court without deducting Allison's claim, should have remedied his mistake by an application in the Thibaudeau action. The action was dismissed with costs.

Fyfe Missionary Society.

The morning session of the Fyfe Missionary Society opened yesterday at McMaster Hall with a half-hour devotional meeting, led by Dr. Goodspeed. The vice-president, Mr. McAlpin, occupied the chair. The reports of the various branches of work undertaken by the society representatives showed very satisfactory progress. Rev. J. P. McEwen, superintendent of home missions of the Baptist Church, followed with a stirring address on home mission work, giving evidence of fruitful results in the past year in the number of conversions, as well as in other lines. The speaker pointed out the unoccupied fields where there were great opportunities in large and promising centres.

The afternoon session was addressed by Rev. S. Sheldon of Barrie, on "Ideals of Student Days," comparing such days with those of the busy pastorate of after years. This was followed with an open parliament, when the various branches of work were discussed by a large number of the members. Altogether, the meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held by the association.

Home for Consumptives.

The treasurer of the Sanitarium Association acknowledges the receipt of $10 towards the Muskoka Home for Consumptives from F. Rogers, Enniskillen. Friends of the Consumptive Hospital in Hamilton have started the idea of a Hamilton cottage, to be built adjoining the administration building, in Muskoka. Senator Sanford has given $200 for this purpose. It is proposed to build a cottage for four patients, costing $2000, to be set apart for the use of patients from that city. Information is received that the people in Port Hope are proposing to make a jubilee offering in the same direction.

Because of a Whipping.

Agnes McMillan, a 16-year-old girl, who claims that her parents are gypsies, was found by Constable Tidsberry yesterday morning. She was wandering around, and said she had no place to go. She was handed over to Inspector Archabold. The girl's mother, who lives at 81 Mill-centre-street, says she whipped the girl, and that she ran away from home. She was taken to the Girls' Shelter.

SENATOR COX'S MAIDEN SPEECH.

Enforcement of Prohibition Would Seriously Affect the Revenue—People Not Prepared for Direct Taxation.

Ottawa, March 29.—(Special.)—The Senate met at 8 o'clock to-night and sat for a little over an hour. The proceedings were characterized by a great show of friendliness between Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Oliver Mowat.

Mr. John Lovitt, the new Senator from Yarmouth, was introduced by Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. Mr. Scott.

Senator Cox, the new Senator from Toronto, rose to move the adoption of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and was greeted with applause. He began by referring in fitting terms to the celebration of the Queen's Jubilee, reviewing in eloquent terms the achievements during Her Majesty's reign, and the honor conferred upon Canada in being asked to send a representative to attend the celebration. He found great satisfaction in the settlement of the Manitoba school question, which, he thought, put forever at rest a dangerous question in a manner which was satisfactory to a vast majority of the Canadian people.

The question of prohibition of the liquor traffic was a most important one. If the people of Canada by their votes decided upon prohibition, it would mean a serious loss to the revenue, which would have to be met by additional taxation, either direct or indirect. The question was not a political one, and should, in its consideration, be removed from the arena of politics altogether, and considered on its merits.

The construction of the C. P. R. and other great public works had so enormously increased the public debt that he was convinced that the people were not prepared now for direct taxation.

In considering the question of the tariff, he thought the Government should exercise the utmost caution. It should not be forgotten that immense interests had been built up in the country under a policy of protection, involving millions of money. Any legislation calculated to embarrass or destroy these industries could not be otherwise than disastrous to the country at large.

Speaking of the relations between Canada and the United States, he said that the Government had shown every desire to admit the products of that country into Canada on the most favorable terms, but that the United States in the framing of its tariff had shown an intention to exclude Canadian products. In view of this condition of affairs Canada had no recourse but to look to the extension of its trade in other directions. He dwelt at considerable length upon the value of the trade between this country and Great Britain, and detailed the efforts which were being made by the Government to afford further facilities for the extension of that trade.

The proposal of the Government, as foreshadowed in the speech, to extend the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal, and to pursue a vigorous policy with regard to the deepening of the St. Lawrence Canals, could not fail to inspire the public with confidence that there were at the head of the affairs of the country men of energy and ability to push these great works to a successful completion.

Senator King, the new Senator from New Brunwick, seconded the motion in a creditable address. Speaking of the revision of the tariff, he said that he had always been in favor of a reduction of the tariff. The introduction of the National Policy had been a mistake which had worked havoc in the country generally, and especially in the Maritime Provinces. To-day, however, after 18 years of protection, conditions were changed. Immense industries had been built up under the National Policy, which had to be considered. The United States showed a disposition to make us lose our identity as a nation and sever our connection with the Mother Land in return for any trade concessions which might be granted us. These conditions were impossible, and the Government would do well to go slowly and consider what it was doing in revising the tariff, until such time as the good judgment of the people of the United States reasserted itself. We should grant no concessions unless we received concessions in return. It was impossible to enter into any trade arrangement with a country which adopted not only a policy of protection, but a policy of seclusion as well. The new tariff of that country was even more prohibitory than the McKinley tariff, and bore with great severity upon Canada, and on no part more severely than the Maritime Provinces.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, after paying a very high compliment to the mover and seconder of the address, and congratulating the Government upon the recent appointments to the Senate, moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sir Oliver Mowat expressed his high appreciation of the very kind words of the leader of the Opposition in regard to the recent appointments to the Senate and spoke in eulogistic terms of the mover and seconder. The appointment of Hon. David Mills was especially mentioned by both leaders, and the Sage of Bothwell came in for many compliments. Sir Oliver spoke of him as the ablest politician in Canada.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell gave notice that he would move for a return, giving the number of commissions and the names of all commissioners issued since July last to enquire into charges made against civil servants and Government employes for offensive partisanship. Also of all claims made against the Government and the findings of the commissions thereon.
