CATTLE

—FOR—

Shipment to England.

THE Hon. Judge Peters, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., and Messrs. J. & W. F. Harrison, of St. John, having decided to throw into one, their properties at Grimross Island, on the St. John River, offer the same to a desirable tenant or company for a term of years at a moderate rental. This property, from its desirable location and richness of soil, bounded by the river on one side, and Gagetown Creek on the other, and containing a large quantity of high interval adapted for producing the best quality of hay, grain and roots of all kinds, as well as a very wide range of the richest pasturage, and containing about 900 ACRES in all, also embracing about 20 acres of upland near the centre of the farm, on which to erect suitable, which would at all times be far above the highest freshets, and having already barns in good order, suitably located on the interval, capable of holding a large quantity of hay. Possesses advantages for raising cattle for the English market, unsurpassed if at all equalled in the Maritime Provinces or probably in the Dominion. For full particulars, apply to

ROSE-BELFORD'S

Canadian Monthly,

AND NATIONAL REVIEW.

EDITED BY G. MERCER ADAM.

1881. Tenth Year of Publication. 1881.

AS one of the founders of THE CANADIAN MONTHLY, and having been more or less connected with it since its first appearance in 1872, the present writer feels a just pride in emphasizing the fact that with the next issue the publication will enter upon its nineteenth volume. That the periodical still lives and makes progress, however slow, is, in view of the mutability of literary ventures in Canada, something, at least, to be thankful for. With a publication of its character, and with a field limited at best, and encroached upon by foreign serials, it was hardly to be expected that, if saved from disaster, its progress would be rapid. That it has maintained itself and won a creditable reputation, as has been said, is matter, at any rate, for congratulation. Those now connected with it feel, however, that the time has come when they may reasonably expect that from now onward the progress of the Magazine will be more marked, and that a heartier support will be given to the undertaking, to justify the continuance of efforts made, not only for its precautions on old lines, but for its enlargement and improvement, and above all for the remuneration (as formerly) of its writers. With the development of national thought, with increasing interest in native literature, and the return, withal, of 'better times,' it is believed that these expectations will be realized, and the desire of Editor and Publishers be attained. Collectively, the friends of the publication can make this matter assured. Individually, each can aid in bringing about the desired result. The press, too, can be very helpful. Whatever is accomplished, to the favour and interest of a Canadian public, the publishers again commend their enterprise.

THE EDITOR.

A GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY

Is the Loss of

MANHOOD

We have recently published a New Edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses ☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Address

Love Making in Chicago.

From the Chicago Tribune.

"I am very rich, my darling," she said softly, punctuating her sentences with soft, warm kisses. "Already I have $100,000 worth of four per cents. registered in my name, and when the leaves are turning red in the golden October days, and the fields are laughing in the rich abundance of a bountiful harvest, I shall cut off the coupons. And when papa dies he will leave me nearly $200,000 more. Yes, my sweetheart, I am a very happy girl," and a fair young head nestled confidingly on the shoulder of the strong limbed, hazel-eyed young man to whom this avowal was made. He looked tenderly down at the brown tresses and the invisible net that bound them to the fair forehead. Gently lifting the beautiful face to his, he pressed a passionate kiss on the full, red lips that seemed only made for osculation.

Turning his head away, Herbert Ainsleigh appeared for a moment to be wrapped in thought. Then kissing Miriam with a rich, warm, two for-a-quarter kiss, he said: "Do you love me, Birdie?"

She gave answer by placing her white arms around his neck, and throwing herself madly on his shirt front.

"Do not hug so hard, darling, an' you love me, or my collar stud will raise a carbuncle on the back of my neck," he said in low, mellow tones.

"It is only the deep, passionate longing of my love, Herbert. It recks not of carbuncles. But you are right. Too much pressure on the cervical vertebra will cause an exostosis. My professor of anatomy told me that."

"And we will be married in the fall, my sweet?"

"Yes, Herbert, in the rich, hazy, sensuous days of Indian summer, when the low note of the farmer's boy seeking the lost cow is heard as he sits on the vine-embowered stile and blasphemes until the fire fly leaves for a cooler spot. You must take all my money, Herbert; it must be yours to do as you will with it; to attain the glorious fame that awaits you; for I know that my love's name will some day be known through the length and breadth of the land. Surely, you have an ambition?"

"I have," said Herbert, kissing her while she caught her breath.

"And you will not let any false pride stand in the way of using my money to attain the height you fain would reach?"

"No, darling, I will not. You say you have $100,000 in four per cents. It is enough. To-morrow I will act, and in less than a day my name will be as familiar throughout the world as that of England's proud Queen."

"Oh, Herbert, what will you do?"

"I shall purchase Maud S."

* * * * *

Two minutes later a human form fell with a dull thud on the front porch of the haughty pork-packer's residence. It was Herbert Ainsleigh. The old man had fired him out.—From "Hints to Parents," by Halstead M.

HALL was in San Francisco prison as a convicted swindler serving a sentence of 150 days, his crime being that of obtaining a gift of $225 from Crocker, the California railroad millionaire, by pretending to be blamelessly destitute. A muscular friend called on Hall, who said it was a shame to be locked up when he could go free by paying a fine of $300, if he had the chance to get $1,600 which they buried in a certain spot. The friend thereupon advanced the $300, on promise of reimbursement as soon as the hidden treasure could be reached. But when they had arrived at the place in question, and a few spadefuls of earth had been removed, Hall confessed that he had lied, and that no money was there. "What satisfaction can I get out of you?" asked the angry man of muscle. "I don't know," was the reply, "unless you thrash me; and you are welcome to that, for I deserve it." The whipping was given on the spot, and so soundly that Hall's life was endangered.

A LEIPZIG journal, devoted to the glass interest, states that the cracking of lamp chimneys may be prevented by placing them in a pot filled with cold water, adding a little cooking salt, add after the mixture has been allowed to boil well over a fire, to have the articles cool slowly. Treated in this way, glass will be found to resist cracking, even if exposed to very sudden change of temperature, and the chimneys become very durable by passing through such an operation. The process is, in fact, simply one of annealing, and it results that, the slower the operation is carried on, especially the cooling portion of it, the more effective will it be.

LOUISVILLE Courier-Journal:—"Our whole governmental machinery is handed over to those who can make the most of it; the average citizen is busier now than ever making money and he cares for nothing else. But he will some day. Society will go from bad to worse, the lawless will organize and murder will be systematic instead of spasmodic. Passion will give place to greed, and the industrious citizen will be forced to divide with those who have been 'governing him.' Communism such as Paris knows, Nihilism like that of Russia, will become domiciled in America if we tolerate murder and rapine much longer."

A Queer Divorce Case.

From the Springfield Republican.

Judge Wetmore the other day, in the St. John, (N. B.) Divorce Court, granted David Pugh a divorce from Charlotte Emma Pugh, a vinculo, and declared the marriage void upon the ground that the defendant was a sister of a deceased wife of the plaintiff, and justifying the plaintiff in instituting proceedings, the wife having left her husband's home some years ago, and having rejected his entreaties to return. The husband was directed to pay costs. The parties knowing their inability to lawfully contract marriage in New Brunswick, met in Houlton, Me., where such marriages are permitted by the laws of the State, and were married, intending to live in New Brunswick. They lived together as husband and wife for years, and had several children, but the wife's Canadian conscience became awakened to the impropriety of the marriage, and under the pretence of visiting friends in the United States she went to Rochester, N. Y., and refused to return home, alleging that she had expected that at the time of her marriage her husband would sell out his property in New Brunswick and remove to the United States. It was claimed for the defendant that being domiciled in a State were such marriages were allowable, she was entitled to hold the contract valid, but the Court found against this contention.

FRANK MARTIN, a handsome young murderer, was under sentence of death in the jail at Laclede, Mo. Time hung heavily upon his hands, and for deversion he wrote tender notes to the Sheriff's daughter, Maggie. She did not reply to the first half dozen, and he was on the point of ceasing to write when he was surprised by a sentimental missive. Their lovemaking progressed rapidly thereafter, and of course they soon began to plot for Frank's escape. One night the girl unlocked his cell, and he saw that she was in boy's clothes with her hair closely cropped. She put pistols in his hands, led him out of the prison to where two saddled horses were in readiness, and together they rode away. This happened last November. The pair have just been caught in Tennessee, where they had married under assumed names and settled down to farming.

IN regard to offensive odors in hot, dry summers, Dr. Domett-Stone recommends for their counteraction chloride of lead, as superior to carbolic acid. It is prepared thus:—Half a drachm of nitrate of lead, dissolved in a pint or so of boiling water, to be mixed in a pail of water, in which two drachms of common salt have been dissolved. A cloth dipped in the mixed solution and hung up in any place where bad odors prevail will make and keep the atmosphere sweet.

The Most Valuable Gift—Restoration of the Health.

During the past ten years the Great Shoshonees Remedy has faithfully redeemed every promise and guarantee made to the public. Alarming and apparently hopeless cases of Lung Diseases, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Afflictions of the Kidney and Chronic Complaints of every description, including Scrofula and Skin Diseases of life-long duration, have been permanently removed and eradicated. Those who volunteered their testimony to the efficacy of the Remedy are not bogus people in unheard-of localities of foreign states, but respectable citizens of this Dominion, easy of access and open to question, upon whose verbal recommendations we are willing to rest the reputation of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. If you are afflicted do not delay until medicine may be powerless to aid you. No injurious effects can possibly follow the use of these Indian Remedies, as they contain no minerals, by which the fate of the invalid is so often sealed under the form of some temporary sedative or stimulant. These Indian Remedies are widely known and still possess the public confidence after the lapse of sufficient time to test their efficacy.

The Shoshonees Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills have won for themselves the most favorable reputation of any pill before the public. Their efficacy has been fully proved as a remedy for Biliousness, Sick Headache, and inactivities of the stomach. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cts. a box.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

ELECTRICITY! THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL! WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures catarrh, asthma and croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back, of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical:—J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes, "Send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you, and want more now, its cures are truly wonderful."—Wm. McGuire, of Franklin, writes, "I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now."—H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, I am nearly out, nothing equals it." —J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "Send me at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction."—J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "Send me some more Eclectric Oil, I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it."—Miller & Reid, Ulverton, P. Q., write, "The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25c. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion. NOTE.—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized.

A Blessing in Disguise.

No one would suppose that the introduction into a family of a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor would be the means of restoring peace and prosperity. Corns are painful, and the constant consciousness of this upon even the best natured produces nervous depression, ill temper, recklessness, leading to a desire to spend their time away from the bosom of their family. In order to avoid the evil above mentioned always keep a bottle of Putnam's Corn Extractor on hand. Sold everywhere.

—Don't argue with a fool, listeners will say there are two of you.

—Lord Palmerston, during his last attack of gout, exclaimed, playfully: "Die, my dear doctor! That's the last thing I think of doing."

—An Irishman, coming to Dublin to spend his Christmas, took the stage in preference to the railway, because, as he said, he could ride four times as long for the same money.

—"Ralph," said a mother to her seven-year-old boy, "you must not interrupt me when I am talking with ladies. You must wait till we stop and then you can talk." "You never stop," said the boy.

—"Does the dentist kiss you when he pulls your teeth, pa?" "No, my son? why?" "Oh, nothing; only he kissed ma, and she said it took the ache all away; and I guess it did, for she laughed all the way home."

—An Englishman was boasting to a Yankee that they had a book in the British Museum which was owned by Cicero. "That ain't nothin'," retorted the Yankee; "in the museum in Boston they've got the lead pencil that Noah used to check of the animals with that went into the ark."

—There was a Presbyterian minister who married a couple of his rustic parishoners, and who felt exceedingly disconcerted, on his asking the bridegroom if he were willing to take the woman for his wedded wife, by his scratching his head and saying. "Ay, I'm wullin' but I rather hae her sister."

—Mike—"It's the Irish that do all the invintin' in these days, sure." Jonathan—"Irish be darned; the Irish don't invent anything to speak of; it's the Americans that invent everything." Mike—"Thin perhaps you can tell me why the Irishman's name, Pat, is always next to the date on all new inventions. Divil of an American name can ye find on wan, at all!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

—During a trial for assault in Arkansas, a club, a rock, a rail, an axe-handle, a knife, and a shot-gun were exhibited as "the instruments with which the deed was done." It was also shown that the assaulted man defended himself with a revolver, a scythe, a pitchfork, a chisel, a handsaw, a flail, and a cross dog. They jury decided that they'd have given a dollar apiece to have seen the fight.

—A country rector, going up to preach at Oxford in his turn, complained to Dr. Routh, the venerable Principal of Maudlin, that the remuneration was very inadequate, considering the travelling expenses and the labor necessary for the composition of the discourse. "How much did they give you?" inquired Dr. Routh. "Only five pounds," was the reply. "Only five pounds!" repeated the doctor. "Why, I would not have preached that sermon for fifty."

—A travelling dentist in Australia advertises a new method of extracting teeth, "without the aid of chloroform or laughing gas." When a patient calls upon him for treatment, he places him in a chair and makes a fixture of him with straps and bands. Then he puts the forceps to the bad tooth and gives it a terrific jerk inward. "That," he says, "is the way that Dr. Smith does it." He gives it another yank in the opposite direction, remarking, "And that is the way that Dr. Jones goes to work." By this time the tooth is quite loose. With a gentle pull he forces it out, saying, "But this is the way that I do. Send your friends to me and I'll convince them of the superiority of my method."

—One Sunday, lately, during the afternoon service, a snake about 20 inches long, attracted no doubt by the strains of music, entered the little church at Acton Vale, Que. After gliding down the aisle a few yards it raised its head, and stopped as if charmed and listened. While in this position it received a kick, which sent it across the aisle, somewhat shattered in its nerves. Then a gentleman present went and stamped on it. However it escaped through the pews, and the consternation among the ladies began to be apparent, when the commotion was put an end to by the clergyman leaving the reading desk, seizing and triumphantly bearing the roughly used innocent reptile to the door. As this occurred during the singing of the Canticle, the service was not interrupted.

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy, and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures, or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to deceive and disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is a standard medical preparation, of known and acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap, as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proven its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.
