SAULT STE. MARIE DECLARED VACANT BUT PERSONAL CHARGES ABANDONED

SENATE PO

Chancellor Boyd Judges That Corruption and Personation Most Serious Have Been Proven But Commends the Attitude of C. N. Smith.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—This town is now without a representative in the legislature. The seat has been declared vacant by Chancellor Boyd, and Justice Teetzel, who presided at the trial of the petition against the election of Charles N. Smith. The end came shortly after the court resumed its session, following the adjournment for supper this evening. In the petition there were 221 charges, involving the names of 300 persons. Sixteen of the charges were brought under the consideration of the court, the general Minnie M. charges being considered as one. In five of them illegal acts were proven. They were the Minnie M. charges, the payment by N. Audette to John Bonathan of five dollars to make an uncertain vote certain, the Grant charges of payments to voters coming from Port Arthur and the payments to voters coming from North Bay and Copper Cliff. All the other charges taken up failed or were abandoned.

Smith Courted Inquiry.

Mr. DuVernet, counsel for the petitioners, did not address the court at the conclusion of the evidence on the trials. G. H. Watson, K.C., for respondent, did. Mr. Watson said that as to personal charges against Mr. Smith the fullest consideration of them had been challenged as the respondent felt that an investigation would result in his acquittal from any blame whatever in connection with what had taken place. He felt that there was no foundation for the personal charges and no investigation would leave doubt that he was free from responsibility and knowledge of wrong-doing. The respondent felt that in sitting in the legislature he did so as the representative of a good majority of the voters of the riding, but he did not desire to retain his seat if there was any doubt that his election had not been fair. He did not ask the benefit of the saving clause.

Mr. Watson went on to speak of his desire that there would be a reformation of the election law making the franchise more valuable and prohibiting any interference by outside elements

Most Serious Corruption.

Chancellor Boyd said the position taken by the respondent and his counsel had simplified the position of himself and his colleague. Corrupt practices, he said, had been proven. The Minnie M. affair was enough to void the election. There was corruption and personation of the most serious kind, and that not in isolated cases—the extent indeed being such that it could hardly be more serious than the personation that had been proven. The chief agent and instrument in all these acts was George Sutherland. The position taken by Mr. Smith as set forth by Mr. Watson was the position of an honest man and his was the proper course. The chancellor also felt that the election law needed amendments so that the purity of the poll might be preserved. A voter should not have to be coaxed, or bribed or look upon his vote as being in the market.

Voter Should Be Juryman.

There should be NO OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE, and a law against canvassing. A voter should be in the position of a juryman who would not take money to influence a verdict. "LET THE VOTERS RISE TO THE POSITION OF THE JURYMAN. LET THEM CHERISH THE FRANCHISE AS ONE OF THEIR HIGHEST RIGHTS, AND CANADA WILL BE A COUNTRY WORTH LIVING IN AND WORTH DYING FOR."

The court room was filled at the time, and when the chancellor had concluded those present broke into rounds of applause. Justice Teetzel agreed in every way with what chancellor Boyd had said.

Mr. Watson for the respondent then announced that as Mr. Miscampbell had abandoned his claim to the seat the cross petition would not be urged. Mr. DuVernet had agreed that it should be dismissed without costs.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

The charges taken up at the commencement of the proceedings this morning were that voters had been illegally brought from North Bay to the Soo, and that money payments had been made to them.

LIBERAL MAJORITY ONE.

The Sault Ste. Marie election protest holds good. The judges yesterday declared the seat vacant, stating that the Minnie M. charges are sufficient to do itt The personal charges against Charles Napier Smith, now ex-M. L. A., were abandoned by the Conservatives. The cross petition instituted by Andrew Miscampbell, ex-M. L. A., will not be urged as he has agreed to abandon his claim to the seat, which he contested with C. N. Smith. This brings the majority of the Ross government down to one, with North Grey, the one, still in donbt.

RUNNING SUNDAY CARS.

Case Argued at Kingston, But Judgment is Reserved.

Kingston, Sept. 16.—(Special.) — The trial of Conductor Rutherford for running a Sunday car took place before Police Magistrate Farrell this morning. John McIntyre, K.C., appeared for the Lord's Day Alliance, J. L. Whiting, K.C., represented the attorney-general, and W. F. Nickle the Street Railway Company.

Mr. Nickle objected that the statute of 1904, under which the charge was laid, was ultra-vires, being merely a re-enactment of the act of 1897, declared ultra-vires as a whole by the privy council; and that the 1904 statute was intra-vires only in so far as it contained the clauses of the valid act of 1897, which did not make corporations or their employes liable.

Mr. McIntyre held that the 1904 statute was intra-vires, being on a different basis from the 1897 act, as it said nothing about profanation of the Sabbath, which was a crime under Dominion control and made the 1897 act invalid.

Mr. Nickle then raised another objection. Even granting that the statute was valid the Kingston Railway was excepted, as it had a charter to run Sunday cars before 1897. The point hinges on the interpretation of the phrase, "run cars each day," whether this means every day or only on legal days.

The magistrate reserved his decision for eight days on both objections.

DOUBT IF IT SUCCEEDS.

St. John's Nfld., Sept. 16.—Experienced Arctic navigators here doubt if the Canadian expeditionary steamer Arctic, now seeking a captain and mate here, will be able to reach her winter quarters before the inlets freeze over and navigation closes. Last fall the steamer Neptune, having on board Canada's first expedition, which is now in Hudson Bay, was frozen fast in Fullerton Harbor winter quarters on Oct. 7. It is not believed that the Arctic, which has only half the speed and power of the Neptune, can reach Fullerton Harbor within a month.

BUSINESS MEN TO STUDY OUR "SPLENDID ISOLATION"

Employers' Association Arranging Conference on Problem of Bringing More Industries to Toronto.

Why is it that big manufacturing concerns do not locate in Toronto, as they once did, instead of going to other Ontario towns? This is the question that the Employers' Association and the Canadian manufacturers have set themselves to wrestle with in the near future. The question is one of growing importance to Toronto as a city, for many industries have gone elsewhere that should be here. The Employers' Association have resolved to inquire into and to evolve an answer and a remedy for the evil. They have issued an invitation to the Canadian Manufacturers, the Retail Merchants' and the Bankers' Association to appoint committees to confer with them on the matter. As soon as the manufacturers have finished their session in Montreal the matter will be proceeded with and properly threshed out.

An inquiry among the representative manufacturers has resulted in a number of reasons why manufacturing concerns intending to locate in Canada shun Toronto.

The prevalence of strikes and labor disputes is given as one answer. During the past few years there have been so many labor dissensions of one kind and another that big concerns are afraid to venture into the city. One suggestion is that arbitration be more frequently resorted to, and that in the event of a strike the citizens do not allay themselves with one or other of the parties and so keep up the strife.

Another reason is high wages. With an increase in the wage of the working man comes an immediate increase in the price of living. While in the long run it proves of no value to the wage-earner it has a serious effect on the manufacturer, for he cannot compete with foreign manufacturers where the whole scale is lower. The only remedy, say the manufacturers, is to educate the working classes to the ordinary principles of social economy.

A third reason is the high rate of insurance which exists. The remedy for this, say the manufacturers, lies with the civic authorities.

Another reason, as given by a well-known employer, is the passing of petty bylaws, framed in such a way as to act as a hindrance to the factory owner without being of any use to the city.

"Manufacturers," he said, "are not going to be hampered in their work by red tape legislation which is bound to put them to a deal of trouble and serve no beneficial purpose to the corporation."

NEW YORK NEXT.

Fire Insurance Men Endorse Siche.

As far as known there is not a single insurance man using acetylene gas, but any number are using Siche Gas. Mr. William L. Perrin, representative of the Western Assurance Co., for New York City, is installing Siche Gas in his fine residence. In so doing he is following the lead of the general manager of that company, and others of its leading men.

If you are wise you will use Siche and be safe. The recent statistics published by the leading technical papers have shown the dangers of electric lighting up in such a startling manner that there is no doubt many other gentlemen who are in positions where the expert data reach them will follow Mr. Perrin's example and abandon so dangerous a light as electricity in favor of the absolutely safe Siche Gas system.

Special to the Ladies.

It is only necessary to notify the ladies of Toronto that Mr. Rooney, 62 Yonge-street, next door to The Globe office, has just opened out this season's importations of real Irish linens, consisting of table cloths, table napkins, tray cloths, towelings, etc., most of which are hand-woven goods, and were purchased by Mr. Rooney in Ireland, under circumstances so favorable that he is enabled to sell them at 33 1-3 per cent. discount. Mr. Rooney's reputation as a purchaser of Irish linens is so well known that there is sure to be a rush for his goods this season, which he states are the finest that he ever brought across the Atlantic.

KNOW THINE OWN COUNTRY MR. BORDEN AT LONDON FAIR

Sir John Murray, a Former Cobourg Boy, Shares With Him the Honors of the Day.

London, Sept. 16.—(Staff Special.)—The visit of R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, to London to-day was devoid of political significance. He came in at noon from St. Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. Borden, R. Blain, M.P., and David Henderson, M.P., and was met at the C.P.R. depot by several prominent Conservatives, including Sir John Carling, Adam Beck, M.L.A., Major Beattie, ex-M.P., and Dr. Roome, ex-M.P. The Conservative leader was at once driven to the Western Fair grounds, where he was the guest of the directors at luncheon.

Mr. Borden's text for his non-political address was, "Know thine own country." It would be fortunate, he observed, if the people of the maritime provinces would visit the Western Fair and if more of the people of Ontario would go down by the sea and get acquainted with the people of the eastern provinces. There was a fair at Annapolis, where was exhibited fruit that commands as high a price in the English market as any fruit.

Our Great Heritage.

Mr. Borden regretted that the people of this great Dominion were not sufficiently acquainted with each other and the country's resources. This fact was brought to his mind when he made a tour thru the Northwest and began to realize how great a heritage was ours. He found it necessary to go there and see for himself, in order to have it stamped upon his heart and brain. His visit to Western Ontario had delighted him and he exhorted his hearers to get into touch with other parts of Canada.

There was talk sometimes of certain prejudices and certain cries we have in Canada. These would not exist if the people were better acquainted with each other. He had heard someone say that he knew of nothing better than to get 5000 people from his own province to visit Ontario and know the people, and the speaker said he had felt ashamed when he accepted the responsibility of the leadership of his party, that he had been spending his holidays abroad instead of in visiting the provinces of his own country.

"Know thyself" was a good maxim, but an equally good one he would give them and it was, "Know thine own country."

A Distinguished Canadian.

The only other speaker was sir John Murray, member and editor of The Challenger Expedition and a celebrated British scientist, who is a Cobourg boy. He recalled, he said, a provincial exhibition held here 50 years ago when Lord Elgin was governor. Since that time he had become an old country man. He had visited every self-governing colony and possession of the empire and felt he had a right to speak for the eleven million of colonial white men. It would be well if the different parts of the empire knew each other better. If they did they would commence to appreciate the great heritage they possess.

Intellectual Britons were greatly interested in colonial affairs, and the drawing together of the various parts of the empire was not an unsolvable question. We had been able to create a great ocean empire and when he recalled the resolution passed by the colonial congress in London, that free trade within the empire was impossible, he believed that one line for the old country to take was to do as Canada has done and give a preference to colonial products.

Some of Those Present.

Lieut.-Col. Gartshore, president of the fair, who presided, expressed his pleasure and that of the board at the presence of Mr. Borden. Among others at the table were: Sir John Carling, K.C.M.G., Sir John Murray, K.C.B., Richard Blain, M.P., David Henderson, M.P., A. F. MacLaren, M.P. for North Perth, Col. Leys, ex-M.L.A., Mayor Beck, M.L.A., Col. Little, George C. Gibbons, K.C., George M. Reid, W. J. Reid, A. M. Smart, J. A. Nelles, Ald. Stevely, Ald. Abram, Ald. Gerry, ex-Ald. R. A. Carrothers.

The distinguished visitor was driven thru the grounds and inspected the live stock, after which a visit was made to the golf links and the kennels. He left for Windsor at 8 o'clock. C.W.C.

MAKE LIFE LIVABLE.

Bobcaygeon Independent: W. F. Maclean, M.P., who has taken such an active part in the movement for the public ownership of utilities, made a most striking and impressive speech last week on that subject at Brantford. The object of the movement, he said, was to try and increase the number of public utilities and public conveniences and distribute them to the greatest number of people. It was intended to make life more livable, and the principle justified itself in the widening range of its application. There can be no sound reason assigned why telephones, telegraphs, water and power distribution, railways, the public lighting, express packages by railway and numerous other arrangements should not be owned by the people instead of by private individuals and companies. They should be conducted not for private profit but for the benefit of the people. Mr. Maclean's statement that the object of the movement was to make life more livable has been frequently referred to and will be always associated with his name.

JAPS ON RUSSIAN FLANKS

St. Petersburgh has Heard the Report but is Not in a Position to Believe it.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—(2.25 a.m.)—The war office has heard the report of an apparent Japanese concentration against the flanks of General Kuropatkin's army, preparatory to an advance toward Mukden. While it is not in a position to absolutely confirm or deny the report, it would surprise the war office should Field Marshal Oyama have been able in such short time to organize his forces for a serious advance northwards.

A despatch from Mukden says the Russian patrols, up to the present time, have repulsed all Japanese outpost attacks, and that communications with Sinmintin have not been interrupted. Practically all the Russian stragglers, according to this despatch, have arrived at Mukden.

WAR MIGHT END SOONER THAN PEOPLE IMAGINED

Russian Statesman Thinks Mutual Recognition of Ruinous Nature of Conflict May Lead to a Russo-Japanese Alliance

London, Sept. 17.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent declares that a Russian statesman, whose name, if revealed, would wing his utterance with lightning rapidity over the globe, asserted Friday that it was his impression that the war might end sooner than people imagine, not thru mediation, but thru mutual recognition of the ruinous nature of the conflict, which would lead to negotiations that would result in a Russo-Japanese alliance. He contended, the correspondent says, that altho Russia in the end could exhaust and crush Japan, yet Japan could hold out long enough to place an intolerable and useless strain upon Russia. Russia, therefore, was confronted with the alternative either of Japan's ruin, purchased by ruinous sacrifices, or of a treaty of cordial friendship, followed in the fulness of time by that offensive and defensive alliance which for years constituted the ideal of the Japanese government.

HOLD OUT FOR ONE MONTH.

London, Sept. 17.—The Tientsin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that the Japanese are sending strong reinforcements to Port Arthur by way of Louis Bay. It is stated that Gen. Kuropatkin intimated to the Port Arthur garrison that they must resist for a month longer.

DON'T FIGHT AT MUKDEN.

London, Sept. 17.—Under date of Sept. 14, The Daily Mail's correspondent at Mukden telegraphs as follows: "On instruction from Pekin the Chinese governor has made representations politely requesting both armies not to fight at Mukden, owing to the danger of the demolition of sacred tombs. No response has been received." The Daily Mail's correspondent at Shanghai reports that the Japanese scheme to raise a first national army of men from 32 to 40 years of age, the majority of whom have previously served with the colors, will prove a total strength of 120,000 men, who will be ready for service within a month."

RUSSIAN LOSSES.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Exact figures of the Russian losses in killed, wounded and missing in the operations before Liaoyang, from Aug. 13 to 26, have been received by the general staff, according to The Journal's St. Petersburg correspondent. These amount to two generals, 256 officers and 21,800 soldiers. In addition 133 guns were lost. The material losses include fortifications costing $30,000,000.

MORE JAPS TO GO.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—The Lokal Anzeiger's Shanghai correspondent telegraphs that, according to trustworthy information from Japan, the first militia contingent has received orders to prepare to depart for the front. According to the same correspondent, relative of officers of the Kanazawa Regiment have been privately informed that all except one of the officers have been killed at Port Arthur.

TWO EXPLOSION VICTIMS DIE.

Fred Jones and William Dixon Succumb to Injuries Received.

After two days of intense suffering, Frederick Jones, the engineer who was injured at the boiler explosion at the Bolt & Forge Works on Wednesday, passed away at 9 o'clock last night. He is the second victim of the accident, for at an early hour yesterday William Dixon also died.

Yesterday afternoon Jones became delirious, and when his wife and his mother and sister came to see him he did not recognize them. Toward evening he became weaker, and steadily sank, until the end. In addition to two fractures of the right leg below the knee, Jones had been severely burned, and was injured by flying bricks. His death was due as much to shock as to anything else. He was 34 years of age, and leaves a wife and four small children.

Alex. Watson, who is also in the hospital, is progressing favorably, altho the news of his comrade's death last night, reaching him, despite the efforts of the hospital staff, caused a nervousness that may retard recovery.

William Dixon died in the Western Hospital. He was an assistant engineer, and leaves a wife and grown-up family. Coroner Orr has issued a warrant for an inquest, to open this morning at 10 o'clock.

RESTRICTED VIEW OF AGENCY HELD IN NORTH GREY TRIAL

Witnesses Who Were Bribed Believed, But Briber Not Close Enough to MacKay.

CAPTAIN SULLIVAN LEAVES TOWN

The Conservative Lawyers Issue a Subpoena for Him to Give Evidence.

Owen Sound, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The peculiar difficulties under which the petitioner in the North Grey protest is laboring was evidenced to-night when the judges took a restricted view of the word "agency," and A. G. Mackay escaped the consequences of two charges of bribery that their lordships declared to have been clearly proved.

Mr. Blackstock argued at length that in view of the fact that the campaign was hurried one of only two weeks' duration, organization was impossible to the degree of specifying and authorizing agents, and that for this reason the broadest interpretation of agency should be accepted.

This afternoon the Conservative solicitors ran into a hive of corruption. They proved from the lips of William J. Wright, an active Liberal worker, that he had hired a rig to bring George Farrow from Walter's Falls, that he had paid Farrow $2.50 to pay his expenses home. Then William Foster and Peter Trotter told how they had each received bribes of $5 in envelopes from Wright. The judges, after lengthy argument on the part of counsel, decided that Foster and Trotter had told the truth, and that they were actually bribed in the manner in which they had testified. As to agency there was nothing to show that Wright had received authority from Mackay. No significance could be attached to the fact that he was frequently in and out of a public committee room.

Buffalo Story Contradicted.

The contradiction of the Nelson and Mulloy charges was followed up this morning by A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., who called R. T. Harding of Stratford. Mr. Harding said that he had never seen Nelson before the trial, and that no one had reported to him either verbally or by letter. The men whom Nelson had claimed to have mentioned as purchasable were gentlemen of high standing in that city—J. Calder, James Campbell and Donald Campbell. W. M. O'Beirne, editor of The Stratford Beacon, whose name had been associated with that of Mr. Harding as the two men to whom Nelson should report, also contradicted the story.

Nelson was recalled to explain his run up from Stratford on the Grand Trunk. Agent Dench had testified that this was impossible by the regular passenger service. The witness stated that two years was a severe test of memory, and that he might have left Stratford the previous evening.

Colin S. Cameron, president of the Borden-Whitney Club, and a prominent local barrister, swore that he had seen Mulloy on the Grand Trunk train on Jan. 3, 1902, between Park Head Junction and Allenford. Mulloy and Nelson were called to clear up unimportant statements, and this ended the charges relating to the Buffalo case, with the exception of the evidence of Hon. E. J. Davis.

Another Charge of Bribery.

Mrs. MaComb was called on the next charge of bribery. She swore that a stranger called at her door and asked for one of her boarders, William Fessey. She overheard the men talk of politics and New Year's gifts, and then the stranger offered him $10 for his vote. The following Monday the same man

No Frost Here.

There seems to be plenty of money in the west. Last Tuesday the Siche Gas Co. shipped a large order of machines, and yesterday a wire from Winnipeg arrived ordering a lot more style "U" 100-lb. Siche machines, similar to that which was used for the beautiful interior exhibit of the Siche Co., at our recent National Exhibition.

Use "Maple Leaf" Canned Salmon the best packed.
