FAMILY MEDICINES.

EVANS' CAMMOMILE AND APERIENT PILLS These valuable Medicines were introduced under the direction of the "Society for the Restoration of Health," in London, and having gained in England great celebrity by innumerable well authenticated cases of cure, have recently been introduced into this country and are now offered to the Publick, with confidence that their highly distinguished character will stand the test of the most thorough scientific investigation.

It cannot be denied that whilst many medicines which are recommended to the public, have not even the negative merit of harmlessness, there are others which it would be great injustice indeed and suicidal prejudice, to involve, in a common condemnation. And when a medicine comes indorsed with all the great names that have adorned the annals of the medical profession, and warranted by, the seal and signature of long and uniform success the proprietor makes no unreasonable demand upon public confidence, when he claims for it a superior consideration

The Cammomile Preparation of Dr W Evans is undeniably entitled to this enviable distinction; for whilst no medical authority in existence condemns it, every medical work which allides to it, and every medical practitioner that is acquainted with it, freely acknowledges its pre-eminent virtues; and that the latter should do so in opposition to their personal interests must be attributed either to their candor and love of truth, or to their unwillingness to fly in the face of all observation, and the testimony of thousands.

Aware that great imposition is constantly put upon the public, in the shape of deleterious drugs, it is deemed important that it should be known that they are a Vegetable Medicine, and that they are regularly recommended and prescribed by the most experienced physicians in New York, Philadelphia Albany and other cities at the South where they have had an extensive sale. That they should rate without professional prejudice and interested opposition and from the agency of the most eminent and first informed physicians in the Country to render them useful to all classes, can only be fairly ascribed to their undeniable and pre-eminent virtues.

Enviable, however, as this distinction is, it can easily be accounted for from the intrinsic and peculiar properties of the medicine itself It does not pretend too much and it accomplishes all that it promises. Dr. W. EVANS does not pretend for instance, that either his Cammomile or his Aperient Pills will cure all diseases by merely purifying the blood; but he certainly does pretend, and has the authority of daily proofs for positively asserting that these medicines taken as recommended, will cure a great majority of diseases of the stomach the Lungs, and the Liver, by which impurity of the blood is occasioned The blood is made from the contents of the stomach; has its red colour and vitality given to it by the action of the lungs, and as it performs its duty in circulating through the veins and arteries, has its yellow or bilious excrement, which may be termed its refuse or worn out sediment, collected and discharged by the liver.—These viscera, then, are the anatomical mechanism or apparatus by which the blood is manufactured and preserved; and it is therefore obvious that the state of these should be the first consideration of the physician. Now there are various causes that will afflict and derange these organs with which the blood has nothing whatever to do. Thus the stomach may be utterly debilitated in one moment by affright, grief, disappointment, heat of the weather, or any other nervous action; and be wholly unable to digest its food. Is the blood to blame for this? A nervous action of long continuance will produce settled dyspepsia, with headache, bile mental and physical debility, and a funeral retinue of other evils. Is the blood to blame for this? Intemperance, by infusing the coat of the stomach, and leaving it in flood prostrate weakness; and an undue quantity and continuance of purgative medicines (very reducing the same effects, will put this organ almost out of use for digesting wholesome and solid food, and thus impoverish the blood and the whole system. Is the blood to be blamed for this? Again, with regard to the Lungs, it is well known that a slight cold, occasioned by damp beds, or by a current of air, will inflame the bronchia, all down through the branching air tubes of the lungs, and create either excessive mucus, or that dreadfully insidious disease, Consumption, with pustules and suppuration of the lobes, which, though timely remedies may prevent, no earthly skill can cure. Is the blood of the fair and blooming victim to blame for this? so the Liver when climate, sedentary habits, intemperance, or either prostrating causes have withered it away or paralyzed it with overaction, becomes unable to carry off the bile from the circulation, and instead of discharging it through the gall bladder, leaves it to come through the skin in jaundiced and sallow fluids, and to rush upon the stomach, in irregular and excessive vomitings. Is the unfortunate blood to blame for this? No: these vital organs are never affected by them; they are its makers and masters, and it is merely their work and their passive agent.

Knowing it to be a sound and demonstrated fact in science and experience. Dr. W. EVANS' system of practice is in faithful accordance with it.

These medicines, which can be purchased either together or separately, are confidently recommended for the following complaints, and directions for use accompany them:—Dyspepsia, in all its forms, Diffidence and Lives effecting in every stage and degree; Female sickness, more particularly the nausea incident to mothers; Fluor Albus; Fever and ague; Incipient Consumptions or diseases, which are to the liver of Lungs; headache, giddiness, loss of appetite; nervous tremors, inflammation, or Delirium Tremens, spasmodic affections of all kinds, constipation, whether Chronic or Inflammatory, Nervous and in fact diseases of every variety, scrofula, salt rheum and all blotches, biles, tumors, and impure complexion of the skin, restlessness at night and early morning melancholy, the summer complaint and Cholera Infantum, or disease in grown persons, worms and flatulency, with bad breath, chlorosis, and palpitation of the heart or head, changes of female constitution; rheumatism and disorganized constitutions in either sex which have been permanently relieved by any other medicine. A single trial of Dr. W. EVANS' medicines to any of these cases will produce such effects as will indicate their incomparable superiority, and induce such use of them as will ensure a speedy and unquestionable cure. The purchaser, however, should be careful to get them genuine of the authorised Agents, as all others are base and ignorant impositions.—For further particulars, he respectfully requests the public to peruse his advertisements and medical papers, which may be depended upon for their strict and scrupulous truth.

Among the multitude of certificates that have been given to the Public the following are given

PARALYTIC RHEUMATISM—A perfect cure effected by the treatment of Dr. W. Evans.—Mr. [illegible] Gibson, of south Fourth st. Williamsburg, affected with excessive complaint for three years and [illegible] during which time he took to use [illegible] symptoms were excruciating [illegible] joints, but especially in the hip, [illegible] ankles, an aggravation of the pain towards night; and for the most part all times [illegible] Internal heat, an obvious thickening of the joints & ligaments with a complete loss of muscular power. For the benefit of those interested in a [illegible] manner, Mr. Gibson conceives it meet to state that the pains have entirely ceased, and that the joints have completely recovered their natural [illegible] fashion to enable him to resume his ordinary business.

MRS. MARY DILL [illegible] Williamsburg, corner of Fourth and North sts. [illegible] restored to health by the treatment of Dr [illegible] VANS, 7 Division st. The symptoms of this distressing case were as follows; Total loss of appetite, palpitation of the heart twitching of the tendons, with a general spasmodic affection of the muscles, difficulty of breaning, giddiness, langour, lassitude, great depression of spirits, with a fear of some impending evil, a sensation of fluttering at the pit of the stomach, irregular transient pains in different parts, great emaciation, with other symptoms of extreme debility

The above case was pronounced hopeless by 3 of the most eminent physicians, and the dissolution of the patient daily awaited for by her friends, which may be authenticated by the physicians who were in attendance. She has given her cheerful permission to publish the above facts, and will also gladly give any information respecting the benefit she has received to any enquiring mind.

MARY DILLON

MORE CONCLUSIVE PROOFS of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Wm Evans celebrated Cammomile and Aperient Anti Bilious Pills in eleviating afflicted mankind. Mr. Robert Cameron, 191 Bowery. Disease, Chronic Dysentery or bloody Flux, symptoms, unusual flatulence in the bowels severe griping, frequent inclination to go to stool, tenesmus, loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, frequency of pulse, and a frequent discharge of a peculiar liquid matter mixed with blood, great debility sense of burning heat, with an intolerable bearing down of the parts. Mr Cameron is now enjoying perfect health, and returns his sincere thanks for the extraordinary benefits he has received.

DYSPEPSIA AND HYPOCHONDRIACISM.

Interesting Case—Mr. William Salmon, Green just above Pine, Philadelphia, afflicted for several years with the following distressing symptoms—sickness of the stomach, headache dizziness, palpitation of the heart, impaired appetite, sour eructations and putrescent evacuations, coldness and weakness of the extremities, emaciation and general debility, disturbed rest, a sense of pressure and weight at the stomach after eating, night mare, great mental despondency, severe flying pains in the chest, back and sides, costiveness, a dislike for society, or conversation, involuntary sighing and weeping, langor and lassitude upon the least exertion.

Mr. Salmon had applied to the most eminent physicians, who considered it beyond the power of medicine to restore him to health; he never, as his difficulties had reduced him to a very deplorable condition, and having been recommended to a relative of his to make trial of Dr W. EVANS' medicine, he with difficulty repaired to the office and procured a pack ge, to which, he says, he is indebted for his restoration to life, health and friends. He is now enjoying all the blessings of perfect health. Persons desirous of further information will be satisfied in every particular of this astonishing cure at Dr. W. Evans Medical Office, 100 Chatham st, N Y.

PATHOLOGY OF CONSUMPTION.

1. BY DR. WILLIAM EVANS.—If the medical maxim be true, that "the knowledge of a disease is half its cure," how greatly is it to be deplored that the knowledge of those prevalent diseases which annually carry off millions of the human race, is not more generally diffused How lamentable is it that so few of the great human family possess any information upon a subject in which, of all others, they are most vitally interested—yet it will probably be an incredible marvel of fame generations of the world, that the mass should have been acquainted with every thing, except that which it most concerns them to know.

To convey this knowledge more extensive than has yet been attempted by any other practitioner, and to direct the attention of the afflicted to those few and simple remedies by which many of the most prevalent diseases may be arrested and removed, is the object of Dr. William Evans in this and other pathological summaries which he will publish, upon the authority of the highest medical writers of the age. His instruction will necessarily be brief, but its accuracy will be undeniable.

CONSUMPTION.—Of this disease, in one or others of its forms, four thousand persons have died in the city of New York within the seven years, this is proved by the city bills of mortality; and its victims throughout the country, have been in almost the same proportion to the population. Consumption (or Marasmus Phthisis) is of three kinds the Catarrhal the Apostematous, and the Tuberculran Catarrhal Consumption, the cough is frequent and violent, with a copious excretion of a thin offensive, purulent mucus, sometimes, but not frequently, streaked with blood. There is generally a soreness about the chest, with transitory pains shifting from side to side. Its ordinary cause is a neglected cold, and is therefore a common kind of consumption in climate subject to such sudden and extreme changes as ours.—2 In Apostematous Consumption, the cough returns in fits, and is for some time dry; with but very little expectoration, and that very difficult. There is often in this kind, a fixed, dull, circumscribed pain the chest, which is increased by lying upon the side.—The dry cough at length changes to a copious expectoration of purulent matter, which occasionally threatens suffocation, although many other painful symptoms are temporarily relieved. At this stage, the disease is rarely if ever cured. 3 In Tenbercular Consumption, the cough is short and tickling, and is often an excretion of the watery, whey-like series, sometime tinged with blood. The pain in the chest is slight, and there is an almost habitual elevation of the spirits. This variety is usually the result of a scrofulous taint in the system generally, which when thus seated in the lungs, can seldom be arrested in its fatal progress, unless medicine is first advanced.

Each of these three varities of phthisical Consumption, begins with the following common symptoms, by removing which, it may certainly be cured. The patient is sensible of an unusual langor, breathed with less than his usual freedom, and consequently, with more frequent respirations, which sometimes induce him to relieve himself by making a deeper respiration similar to a sigh. When he does this he usually feels an uneasiness across the chest; and as these symptoms increase, they are attended with more than ordinary perspiration at night, so as to leave him undebled in the morning, disinclined for exertion and affected with more or less of headache. He coughs occasionally without complaining of the inconveniences but if his sleep be not disturbed by coughing, he usually coughs shortly after waking in the morning gradually becoming debilitated, and experiencing an aggravation of all the above symptoms This is the first stage of consumption in general, and the being the only step at which there is any reasonable hope of being cured, Dr. Wm. Evans will not go on to describe the truly melancholy and dreadful symptoms by which its fatal stages are characterised To do this, would be unprincipled and unfeeling quackery, for he pretends only that his medicines cure it in this early stage, however much they may relieve it when more advanced.

The above Pills are sold by Mr. M'Millan at the Phœnix Book and Stationery Ware House, in this City; Robert Chesnut, Esq. Fredericton; Chas. Connell, Esquire Woodstock; Ingersoll & Putnam, Houlton; John Beckfeld, Eastport; Brewer & Smith, Calais.
