KICK OFF with unb red shirts

Returning victorious from our first road trip with two wins under our belt, I am pleased to report that the Red Shirts managed successfully to continue the good start to the season which began with our 4-0 victory over Mount Allison. This is our best start to the season in several years and our record of three straight wins from three games played with ten goals scored and only one conceded sends us to the top of the AUAA Western Division ahead of Mount Allison and UPEI. Our sound performances this weekend coupled with a growing compactness in defence and up front not only boosted team morale but rewarded us with a national ranking of fifth in the country which we feel is much deserved.

Our weekend consisted of a sound 3-1 victory over a much improved Saint Francis team with a hat trick from Striker Greg Kraft, and an excellent performance last Sunday against a strong and hungry Acadia side. This encounter ended in a 3-0 victory for us with goals from Ronnie Taweel, Stephen McCaig and myself, all in the second half.

Both games were fine team efforts for us with everyone playing well, supporting, and running hard off the ball. In addition both games were played without midfielders Mike Foley and Joe Turpin, and striker Peter Carpenter, all of whom had been released to play for their respective home teams in Challenge Cup competition. Finally, thanks to trainer Steve Mundle whose perpetual insanity continues to prevent boredom setting in on tedious weekends involving hours of road travel.

This weekend we are on the road again to face our toughest challenge yet - two consecutive games against Memorial University, Newfoundland. Memorial finished last in the Western Division last year with only two wins and five points but we know they will be stronger this year. They have four AUAA titles to their name, the last being in 1973. Last year, we did the 'double' over them at College Field winning 2-1 and 2-0 with goals from Dwight Hornibrook (2), Peter Carpenter and Greg Kraft. I hope I can report victories again next weekend. Unfortunately Mike Foley will definitely be out for these games with torn ankle ligaments - we hope he recovers in time for the UPEI games. See you next week. . . . TOMO

Express heat up

By MARK SAVOIE

The Fredericton Express may manage to complete a total turn around from last year's disgrace to being a league power this year. It is of course, too early to tell, but early indications tend to show that the Express will at least not be the patsies they were last year.

On Wednesday the 22nd the Quebec Nordiques from the National Hockey League came to the city to play against their farm club; the Fredericton Express. As can be expected the Nordiques took command of the game early, when former Express Richard David took a pass from Michel Goulet at 2:11 of the first period and put it by Express netminder Clint Malarchuk in order to successfully complete the Nordique power play. But after the first period the Express were the better club on the ice, and managed to pull off a three-three tie against a supposedly superior club.

The same was true on Sunday the 26th during the game against the Alpines. The Express came out rather flat and were already a goal behind by the 1:31 mark. Once again it was a power play goal. But in the second period the Express were flying and pounded six goals behind the Alpine netminders.

Fredericton's own Omer Fournier (never mind that he's from Bathurst) has played very impressively on both occasions that he has been in the nets. For the game with the Nordiques he inhabited the Nordique goal for the entire second period, and let in none of the 14 shots that he faced. The Express had three brilliant scoring opportunities against him and he proved more than equal to the task on all occasions.

John Kinch and Gary Agnew, both former UNB'ers were both impressive with Kinch getting a goal against Quebec and winning his pugilistic battle against Don Nachbauer of the Alpines. His was not the only fight in the Alpine game, as Sylvain Coté returned to his rightful position as penalty leader with Bob Bedier that resulted in Sylvain getting a give mintue major and a 10-minute misconduct.

The Express are flying high, and things can only improve with the Canuck players still to come. So look forward to a great season still to come for the Express.
