Hyams has consented to deliver the prayer in English, as prepared for the British Jews by Dr. Adler, the Chief Rabbi of Great Britain.

Lost His Retriever.

The Seattle Times says that while the Admiral and officers of the Cormorant were going ashore at that city a valuable dog, a black retriever, belonging to the captain jumped from the boat into the bay and swam ashore. Shortly after he was missed one of the sailors was detailed to look him up, and when the steamer sailed for Port Townsend at 12:30 o'clock the seaman was left behind to try and find the missing canine, but up to this writing the search has been unsuccessful.

Licensing Court.

The provincial licensing court was held yesterday afternoon at the school house near the Royal Oak, Victoria district, the following gentleman on the bench: J. Sinclair, W. Reay and H. McHugh:

Transfer of license was granted from A. Gilmore to W. Phair, Goldstream House; also from Martin Dodd to Bernard Wrede.

Messrs. Tait & Davis applied for a liquor license at the Victoria Driving Coun. Pearse and Mr. Alex. McLean forwarded letters disapproving of the granting of this license, which were read by Supt. Roycraft. The latter strongly opposed granting the license. The license was unanimously granted. No other business was transacted.

Granite Creek Platinum.

After all the talk and enquiry made about platinum, says the Oregonian, at last a lot of the genuine article has been received here. It came from Granite creek, British Columbia, and there is 100 ounces of it. It will be sent east by Mr. James Fisk, and after being refined will be sold, and then it will be known how much can be paid for it. Bulk for bulk, it seems to be heavier than gold and is a nobler metal. From granite creek also comes a lot of coarse gold, which is good to look at and quite different from the tiny scales commonly found in placers. There is more platinum to be had at Granite creek. It is found among the gold and when cleaned out, used to be thrown away, but it will not be thrown away any more, for it is worth about as much as gold, perhaps more. The lot brought down is in quite coarse flakes, with some small nuggets amongst it. It is of a dull steel grey color and its great weight is the only indication which might lead one to suppose that it was valuable. Some parties who have been on Granite creek think they have found a platinum mine just this side of the boundary line.

The Nanaimo Assizes.

On the fifth day of the Nanaimo assizes, before Mr. Justice Crease, evidence for the defence was taken in the case of Stafford McKelvey, charged with perjury and false pretenses.

On Monday the case of Louis Omegash, charged with murder, was arraigned. Mr. Eberts appeared for the crown and Mr. J. P. Walls for the defence. Prisoner pleaded not guilty and a jury was empanelled, which brought in a verdict of manslaughter with a recommendation to mercy.

The following sentences were passed:—Ah Jim, larceny, one year's imprisonment at hard labor; Hezekiah Jones, larceny, one month's imprisonment; Louis Omegash, manslaughter, five years in the penitentiary.

The court adjourned to Wednesday, July 6th.

Disastrous Fire.

The most disastrous fire of the season occurred at Winnipeg on the night of the 13th instant, destroying the Wishart, Bishop & Co.'s furniture warehouse and D. O. Brickner's large ice house. Shorey's large warehouse was saved after much exertion on the part of the firemen. The loss is $10,000.

The Late J. C. Hughes.

In the window of Jos. Sommers' store is a crayon portrait of the late J. C. Hughes, of New Westminster. It is a perfect likeness and is another evidence of the true artistic talent possessed by Miss Withrow, whose pencil has so faithfully delineated the features of the deceased gentleman.

A Handsome Chair.

In the window of J. Sehl is to be seen an easy rocking-chair, the seat and back made lovely by branches of yellow roses painted in oil and crimson satin. They are natural as life. The upholstering work is perfect and reflects credit on the artizan. The chair was painted by Miss Withrow and is a present to the Sisters of St. Ann, of New Westminster, at whose school the young lady took her initial lesson in drawing.

John Elliott Captured.

Through the instructions of Superintendent Roycraft, who dispatched officers Campbell and Miller to the scene of the attempted murder at Sooke, the fugitive was captured the same evening. The officers traced Elliott along the Sooke road for six miles, when he hid in the brush. They made a circuit and came out on the road again about six miles further on, where they laid in wait, and were rewarded by seeing the prisoner approach along the road. He quietly surrendered and was brought to Victoria. In court yesterday morning he was remanded eight days to await further developments in the wounded woman's condition. This quick capture of the criminal reflects credit upon Supt. Roycraft and his officers.

Recital by Miss Collin's Pupils.

The first public recital by the pupils of Miss Lola Collin at the Y. M. C. A. hall last evening was well attended. The programme comprised elocutionary selections by the pupils and vocal and instrumental music by Miss Broderick, Mrs. Dennis Harris and Miss Monat. The pupils gave evidence of careful training and Miss Collin is to be congratulated upon the progress made by her class. The following young ladies participated in the entertainment:—Misses Minnie McDonald, Florie MacSwain, Florence Hayward, Agnes Heisterman, Sylvia Heisterman, May Giles, Bertha Frank, Edith Dalby, Edith Booth, Florence Moody, Estelle Hibben, Miss Mouat, Tressie Wylde, and the following gentlemen: A. Gonnason, Harry Carter and Arthur Caldwell.

The Royal City's Jubilee.

New Westminster began the celebration of the Queen's jubilee on Tuesday morning. Horse racing formed the chief attraction during the forenoon. A royal salute was fired at noon, while the band played "God Save the Queen." The afternoon was occupied with boat racing. The opening of the public park took place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Columbian says that the whole military force, including artillery and rifles, headed by the band, marched to the park, where quite a number of citizens had assembled. His Worship Mayor Dickinson addressed a few appropriate remarks to those present, and formally declared Queen's Park open and dedicated to the city of Westminster in honor of Queen Victoria. A royal salute was fired and much enthusiasm, and many congratulations. With his usual generosity the mayor invited the members of the militia to partake of refreshments at the Holbrook house.

The bazaar in the drill shed was well patronized during the day. A grand torchlight procession took place in the evening on the Fraser. The whole affair passed off most successfully.

THE CHINA STEAMERS.

They Will Call at Victoria on the Inward and Outward Voyages.

Advices were received in Victoria yesterday that the China steamers were ordered to call at this port on both inward and outward voyages. This arrangement should have been made before the sailing of the first steamer. However, it is what was contended by this paper and our leading merchants would sooner or later take place—as it is sooner, so much the better.

Jones, Mrs. Mortimer, Mrs. Hooson, Mrs. Dearson, Mrs. J. D. Miller, Mrs. Stemler, Miss L. Nelson, Mrs. D. Ross, Lizzie Gleason, Mrs. H. Smith, S. Blake, Mrs. Findlay, Miss A. Harrison, Miss M. Harrison, Mrs. Jesse, Miss McNeil, Mrs. C. Hayward, Capt. Jones, F. R. G. S., Mrs. Sears, Mrs. L. Redon, C. Squires, Hon. John Robson; Supt. of Education Pope and the following members of the school board of trustees: D. W. Higgins, M.P.P.; Chas. Hayward, H. F. Heisterman, Dr. G. L. Milne, R. B. McMicking and W. Walker.

The superintendent of education called upon the minister of education to present the governor-general's medal.

Hon. Mr. Robson, addressing the fair medallist, said: I feel gratified and highly honored in being called upon to discharge this pleasing duty—a duty which, I may tell you, would have been discharged by the Queen's representative (the Lieutenant-Governor) were it not for that distinguished gentleman's illness and consequent absence from the city. His Excellency the Governor-General has very properly manifested his interest in the education of the pupils attending the common schools in this city, by offering for competition between the boys and girls, a beautifully executed medal and it is highly creditable to the girls that they have carried off this coveted prize for several successive years. This goes to prove the correctness of the modern theory that girls are the equal of boys in point of mental power, and you have nobly done your part in demonstrating the soundness of the theory. I have very great pleasure in presenting you with this beautiful medal. Let it spur you on to still greater effort to excel in all that is good, useful and praiseworthy.

Mr. Alex Wilson in presenting the prizes to the successful members of Miss Cameron's class, congratulated the girls and told those who had not got prizes to keep up and not be discouraged. He complimented Miss Cameron on the efficient manner in which she had always brought her pupils before the public.

Trustee Milne presented the rolls of honor to the pupils and gave them good advice as to their future.

Trustee Higgins in presenting a prize to Miss Wylde for her essay on Queen Victoria, said if that illustrious personage could read the essay she would feel proud to think that there was a school girl who had followed the pages of her life so well.

Two young ladies then stepped forward and presented Miss Armstrong with a lovely bouquet in a glass vase, and an address which read:

"On behalf of the pupils in your division we beg to tender you this trifle as a slight token of appreciation for your past assiduousness and kindness, and we trust you will accept the same with our united love and gratitude. While most earnestly hoping that the coming holidays will be both enjoyable and beneficial, we wish to assure you that when you return to your onerous duties you will be welcomed with exceeding joyfulness."

Hon. Mr. Robson was then called upon to address those present. He said this year was one in a lifetime—one to be remembered as commemorating the 50th anniversary of the accession of our beloved queen, and he hoped it would be a green spot in the memory of every girl present. He admonished them to read and study the character of our noble queen during the holidays, and strive to imitate the graces which adorned the character of the best and most illustrious sovereign known to history. They would learn that she had trained her own daughters to understand and do housework, an example well worthy of imitation by our own mothers and daughters. He referred to the large number of parents present, a most gratifying evidence of growing interest in education, and gave figures to show the wonderful increase in the number of pupils and general efficiency of our schools since 1882, affording the best possible gauge of the substantial and healthy progress of the city, and he complimented trustees and teachers for the part they had played in bringing about so gratifying a state of affairs,—admonishing parents to strengthen the hands of teachers by seeing that their children were regular in their attendance. He concluded a very happy and effective address by wishing a pleasant and enjoyable jubilee holiday to pupils and teachers, and sat down amid hearty applause.

Trustee Higgins said a pleasant duty was devolved upon him, that of presenting the roll of honor to Miss Armstrong's division; but before he did so he would like to say what he thought most essential for the development of the school system. He was of the opinion that an inspector should be added, as the work was becoming more arduous every year. The board of trustees should be enlarged from six to nine members, as the labor connected with that office was more than six members could successfully attend to. He then wished the pupils a happy holiday, and exhorted them to return to their studies with a will to get on and make their scholastic career a complete success.

Trustee Milne said that he endorsed the sentiments of the minister of education and Mr. Higgins. If the parents were not in unison with the teachers it would be impossible to have a large attendance at the schools.

Trustee Heisterman was of the opinion that all that he would say had been said by the other speakers, and as the time was advanced he would not keep them any longer. He concluded by wishing them all a most enjoyable holiday.

After singing "God Save the Queen" the exercises were brought to a close.

Johnson Street School.

The examination of the Johnson street ward school, Miss Gowen, teacher, was held yesterday forenoon. There was an attendance of eighty-eight scholars, all dressed prettily, and looking bright and happy. A noticeable feature of the occasion was the presence of a large number of the mothers and other relations of the pupils, among whom were the following: Mrs. H. F. and Miss Heisterman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bone, Mrs. J. D. Milne, Mrs. E. H. Jackson, Mrs. J. Welsh, Mrs. Hoosan, Mrs. John Clarke, Mrs. Dudgeon, Mrs. D. and Miss Anna Russell, Mrs. L. E. Erb, Mrs. A. J. Clarke, Mrs. G. Clarke, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. Bland, Mrs. Etheridge, Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mrs. Page, Mrs. and Miss Penketh, Mrs. Steele, Mrs. Greaves, Mrs. Horner, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Cousins, Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Collis, Mrs. and Miss Turple, Misses Jennings, L. Gleason, J. Cameron, Mabel Haynes, Lillian Warren, Isabella Milne. S. D. Pope, superintendent of education, Trustees Heisterman, McMicking, Milne and Walker, and Mr. Thos. Golger were also present.

The exercises were of a very interesting character, a spirited spelling match being won by Wm. McKeown, and the pupils showing exceptional progress in this branch. A worthy feature was the marching exercise by the children, Miss Gowen playing, the pupils singing. It proved the excellent discipline under which their teacher controls them.

In announcing the promotion lists and presenting the prizes, Supt. Pope referred to the change of teachers and said it could not be expected on this account that the school would be in as high a state of efficiency as otherwise, but the discipline was all that could be desired. He also referred in a complimentary manner to Marmillia Gilchrist, who had not missed a single day or been once late during the year.

Trustee McMicking expressed himself as pleased with the progress made, and thought if the visitors were pitted against the scholars in a spelling match, the former would come out second best. The only fault he found was in the overcrowded condition of the school, and he hoped the government would abate this inconvenience by building additional schools.

Trustee Heisterman, who takes a fatherly interest in the school, was very much gratified with its efficiency, which was remarkable considering its crowded state. Certainly there must be excellent management on the part of the teacher and good conduct on the part of the scholars.

Trustee Milne addressed a few congratulatory remarks.

Trustee Walker counselled the scholars to persevere in their efforts until they had attained the highest rung of the ladder at the central school.

Supt. Pope said that the government had arranged for the building of another school in the neighborhood of North Park street, and another on the Tolmie estate near the boundary. Both would tend to relieve the pressure in the Johnson street school.

Three hearty cheers were given by the scholars for Miss Gowen, and after the singing of "God Save the Queen" they were dismissed with happy faces, anticipating the pleasures of the long holiday.

Programme of Exercises—Recitation, Willie McKeown; recitation, Francis Devereux; recitation, Gertie Collis; recitation, Frank Bone; song, "Tommy and the Robin,"
