Rowing Great Victory for Joe Wright's Crew — Baseball Toronto 9 Bridgeport 3 — Boxing Burke Won Two Finals

JOE WRIGHT'S REMARKABLY PROPER STROKE ROWED PERFECTLY BY PENN.

Yale Soundly Beaten From Start to Finish by Better Crew in First Eight-Oared Race of the Season—Penn. Juniors Beaten by Bad Steering.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 22.—Pennsylvania defeated the Yale varsity eight on the Schuylkill River this afternoon in decisive fashion.

From start to finish the Quakers had the whip hand. Altho Yale made a vicious sprint in a desperate effort to overcome a length's handicap half a mile from the end, the Pennsylvania eight met spurt with spurt and won by a length and a half.

It was a tired and well-nigh exhausted blue crew that trailed across the line in the wake of the Quakers.

Pennsylvania's time for the mile and a half course was 7 minutes 31 1-5 seconds, and Yale followed exactly five seconds later in 7 minutes 36 1-5 seconds.

Joe Wright has brought over here a remarkably proper stroke, and his men rowed it to perfection.

Pennsylvania had the west shore in both races. By a peculiar layout of the Schuylkill River course, the boats are started at a decided angle, not stern and stern, and likewise the finish is on a slant, not a right angle to the stream. The angle gives the crew on the west station much the worst of it, putting it about a third of a length behind. Obviously, the mental effect on both sets of men is considerable.

Yale had this lead handed to her, and Pennsylvania started off on a stern chase directly from the beginning. With the backs to their rivals, and not knowing where they were except from what the coxswain more or less truthfully told them, the Quakers started in the ruck, but immediately nosed out into the front.

Even Start.

Referee Clement Wood of Harvard sent the boats off to a very good start, neither getting the jump. Both crews went at it hammer and tongs right from the start, each bent on getting an early advantage. Penn struck twenty-three for the first half minute, while Yale's beat was one lower.

Pennsylvania, after her initial burst of speed, settled down to thirty-eight per minute and lengthened out smoothly and began to shoot ahead. Yale for the first furlong was palpably nervous and splashed badly. It was the same old story of a veteran crew cracking at the very beginning.

The Quakers went to the trolley bridge well within themselves, showing the best early season oarsmanship that I have ever seen. The race here was absolutely over, and none of us had any doubt as to the outcome.

Coxswain Fraser, the veteran steersman, knowing every inch of the course, piloted his men most beautifully, gaining every advantage of every turn. At the half-mile, Stroke Harriman of Yale made an effort, and Coxswain McLane called on the men.

It was a beautiful spurt, but it availed nothing, for Chickering and Ross came right back with a much more powerful effort and quickly drew the Pennsylvania even further ahead. Thus they went to the three-quarter, Pennsylvania getting smoother and smoother, and Yale rougher and rougher, and tiring perceptibly.

At the mile mark the race was entirely over, the mile and a quarter post Pennsylvania was simply loafing, sliding down hill on the incline slides, and resting between strokes and gathering strength.

Harriman, the Eli stroke, again put on steam, but his crew was tiring at every stroke, and began to break up. Captain Low, Sheldon, Sturtevant and Meyer were perfectly together, but the rest had dropped apart and showed a most lamentable effort to catch up.

At the head of the island, Stroke Ross of the Quakers let out one more notch, and the Pennsylvania boat shot over like a flash, and within a hundred yards gathered in another quarter-length.

Then Chickering called on Ross for the final spurt, and, while the latter did not raise the beat, the whole crew began to drive with all their power, and the Pennsylvania boat quietly and smoothly kept slipping away, absolutely sure winner.

Yale won the junior race by half a length of open water. Pennsylvania's coxswain steered a most erratic course, otherwise it might have been a good race. This was rowed in faster time than the big affair; but this is accounted for by a sudden flurry of wind which ruffled up the river.

The time, 7 minutes 28 3-5 seconds.

THE TORONTO LEAFS KEEP UP THEIR WINNING GAIT

Beat Bridgeport on Sunday With Eddie Wright Holding Down Third Base Position.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 23.—The downpour which prevented the Toronto-Bridgeport game here Saturday cleared away in time to enable the teams to play today, and the Leafs won their sixth consecutive game, by 9 to 3.

Cook shut the locals out for six innings, when he was succeeded by Juul. The latter was wild and ineffective, and Bridgeport scored three runs in the seventh. Toronto batted hard and in bunches and fielded an errorless game. Eddie Wright, the former St. Thomas Canadian Leaguer, played his first game of the year, and on his showing the third base problem appears to be solved.

The Leafs had a little Easter finery parade of their own. They put on their new road uniforms for the first time. The new regalia is light-gray and blue. Neal Ball, who is holding out on the Toronto Club in the hope of being released to manage the locals, umpired the game.

THREE BOSTON BOXERS UNBEATEN IN TOURNEY

Montreal Took Away Welter Title and Riversides Landed Four, Two by J. Barker.

Riversides won four finals, Boston three, and Montreal one of the Canadian boxing championships Saturday night in the Arena. Thirteen bouts were put on in rapid-fire order before a large and well-pleased crowd. Joe Burke won two finals and Gallagher and Brown one each for the Riversides. Boston landed three championships with three men who were handled with rare judgment by Manager Brazil from the Boston A.A.A. Brosseau of Montreal took away the welter title.

The defeat of Frank Russell of the 180th Battalion by Albert Noseworthy of Welland in the 115-lb. semi-final was the surprise of the evening. Noseworthy, who is an old Toronto boxer, had a kick in either hand, and gave the soldier a good lacing, for which the crowd were not sorry, and that may do the ex-champion good.

The 125 lbs. semi-finals also had its surprises. Patterson, the lanky classic boy went after Ted Price, the veteran 170th Battalion boy, and in the second and third rounds gave him such a rough passage as to earn the decision, but when he stacked up against Dave Brown he had no chance, and went to the ground in the first round and decided he had had enough in the second and quit.

Much was expected from Linden of Buffalo, who stopped Doig in the first round on Friday night, but Newton, of the Riversides, was on top of his man all the way, and the visiting boxer never had a chance. Newton then took on Frank Ball, and altho they are club mates, they put up a slashing bout that went to an extra round, with Ball the winner. Dave Brown stopped Fraser of the 170th in the first round in the other semi-final.

In the 135-lb. semi-final Chapman went after Gallagher like a whirlwind in the first round, but in the second and third Red had it all the way and showed up enough to let Chapman stay the limit.

The final in the 108-lb. class was between Kemp of the Griffintown boys' club of Montreal and D'Arcy, Boston A.A., American champion. The American proved to be a clever two-handed boxer, against whom Kemp had little chance, altho he tried every inch of the way and took a good deal of punishment gamely.

Tony Vallan of the Boston A.A. and Albert Noseworthy, who had had a hard bout earlier in the evening, put up a great battle in the 115-lb. semi-final. Noseworthy made a game stand against the left-hander and really had him a K.O. but could not solve the port side delivery of the American, and was tired at the finish.

Luckily for King of St. Catharines, he did not show up for his bout in the 135-lb. final, and the bout went to Red Gallagher by default.

Eugene Brosseau, Montreal, Canadian and American champion, lived up to advance notice, and proved himself to be a clever, hard-hitting boy. He stopped Taylor, the colored boy, of the 95th Battalion in the second round. Feltmate of the 180th Battalion hadn't any license to be in the ring with McCarthy of Boston, and quit cold after being toyed with for a round and a half by the American champion. Joe Burke, Riversides, had it pretty soft in both the 175 and heavyweight classes. Dickenson of Montreal took a good trimming gamely in the former, but went out in the third, while Ramson, 180th Battalion, only lasted about a minute in the latter.
