OPPOSITION TO ANGLO-U. S. TREATY

Irish Societies Protest Against Better Understanding Between Washington and London.

Washington, March 8.—Irish opposition, which, it is asserted, defeated the arbitration treaty negotiated by United States Secretary of State Olney and Lord Pauncefote, twelve years ago, now meances the new arbitration treaty which has been evolved by Secretary Root and British Ambassador Bryce.

Already the United States state department has been deluged with remonstrances and protests from Irish patriot organization. Moreover, this opposition has developed before anything specific as to the nature and scope of the new treaty has been made known definitely. There has been nothing more than a reference to the subject in the British Parliament and some statements in explanation based upon that declaration in American newspapers. So the protestants are in a singular position of directing their fire without knowledge that there is any enemy, for it may be that the new convention is drawn upon lines that free it from the objection made to the Olney-Pauncefote convention. In that case it was alleged that America stood in danger of losing territory as the result of an adverse arbitration.

In the present instance, while the rule of the state department prevents the publication of any details, it is the understanding of the officials of the state department that the same objection would not be, for the limitations are so narrow that there is no danger that questions involving the integrity of territory can ever be drawn into arbitration against the will of the United States Government. The protests so far received at the state department also show a lack of understanding of the nature of the treaty which binds Great Britain and Japan. In the protests fear is expressed that America will find herself confronted by a combined British and Japanese fleet in the event of any serious issue between the United States and Japan.

Indeed, some of the petitions quote from a speech by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, Jan. 28 last, a prophecy that such a combined fleet might some day be expected to drop anchor in Vancouver harbor. But as the British-Japanese compact is understood at the American state department, there is no obligation whatever upon Great Britain to support her ally with arms except in the remote contingency that a third nation should undertake to possess itself of Japanese territory.

Therefore, the officials are quite convinced that the opposition to renewing the treaty is based upon a wrong conception of conditions. But they are nevertheless apprehensive that through ignorance the ratification of the treaty may be jeopardized.

GOODS WERE SOLD COURT HOLDS

Purchasers Say Much More Was Sent Than Ordered and Suits follow.

Goderich, March 7.—Several suits of more than ordinary interest were tried here this week by Judge Holt. James Powers, traveler for the Liberty Oil, Drug and Chemical Company, some time ago canvassed this town and secured orders for oil. The purchasers in each case signed orders, but there was also a verbal agreement as to quantity and quality. The oil was sent on to all the customers, but they were much surprised at the quantity received, which was greatly in excess of what they had ordered verbally. The amount each received was sufficient to last years. They refused to pay and suits were entered against the following firms: the Goderich Organ Company, James Wilson, druggist, H. Park, jeweler, J. Brophy & Son, R. N. Harrison, William Symonds.

Judgment was given for the plaintiffs in nearly all cases. Judge Holt held that the written order was binding and based judgment on that. The defence endeavored to show fraud on the part of the plaintiffs, and argued that there was no sale of the goods. His Lordship could not see it, and so gave judgment.

There are several other cases yet to be tried, but it is thought settlement will be made in nearly all of them.

Powers is the same man who has had several suits against London merchants for the same cause.
