BESSEMER ORE FOUND

Important Mineral Discovery Near Port Arthur.

Toronto, May 3.—Reports have reached the Crown Lands Department which, if true, will go far in aiding the establishment of an iron and steel industry in this Province. The great weakness which the promoters of the industry have had to overcome has been the absence of Bessemer ore in quantity, and township after township has been scoured by prospectors in recent years in the search for the requisite ore.

The reports are that the International Iron Company has made a rich strike of the ore in the district known as Hunter's Island, just north of the international boundary line, and a few miles from the famous Vermilion iron range of the Northern States. Hunter's Island's claims to being an island consist in the fact that it is surrounded by rivers and small lakes. It is about 100 miles west of Port Arthur, and is within fairly easy reach over the P. D. and W. Railway.

The company gives particularly rosy reports of the extent and richness of the deposits. The ore is low in phosphorus and sulphur, and rich enough to bring it well up to the Bessemer grade. It is specular hematite, similar to that found in the Northern Minnesota ranges.

ON CHURCH UNION

Congregationalists, Methodists and Presbyterians Confer at Brantford.

Brantford, Ont., May 3.—A joint conference of the Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian ministers of this city yesterday passed a resolution indorsing the principle of church union. It was agreed that all the churches interested were already united on assentials, and that it was but a waste of energy and money to continue the present overlapping system. By union each church would reap advantages, and there would still be enough competition to give enthusiasm to the work. Especially would there be a gain in the mission fields, Canadian and foreign.

SMASHUP AT BARRIE

One Man Killed and Several Injured in Rear-End Collision.

Barrie, Ont., May 3. — A fatal railway accident occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at South River, by which Fireman John Reynolds, of Allandale, lost his life. A freight in charge of Conductor Frank Heard was standing on the main line when another freight ran into its rear end, killing the fireman, badly scalding Engineer George Dodson, and injuring Brakeman William Woodruff. Reynolds was unmarried, about 25 years old, and a general favorite.

10,000 WALK OUT

Great Strike of the Machinists on Santa Fe Railway.

Topeka, May 3.—At the general office of the railway here it was stated that the order to close down was given to every shop town on the Santa Fe system from Chicago to Alberqueque. It is estimated that nearly 10,000 men are affected. The International Association of Machinists, on March 23, submitted a list of twenty rules which they desired the Santa Fe to contract to observe in the management of its machine shops. The company rejected the demands. The Santa Fe officials say they have filled vacancies.

Chicago, May 2. — Third Vice-President Kendrick, of the Santa Fe system, tonight issued a statement relative to the machinists' strike which was declared on the Santa Fe today, in which he said, in discussing the reports of the magnitude of the strike, that the full force of machinists, machinists' helpers and machinists' apprentices, including non-union men, employed on Jan. 1, 1904, on the entire system was only 2,275. He expected the shops would be reopened tomorrow, and said that within a week or ten days the company will have a full force in all shops. The number of men directly controlled by the Machinists' Union is not large, and the labor market is in such condition just now as to make it perance is prevented. If they are not refectly practicable to obtain plenty of skilled labor in any department," he said.

THE SOO REORGANIZATION

An Extension of Time to Allow Creditors to Come in.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 3.—The Canadian Improvement Company, which is financing the reorganization of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, has been granted an extension on its option, which would have expired tomorrow, in order that all the creditors of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company may have another opportunity to transfer their interests to the Canadian company. All the New York banks interested in the Speyer loan have consented to the extension, and the Philadelphia banks will do the same tomorrow. An attorney for the reorganization company said tonight that the reorganization plan will be declared operative probably this week, and these stockholders who have not yet paid their assessment under the new plan will be given to weeks to do so.

RETURNING TO WORK.

Hamilton, Ont., May 3.—It is understood that the International Cigarmakers' Union refused to sanction the demand made by the Hamilton union for an increase in the scale of wages, and the men will return to work today. The men have a feeling of resentment towards the local unions in Toronto, Montreal and London, who voted against them.

BARON HAYASHI ON THE CAMPAIGN

Says Japan Will Ultimately Take the Defensive.

EXPECTS TO CUT OFF PT. ARTHUR

The Fortress Likely To Be Starved Into Submission by Next September.

London, May 2.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, said to the Associated Press today:

"The immediate result of General Kuroki's success will probably be a movement on Feng Huan Chang, which the Chinese have fortified with their usual brick structures. Since the commencement of the war the Russians doubtless have added earthworks, but their loss of guns yesterday must seriously diminish their defensive strength.

"I understand that Russia had only 100 guns in Manchuria. If that is the case, her artillery strength has been diminished almost one-third.

"They fight well, those Russians, and Feng Huan Cheng will not be taken without a hard struggle, unless Gen. Kuropatkin again changes his plan of campaign.

"The announcement that the Russians would not contest the crossing of the Yalu, proved, as we thought, to be misleading. Thirty thousand men is far too large a body for any general to face the enemy with if it were merely intended to hamper his movements. Kuropatkin evidently meant to make a determined resistance, but he either underestimated our strength or disposed his force in the belief that we would not venture a frontal attack.

"I take it from the dispatches received that we have now practically secured control of both banks of the Yalu. In consequence, our base will probably be moved to An Tung.

"To be perfectly frank, I must say I expected yesterday's engagement would be more decisive, especially in view of the large number of Russian troops opposed to us. Its significance must largely depend upon our ability to pursue the enemy."

Reviewing the whole future of the struggle that has just commenced in such deadly earnest on land, Baron Hayashi said: "The duration of the war must lie rather with Russia than with Japan. For the moment the military advantage is with us, for Kuropatkin has extended his front, and we can strike where and when we will. Our aggressive movement may be carried on to Mukden, perhaps to Harbin, or further, but before long there must come a stage of the campaign where Russia will assume the role of the invading power, and where we must act solely on the defensive. From the beginning it has been so, and our aggression is and has been but a means towards the eventual repulsion of an invading army. Gen. Kuroki himself probably cannot say at this moment at exactly what point our aggression will be changed into the defensive. Kuropatkin, so I believe, says he will not undertake to drive us back until he has 300,000 men ready to take the field. I think that at least 5 per cent of that force will die from sickness, so that to keep his force at the maximum required Kuropatkin will always have to be transporting 15,000 men from St. Petersburg—no small task. This year's harvest in Manchuria, I learn, promises to be bad. A million Russians there, in addition to the army, must be fed. We have or shall have closed every source of food supply except by the Siberian Railway. Even with double tracks and no men or munitions of war to transport, the problem of feeding the Russian population and army now in Manchuria would be in itself intensely serious, but with a single track road, which is Russia's only vital sinew, it seems almost impossible, and famine appears inevitable. With this dreadful accompaniment of war, there is only too likely to be a rising among the Manchurians. They may attack the Russians or they may attack us. Either case is bad enough to contemplate. To help us sit down and await all these contingencies we are working day and night on the Korean Railway, and by October the unfinished portions of the road between Fusan and Seoul will be completed, and a new line from Seoul to Wiju will also be ready. Locomotives are coming from the United States, and as soon as these arrive we will have a strong and rapid line of communications through all Korea, which will almost touch our own mainland, and we will not be likely to suffer from want of supplies of reinforcements.

As regards Port Arthur and Vladivostock, the situation is somewhat different. I cannot say anything about the movements of our other armies that have been mobilized, but there is no doubt that the Liao Tung peninsula will, if any success attends our land forces, be cut off from supplies. Neither Port Arthur nor Vladivostock can be taken from the sea front, but I think you will find Port Arthur either taken by our land forces or starved out by September. The Chinese are smuggling provisions into Port Arthur now from Che Foo, but only to an immaterial extent, and that will soon cease. Vice-Admiral Togo will doubtless remain on watch outside Port Arthur. By September, when the hurricane season comes, he should be able to safely house his fleet in a Japanese port. No fleet, Russian or Japanese, could be particularly effective then. I scarcely think Russia will send her Baltic fleet to face our autumn hurricanes."

Referring to the long period which elapsed between the declaration of war and the land fighting, Minister Hayashi said: "The waiting which taxed the patience of the rest of the world has been a busy and exciting time for us. Our troops have been continually marching and working in anticipation of striking the blow which would initiate the campaign in Manchuria.

"The most unfortunate incident of the campaign up to date is Vice-Admiral Kamimura's misfortune in missing the Vladivostock fleet. It seems from here that it was a pity the Vice-Admiral did not stay outside that port instead of trying to find the Russians in the open sea."

LACTATED FOOD

A Summer Blessing to Weak and Frail Babies.

As summer draws near, infantile mortality increases. Infantile troubles arise mainly from a lack of pure and healthy breast milk, and the feeding of cow's milk that is usually stale and unwholesome.

When the mother is unable to nurse her child, her great aim should be to find the best substitute for nature's food. Today, the experience of tens of thousands of mothers points to the only perfect substitute, the food recommended by over thirty thousand physicians—Lactated Food.

Feeding baby with Lactated Food in summer time means the avoidance of cholera infantum, dysentery and all common summer complaints. Lactated Food keeps the little ones in perfect health from day to day; it makes them happy and contented under all circumstances. All druggists sell it.

AN ACTOR'S SCHOOL

Beerbohm Tree's Academy of Dramatic Art Opens in London.

London, May 2. — Those people who believe the stage needs a national theater and conservatoire will be interested to hear that Beerbohm Tree's Academy of Dramatic Art is now an accomplished fact. The inauguration ceremony took place this week at His Majesty's Theater, and students already have begun work.

Mr. Tree, in his address, stated that Sir Henry Irving had sent them his warmest good wishes for the success of the step, which he considered was one in the right direction.

Jules Claretie, director of the Comedie Francaise, wrote that the idea was a generous and an excellent one.

Wilson Barrett on the contrary, said the scheme had not his approval, because of the inability which many would find in paying the fees for tuition.

Sarah Bernhardt, M. Coquelin and Ellen Terry all wrote commending the scheme and wishing it success. Neither Sir Charles Wyndham nor George Alexander has publicly supported Mr. Tree's adaptation of the Paris Conservatoire.

LUMBAGO CURED AGAIN.

Well-Known Stockgrower Used Dodd's Kidney Pills and Gives the Result.

Rosedene, Ont., May 2. — Robert C. Lampman, the well-known Gainsboro farmer and stock grower, has given the following statement for publication:

"For twenty years I suffered from Lumbago with all its worst symptoms. I had the most distressing pains it seemed possible to bear. At times I was entirely prostrated, and for weeks unable to do anything whatever and had to be helped to dress and to move from a chair to the sofa.

"I tried doctors and medicines, but got no benefit till I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me completely."

Lumbago, like Rheumatism, is caused by uric acid in the blood. Healthy kidneys take all the uric acid out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy Kidneys.

A LONG WALK ENDING

New Yorker Reaches Genoa in a Tramp Around the World.

Genoa, May 2. — George M. Schilling, who left New York nearly seven years ago without even a suit of clothes, on a wager of $25,000 that he would travel around the world on foot and return within seven years with $5,000, has just arrived here and promises to be able to reach New York before August, when the time-limit set by the wager expires.

His first suit of clothes when starting, was made of newspapers and the next one of linen, on which many advertisements were written. He has tramped through Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon, India, China, Siberia, Russia, Germany and France, giving lectures and otherwise supporting himself without begging, according to the agreement. He has only one arm, and his energy in carrying out his programme for seven years has aroused the sympathy of the Italian press.

THE LONDON SALON

Many Fine and Powerful Works Exhibited This Year.

London, May 2.—A private view of the 136th exhibition of the Royal Academy was given yesterday. The exhibits numbered 1,342, as compared with 1,380 shown last year. Ten per cent of the paintings shown have something of interest lifting them above the general mass. Two-thirds of the number thus distinguished are the work of painters not belonging to the academy.

This better display of the work of outsiders is due to the new regulations, which permit each academician to exhibit six works, while outsiders may submit three, instead of eight, as formerly. Sargent shows six portraits, the largest being that of the Marquis of Londonderry, carrying the great sword of state at King Edward's coronation. Another of his works is a portrait of the Duchess of Sutherland, while still another painting is that of General Leonard Wood.

Among four portraits by Shannon, one is of Martin Harvey as "Sydney Carton." Abbey has two exhibits, one being a central panel for the Church of the Holy Trinity in Paris. The picture that is most likely to draw the crowd is one by Sigismund Goetze, entitled "Despised and Rejected of Men." It represents Christ bound to an altar erected in honor of an unknown god. Past this altar, engrossed with their own affairs, moves a stream of people, typifying the manifold life of contemporary London.

Twelve academicians do not exhibit, but otherwise, the usual contributors are represented. There are no new exhibitors of any special consequence.

DUKE BORIS IN DISGRACE

Ordered to Leave Port Arthur Because of a Drunken Orgy.

St. Petersburg, May 2. — Dispatches from Port Arthur say that Grand Duke Boris, cousin of the Czar, has fallen into disgrace, because of a drunken orgie, in which he engaged recently, and General Kuropatkin has requested the young man's recall.

Boris is said to have paraded the streets of the besieged town wearing a nurse's costume, and singing at the top of his voice. In view of the critical position of the fortress, his conduct created disgust and anger, and nothing but his high rank saved him from violence at the hands of the people.

Boris' conduct is unfavorably contrasted with the gallantry of Grand Duke Cyril, who narrowly escaped with his life in the sinking of the Petropavlovsk. It is understood that the Czar, when informed of the disgraceful incident, angrily ordered Boris' recall.

Grand Duke Boris paid a sensational visit to the United States during the summer and fall of 1902. Landing at San Francisco, after a tour of the Orient, he proceeded leisurely across the country, shooting big game, and taking in the sights at the big cities.

He had several sensational poker escapades and figured in a runaway automobile affair.

In New York he followed a similar style of learning the ways of the country, and at Newport it was his fortune to become enmeshed in a war for social supremacy that was then waging at society's summer capital, and was thus enabled to study American high life on the firing line.

By the time Duke Boris had made his way to Oyster Bay, to pay an official call on the President, he had become so notorious that on the day of his visit Mrs. Roosevelt found it convenient to be absent.
