SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 14.

The Old Burial Ground.

Would it not be a good idea for the Corporation to consider the propriety of making some changes in the management of the Old Burial Ground? It is a well known fact that during the season just past it has not received that attention which, as the resting place of many of the founders of this city, it deserves. And it has now become a question for the solution of the civic authorities whether it shall gradually sink into a mere common or pasturage ground, and the tombstones allowed to be broken and destroyed by the ruthless hands of mischievous boys and general decay, or, shall it be preserved and beautified as becomes the resting place of our honored dead? It has been suggested that it might be made an attractive resort, and the grounds beautified and adorned, without any outlay from the public chest. We understood some time ago that a gentleman who carries on a large horticultural business near Boston, and who consigned vast quantities of flowers and plants to this city during the past season on which he realized good prices, was anxious to secure a site in a central part of the city for a Horticultural Garden. No better place for the purpose can be obtained or desired than the Old Burial Ground. The northern side is finely situated for the erection of a green house and conservatory, which might extend from Sydney to Carmarthen streets. The advantages presented merely for the cultivation of flowers are first class while in a business point of view no other place is obtainable in the city equal to it as a stand for the sale of plants and flowers. Would it not be well to grant a lease to this gentleman or some other practical gardener with means, for a term of years at a merely nominal rent, he to adorn and keep in proper order the entire grounds in consideration of the privilege of selling flowers and plants grown on the place? The only florists here now who make a business of selling plants and bouquets are located in the outskirts of the city, cramped for room and entirely out of the way for doing business. The scheme we suggest, if taken hold of by the right man, would prove highly remunerative to him and conduce to the pleasure and convenience of the citizens. Will not some member of the Council move in the matter, and thus confer a great favor on all true lovers of the beautiful.

The Freeman wants us to tell it all about those railway iron sales—give the names of those who bid, the prices received, etc. That is just what "no feller can find out." It is supposed that the last call is made, in accordance with instructions, on the Minister's chosen, and the other offers submitted to him, when, if there is money in the thing, the chosen offers equal to the best and gets the business. But nobody knows what prices are paid or received. We can aid the Freeman to a little knowledge, however, and do so with peculiar pleasure. The New Brunswick Railway Co., which the Freeman affectionately styles the "Riviere du Loup Ring," has lately received two hundred tons of Government rails on private terms, for use on their line. Such sales should be made at auction, or in some other public manner. As a Minister and his business partners are understood to own about one-fourth of the stock of the New Brunswick Railway Co. it is but natural that such transactions should create scandal.

The result of the Newfoundland election is the placing of the Carter Government, which has been exceedingly shaky with its fate depending on the casting vote of the Speaker, on a secure foundation. A majority of five, in a House of thirty-one members, is as large as any honest Government need want. Although Carter is personally favorable to Confederation, as are most of his colleagues in the Government, that issue was not involved in the contest.

The Telegraph endorses, as everybody of sense must endorse, our condemnation of the Ministerial project for limiting the sale of postage stamps to one agency. If it is desirable to have but one stamp account, that between the General Postoffice and a city agency, then the agency should be required to sell to sub agents in quantities at, say, one half per cent less than the discount allowed by the Government.

Wm. Walter Phelps, one of the Republicans re-elected to Congress, is likely to be unseated by the Democratic majority because his election depends on ballots marked W. Walter Phelps. As nominations in the States are unknown to the law it is held that there is no legal proof that these ballots were intended for the nominee of the Republican Convention. On this miserable quibble it is expected that Mr. Phelps will be forced to go into private life.

Far be it from us to wish Von Arnim any harm, but, if it should please God to end his life suddenly, we should not be afflicted with daily cable reports on the state of his health.

"A good deal ov buty, and a good deal ov sense, are seldom found together." Josh, you are not acquainted with St. John girls.

"About as low down as a man kan git, and not quite spile, is to live on his wife's reputaskun." Joshua, Mr. Scott Siddons will be after your scalp.

Nova Scotia News.

John Boyd, Esq., is to deliver two lectures in Halifax next week.

On the 6th inst. a barn at New Annan, owned by Mr. Alexander Swan, father of the Nova Scotia giantess, was burned. Loss $600.

On Monday night last the store of P. J. Chisholm, opposite the railway depot, Truro, was entered by burglars, and a quantity of ready-made clothing stolen.

The Secretary of the Halifax Rowing Club has been authorized by the Managing Committee to correspond immediately with Bell's Life, and ascertain if the challenge of Sadler, which appeared in that paper on the 10th of October, stating that he would row Brown in America if allowed £100 stg. for expenses, was official or not.

A fellow named Rockwell stabbed a sheriff's assistant at Tidnish, Cumberland, about three weeks ago, and on Sunday last he was captured while devoutly saying his prayers in a church at Tidnish. The arrest caused great confusion in the church.

On Tuesday last a young man, son of Mr. Job Dunford, of Lower Stewiacke, was out gunning, when something having gone wrong with the gun he endeavored to withdraw the charge, and in so doing he by some means accidentally discharged the piece, the whole contents lodging in his side. After lingering in great agony until Wednesday evening the young man died.

Revival Notes.

[From the Halifax Messenger.]

Londonderry.—Rev. M. P. Freeman informs us that he baptized three persons on the 1st inst.

North Sydney, C. B.—A note from the pastor, Rev. J. B. McDonald, says: "I am cheered and encouraged in my work for the Master in this place."

Lawrencetown, Halifax Co.—Rev. L. M. Weeks on a short mission to this place has been called to administer the ordinance of christian baptism to four persons during his stay.

[From the Intelligencer.]

Rev. S. E. Currie writes: "I went from the Conference to River de Chute, and there spent a short time. The Church was much strengthened, and four converts were baptized. I then went to Tobique and commenced holding meetings in Henderson School House (so called), and in the Meeting House in Perth on the other side of the river. The meetings were well attended, and good was done. The weak were strengthened, backsliders were reclaimed, and many expressed desire for salvation."

Mouth Oromocto.—Rev. J. N. Barnes writes that the Lord is reviving His work at Mouth Oromocto. At the time of writing (Nov. 2nd) eight converts had been baptized. The interest is evidently growing, a number having expressed desire to seek the Saviour.

Mouth Presquisle, Carleton Co.—Rev. J. Gravinor writes: "I began to hold a series of meetings with the church in this place; and the Lord has been pleased to bless us abundantly, the church has been revived, wanderers have been reclaimed, and sinners have been converted. Seven have been baptized, and others are enquiring the way to Zion."

CURRENT COIN.

Dr. H. C. Preston lectures in Salisbury Monday evening on "Bones and Brains."

Henderson, who escaped from the Sheriff of Northumberland at Painsec on the 20th ult., was captured at Dorchester one night last week.

On Sunday a lad named Gothro was playing with a bottle of powder and some matches in a barn of Dr. W. D. Knapp's when an explosion took place, resulting in the lad's face being badly burned.—Borderer.

The stove in the State House at Richmond, Va., is one hundred and twenty years old, and yet can draw as much as ever it could. It never drank, chewed, or smoked.

"What are you going to do about it?" asked Davie of a friend who had been smashed up in a railroad disaster and terribly injured. "Well," gasped the hopeful sufferer, "firstly, I shall go in for repairs; secondly, I shall go in for damages."

It was for fifty years the sole aim of James Hallow, of West Dudley, Mass., to get "a home of his own." So fixed was his mind upon this idea that it almost amounted to a mania. He worked incessantly and saved his earnings parsimoniously until, a month ago, he was able to buy a farm. He took possession, and died twenty days afterward.

The closing hours of the Oregon Legislature seem to have been enlivened by scenes almost as interesting as those at the adjournment of Boss Shepherd's legislative conclave. Somebody stole the marble slab on the speaker's desk, placed there to catch the gavel. A large inkstand was also taken, and it is feared that several members may have mistaken spittoons for perquisites.

Some men are so sensitive that there is scarcely any comfort to be taken with them. A wedding was recently broken up at Columbus City, Iowa, just because when the clergyman asked if anyone had any objections, the young lady said: "Yes; I don't want to marry him." The expectant groom got just as mad as a hornet about it, and left. He said he'd be hanged if he'd marry a girl who answered conundrums intended for other folks.

At the Central Criminal Court in London, on Oct. 28, Thomas Smith, a private soldier, was placed upon his trial for the wilful murder of his officer, Captain John Dent Bird of the Twentieth Hussars, at Aldershot, on the 12th of September. The evidence was of such a conclusive character as to lead the jury to return a verdict of guilty after a deliberation of only twenty minutes. The Judge, in passing sentence of death, held out no hope of mercy.

A Roman Catholic priest in charge of the Church of St. Boniface in Philadelphia, last week ran away with a pretty young lady, who was the organist in his church, and with $50,000 that belonged to his parishioners. A few days ago the Rev. J. Howard Suydam, of the Hamilton Park Reformed Church, Jersey City, was visited by a tall, good looking gentleman and a beautiful young lady, who said they wished to be married. The necessary witnesses were produced, the legal questions answered, and the clergyman, seeing no reason why the nuptial knot should not be tied, pronounced them husband and wife. The groom before the ceremony gave Mr. Suydam to understand that he was a physician from St. Louis, and that his bride was a resident of Jersey City. Upon making out the marriage certificate the man gave the name of Gudemann. The couple departed, and it is thought took one of the steamers for Europe. The description given by Mr. Suydam of the pair makes it certain that they were the fugitive priest Gederman or Gudeman and the girl he didn't leave behind him.

A public meeting of persons interested in the N. B. Branch of the Book and Tract Society is called for Monday night. It will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The prayer meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, was well attended, and the exercises were of a very interesting and instructive character.

John Doherty had his left hand badly bruised, yesterday, in Rivers' mill, by catching it between cog wheels.

The Circuit Court will open on Tuesday, Judge Weldon presiding. The judge has announced his intention of sitting every day in the week, and getting through as much business as possible.

A city clergyman complains of the careless way in which the dead are buried in the Rural Cemetery. In one case the body of a child was interred only nine inches below the surface.

Prof. Curr delivered his closing lecture last evening in the Exmouth street Wesleyan Church. A. L. Palmer, Esq., M.P., occupied the chair, and introduced the lecturer. The subject was "Scotland and the Covenanters." The lecture was listened to most attentively.

Mr. John Dolan has returned to Apohaquia without having found the colt that was stolen from him.

This morning a man named Boyle went on board the International steamer at Reed's Point, and assaulted Samuel Coleman, one of the hands. The man's eye was so terribly cut that it was necessary to have it dressed by a physician.

J. & W. Shaw are reported for furious driving in Brussels street. It was one of their bread wagons driven by an employe.

A false alarm of fire was sounded from Box 16 about eight o'clock this morning.

Messrs. J. & A. McMillan have received "Josh Billings' Farmer's Allminax" for 1875, and a small pamphlet entitled "Remarks on Reciprocity, and the Thornton-Brown Memorandum, by a Quebec Liberal."

English Mail.—The R. M. S. Scandinavian arrived at Halifax at 8 o'clock this morning. The mails for this city will be delivered on Monday morning at six o'clock.

Owing to the installation of the Rev. Mr. McLellan, the new pastor of the Baptist Church, Portland, which takes place to morrow afternoon, there will be no service in Hamm's Hall, Indiantown.

Mr. Pete Lee opens his Opera House, for the winter season, on the 30th inst., with an entirely new company. He is at present in Boston, selecting artists.

St. Andrews Society.—A meeting of this society will take place at the Victoria Hotel, to night, at 8 p.m. Attendance of members requested, as matters concerning the celebration of the anniversary will be brought before the meeting.

Academy of Music Theatre.

"David Garrick" was put on the stage last evening in superb style, the greatest care having been taken to have every artistic and property detail satisfactory to the critical occupants of the orchestra chairs. The play was admirably rendered, all the characters being well taken. Mr. Rose, who made his first appearance in St. John, showed himself to be an accomplished actor. His personal appearance is pleasing, his voice good, his elocution unobjectionable, and his bearing that of one who feels perfectly at home in his part. He attends to his business, too, neither nodding to people at the sides nor staring at the people in the house. "Ticket of Leave Man" and "Easy Shaving" to-night.

Fire Investigations.

The investigation into the cause of the Waterloo street fire was concluded yesterday afternoon. Mr. B. Jones and Sergt. Rider were the witnesses. They had both seen three or four men standing near the Farmers' Hotel when the fire broke out. Both witnesses were convinced that it was the work of incendiaries.

The fire at the Golden Ball was also considered, and a number of witnesses called. One witness testified to seeing several men at the place just before the fire broke out. The opinion of all was that the fire was of incendiary origin, and as it was thought that more information could be obtained from another person the examination was adjourned.

City Police Court.

There were four prisoners in the dock this morning.

John McAnenny was arrested drunk in a yard off St. John street. He confessed and was fined $4.

Barney Mulherrin appeared in dock with a bruised and battered face. His hair was long and uncombed. With a sheepish air he arose and confessed to drunkenness in the Country Market. He was ordered to pay a fine of $6.

Robert Sullivan was charged with breaking the windows of Thomas Scott's saloon last night. Four large panes of glass were broken before he was arrested. He confessed the crime and was fined $20. He was not required to pay for the broken windows, nor was Scott in court. The fine was paid for Sullivan.

Peter Larsfield was arrested drunk in the ladies' waiting room at the Ferry Landing. He seemed to be an afflicted individual, having such a bad cold and such pains in his head that he dared not take off his immense fur cap. The Magistrate listened to his story and discharged him, as it was an illegal arrest. Justice Gilbert then went for the policemen for not knowing their duty better. They have no right to arrest a man for drunkenness in a house. If they are called by the proprietor they must help him get a drunken man out, and arrest him, if he is unable to take care of himself, in the street. Policemen should read the law and then they would know their duty. The Chief of Police thought the officers were justified in making the arrest in a public waiting room. He was also advised to read the law.

James Murphy was charged with using abusive language to Richard Powers, and denied the charge. He was asked if he was ready for his trial, whether he wanted any witnesses or not, and said he was ready. The Magistrate hoped he was, as he had asked the same question of a man the other day, and received the same answer, and the man had afterwards written a long communication to a newspaper about it. During the years he had been on the bench he had made a special point of giving every one a chance to defend himself, postponing trials until defendants are ready. Powers then gave evidence, from which it appeared that both the men are stevedores and were looking for a job on board a brigantine at the Ballast Wharf. Murphy was on board first talking with the captain, and Powers, on arriving, advised the captain to look out for any money he had in his pocket when Murphy was round. This was an insinuation that Murphy would not stand, and, of course, resented it. They called each other liars, and Murphy wanted to fight. After hearing the testimony of Powers the Magistrate dismissed Murphy, compelling Powers to pay the costs. Powers was told that he deserved all he got, and that next time he came into Court to come with clean hands. He was a disgusted looking individual when he left the Court.

Shipping Notes.

Wreck Sold.—Captain Hiram Betts was the purchaser of the hull of the wrecked bark Flying Cloud, yesterday, for $600.

Died at Sea.—Captain Webber of the bark Emma G. Scammell, which arrived here yesterday from Havana, reports having experienced heavy weather during the entire passage. On the 21st Oct. the second officer, John McLellan, belonging to New York, died of yellow fever, and was buried at sea.

The woodboat-schooner Alice S., lately purchased by Captain Saunders, sails for Havana next week with a general cargo. Her purchaser purposes converting her into a lighter at that port. The season is rather late for a vessel of such small capacity to undertake so lengthy a voyage. It is to be hoped he will be fortunate enough to meet with favorable weather.

Quick Run.—The brigantine Elsie, Lovegrove master, has made the passage from Halifax to Mayaguez, P. R., in 11 days.

Point Lepreaux, Nov. 14, 9 a. m.—Wind N., strong, clear; three schooners out ward.

Over the Wharf.

Between seven and eight o'clock last evening John Edgett, a sailor, fell over Charlotte street extension wharf. The tide was out at the time, and the man was so severely injured that Dr. Daniel ordered him to be sent to the Marine Hospital.

The Poole of St. John—Custom Tailoring.
J. Edgecombe & Co., corner Waterloo and Peters sts., have since they commenced business met with great success, thus showing the advantage of being practical workmen in all the branches of tailoring. They keep 12 hands constantly employed, and as good a stock to select from as any custom tailoring establishment in the city. Having a low rent and small expenses to pay, they are enabled to give customers the benefit. Those in want of a good overcoat, reefer, or a heavy Fall suit, would do well to give them a call. e o d till Jan. 1.

Portland Police Court.

Another clean sheet this morning. The only visitor was a young man, George Russell, from Portland, Me., who had walked the whole way trying to get work. Appearing to be an honest fellow and willing to work, a subscription was raised for him. He got a lodging house, and this morning went to work, having obtained employment without any difficulty.

SINE'S REGULAR MONTHLY DRAWING takes place Nov. 23rd. Prizes amount to $75,000. Price of tickets $1.00, for sale by H. J. CHETTICK,

Card and Cabinet Photos, in cameo and enamels, at Notman's.

Apples.

Just at present apples are a fruitful source of profit to the auctioneers of the city. The business was opened by Hall & Hanington, but other auction firms are now as busy as they are. A week ago the St. John market for apples was one of the best. Fruit then brought in the Market Slip from $2 to $3 a barrel, at wholesale. The cute Nova Scotians heard of the prices, and brought over an immense quantity of fruit packed in barrels made where wood is cheap enough to afford good thick staves. Schooner after schooner arrived laden with apples, and still they come. The Scud on her last trip brought 1,100 barrels, a portion of which was sold at auction to day. The balance is being disposed of at private sale. Of course the prices have fallen, though good apples still bring a fair price. The fruit is bought almost entirely for private use, very few dealers purchasing. The sales will have the effect of interfering with dealers, and those who have laid in a stock will probably suffer a loss.

TIMELY TOPICS.

The total value of the personal estate and effects of the late Dr. Livingstone, the African traveller, has been sworn to as being under $7500.

A Nashville paper says that the Ætna Life Insurance Company is "out" nearly $36,000 on account of accurate pistol practice in Tennessee within the last few months.

"Death is a sad thing," remarked a Schenectady woman, as she stood beside an open grave. "Yes, poor thing," replied another, "how he did like to sit down to a good biled dinner where the pork was just right."

On Sunday, Oct. 25, the first English Church erected within the walls of the city of Rome was opened for public worship. The building stands in the Piazza St. Sylvestro, and is dedicated to the Holy Trinity. The first sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Nursey to a congregation which numbered about 180.

At a recent concert in Liverpool Adelina Patti sang a waltz called "La Diva," which was re-demanded, and when it was over the Duke of Edinburgh jumped on the stage, and taking both the cantatrice's hands in his, shook them heartily in the presence of the whole audience, which of course screamed with delight.

An energetic old lady in Olwein, Iowa, laments her inability to vote. "Why, if I were a man," she said, recently, "I'd go to the polls if I had to be laid on a feather bed, placed on a stone boat, and hauled by a blind ox with one leg broken, but I'd vote! But what's the use of talking? Men are men when they ain't swine, and can't be driven."

The death of John P. Thorndyke's uncle was not in itself bad for the nephew, but the consequence was disastrous. Thorndyke was a confidential clerk in Chicago, and while he was away at the funeral his employers examined his books and found that he had stolen eighteen thousand dollars.

The former residence of Maximilian, in Mexico, is in ruins. The modest establishment was once a brick cottage, overgrown with vines, and densely surrounded with guava and coffee trees. The grounds were left nearly as wild as nature made them, with only enough of the interlaced branches cut away to let in light and air.

A trial is now going on at Moscow which has made a great sensation throughout Russia. The Abbess Mitrofania is charged with forgeries to the amount of £80,000. Before taking the veil she mixed in the first society in the capital, and, placed among nuns with little education, she soon rose to a leading position. By means partly of imperial munificence and contributions from all quarters, and partly of forged bills, she established large factories and dairies, several of which are in full activity.

Flogging for fagging, as ordered by the Admiralty, has been enforced on board the British cadet training ship Britannia at Portsmouth, England. The senior cadets who were charged with fagging and bullying juniors, having, after official inquiry, been found guilty, were sentenced to be flogged on the bare back. This order was read to the cadets by Capt. Graham, and was carried out on the main deck, in presence of all the cadets and officers. The five young men bore their punishment sturdily. The sixth, who had been convicted twice, is dismissed the service.

A man named Berges, whose reason seemed to have been affected by attendance at Spiritualist seances, committed three murders in the vicinity of Toulouse on Oct. 24. He first shot two men who were repairing the road. He next fired at a dealer in old iron who was ascending the stairs of his house, and lastly fired at a grocer who was shaving himself in his shop. The latter was severely wounded in the eye and forehead; the other three were killed on the spot. Berges then stabbed himself, but not dangerously, and he was arrested. He has been in the habit of keeping a shooting gallery at fairs.

Last year 743 soldiers were sentenced for desertion from the British army. Some of the reasons given for desertion by the men are curious. Fifty-seven were annoyed by comrades or harshly treated by non-commissioned officers and others; 44 married without leave, or had "love affairs," 87 were led astray by drink; 229 deserted from dislike to the army; 81 were persuaded by comrades or bad company; 64 alleged refusal of leave as the cause; 29 deserted to better themselves; 30 went on sprees and did not return; 43 were tired of the army; 18 deserted on account of whims and folly; and 32 gave no cause.

Mrs. Laura Williams, who killed herself by jumping from the fourth-story window of the Samosett House, in Holyoke, Mass., seems to have been convinced that she was not wanted alive. A year ago she went from New York city to Holyoke to live with her son and daughter. They sent her to another relative in Vermont, where she became a pauper. The son, while on a visit there, was arrested for bringing a pauper into the State, and compelled to take her back to Holyoke, where he put her in an asylum. Next a Massachusetts charity agent, deciding that she belonged to Vermont, sent her again into that State, and again she was returned. The asylum authorities refused this time to receive her, whereupon the old woman relieved them all of any further anxiety on the subject. But Massachusetts had to bury her.
